NEED FOR THE RULE(S)

The proposed new and amended rules were made necessary, among other things, by changes in the technology that may be used by tax preparation businesses for the preparation of personal income taxes. Oregon Tax Preparation Businesses, who take in more work than their trained preparers can handle have, more than occasionally, been found to be reaching out not to other Oregon Licensed tax practitioners for assistance but to tax preparation businesses located outside of the State of Oregon – businesses whose employees have no training or expertise in the preparation of Oregon personal income taxes and as such pose a significant consumer protection risk to unwitting Oregon taxpayers who thought they were turning their tax information over to an Oregon Licensed Tax practitioners for the preparation of their Oregon Personal Income Taxes.

DOCUMENTS RELIED UPON, AND WHERE THEY ARE AVAILABLE

ORS 673.605-673.740 and OAR Chapter 800.

STATEMENT IDENTIFYING HOW ADOPTION OF RULE(S) WILL AFFECT RACIAL EQUITY IN THIS STATE

The adoption of this rule is not expected to affect racial equity in this state.

FISCAL AND ECONOMIC IMPACT:

All of our Fiscal Impact is in the cost of Compliance.

COST OF COMPLIANCE:

(1) Identify any state agencies, units of local government, and members of the public likely to be economically affected by the rule(s). (2) Effect on Small Businesses: (a) Estimate the number and type of small businesses subject to the rule(s); (b) Describe the expected reporting, recordkeeping and administrative activities and cost required to comply with the rule(s); (c) Estimate the cost of professional services, equipment supplies, labor and increased administration required to comply with the rule(s).

Identify State agencies: There are no state agencies, other than the Oregon Board of Tax Practitioners, likely to be economically affected by this rule change.

Units of Local Government: There are no units of local government likely to be economically affected by this rule change.

Members of the Public: The members of the public likely to be economically affected by these rule changes are persons whose taxes, unbeknownst to them, might otherwise have been farmed out to unlicensed out-of-state tax practitioners not specifically trained or experienced in the preparation of Oregon personal income taxes. Thanks to these new and amended rules, such taxpayers will be less likely to be subject to the economic effects of incompetent tax preparation – an economic positive.

Estimate the economic impact on agencies, local government and the public including specific interest groups: The agency did not perform a formal economic evaluation because all of the fiscal impact is in the cost of compliance with agency licensing and registration law. In other words, the cost of compliance is the standard licensing fee charged to each person wishing to practice as a licensed tax practitioner in the State of Oregon and the standard registration fee charged to any business wishing to register as a Licensed Tax Business in the State of Oregon.

Project any significant economic effect on business The only economic effect on business will be upon out-of-state practitioners who wish to prepare Oregon personal income tax returns: (1) under contract with Oregon tax preparation businesses, (2) through direct online or other solicitation of Oregon residents, and (3) through generalized national and international advertising including, but not limited to - print, audio, television, streaming, or other means of display in the State of Oregon advertising their services as being countrywide or statewide if they are not licensed to offer preparation of personal income taxes in the State of Oregon.

Identify the cost of compliance for small business The majority of the businesses registered with the Board are small local Oregon business owners with approximately five employees or less. These businesses are unlikely to be economically impacted by the new and amended proposed rules because they are already licensed and registered with the Board. Small businesses that would be impacted by the new and amended proposed rules are small businesses, whether located inside or outside of the State of Oregon, which have yet to come into compliance with Oregon's licensing and registration statutes and rules which govern tax preparation of personal income taxes for Oregon residents.

DESCRIBE HOW SMALL BUSINESSES WERE INVOLVED IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THESE RULE(S):

The Board is composed of six experienced Licensed Tax Consultants the majority of whom are small businesses owners from geographically diverse areas of the state. Because of the breadth and depth of each Board Members experience in first working for others and then moving into ownership roles the Board did not need to reach out to other small businesses owners in order to understand how the developed proposed rules would impact small businesses.

WAS AN ADMINISTRATIVE RULE ADVISORY COMMITTEE CONSULTED? NO IF NOT, WHY NOT?

The Board is composed of six experienced Licensed Tax Consultants the majority of whom are small businesses owners from geographically diverse areas of the state. Because of the breadth and depth of each Board Members experience in first working for others and then moving into ownership roles the Board did not need to convene a Rule Advisory Committe.
