

Western Hemisphere Resources

The 2018 Social Science Standards made a significant shift in the 6th Grade with clarification on areas of study for the Western Hemisphere. The new standards focus the 6th grade on the Indigenous peoples of the Americas, as well as the history, culture, and politics of Central and South America after European contact. Greece, Rome, and Egypt are in the Eastern Hemisphere and are addressed in the 7th grade standards.

The instructional materials approved by ODE include multiple chapters on pre and post-Columbian Americas. However, there are also additional materials available that may help to augment your own knowledge and your classroom.

Stanford History Education Group

SHEG hosts several great primary document driven lessons in world history. The website is free for teachers once an account is created. The assessments provided by SHEG are brief but require teacher and student prior learning before using. The lessons often include background readings, lecture notes, power point and suggested further reading.
