The Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) designs, contracts for, and administers health plans, group insurance policies, and flexible spending accounts for state and university employees and their dependents. The board provides medical and dental insurance programs representing about 140,000 Oregonians. The board also selects and administers life and disability insurance coverage for eligible state and university employees. A major part of the board's responsibility is developing benefit packages to meet the needs of state government and its employees, preparing benefits information for communication materials, and answering inquiries from employees and their dependents about coverage.

PEBB members include active agency and university employees and their dependents; active semi-independent agency employers and their employees; early retirees and other self-pay members and their dependents; and COBRA subscribers. The program is administered by staff, with actuarial services and third-party administrator services provided through contract.

PEBB Operations is funded entirely with Other Funds. PEBB collects premiums for all insured individuals, and then purchases insurance with those revenues. The resources to pay for employee health insurance are budgeted in each state agency for that agency's employees. The resources may be General Fund, Lottery Funds, Other Funds, or Federal Funds. Once the resources are transferred to PEBB, they are shown as Other Funds.

For fully-insured plans, the premiums PEBB collects are passed through to the appropriate insurance carrier who carry the risk on those plans. For self-insured plans, PEBB carries the risk and must maintain a Stabilization Fund, which requires a sufficient balance to cover large claims risk.

Operational costs are funded through an administrative charge (assessment) added to medical and dental insurance premiums and premium equivalents. By statute, the assessment cannot exceed 2 percent of monthly contributions from employees and employers.

The Operations budget is approximately 1 percent of the Total Funds budget for PEBB. The core functions of PEBB Operations include administrative areas: communications, financial services, contracts, health policy, employee wellness, regulatory, IT systems and data management, and member services. In 2017, Senate Bill 1067 directed the merger of the administrative functions of PEBB and the Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) under one executive director and leadership team. The boards have engaged in many joint initiatives since then and are currently building a joint eligibility and enrollment system. The board delegates many important functions to operations staff including:

- Operational and administrative actions required to administer services to members and implement benefits (for example, rule-making authority)
- Other activities as determined by the chair and vice-chair
- Directing rate negotiations with vendors through PEBB's contracted consultant
- Directing contract negotiations for implementation and renewal of PEBB programs and benefits once the board has awarded contracts to successful vendors or has approved renewals of existing program contracts

Public Employees' Benefit Board Operations

- Authority to initiate contracts for specific services that fall under the not-to-exceed dollar amount threshold established in state procurement laws for direct contracting and informal procurements
- Authority to initiate transfer of excess reserve funds held by contracted carriers or refunds from contracted vendors to PEBB Stabilization Fund
- Authority to pay claims, invoices, purchase orders, travel expenses, maintenance agreements and personal service agreements

Annual Renewal Process

Each year, the board begins an annual plan renewal process where benefit offerings are examined, premium rates are re-negotiated with carriers, administrative fees are projected, and final decisions are made by the board for the following plan year. Once the board finalizes renewal decisions and they are captured in renewal letters to carriers, the PEBB administrative team gets to work operationalizing their decisions:

- The Contracts team begins working to update contracts
- IT Systems staff begin work with contractors to implement changes in the PEBB benefits system (PDB)
- The Communications team begins updating open enrollment materials with rates and benefit changes
- Member Services staff readies for open enrollment October 1st through October 30th.

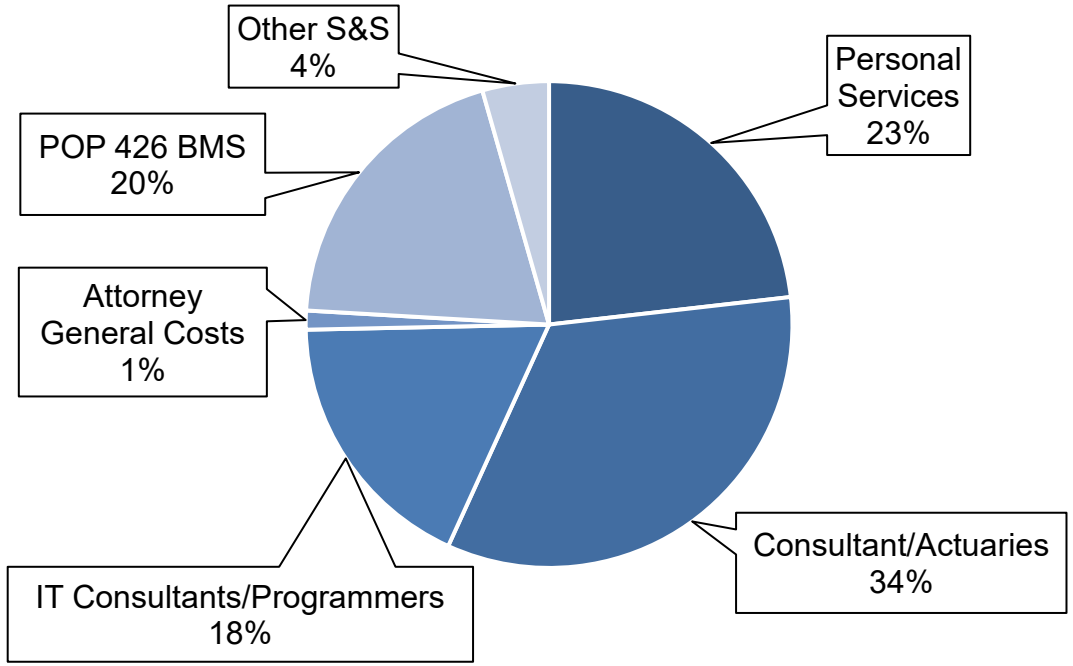
Operating expenditures are mainly driven by personal services, consultant actuary costs, IT consultant/programming costs, attorney general costs and open enrollment and wellness costs.

Public Employees' Benefit Board Operations

Revenue sources and changes

Other Funds revenue pays for PEBB administration through an administrative assessment added to medical and dental insurance premiums and premium equivalents. By statute (ORS 243.185), PEBB can collect an amount that equals up to 2 percent of total premiums to meet administrative and operational costs.

PEBB Operating Budget



In recent years, the administrative fee was not an adequate source of revenue to cover the development of the Benefit Management System (BMS) project and the increase in system programming costs. A main goal of the boards was to construct the new BMS without having to borrow the funds to do it. Consultant costs have also increased from prior years driven by the passage of Senate Bill 1067 (2017) and funding the work of the joint PEBB/OEBB Innovation Work Group (IWG) and joint Health Equity Work Group. These investments will end up saving the state money over the long term by becoming more efficient and having better data to make better decisions. As the new system development project ends and the old system is phased out, the administrative fee is likely to decrease back to under 1 percent.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) was established by the 2007 Legislature. OEBB provides a comprehensive selection of benefit plan options for most of Oregon's K-12 school districts, education service districts and community colleges, as well as a number of charter schools and local governments across the state. OEBB offers a multitude of plans that resemble an "exchange." OEBB started offering medical, dental, and vision coverage in 2008 and has since added a broad range of additional benefits including life, accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D), short-term and long-term disability and long-term care insurance, as well as an employee assistance program (EAP), a health savings account (HSA), flexible spending accounts (FSAs), and commuter savings accounts. Each of the 256 employer entities OEBB serves maintains a unique service area, eligibility requirements, cost sharing with employees, and diverse populations. The law prohibits those entities, with certain exceptions, from offering benefit plans other than those offered by the Board. Unlike PEBB, all plans are fully insured. OEBB has prioritized choice in plan options for employers and employees, and consequently offer a large number of different plans.

Oregon Educators Benefit Board Operations

The board and staff have been focused on coming out of the pandemic with an improved overall health status of its members and a moderate impact to cost trends. The Oregon Health Policy Board has worked on coordinated care model alignment, looking for ways to utilize a model with coordinated care attributes in programs such as OEBB. Over the last few years, OEBB has implemented a number of programs that fit within this model. This includes increasing the percentage of OEBB members in patient-centered primary care homes, implementing additional cost tiers to promote value-based benefits, full coverage for preventive services, coverage for weight management and tobacco cessation programs, and implementing benefit design to reduce barriers to care for members with chronic diseases. The Board implemented the Healthy Futures program to promote member participation in reducing health risks and improving overall health status.

Background information

OEBB Operational costs are funded entirely with Other Funds revenue through an administrative charge (assessment) added to medical and dental insurance premiums and premium equivalents. By statute, the assessment cannot exceed 2 percent of monthly contributions from employees and employers. Each month OEBB invoices its participating entities after reconciling eligibility, collecting premiums for all insured individuals. OEBB withholds the administrative assessment revenue and then purchases insurance with the remaining premium revenues. The resources to pay for employee health insurance is included in the State School Fund distribution. Once the premiums are collected by OEBB, they are shown as 100 percent Other Funds in OEBB's budget.

The Operations budget is approximately 1 percent of the Total Funds budget for OEBB. The core functions of OEBB Operations include administrative areas: communications, financial services, contracts, health policy, employee wellness, regulatory, IT systems and data management, and member services. In 2017, Senate Bill 1067 directed the merger of the administrative functions of OEBB and the Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) under one executive director and leadership team. The boards have engaged in many joint initiatives since then and are currently building a joint eligibility and enrollment system. The board delegates many important functions to operations staff including:

Operating expenditures are mainly driven by personal services, consultant actuary costs, IT consultant/programming costs, attorney general costs and open enrollment and other costs.

