

Engineering Design in Teaching Science: Workshop Presentation Day 3

These workshop presentation materials allow you to hold a half-day workshop that covers the rest of engineering design. The materials include slide presentations and time for teachers to try out portions of a third sample lessons where they play the role of the student. You will notice that there are three versions of these materials: elementary, middle, and high school. If your professional development schedule doesn't allow you to allocate a half day, you can use these materials over several shorter sessions.
