Thank you for your message. The administration of the Board is specifically delegated to me. I am not making any changes at this time. This topic will be on the public agenda at the June 9, meeting for further discussion. At that time I will provide the Board with additional information related to my research on this matter for their consideration. The zoom link and agenda will be available on the website approximately 10 days prior to the meeting. I will not have any updates for you until after the June meeting.

Please note, I am having technical issues getting the recording from the April meeting on the website, but those issues should be resolved shortly and I anticipate having the recording up early next week.

Subject: Google listing

Hello Mary Beth and OBNM board members,

I wanted to follow up regarding my request to the board to change how it is choosing to list board orders on the OBNM website. For me, time is of the essence. I believe you said you were going to discuss this matter with one of the missing board members and then decide what you are going to do. As a reminder, all five of the sitting board members who are doctors sided with me, acknowledging how the current listing methodology is unfair and permanently scarring for the affected doctor. I believe the acupuncturist will also agree.

You mentioned you would revisit this topic at the next board meeting in June, 2 months away. I would respectfully like to request action be taken prior to this meeting (since you presumably have everyone's input). My hope is that you will follow the board's advice to remove my name (and all of the other doctors' names) from the website and instead provide a way for interested parties to search for providers by name like every other ND board does.

Please let me know what to expect regarding your decision and timeline in making any changes, and please share this email with the board so they are aware of my eagerness to resolve this issue ASAP.

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Jocelyn Cooper, ND

Subject: probation

Hi Mary Beth,

Today marks the one year anniversary of my signed board order which has the stipulation that I can be removed from probation after 1 year if I have complied with the order. I believe you have documentation of my completed CE and fine and no further complaints against me.

Would you be willing to write a brief letter acknowledging my compliance and include a statement that I am no longer on probation that I can submit to insurance companies? Can you also upload your letter to the NPDB?

Let me know if you have any questions and thank you for your time.

Petition to Change How the OBNM Lists Discipline

Please fill out the form to sign the petition requesting the OBNM to remove their Disciplinary Action webpage.

Help create parity in reporting discipline by asking the OBNM to follow the same standards as other ND boards including those in WA, CA, AZ and VT. We are asking the board to remove their Disciplinary Actions page and replace this with a Provider Look-Up tab. This is a fair and reasonable request in order to support our providers who have had unfortunate events happen to them. We deserve respect and non-discrimination.

Thank you for your message Dr. Black. Unfortunately, there is misinformation being spread about this issue.

There is no standard practice in Oregon among health related Boards, other than discipline documents are public documents, and there is a high expectation from the Governor's office that each Board conducts Board business with the utmost transparency for the protection of the public.

Please know I checked in with my colleagues at other Boards, and nearly all health related medical boards post discipline on the Board website. Understandably, the manner in which each board has the discretion to post, may result in search engines indexing those discipline orders differently.

Dr. Cooper asserts that OBNM posts discipline in a manner that google indexes higher than other Boards. This may or may not be true, as multiple google searches on MDs and nurses (and others) have shown their discipline high on the google search as well. But unlike many other health boards, we only post the discipline on our website for five years. The Board disciplines approximately 8-10 licensees a year – less than 1% of the licensee base. The majority of licensees who are disciplined are on probation for 2-3 years.

The mission of the Board is protection of the patients and the public. Therefore it is imperative that the public is able to access that information in the most transparent manner possible. This issue is on the agenda for discussion at the meeting on Monday.

Thank you

Subject: Concern Regarding Public Display of Consent Orders

Dear Mary Beth,

I am writing to you because a fellow physician recently contacted me and brought to my attention how physicians with consent orders are listed on the OBNM website — and how these listings are picked up directly in Google searches.

While this has not significantly impacted my own established practice, I can see how this could seriously affect newer physicians who are just starting their careers. I have been in practice for 23 years, and for the past nine years, I have lived with a consent order publicly posted — an order that was not related to direct patient care or harm.

Having that information prominently appear in search results can become a lifelong professional burden, especially in today's digital age where online information is so easily amplified. For those new to practice, this could inhibit their ability to build trust with patients from the outset.

I believe public transparency is essential, but many other boards have adopted more balanced methods — for example, making disciplinary information accessible through a searchable database rather than directly indexing names and consent orders via public web pages. This allows due diligence without unnecessarily overexposing sensitive information in general web searches.

I encourage the Board to consider revising the current system to align with these more standard practices. A searchable tool would continue to protect the public interest while offering physicians a fairer chance to move forward professionally.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to the upcoming board meeting and the continued conversation on this important issue.