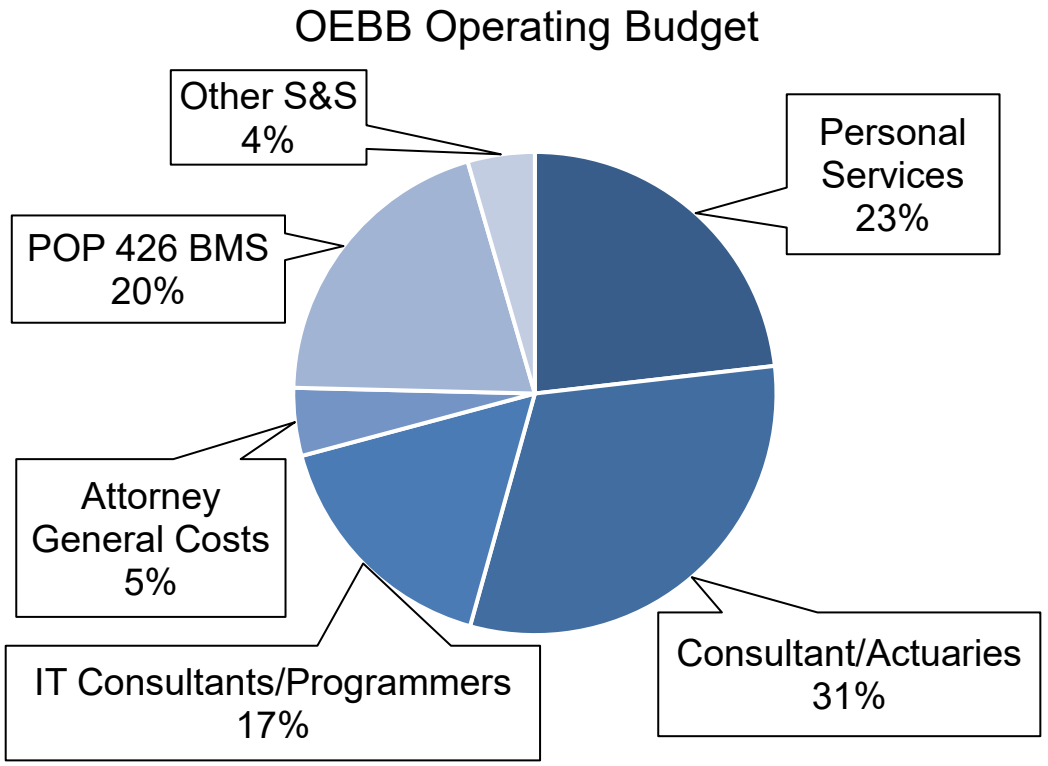
Revenue sources and changes

Oregon Revised Statute (ORS) 243.880 established the Oregon Educators Benefit Account to cover administration expenses. The account's revenue is generated through an administrative fee included in premiums for OEBB medical, dental and vision benefits, which is considered Other Funds revenue. By statute, the administrative fee cannot exceed 2 percent of total monthly premiums. ORS 243.882 prohibits the balance in the account from exceeding 5 percent of the monthly total of employer and employee contributions for more than 120 days.



In recent years, the administrative fee was not an adequate source of revenue to cover the development of the Benefit Management System (BMS) project and the increase in system programming costs. A main goal of the boards was to construct the new BMS without having to borrow the funds to do it. Consultant costs have also increased from prior years driven by the passage of Senate Bill 1067 (2017) and funding the work of the joint PEBB/OEBB Innovation Work Group (IWG) and joint Health Equity Work Group. These investments will end up saving the state money over the long term by becoming more efficient and having better data to make more informed decisions. As the new system development project ends and the old system is phased out, the administrative fee is likely to decrease back closer to 1 percent.

New laws that apply to the program unit

House Bill 3383 modifies the required minimum Board membership to include one member who is employed as classified staff at a public school or for an education service district. The bill also removes one position with expertise in health policy or risk management.

Oregon Health Authority: Public Employees' Benefit Board

Executive Summary

Division overview

The Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) is a division of the Oregon Health Authority (OHA). PEBB supports the goals of transforming the health care system in Oregon and fundamentally improving how care is paid for and delivered. The PEBB board's mission is to provide high-quality health plans and other benefits for state employees at a cost that is affordable to both the employees and the state.

The Legislatively Adopted Budget for PEBB for the 2023-25 biennium to continue current service levels, which includes cost growth for PEBB medical premiums, both self-insured and fully insured, at 3.4 percent. It also includes the cost to PEBB to implement payer parity in the behavioral health crisis system in policy package #429. All PEBB expenditures are categorized as Other Funds.

Program descriptions

PEBB designs, contracts for and administers medical, dental, vision, life, disability, and accidental death and dismemberment plans and flexible spending accounts for PEBB members. More than 140,000 members are enrolled in PEBB coverage. They include active employees, retirees, spouse and domestic partner dependents, child dependents up to age 26, and adult children with disabilities over age 26. They are drawn from state agencies, universities, Lottery and semi-independent agencies, and local governments and special districts.

PEBB's major cost driver is rising health care costs, which is mainly driven by unit health care cost inflation which makes controlling premium costs a major challenge. PEBB has always sought ways to manage costs through innovative plan designs and payment strategies. PEBB has incorporated "value-based" payments into plan design and aligned VBP targets with CCO goals to drive use of high-value services with aspirational goals.

Executive Summary

Program justification and link to long-term outcomes

Transforming health care and advancing health equity

The PEBB board has made transforming the health care delivery system a priority and advances transformation with plans that coordinate care. PEBB has partnered with its "sister program" the Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) in the shared innovation strategy referred to as "Coordinated Care Model" plans. Both boards are continuing to expand these systems of care throughout the state with a focus on integrated care and reducing health care costs and identifying and addressing health disparities. In 2021, PEBB and OEBB formed a joint subgroup of the boards focused on advancing and ensuring health equity, called the "Joint Subcommittee on Health Equity". The committee consists of two board members from each board, expert consultants, and staff. The committee supports OHA's goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030.

PEBB and OEBB are fully committed to working together to leverage their purchasing power across the state and have started working with the Insurance Marketplace to further leverage the state's healthcare purchasing power. The "Joint PEBB and OEBB Innovation Workgroup" was formed in 2018 with board members from each board and legislators to develop strategies on cost containment, how to best leverage claims data stores for analysis of quality and cost performance, and developing payment initiatives to ensure meeting the 3.4 percent cap every year.

Value-based benefits

Traditional fee-for-service models provide payment for each health care visit, service, or test. Value-based payments shift focus from volume to value by rewarding providers for delivering high quality care that supports improved outcomes and slower cost growth. As shown in the table below, OEBB and PEBB health plans currently incorporate a variety of value-based payment strategies to incentivize provider quality and efficiency. Many of the general strategies used align with value-based payment approaches also used by coordinated care organizations (CCOs) serving Oregon's Medicaid population.

Executive Summary

Many of the strategies used by PEBB & OEBB align with value-based payment approaches also used by Coordinated Care Organizations (CCOs) serving Oregon's Medicaid population.

	OEBB	PEBB	CCO
Infrastructure payments
Pay for reporting
Pay for performance
Shared savings with upside risk
Shared savings upside and downside risk
Condition-specific population-based payment
Comprehensive population-based payment
Integrated finance and delivery system

PEBB and OEBB continue to work toward increasing the percentage of total health care payments that use value-based approaches and have identified future year targets that closely align with those established for CCOs. PEBB and OEBB currently have approximately 47 percent of total medical expenditures in a VBP arrangement with a goal of 70 percent by 2024, thereby matching the goals as defined in CCO 2.0.

Wellness initiatives and promoting member health

In 2020 many PEBB members began working remotely due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Flexible work schedules continue to be the norm. As a result, PEBB's employee wellness efforts shifted away from a focus on environmental approaches and toward increasing communications directly to members to promote PEBB wellness programs, and to help them understand and access their benefits.

The Worksite Wellness Coordinating Council and the PEBB Member Advisory Committee (PMAC) developed and began implementing a Member Wellbeing Strategy aimed at addressing needs identified by both groups. Specifically,

- Challenges with supporting employees in a remote and COVID-19 environment
- How "worksite" wellness will be defined in the future
- Need to support employees with current resources in the meantime, while a long-term well-being strategy is developed

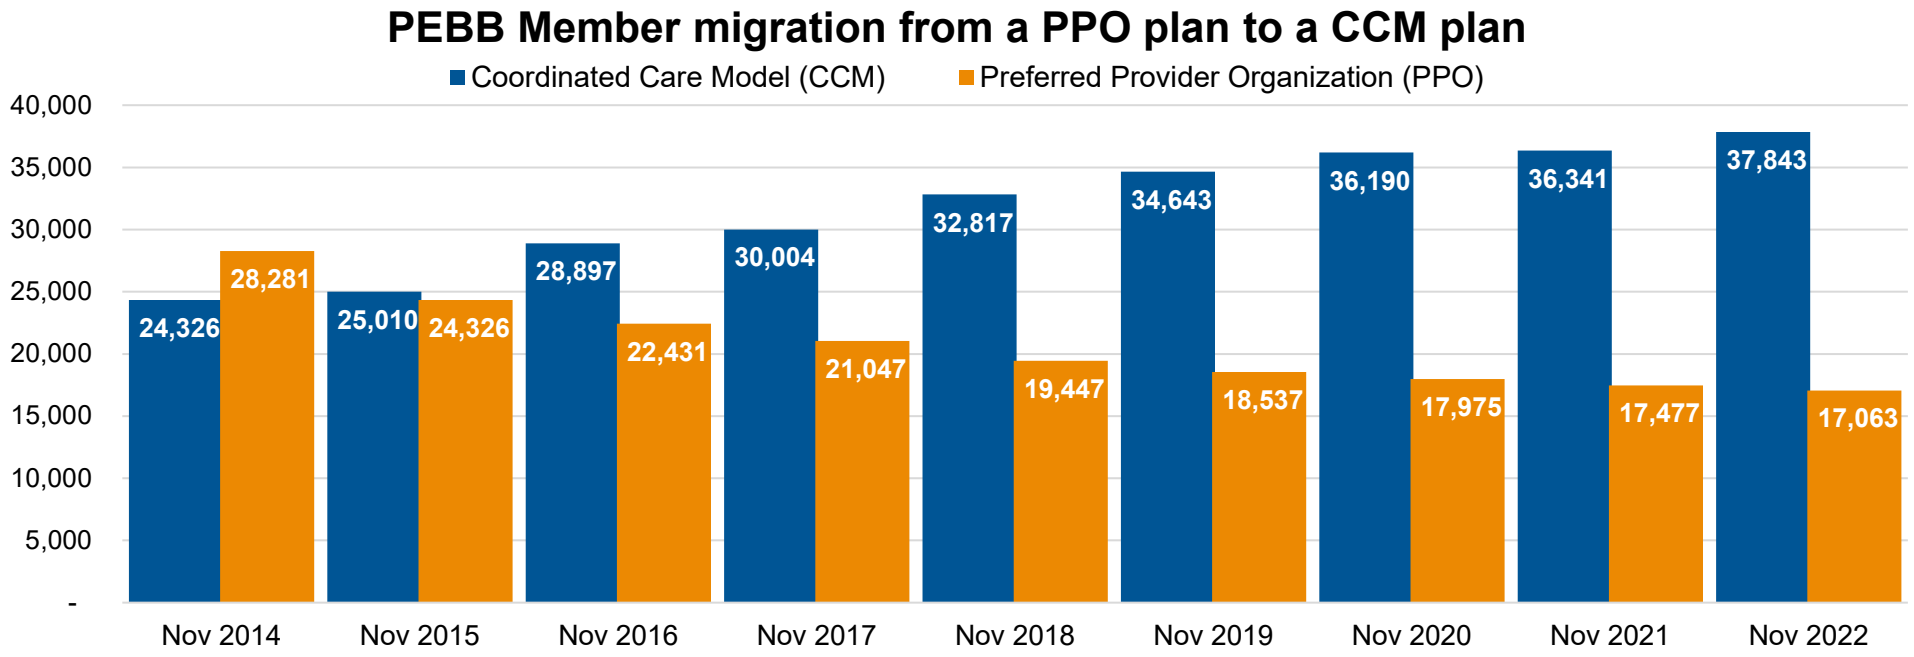
Executive Summary

The goals include:

- Improve awareness and promote utilization of existing well-being resources & specify well-being roles of the Council and PMAC
- Develop multi-year well-being strategy
- Execute strategy in concert with HEM and appropriate partner groups (PMAC, Uplift Oregon, etc.)

