Subject: Recent Complaint Alleging Religious Activity by Saint Paul School District

REDACTED,

Thank you for reporting possible religious activity by Saint Paul School District. The Oregon Department of Education relies on reports like the one you made to ensure that state moneys are not being used to promote or otherwise advance a religious agenda.

After investigating the matter, the Oregon Department of Education has determined that the sign promoting church activity – the sign specifically promotes a church camp – is not located on public school property. The sign is located on property owned by Saint Paul Parochial School, which is adjacent to property owned by Saint Paul School District.

If you have questions, or evidence to the contrary, do not hesitate to contact me.
