

OR 62 Corridor Plan

Planning for the Future of OR 62

Project Overview

The Oregon Department of Transportation (ODOT) and Jackson County are partnering to plan for the future of Oregon Highway 62 — also known as OR 62 or Crater Lake Highway. This planning effort focuses on the area in and around the White City community.

Project Details

The project is preparing a corridor plan that looks at how to keep traffic moving safely and efficiently along the OR 62 corridor between Corey Road and Dutton Road. One option is to complete the remainder of the OR 62 Bypass, as identified in the OR 62: I-5 to Dutton Road Final Environmental Impact Statement and Record of Decision (OR 62 FEIS/ROD).

If that option isn't the best path forward, the team will explore other possible solutions to address current and future transportation needs in this portion of OR 62.

The final OR 62 Corridor Plan will:

- Recommend projects that improve safety and traffic flow
- Outline policies to guide future development and transportation investments
- Suggest strategies to keep the corridor working well for years to come

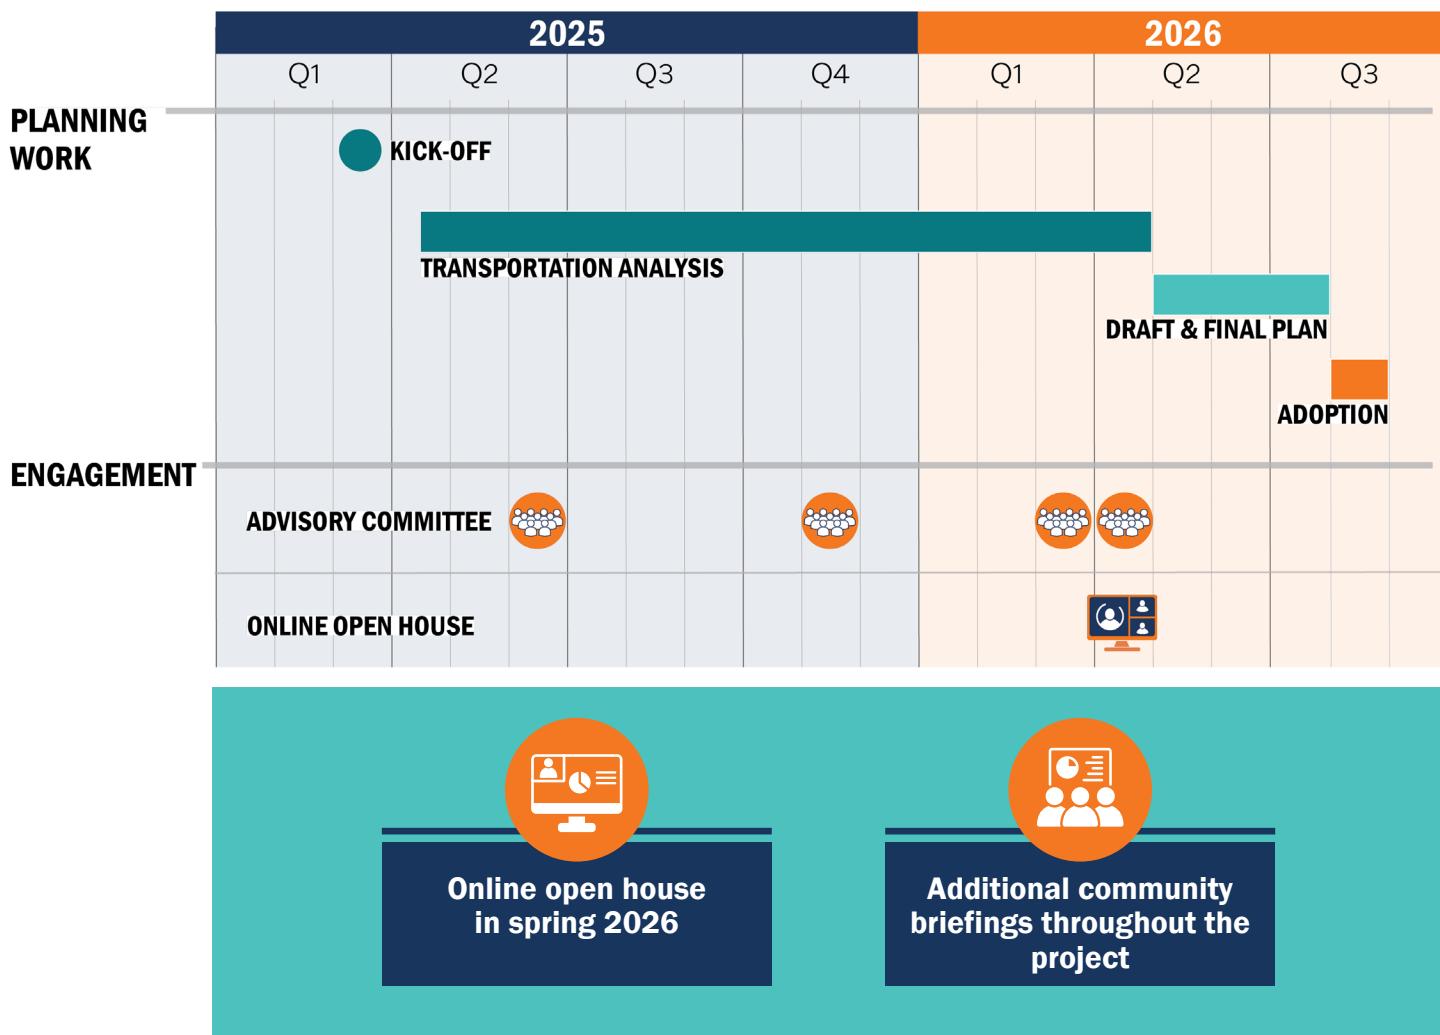

The goal is to ensure this important route continues to serve the community safely and efficiently into the future.

Project Schedule and Community Engagement

The project kicked off in early 2025 and will conclude with the adoption of the OR 62 Corridor Plan in summer 2026. The project will host an online open house in spring 2026 to gather community feedback on the draft plan. Additional community briefings will occur throughout the project.