PEBB supports prevention and member wellness by offering members access to no-cost wellness programs.

Wellness programs help members living with chronic conditions build self-management skills; provide emotional, social and financial health services; support development of healthier behaviors; help members overcome tobacco use; and help members develop healthy eating habits and achieve weight-loss goals.



Executive Summary

PEBB also offers members opportunities to improve their health and contain costs through participation in the Health Engagement Model (HEM) program. The HEM program allows participants the opportunity to learn more about their own personal health risks and take actions to reduce them. Participants earn financial incentives by annually completing a private health assessment on their medical plan's secure website and completing two health-related activities.

Over the past four years increasing numbers of PEBB members have moved from less-coordinated PPO medical coverage to Coordinated Care Model plans.

PEBB quality measures and fees-at-risk
In the 2023-25 biennium, PEBB will continue to add quality measures and performance targets in health plan contracts to support movement toward better health, better care, and lower costs. The specific quality measures selected will be based on the Statewide Aligned Quality Measures menu developed by the Health Plan Quality Metrics Committee for coordinated care organizations (CCO), PEBB and OEBB plans, and the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace.

Program performance

PEBB has met the 3.4 percent overall expenditure increase and annual premium increase "test" nearly every year since 2012 (see below). Fulfilling the growth cap has been done by executing on cost containment strategies and promoting program efficiencies. PEBB face challenges in meeting the 3.4 percent tests as a payer in the commercial market in battling trend, provider market leveraging and the timing of the annual growth cap. From 2020-2022, the global pandemic heavily impacted utilization levels. The "bounce-back" of deferred care and quantifying the impact on the health of PEBB members will be better known in 2023.

PEBB offers members in all 36 Oregon counties choice between the statewide Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) plan and at least one regional Coordinated Care Model plan. Coordinated Care Model plan choices are available at a lower cost to both members and the state.

Executive Summary

PEBB medical benefit design will not change significantly between 2023 and 2024. PEBB still continues to cover:

- The first four visits to primary care, with no deductible
- The full cost of certain chronic condition and substance abuse visits, with no deductible, copayment or coinsurance
- Nationally recommended preventive services
- No-cost outpatient mental health services when provided in network
- Alternative care including massage therapy
- Added infertility benefit in 2022

Executive Summary

PEBB also offers non-traditional and culturally responsive benefits and services, such as the use of doulas and other traditional health workers, Christian Science and Native American healers and alternative care such as acupuncture, massage, naturopathic and spinal manipulation services.

Enabling legislation/program authorization

The Public Employees' Benefit Board authority lies in ORS 243.061 through ORS 243.302.

Funding streams

Other Funds revenue pays for PEBB administration through an administrative assessment added to medical and insurance premiums and premium equivalents. By statute (ORS 243.185), PEBB can collect an amount that equals up to 2 percent of total premiums to meet administrative and operational costs.

PEBB maintains two accounts within its Revolving Fund.

- Stabilization Account: PEBB has authority to use this account to control costs, subsidize premiums and self-insure. The primary source of Other Funds revenue is unused employer contributions for employee benefits. This account also holds proceeds generated when PEBB's life insurance carrier changed from a mutual organization to a public corporation.
- Flexible Spending Account: PEBB operates two flexible-spending-account programs and two commuter programs for employees and maintains an account for their administrative costs. The primary Other Funds revenue source for these programs is forfeitures from participants.

Significant program changes from 2021-23

Changes from the 2021-23 biennium include two policy packages: #435 for PEBB OEBB Benefit Management System (BMS) Replacement and #438 for Affordable Care Act (ACA) Employer Reporting.

Executive Summary

Policy package #435 BMS would allow PEBB and OEBB to combine enrollment systems, enhance and modernize member and administrator experience, and update security measures to safeguard data. Top modernization goals include:

- The ability to implement and maintain latest security best practices
- Mobile app compatibility
- Compatibility with commonly used browsers, operating systems and devices
- Flexibility to accommodate business partners' and customers' needs
- Expanded automated error checking and data validation
- Availability of on-demand enrollment and training tools for members and administrators
- Self-service tools and features for members and administrators
- Automated dependent eligibility verification among and between PEBB and OEBB member groups

OEBB and PEBB are in the initial stages of the replacement BMS implementation with their contracted vendor utilizing POP funding from the current biennium. This policy package would fund the remaining implementation activities including additional project staffing, vendor implementation costs, hosting and licensing fees, oversight fees for quality assurance, and contingency allowances.[1] The implementation plan outlined by the selected vendor, Telus Health (formerly LifeWorks), has a go live date in the first quarter of 2025.

Policy package #438 ACA Employer Reporting would allow PEBB to seek the services of a vendor for comprehensive ACA reporting that includes evaluation of data needs, data gaps, coordination of employer data gathering, evaluation and coding of offers of coverage, employee share, enrollment codes, mailing of 1095 forms, filings with IRS, correction filing, and responses to IRS inquiries.

[1] The funding for the BMS replacement project sits in the PEBB Operations and OEBB Operations budgets in the Health Policy and Analytics division.

Executive Summary

ACA reporting is an employer responsibility. The complexity of ACA reporting is primarily related to the tracking of hours worked and tracking measurement periods to determine if offers of coverage must be made. This data is owned by HR systems. HR and Payroll systems do not have the capability currently to complete ACA reporting or enhance the data it provides to PEBB to complete ACA reporting on their behalf. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication of any efforts to secure a position within their office to ensure required ACA data is captured. At this time, PEBB has not received an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system.

If PEBB is not able to procure a vendor, additional positions would need to be added to fill expertise in ACA rules and regulations and changes, including 1095 coding requirements based on data available. Additional positions would be needed to address data needs, data gaps, compile IRS compliant files, mail 1095 forms to member and track mailings, corrections for compliance. While PEBB is designated to conduct reporting on CHRO's behalf, other participating employers can utilize the same services. Universities, local governments that participate in PEBB would benefit from the professional services of an ACA vendor.

At such time that the state CHRO and payroll systems have incorporated their responsibility for ACA reporting in scope of their systems, PEBB would reassess the scope of vendor services needed, and also give universities and local governments who currently elect to use PEBB at least one year notice so they can find an alternative for ACA reporting.

It also includes policy package #435 for PEBB's portion of replacement costs for both the OEBB and PEBB benefits management systems and policy package #438 for Affordable Care Act 1095 mandatory reporting.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) is a division of the Oregon Health Authority (OHA). PEBB supports the goal of transforming the health care system in Oregon and fundamentally improving how care is paid for and delivered and achieving OHA's strategic goal to end health inequities in Oregon by 2030. PEBB's mission is to provide high-quality health plans and other benefits for state and university employees at a cost that is affordable to both the employees and the state. Oregon Revised Statutes create an eight-member board whose members are appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate. PEBB serves broadly diverse constituencies including the State of Oregon (as an employer), public universities, employees who live and work in every county of the state, the Legislature, taxpayers, labor unions and health policy groups.

PEBB designs, contracts for and administers health plans, group policies and flexible spending accounts for PEBB members. Approximately 140,000 Oregonians are enrolled as PEBB members. They include active and retired employees, spouse and domestic partner dependents, child dependents up to age 26, and adult children with disabilities over age 26, from state agencies, universities, Lottery and semi-independent agencies, and local governments and special districts.

