20                                  ORDER

21   MOTION FOR ATTORNEY’S FEES

22                   Intervenor-respondent Toal Properties, LLC (intervenor) moves for an 23   award of attorney fees in the amount of $17,193.15 pursuant to ORS 24   197.830(15)(b), which provides:

25                   “The board shall also award reasonable attorney fees and expenses 26                   to the prevailing party against any other party who the board finds 27                   presented a position without probable cause to believe the position 28                   was well-founded in law or on factually supported information.”

29   In determining whether to award attorney fees against a nonprevailing party, 30   we must determine that “every argument in the entire presentation [that a 31   nonprevailing party] makes to LUBA is lacking in probable cause[.]” Fechtig v.

1 City of Albany, 150 Or App 10, 24, 946 P2d 280 (1997). Under ORS
2 197.830(15)(b), a position is presented “without probable cause” where “no 3 reasonable lawyer would conclude that any of the legal points asserted on 4 appeal possessed legal merit.” Contreras v. City of Philomath, 32 Or LUBA 5 465, 469 (1996). In applying the probable cause analysis, LUBA “will consider 6 whether any of the issues raised [by a party] were open to doubt, or subject to 7 rational, reasonable, or honest discussion.” Id. The party seeking an award of 8 attorney fees under the probable cause standard must clear a relatively high 9 hurdle, and that hurdle is not met by simply showing that LUBA rejected all of 10 a party's arguments on the merits. Wolfgram v. Douglas County, 54 Or LUBA 11 775, 776 (2007) (citing Brown v. City of Ontario, 33 Or LUBA 803, 804 12 (1997)).

13 Intervenor applied to the county for a home occupation permit to host 14 events in a pole barn on its property. The county held a public hearing on the 15 application, and after the public hearing, the hearings officer approved the 16 application. Petitioner appealed that decision to LUBA, and other parties also 17 appealed the same decision to LUBA. See Willis v. Clackamas County, __ Or 18 LUBA __ (LUBA No. 2017-021, October 20, 2017) (resolving other appeal).

19 After petitioner filed its petition for review, intervenor moved to dismiss 20 petitioner’s appeal, arguing that petitioner failed to establish that it had 21 “[a]ppeared before the local government * * * orally or in writing” as required 22 to file an appeal under ORS 197.830(2)(b). Petitioner filed a response to the

1 motion to dismiss and argued that it was entitled to appeal the decision 2 pursuant to ORS 197.830(3). ORS 197.830(3) provides:

3 “If a local government makes a land use decision without 4 providing a hearing, except as provided under ORS 215.416 (11)
5 or 227.175 (10), or the local government makes a land use
6 decision that is different from the proposal described in the notice
7 of hearing to such a degree that the notice of the proposed action
8 did not reasonably describe the local government’s final actions, a 9 person adversely affected by the decision may appeal the decision
10 to the board under this section:

11 “(a) Within 21 days of actual notice where notice is required; or 12 “(b) Within 21 days of the date a person knew or should have 13 known of the decision where no notice is required.”

14 (Emphasis added).

15 Petitioner argued that the county’s notice of the public hearing differed from 16 the decision the county actually made because the notice listed Clackamas 17 County Zoning and Development Ordinance (CCZDO) 806, which provides 18 the standards for the species of home occupation the CCZDO identifies as 19 “home occupations to host events,” as an applicable approval criterion.
20 Petitioner argued that the public notice failed to list CCZDO 822.02, which 21 provides the standards for the more general category of “home occupations”
22 and includes a definition for “home occupations.” The CCZDO 822.02.D.
23 definition of “home occupations” includes a requirement that a home
24 occupation be “clearly subordinate” to the residential use of the property.
25 Petitioner alleged that failure to list the CCZDO 822.02 definition of “home 26 occupations” misled petitioner into concluding that the requirement in that

1 definition did not apply to intervenor’s application for a home occupation to 2 host events pursuant to CCZDO 806.

3 LUBA rejected petitioner’s argument. In an order on intervenor’s motion 4 to dismiss petitioner’s appeal, we explained that:

5 “ORS 197.830(3) is not concerned with the applicable approval
6 criteria that are also listed in the notice of hearing. ORS
7 197.830(3) asks whether the use that is approved by a land use 8 decision differs to such a degree from the proposal described in 9 the notice of hearing that a person could have been misled by the 10 notice regarding the nature of the proposal, and failed to appear or 11 participate at the hearing and thus become entitled to notice of the 12 decision, or failed to timely appeal the local government’s final 13 decision. See Bigley v. City of Portland, 168 Or App 508, 4 P3d 14 741 (2000) (‘ORS 197.830(3) provides a remedy, in the form of 15 the tolling of the appeal period, to adversely affected persons who 16 are misled by the deviation between the notice of the proposal and 17 the substance of the decision.’).” Willis v. Clackamas County, __ 18 Or LUBA __ (LUBA Nos. 2017-021/022, Order, August 28, 2017, 19 slip op 4) (emphasis added).

20 We concluded that the notice of hearing reasonably described the county’s final 21 action.

22 Intervenor argues that no reasonable attorney would have argued that the 23 county’s notice of the public hearing differed to such a degree from the 24 county’s final action that it misled the petitioner, based on the failure to list a 25 CCZDO 822.02 definition as an applicable approval criterion in the notice of 26 public hearing. In response, petitioner reiterates its argument presented during 27 the proceedings below, and responds that an argument that petitioner was 28 misled by the county’s failure to list a definition from the CCZDO in the notice

1 of public hearing misled petitioner is an argument that a reasonable attorney 2 would present.

3 Although it is a close question, we agree with petitioner that the 4 argument that petitioner made is one that a reasonable attorney could make.
5 ORS 197.830(3) is a provision that is infrequently relied on to establish 6 standing, application of the statute is complicated, and it is not unreasonable 7 for petitioner to have made a somewhat novel argument regarding the types or 8 extent of deviation from a proposal described in a notice of hearing that could 9 mislead a person pursuant to ORS 197.830(3). Until this appeal, no LUBA 10 decision had addressed (and rejected) the argument that a person could cite 11 197.830(3) and argue that the local government's mere failure to list in the 12 notice of public hearing a criterion that the person thought applied, within the 13 meaning of ORS 197.830(3), as interpreted in Bigley.

14 Accordingly, intervenor's motion for attorney fees is denied.

15 COST BILL

16 Intervenor requests an award of the cost of fee for filing the motion to 17 intervene, in the amount of $100. OAR 661-010-0075(1)(b)(D) provides that a 18 prevailing intervenor may be awarded the cost of the fee to intervene.
19 Petitioner does not object to intervenor's cost bill. Accordingly, intervenor is 20 awarded the cost of the $100 fee to intervene, to be paid by petitioner.

21 Dated this 1st day of December, 2017.
