College Board's AP Cohort Data Report for the Graduating Class of 2016

Deputy Superintendent Salam Noor released the following statement about the College Board's AP Cohort Data Report for the Graduating Class of 2016. Click here to access national and Oregon-specific data.

"We know access to challenging, engaging content and the opportunity to earn college credits in high school play a critical role in preparing students for their futures. The Oregon Graduating Class of 2016 Cohort demonstrates increases in both participation and performance on Advanced Placement exams. Our students have incredible potential, but for far too many, this potential remains untapped. In order to continue to improve participation and performance, we must all intentionally reach out to students who have historically been underrepresented in these courses and provide the encouragement and supports necessary for them to enroll and succeed. Providing access to college-level rigor for each and every one of our students is essential for closing opportunity and achievement gaps in our education system."