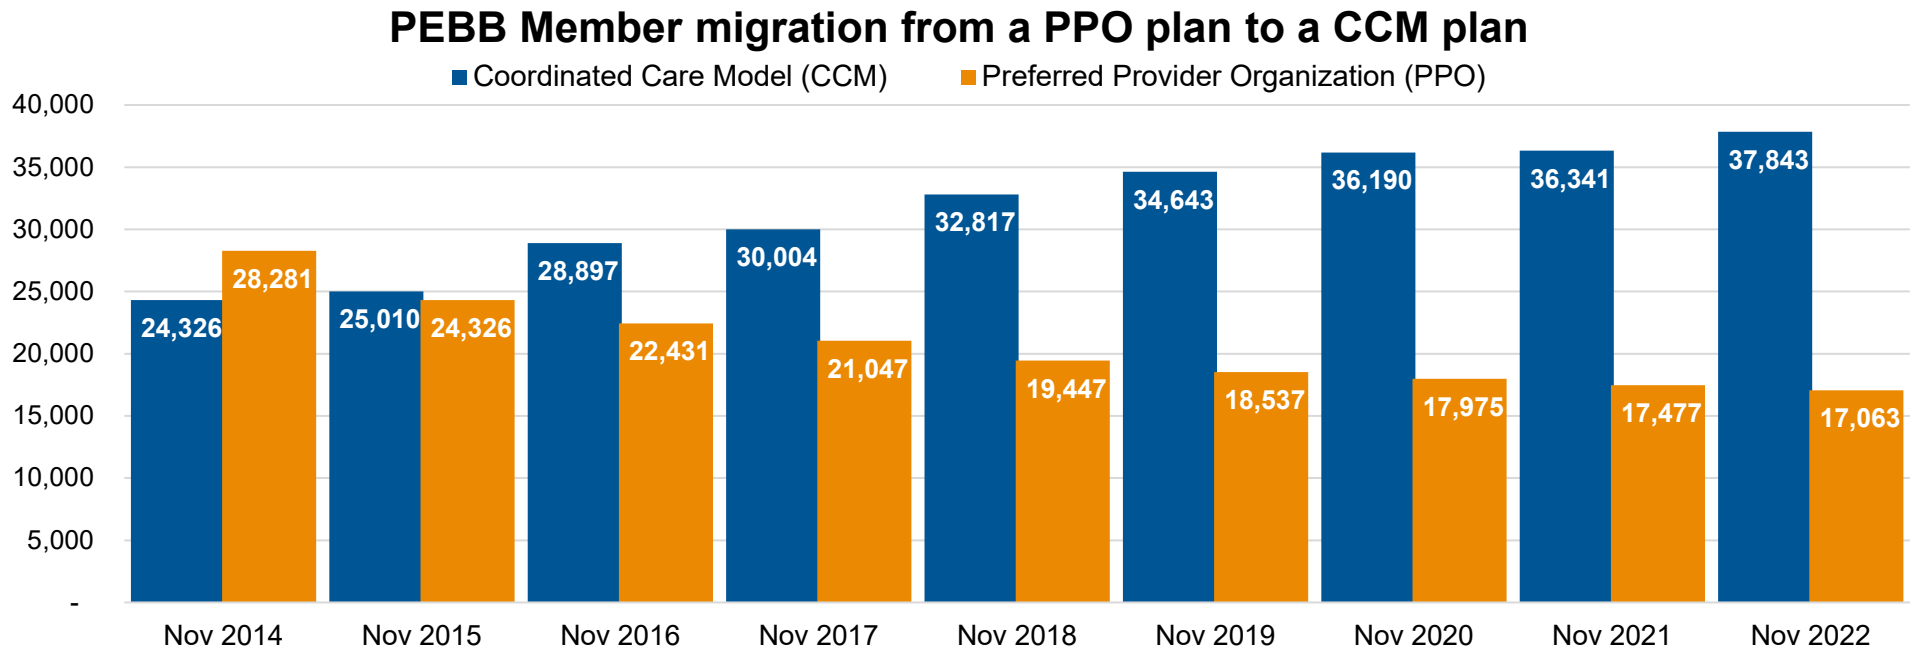
The PEBB Board serves diverse populations and provides a critical public service to Oregonians. The board offers medical, dental, vision, life, disability and accidental death and dismemberment benefit plans. PEBB is a federal IRS Section 125 Cafeteria Plan benefits program that is required to offer the same benefits to all members to enable pretax benefit payment.

Transforming health care

The Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) is mandated to redesign the health care delivery system so public employees have access to high quality plans at a lower price, defined in Senate Bill 1067 (2017) as no more than 3.4 percent growth annually. How to stay at or under a 3.4 percent annual growth trend when the Oregon commercial insurance market trend averages 6-7 percent is without a doubt PEBB's biggest challenge and consumes most of the board's attention.

The PEBB Board has made transforming the health care delivery system a key priority and advances transformation with plans that coordinate care. PEBB has partnered with its "sister program" the Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) to mostly offer "Coordinated Care Model" plans and have developed incentives to increase enrollment in the more efficient, managed plans. Both boards believe the coordinated care model (CCM) is essential for achieving a sustainable 3.4% budget target and in managing overall costs. PEBB offers coordinated care model health plans that use patient-centered medical homes to improve quality, enhance member experience, and contain costs. Both boards continue to add these systems of care throughout the state with a focus on integrated care and reducing health care costs and health disparities. The boards would like to further pursue plans and providers that use creative and innovative evidence-based practices that contribute value.



PEBB's coordinated care model plans enable the board to execute on strategies such as:

- Promoting alternative payment methodologies such as risk sharing and global value-based payments.
- Integrating behavioral and physical health delivery.
- Supporting the use of medical homes.
- Increasing payments for primary care.
- Putting fees at risk in contracts for meeting agreed-upon administrative and clinical performance metrics.
- Managing costs to a 3.4 percent annual increase.

Public Employees' Benefit Board

PEBB cost containment programs

Premium costs are affected by external drivers such as member utilization; lack of care coordination; inflation in health care costs, such as high prescriptions costs; and sedentary occupations that lead to long-term health risks and chronic conditions.

The traditional method of controlling premium increases is to increase costs to members through higher deductibles, higher copayment or coinsurance, or increased premium share. PEBB has always sought ways to reduce costs through innovative plan designs. Both PEBB and OEBB have incorporated "value-based" benefit attributes into plan design to encourage use of high-value services including:

- Value prescription drug formularies
- Waived copayments for office visits related to certain chronic conditions
- Self-management programs for weight and diabetes prevention available at no out-of-pocket cost to members
- No-cost tobacco use cessation support

Value-based benefits

Both OEBB and PEBB have implemented value-based benefit plans. Services that have been shown to reduce health care costs have a lower copayment or coinsurance. Members pay more for services that have less-expensive alternatives. Members are encouraged to talk to their medical providers about alternatives to these higher-cost options. Examples of these benefits include:

- No or lowered costs for visits for diabetes, coronary artery disease, asthma and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. Regular office visits keep people with these diagnoses out of the emergency room and hospital.
- No or lowered costs for medications that help prevent or manage chronic diseases such as statins for cholesterol, asthma inhalers and depression medications.
- Additional copayment for endoscopies, sleep studies and advanced imaging technologies (CT, MRI, PET scans).

- Additional copayment for shoulder and knee arthroscopic surgery, total knee and total hip joint replacement surgery.
- PEBB and OEBB continue to work toward increasing the percentage of total health care payments that use value-based approaches and have identified future year targets that generally align with those established for Coordinated Care Organizations. PEBB and OEBB currently have approximately 47 percent of total medical expenditures in a VBP arrangement with a goal of 70 percent by 2024, thereby matching the goals as defined in CCO 2.0.

PEBB supports prevention and member wellness by offering members no-cost programs through carrier contracts and direct vendor contracting.

- Better Choices Better Health helps people living with a chronic condition to live healthier lives.
- The Employee Assistance Program (EAP) provides emotional, social and financial health services.
- Healthy Team Healthy U offers members a foundation of knowledge and skills to help members live a healthier lifestyle.
- Quit For Life and other tobacco cessation resources help members overcome tobacco use.
- Weight Watchers is designed to help members achieve and maintain weight-loss goals.

Providing direct incentives to members outside of plan benefits comes with upfront costs to fund and administer. This appears as a direct cost to the program for each year the incentive is provided. Several years of claims data are needed to analyze whether the incentive has a measurable, sustained impact on participant health care claims costs. This type of analysis is possible and may show an impact on costs. However, any potential savings would not be realized until future years after the upfront costs of the incentive have been incurred.

PEBB also offers members opportunities to improve their health and contain costs through participation in the Health Engagement Model (HEM) program. The HEM allows program participants to learn more about their own personal health risks and how to reduce them. Participants earn financial incentives by annually completing a private health assessment on their carrier's secure website and completing two health-related activities.

The COVID-19 pandemic has greatly influenced PEBB's wellness efforts. Flexible work schedules continue to be the norm. As a result, PEBB's employee wellness efforts shifted away from a focus on environmental approaches and toward increasing communications directly to members to promote PEBB wellness programs, and to help them understand and access their benefits.

The Worksite Wellness Coordinating Council and the PEBB Member Advisory Committee (PMAC) were developed and began implementing a Member Wellbeing Strategy aimed at addressing needs identified by both groups. They work in coordination with the board to develop a near-term RFP for wellness benefits.

PEBB has made significant progress on the implementation of quality and cost performance measures with fees at risk in benefit contracts. PEBB continues to include quality measures and performance targets in health plan contracts to support better health, better care, and lower cost. The specific quality measures selected are based on the Statewide Aligned Quality Measures menu developed by the Health Plan Quality Metrics Committee for CCOs, PEBB and OEBB plans, and the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace. PEBB and OEBB contracts now include performance improvement targets on each measure and require that health plans put at risk a portion of administrative fees or premiums paid to them, with retention of at-risk dollars contingent on the plan achieving its targets. Performance improvement targets established for each measure considers the health plan's current performance in comparison to national benchmarks, gold standard performance rates, and organizational priorities to achieve identified rates of improvement in specific areas of health care quality. The categories of Performance

Public Employees' Benefit Board

Guarantees are: Administrative/Operational, Financial Trend, Clinical Quality, Clinical Management programs, Account Management, and Transparency.

Additional budget drivers

- Legislative cap on premium rate increases: The PEBB Board will continue to work with carriers to explore strategies to keep renewal rate increases at or below the Legislature's 3.4 percent growth cap.
- Implementing benefit mandates as required.

Joint PEBB and OEBB Innovation Workgroup

PEBB and OEBB formed the joint Innovation Workgroup (IWG), made up of PEBB and OEBB board members and legislators to analyze cost drivers, measure access and quality, and explore joint alternative payment models that bring true value and the potential for tremendous savings. The IWG looks to leverage the purchasing power and data to its maximum value and will look to include joint ventures with other OHA programs in the future such as the Marketplace to further leverage purchasing power. Key initiatives the IWG has worked on most recently include:

- Development of a Centers of Excellence program across the state
- Addressing Behavioral Health provider access issues and payment strategies
- Advancing Value-based payments in PEBB and OEBB

Joint PEBB and OEBB Health Equity Workgroup

In 2021, the boards determined that to fully engage in advancing health equity in all aspects of their benefit programs, a special workgroup must be formed that focused on this goal. The Joint PEBB OEBB Health Equity Workgroup has set five initial goals:

- To intentionally increase the diversity on the boards
- Develop and apply a health equity lens tool to all board policy decisions

- Develop a Diversity Equity and Inclusion assessment tool that audited PEBB and OEBB benefit vendors and ensured their business practices met the standards the boards have set
- Amplify the commitment to Health Equity by the boards and communicate it in all areas
- Incorporate Health Equity into governance, quality metrics and clinical protocols

The workgroup has developed a health equity lens tool and has incorporated it in several policy decisions. It has also developed a DEI tool and used it to audit PEBB and OEBB business partners, providing reports for areas needed for improvement. The workgroup continues to move this work forward.

