RE: Request for Substitution of Adopted Materials: Ready® Common Core Program for Mathematics—Grades K-1

Dear Ms. Clark:

With this letter, we request to substitute the new ©2016 copyright of the following ©2014 State-adopted Ready Common Core for Mathematics resources at grades K-1. Please note that the lesson content did not change, and all elements previously reviewed by the State's evaluation committee are still included in the substituted resources.

The ©2016 K and 1 Student Instruction Book are modified as follows:

We added the Opening Activity, the introduction portion of the Lesson. This had been only in the Teacher Resource Book which was included in the July review. Many teachers requested that this be included in the student books so it would be easier for teachers to work with the students on the activities. Thus there is no new content.

The ©2016 Teacher Resource Book was modified as follows:

- Planning and Pacing Pages—The planning pages within the Teacher Resource Book were expanded to include a detailed Pacing Guide for each lesson, as well as to show more explicit connections to the supporting resources available via the online Teacher Toolbox.
- Page Numbers—Page numbers in the Teacher Resource Book now correspond directly with the page numbers of the Student Instruction Book. Planning pages are now lettered for ease of reference (i.e., 87b).
- Step by Step—The Step-by-Step instructional support now shows where lesson features such as the Mathematical Discourse questions and the Hands-On Activities should be integrated into the lesson.
- Visual Appeal—The Teacher Resource Book was made full color to increase visual appeal and better highlight instructional support.

- Lesson Quizzes- Lesson Quizzes that are on the Teacher Toolbox will now also appear at the end of each lesson. Facsimiles of the quiz pages and the answer key, with common errors and misconceptions, are provided in the TRB to make it easier for teachers to see the types of questions they have available on the lesson quiz and to provide them grading support so they do not need to print out the answer key.

Since nothing has been purchased yet, there are no compatibility issues with the ©2014 editions since they have not been implemented in the classroom. We need to print books in a few weeks to get them to the Oregon depository by mid-June so they can begin shipping for on time delivery to Oregon schools.

I've enclosed one copy of the pages of the new Student Books for K and 1 in binders since the files have just gone to the printers. I won't have the Teacher books for another few weeks if you need them.

Please contact me if you require any additional information in support of this request. I will send a revised bid with new isbns once we are approved, unless you would like that now.

Sincerely,

M. Vicky Hurwitz
Vice President of Strategic Planning
