GOALS

Diversity, Equity, Inclusion and Belonging (DEIB)

ODHS makes significant progress toward becoming an agency that leads with inclusivity, well-being, equity and service for all.

OUTCOMES

- The agency has strengthened and begun to carry out its approach to being accountable to Tribal governments, community and external partners.
- Programs and offices across the agency have aligned workplans and strategies that create belonging, encourage collaboration, and transform agency efforts towards more equitable outcomes for all.
- 70% of metrics within the DEIB Plan are successfully implemented within the time period.
- Race and intersectionality are at the forefront of all agency efforts.
- Communities can equitably and easily engage ODHS, are able to impact decisions, and are better served by ODHS through intentional community and faith-based partnerships.

STRATEGIES AND ACTIONS

- Agency leadership will prioritize resources and oversight to carry out the DEIB Plan.
- ODHS programs will demonstrate where current work plans and priorities meet objectives in the DEIB Plan and/or create new plans for achieving DEIB objectives.
- The agency will measure progress towards DEIB goals in coordination with Strategic Plan implementation and the agency Key Performance Management system.
- The agency will create a central, community facing hub for community and faith-based organizations. This platform will provide access to technical support, funding opportunities, guidance, and the chance to give input on ODHS programs, processes, policies, and budget. Internally, it will serve as a space for collaboration, analysis, and measuring the impact of community partnerships.

The Nine Tribes of Oregon and Tribal Communities

This section of the ODHS Strategic Plan is under development. We honor Tribal sovereignty by respecting the voices of the Nine Tribes of Oregon, Tribal communities, and Tribal partners, and actively seeking their guidance to collaboratively develop goals, outcomes, and strategies for the ODHS Strategic Plan tailored to their needs.