Policy Package 426 OEBB-PEBB Benefit Management Replacement System
This POP will allow OEBB and PEBB to combine enrollment system, enhance and modernize members and administrator experience. Top modernization goals include:

- The ability to implement and maintain latest security best practices.
- Mobile app compatibility.
- Compatibility with commonly used browsers, operating systems and devices.
- Flexibility to accommodate business partners' and customers' needs.
- Expanded automated error checking and data validation.
- Availability of on-demand enrollment and training tools for members and administrators.
- Self-service tools and features for members and administrators.
- Automated dependent eligibility verification among and between OEBB and PEBB member groups.

OEBB and PEBB are in the initial stages of the replacement BMS implementation with their contracted vendor utilizing POP funding from the current biennium. This policy package will fund the remaining implementation activities including additional project staffing, vendor implementation costs, hosting and licensing fees, oversight fees for quality assurance, and contingency allowances. The implementation plan outlined by the selected vendor, LifeWorks, has a go live date in the first quarter of 2025.

Policy Package 438 Affordable Care Act (ACA) Employer Reporting
This POP will allow PEBB to seek the services of a vendor for comprehensive ACA reporting that includes evaluation of data needs, data gaps, coordination of employer data gathering, evaluation and coding of offers of coverage, employee share, enrollment codes, mailing of 1095 forms, filings with IRS, correction filing, and responses to IRS inquiries.

ACA reporting is an employer responsibility. The complexity of ACA reporting is primarily related to the tracking of hours worked and tracking measurement periods to determine if offers of coverage must be made. This data is owned by HR systems. HR and Payroll systems do not have the capability currently to complete ACA reporting or enhance the data it provides to PEBB to complete ACA reporting on their behalf. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication of any efforts to secure a position within their office to ensure required ACA data is captured. At this time, PEBB has not received an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system.

If PEBB is not able to procure a vendor, additional positions would need to be added to fill expertise in ACA rules and regulations and changes, including 1095 coding requirements based on data available. Additional positions would be needed to address data needs, data gaps, compile IRS compliant files, mail 1095 forms to member and track mailings, corrections for compliance. While PEBB is designated to conduct reporting on CHRO's behalf, other participating employers can utilize the same services. Universities, local governments that participate in PEBB will benefit from the professional services of an ACA vendor.

At such time that the state CHRO and payroll systems have incorporated their responsibility for ACA reporting in scope of their systems, PEBB will reassess the scope of vendor services needed, and also give universities and local governments who currently elect to use PEBB at least one year notice so they can find an alternative for ACA reporting.

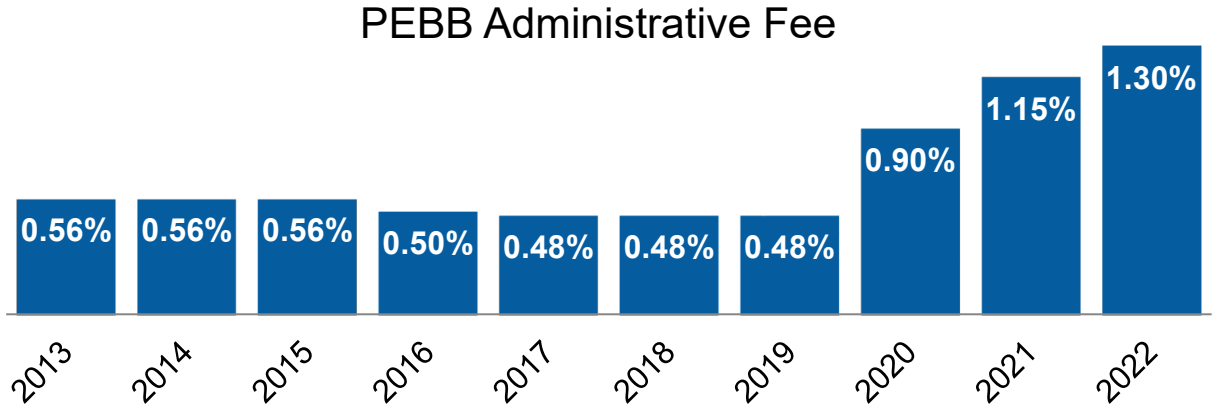
Revenue sources and changes

Other Funds revenue pays for PEBB administration through an administrative assessment added to medical and dental insurance premiums and premium equivalents. By statute (ORS 243.185), PEBB can collect an amount that equals up to 2 percent of total premiums to meet administrative and operational costs.



In recent years, the administrative fee was not an adequate source of revenue to cover the development of the Benefit Management System (BMS) project and the increase in system programming costs. A main goal of the boards was to construct the new BMS without having to borrow the funds to do it. Consultant costs have also increased from prior years driven by the passage of Senate Bill 1067 and funding the work of the joint PEBB/OEBB Innovation Work Group (IWG) and joint Health Equity Work Group. These investments will end up saving the state money over the long term by becoming more efficient and having better data to make better decisions. As the new system development project ends and the old system is phased out. The administrative fee is likely to decrease back to under 1 percent.

PEBB maintains two accounts in its Revolving Fund.

- Stabilization Account: PEBB has authority to use this account to control costs, subsidize premiums and self-insure. The primary source of Other Funds revenue is unused employer contributions for employee benefits. This account also holds proceeds generated when PEBB's life insurance carrier changed from a mutual organization to a public corporation.
- Flexible Spending Account: PEBB operates two flexible-spending-account programs and two commuter programs for employees and maintains an account for their administrative costs. The primary Other Funds revenue source for these programs is forfeitures from participants.

Executive Summary

Division overview

The Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) is a division of the Oregon Health Authority (OHA). OEBB supports the goals of transforming the health care system in Oregon and fundamentally improving how care is paid for and delivered. The OEBB board's mission is to provide a comprehensive selection of benefit plan options for most of Oregon's K-12 school districts, education service districts and community colleges, as well as a number of charter schools and some special districts and local governments. OEBB's benefit plans are designed to be flexible and accommodate the needs of employers and members.

The Legislatively Adopted Budget for OEBB for the 2023-25 biennium continues current service levels, which includes cost growth for OEBB core benefits at 3.4 percent for both the 2023-2024 and 2024-2025 plan years. It also includes the cost to OEBB to implement payer parity in the behavioral health crisis system in policy package #429. All OEBB expenditures are categorized as Other Funds.

Program descriptions

OEBB serves entity employees, early retirees, COBRA enrollees and their family members, in more than 256 publicly funded entities throughout Oregon. OEBB serves its members and entities year-round.

The OEBB board designs and maintains a full range of benefit plans for eligible publicly funded entities to offer to their employees, early retirees and COBRA enrollees Plans include medical, dental, vision, life, disability, accidental death and dismemberment, long term care, an employee assistance program, a health savings account and flexible spending accounts.

Rising health care costs are a primary cost driver for OEBB. OEBB has recognized and taken steps to provide incentives for appropriate care and condition management through benefit plan design with the goal of containing costs and using alternative payment models to control costs. OEBB strives to keep benefit plans affordable and stable while providing quality care to members. OEBB has managed benefit costs to well below national trend throughout its history and continues to meet a legislatively capped annual 3.4 percent increase on premiums and costs on behalf of members.

Program justification and link to long-term outcomes

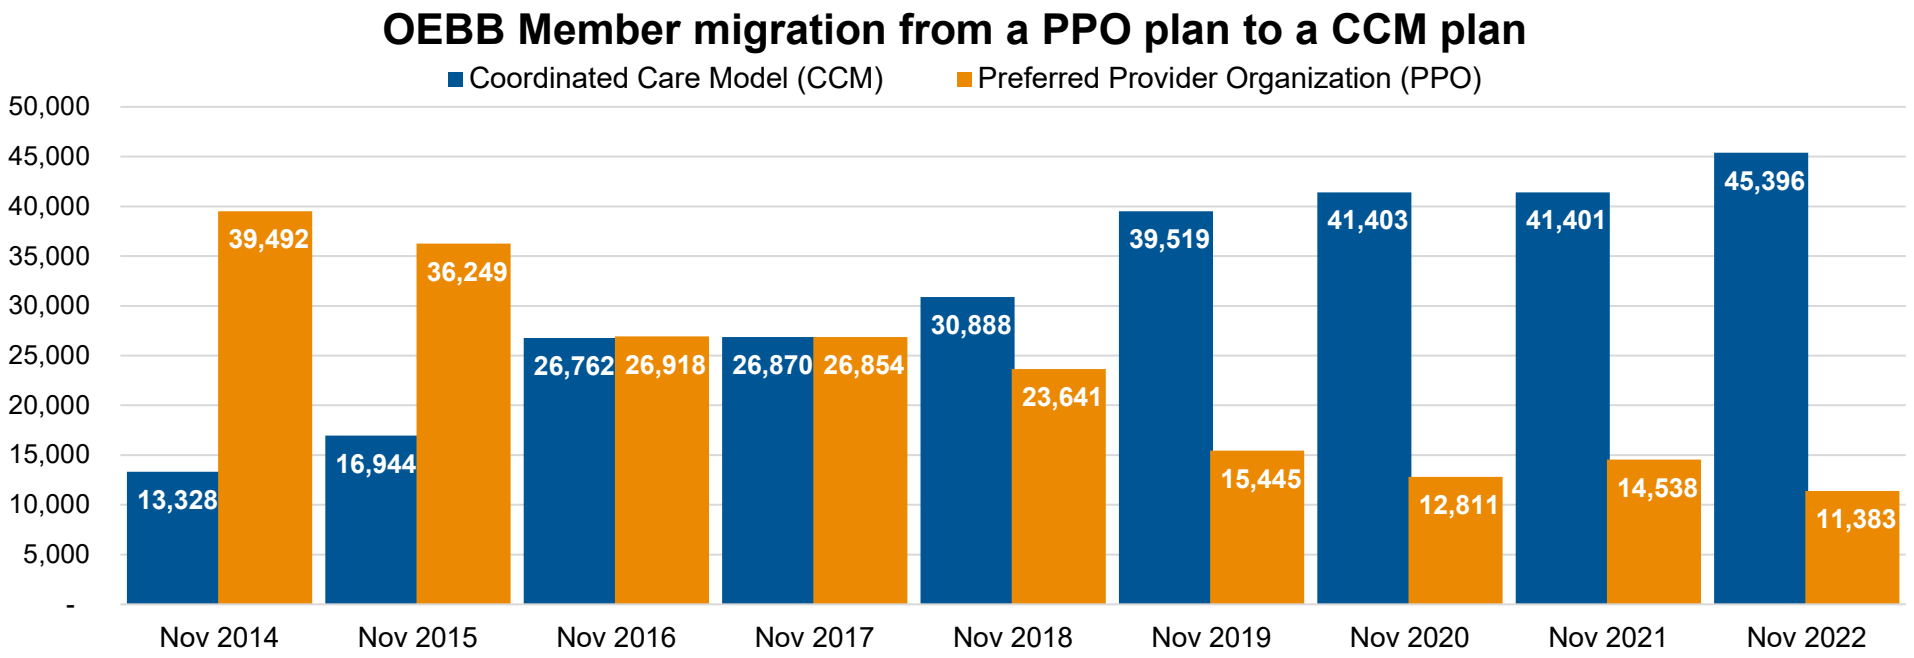
OEBB was established to eliminate the wide-ranging disparities among health plans offered by educational entities and for responding to the rapidly rising costs of health care. A statewide pool such as OEBB creates purchasing power and avoids unstable premium swings. Streamlining administration and eliminating third-party fees and duplication of work were also large cost savers upon the formation of OEBB. Educational entities benefit from cost predictability and controlling of expenditures year-over-year.

Transforming health care and advancing health equity

The OEBB board has made transforming the health care delivery system a priority and envisions advancing health care transformation with plans that coordinate care. OEBB has partnered with its “sister program” the Public Employees’ Benefit Board (PEBB) in the shared innovation strategy referred to as the “Coordinated Care Model” (CCM). Both boards are continuing to add these systems of care throughout the state with a focus on integrated care and reducing health care costs and health disparities. In 2021, PEBB and OEBB formed a joint subgroup of the boards focused on ensuring health equity, called the “Joint Subcommittee on Health Equity.” The committee consists of two board members from each board, expert consultants, and staff. The committee supports OHA’s goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030.

OEBB and PEBB are fully committed to working together to leverage their purchasing power across the state and have started working with the Insurance Marketplace to further leverage the state’s healthcare purchasing power. The “Joint PEBB and OEBB Innovation Workgroup” was formed in 2018 with board members from each board and legislators to develop strategies on cost containment, how to best leverage claims data stores for analysis of quality and cost performance, and developing payment initiatives to ensure meeting the 3.4 percent cap every year.

Executive Summary



Value-based benefits

Traditional fee-for-service models provide payment for each health care visit, service, or test. Value-based payments shift focus from volume to value by rewarding providers for delivering high quality care that supports improved outcomes and slower cost growth. As shown in the table below, OEBB and PEBB health plans currently incorporate a variety of value-based payment strategies to incentivize provider quality and efficiency. Many of the general strategies used align with value-based payment approaches also used by coordinated care organizations (CCOs) serving Oregon's Medicaid population.

Executive Summary

Many of the strategies used by PEBB & OEBB align with value-based payment approaches also used by coordinated care organizations (CCOs) serving Oregon's Medicaid population.

Shared savings upside and downside risk	■	■	■

OEBB and PEBB continue to work toward increasing the percentage of total health care payments that use value-based approaches and have identified future year targets that closely align with those established for CCOs. OEBB and PEBB currently have approximately 47 percent of total medical expenditures in a VBP arrangement with a goal of 70 percent by 2024, thereby matching the goals as defined in CCO 2.0.

OEBB quality measures and fees at risk

In the 2023-25 biennium, OEBB will continue to include quality measures and performance targets in health plan contracts to support better health, better care, and lower cost. The specific quality measures selected will be based on the Statewide Aligned Quality Measures menu developed by the Health Plan Quality Metrics Committee for coordinated care organizations (CCOs), PEBB and OEBB plans, and the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace.

Wellness initiatives and promoting member health

OEBB supports prevention and member wellness by offering members access to no-cost wellness programs. Wellness programs help members in a variety of ways, including helping people with chronic conditions live healthier lives, helping prevent the onset of diabetes; providing emotional, social and financial health services; helping overcome tobacco use; and helping achieve and maintain weight loss goals.

Executive Summary

Program performance

OEBB has met the 3.4 percent overall expenditure increase and annual premium increase “test” nearly every year since 2012 (see below). Fulfilling the growth cap has been done by executing on cost containment strategies and promoting program efficiencies. OEBB faces challenges in meeting the 3.4 percent tests as a payer in the commercial market in battling trend, provider market leveraging and the timing of the annual growth cap. From 2020-2022, the global pandemic heavily impacted utilization levels. The “bounce-back” of deferred care and quantifying the impact on the health of OEBB members will be better understood in upcoming claims cycles.

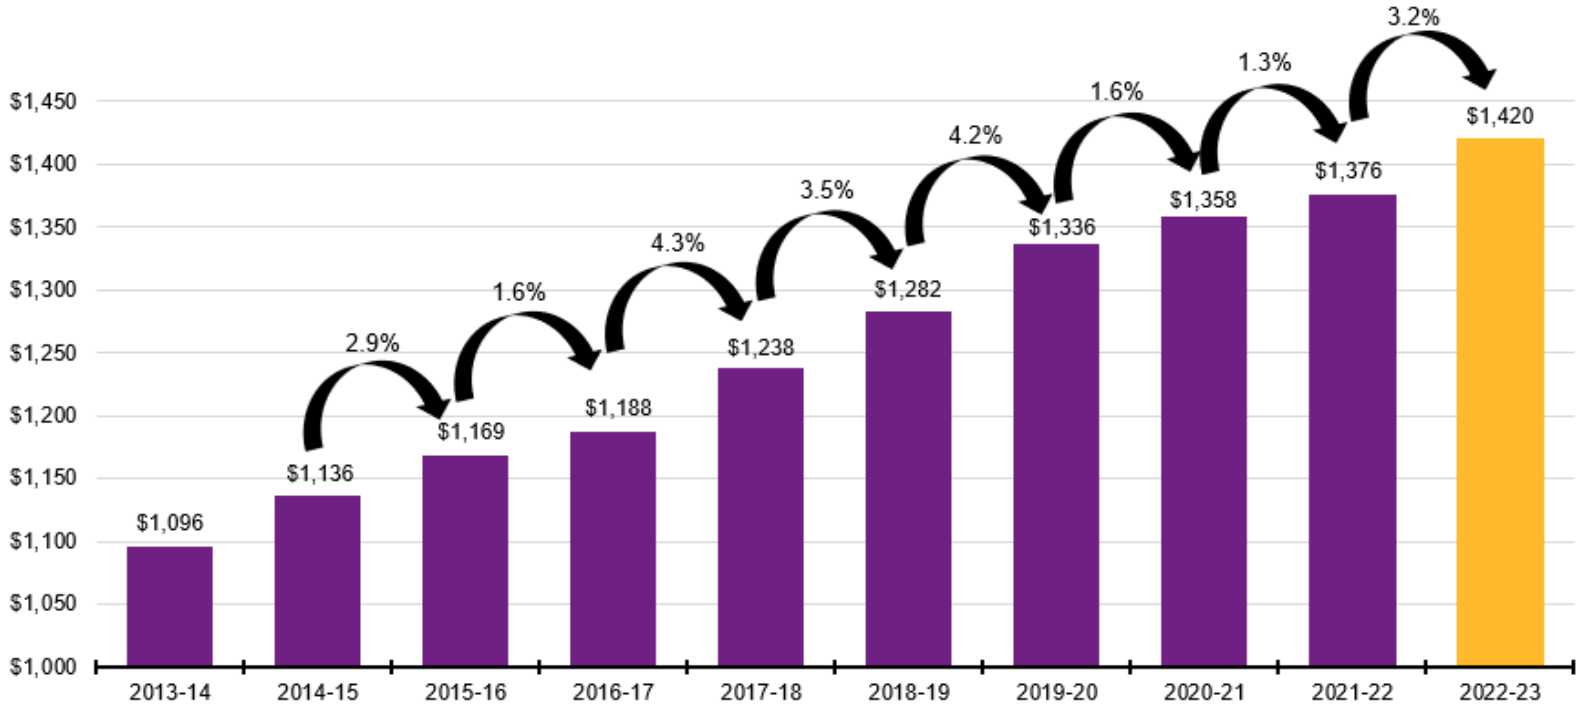
Actual per employee per month (PEPM) costs with projected 2022-23

- Historical Increase in Medical, Dental, and Vision PEPM, excluding the change in insurance taxes/fees



Strategies for success

OEBB is incorporating key elements of the coordinated care model into all OEBB medical plans. They are particularly evident in the structure of the Moda Health PCP 360 plans, as well as the fully integrated health care delivery system inherent in the Kaiser Permanente plans.

Executive Summary

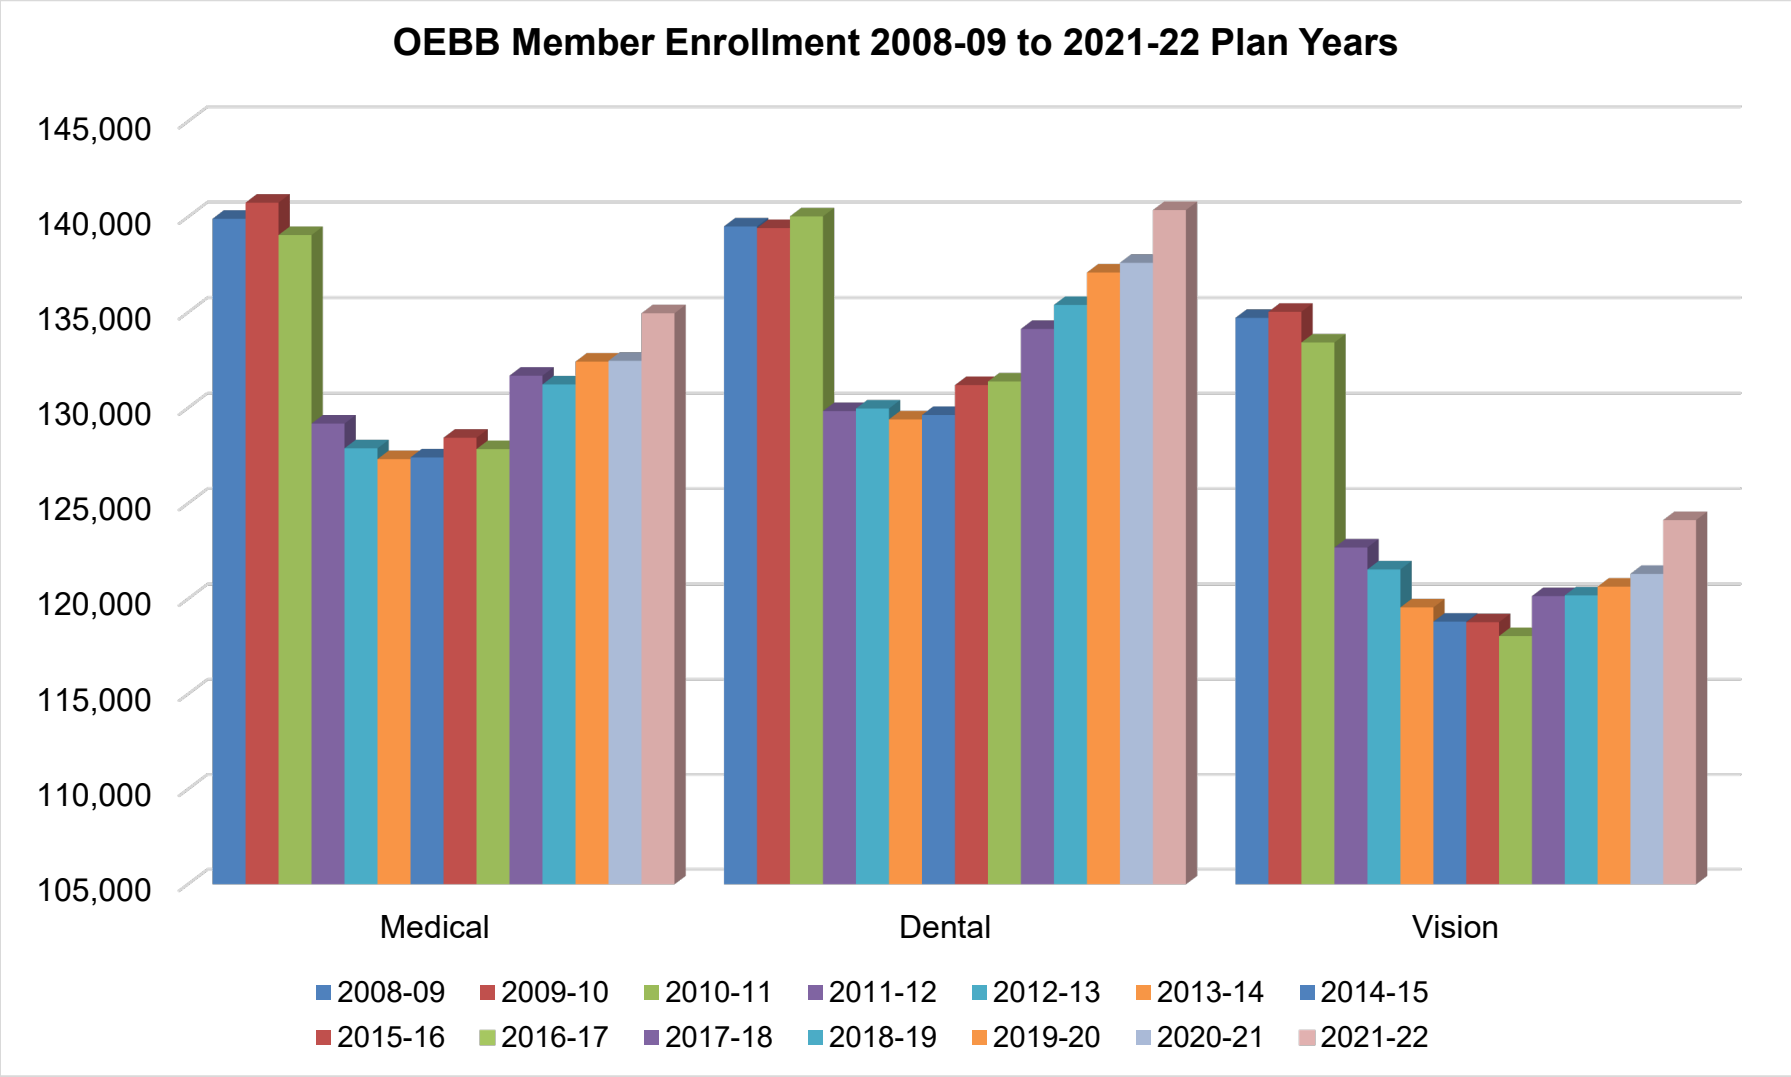
The OEBB board and staff are committed to our mission and guiding principles and have developed strategies to achieve long-term results:

- Offer high-quality, affordable health plans.
- Support member wellness and population health.
- Create streamlined operations and organization effectiveness.
- Provide enhanced member outreach and communications.
- Create a financially sustainable organization.

Benefit highlights for the 2023-24 plan year

- OEBB will continue to offer the same medical, dental and vision plans through Moda, Kaiser, Willamette Dental and VSP for the 2023-24 Plan Year. All deductible levels, copayments, coinsurance levels and out-of-pocket maximums will continue.
- All medical plans will include an enhanced virtual telehealth service.
- Moda plans will see continued innovation with its member concierge service, Moda360. Moda360 provides OEBB members with specialized service navigators to provide extra assistance to get the care they need, find quality providers, resolve claims or billing issues, schedule appointments or find health care resources. Moda360 includes additional services such as expanded telemedicine, diabetes care programs and enhanced behavioral health services.

Executive Summary



*drop in enrollments in plan year 2011-12 was due to a recession.

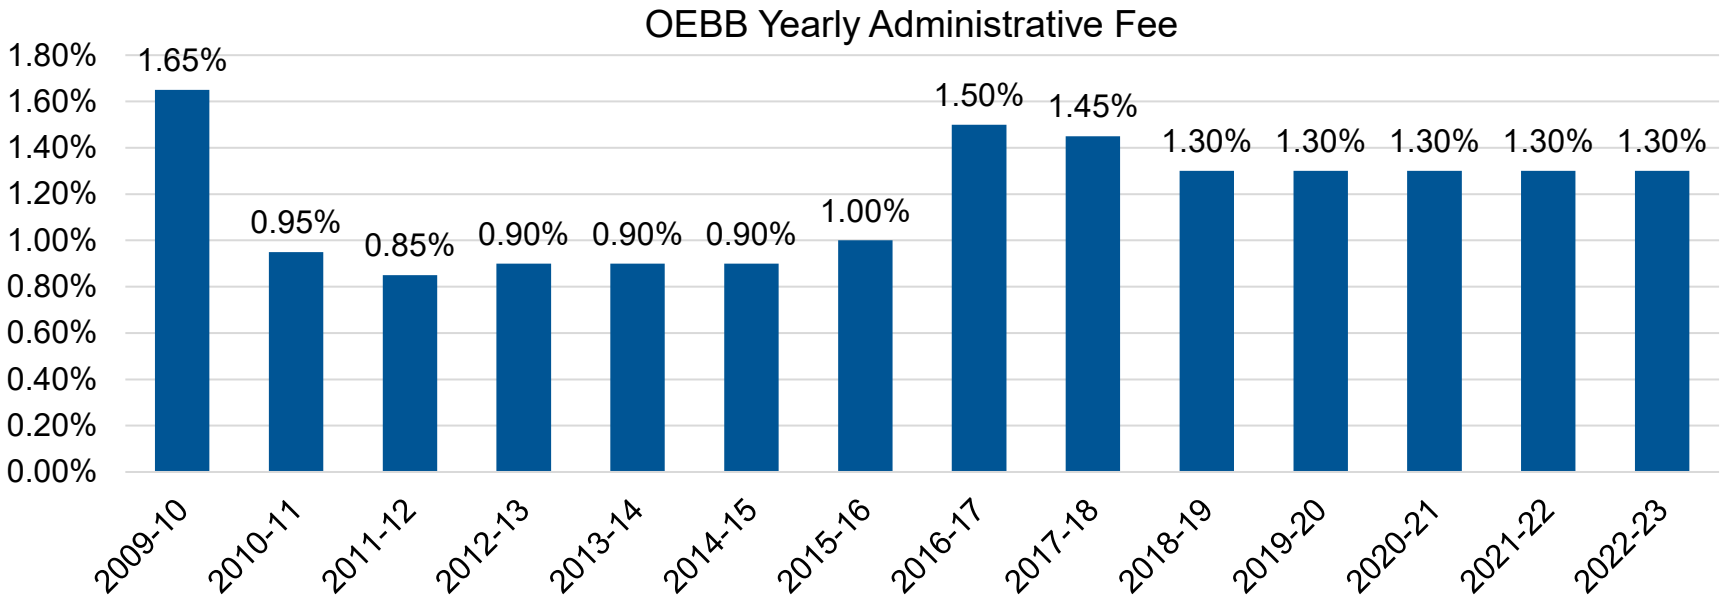
Executive Summary

Enabling legislation/program authorization

OEBB was established by Senate Bill 426 (2007). House Bill 2279 (2013) expanded participation eligibility to include local governments and special districts. The OEBB board functions and responsibilities are authorized by ORS 243.860 to 243.886.

Funding streams

OEBB is funded entirely with Other Funds. ORS 243.880 authorizes the Oregon Educators Benefit Account to cover administration expenses. The account's revenue is generated by an administrative assessment paid by members along with their premiums. The administrative assessment cannot exceed 2 percent of total monthly premiums. The administrative fee is the sole source of revenue for the OEBB benefits program.



Executive Summary

ORS 243.884 authorizes the Oregon Educators Revolving Fund to pay premiums, control expenditures, provide self-insurance and stabilize premiums.

Significant program changes from 2021-23

Changes from the 2021-23 biennium include one policy package: #435 OEBB-PEBB Benefit Management System.

Policy package #435 BMS will allow OEBB and PEBB to combine enrollment systems, enhance and modernize members and administrator experience. Top modernization goals include:

- The ability to implement and maintain latest security best practices.
- Mobile app compatibility.
- Compatibility with commonly used browsers, operating systems and devices.
- Flexibility to accommodate business partners' and customers' needs.
- Expanded automated error checking and data validation.
- Availability of on-demand enrollment and training tools for members and administrators.
- Self-service tools and features for members and administrators.
- Automated dependent eligibility verification among and between OEBB and PEBB member groups.

OEBB and PEBB are in the initial stages of the replacement BMS implementation with their contracted vendor utilizing policy package funding from the current biennium. This policy package will fund the remaining implementation activities including additional project staffing, vendor implementation costs, hosting and licensing fees, oversight fees for quality assurance, and contingency allowances.[1] The implementation plan outlined by the selected vendor, Telus Health (formerly Lifeworks), has a go live date in the first quarter of 2025.

[1] The funding for the BMS replacement project sits in the PEBB Operations and OEBB Operations budgets in the Health Policy and Analytics division.

The Legislatively Adopted Budget includes funding for the 2023-25 biennium to continue current service levels, which includes cost growth for OEBB medical premiums, both self-insured and fully insured, at 3.4 percent. It also includes policy package #435 for OEBB's portion of replacement costs for both the OEBB and PEBB benefits management systems.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) was established by the 2007 Legislature. OEBB provides a comprehensive selection of benefit plan options for most of Oregon's K-12 school districts, education service districts and community colleges, as well as a number of charter schools and local governments across the state. OEBB offers a multitude of plans that resemble an "exchange." OEBB started offering medical, dental, and vision coverage in 2008 and has since added a broad range of additional benefits including life, accidental death and dismemberment (AD&D), short-term and long-term disability and long-term care insurance, as well as an employee assistance program (EAP), a health savings account (HSA), flexible spending accounts (FSAs), and commuter savings accounts. Each of the 256 employer entities OEBB serves maintains a unique service area, eligibility requirements, cost sharing with employees, and diverse populations. The law prohibits those entities, with certain exceptions, from offering benefit plans other than those offered by the Board. Unlike PEBB, all plans are fully insured. OEBB has prioritized choice in plan options for employers and employees, and consequently offer a large number of different plans.

OEBB was created to eliminate the wide-ranging disparities between health plans offered by school districts and to respond to the rapidly rising costs of health care. House Bill 2279 (2013) expanded participation eligibility to include local governments and special districts. A statewide pool, such as OEBB, creates purchasing power and avoids unstable premium swings experienced by school districts with volatile claims experience. Streamlining administration and eliminating third-party fees and duplication of work were also large cost savers upon the formation of OEBB. School districts benefit from cost predictability and controlling of expenditures year-over-year. In addition to OEBB's cost goals, OEBB plans emphasize coordinated care model features. Coordinated care means the member's primary care physician works with specialists, hospitals and other providers in a coordinated fashion to ensure optimal and efficient care for members. All the plan design changes implemented since the 2020-21 Plan Year have focused on advancing preventive care and coordinated care principles.

Key components of the OEBB program include:

- Value-added plans that provide high-quality care and services at an affordable cost to members.
- Collaboration with districts, members, carriers and providers that ensures a focused approach on the design and delivery of benefit plans and services.
- Support of improvement in members' health status through a variety of measurable programs and services.
- Implementing measurable goals and programs that hold carriers and providers accountable for health outcomes.
- Encouraging members to take responsibility for their own health outcomes.
- Top-of-class customer service.

Oregon Educators Benefit Board

Transforming Health Care

The OEBB board has made transforming the health care delivery system a priority and envisions advancing health care transformation with plans that coordinate care. OEBB has partnered with its “sister program” the Public Employees’ Benefit Board (PEBB) in the shared innovation strategy referred to as “Coordinated Care Model” plans. OEBB and PEBB believe the coordinated care model (CCM) is essential for achieving success in managing overall costs. For the 2022-23 plan year, OEBB continued its further enhancement the CCM offerings with more duties for the health navigators. Health navigators are personal health coaches that provide members with assistance in scheduling appointments, billing questions, claims and appeals, care programs and prior authorizations allowing members to better coordinate their health care. Both boards continue to add these systems of care throughout Oregon with a focus on integrated care and reducing health care costs and eliminating health disparities. The boards would like to further pursue plans and providers that use creative and innovative evidence-based practices, specifically in social determinants of health.

As the board evaluates plan offerings in an annual contract renewal with plans, it focuses on maintaining sustainable, affordable, equitable and high-quality benefit plan options across the entire state. Strategies include:

- Engage employers regularly to ensure the affordability definition remains relevant to all participating entities.
- Monitor and audit utilization and plan performance to ensure high quality benefits.
- Incorporate criteria specific to legislative cost requirements (3.4 percent renewal increase cap) into carrier contracts.
- Require proposers to outline their plans and specific steps they will take to promote these criteria in medical offices and care locations around the state.
- Incentivize coordinate care plans and improve access to culturally specific services across the state.
- Integrate coordinated, patient-centered care – physical, mental and dental.
- Demonstrate improved health outcomes.
- Embrace alternative payment models.

Oregon Educators Benefit Board

OEBB also actively engages in OHA committees, including:

- Primary Care Payment Reform Collaborative.
- Health Plan Quality Metrics Committee to support adoption of aligned quality incentives.
- Pharmacy Cost Collaborative.

The board is dedicated to moving away from a “fee-for-service” model and incentivizes members to enroll in a Coordinated care model plan. The following graphic illustrates OEBB members moving from a preferred provider organization (PPO) plan to a coordinated care model (CCM) plan with a lower cost shares.

OEBB cost containment programs

OEBB has recognized and taken steps to provide incentives for appropriate care and management of chronic conditions through benefit plan design with the goal of containing costs:

- Members have no copayment, coinsurance, or deductible for office visits associated with management of certain chronic conditions (asthma, diabetes, cardiovascular disease and congestive heart failure).
- Value pharmacy benefit provides medications used to manage common chronic conditions with no copayment.

- Condition management and prevention programs offered at no out-of-pocket cost to members under OEBB and PEBB medical plans, including evidence-based programs for members living with a chronic condition and prevention programs that specifically target members at risk of developing diabetes.
- Additional copays were included to discourage the use of certain procedures and treatments that had less-invasive options that were equally effective.

OEBB has also used alternative payment models to control cost including:

- Reference pricing for joint replacement and gastric bypass services.
- Shared risk payment models for its Moda PCP 360 medical plans.

OEBB quality measures and fees at risk

In the 2023-25 biennium OEBB will continue to include quality measures and performance targets in health plan contracts to support better health, better care, and lower cost. The specific quality measures selected will be based on the Statewide Aligned Quality Measures menu developed by the Health Plan Quality Metrics Committee for coordinated care organizations (CCOs), PEBB and OEBB plans, and the Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace.

Wellness initiatives and promoting member health

OEBB supports prevention and member wellness by offering members access to no-cost wellness programs. Wellness programs help members in a variety of ways, including helping people with chronic conditions live healthier lives, helping prevent the onset of diabetes; providing emotional, social and financial health services; helping overcome tobacco use; and helping achieve and maintain weight loss goals.

OEBB has met the 3.4 percent overall expenditure increase and annual premium increase “test” nearly every year since 2012. Fulfilling the growth cap has been done by executing on cost containment strategies and promoting program efficiencies. OEBB faces challenges in meeting the 3.4 percent tests as a payer in the commercial market in battling trend, provider market leveraging and the timing of the annual growth cap. From 2020-2022, the global pandemic heavily impacted utilization levels. The “bounce-back” of deferred care and quantifying the impact on the health of OEBB members will be better understood in upcoming claims cycles.

Policy Package 435 OEBB-PEBB Benefit Management Replacement System

The Legislatively Adopted Budget for OEBB and PEBB includes additional funding to continue with the Benefit Management System (BMS) replacement project, which will allow OEBB and PEBB to combine enrollment systems, enhance and modernize members and administrator experience. Top modernization goals include:

- The ability to implement and maintain latest security best practices.
- Mobile app compatibility.
- Compatibility with commonly used browsers, operating systems and devices.
- Flexibility to accommodate business partners’ and customers’ needs.
- Expanded automated error checking and data validation.
- Availability of on-demand enrollment and training tools for members and administrators.
- Self-service tools and features for members and administrators.
- Automated dependent eligibility verification among and between OEBB and PEBB member groups.

OEBB and PEBB are in the initial stages of the replacement BMS implementation with their contracted vendor utilizing policy package funding from the current biennium. This policy package will fund the remaining implementation activities including additional project staffing, vendor implementation costs, hosting and licensing fees, oversight fees for quality assurance, and contingency allowances. The implementation plan outlined by the selected vendor, LifeWorks, has a go live date in the first quarter of 2025.

Oregon Educators Benefit Board

Revenue sources and changes

Oregon Revised Statute (ORS) 243.880 established the Oregon Educators Benefit Account to cover administration expenses. The account's revenue is generated through an administrative fee included in premiums for OEBB medical, dental and vision benefits, which is considered Other Funds revenue. By statute, the administrative fee cannot exceed 2 percent of total monthly premiums. ORS 243.882 prohibits the balance in the account from exceeding 5 percent of the monthly total of employer and employee contributions for more than 120 days.

ORS 243.884 established the Oregon Educators Revolving Fund to pay premiums, control expenditures, provide self-insurance and subsidize premiums.

New laws that apply to the program unit

House Bill 3383 modifies the required minimum Board membership to include one member who is employed as classified staff at a public school or for an education service district. The bill also removes one position with expertise in health policy or risk management.

Executive Summary

Division overview

Public health uses equity practice, data and science to achieve better health outcomes, improve care and lower or contain health care costs by preventing the leading causes of death, disease, and injury in Oregon. The OHA Public Health Division (OHA-PHD) works in partnership with local public health authorities (LPHAs), Tribes, community-based organizations (CBOs), health systems and a number of sectors to elevate community priorities for health into programs designed to eliminate health inequities by 2030.

OHA-PHD's 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget includes phasing out of COVID-19 response funding. The 2023-25 OHA-PHD budget also includes critical investments in state, local, Tribal and community-based public health infrastructure that is necessary to continue progress toward eliminating health inequities through response to ongoing communicable disease threats; environmental health hazards including wildfire, extreme heat and water quality; and continued implementation of voter-approved and legislatively mandated public health programs that are implemented across Oregon communities.

Program descriptions

The mission of OHA-PHD is to promote health and prevent the leading causes of death, disease, and injury in Oregon. The OHA-PHD vision is lifelong health for all people in Oregon. OHA-PHD implements the 2020-24 State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP), Healthier Together Oregon through 62 strategies organized in five priority areas: Institutional bias; Adversity, Trauma, and toxic stress; Economic drivers of health (including issues related to housing, living wage, food security and transportation); Access to equitable preventive health care; Behavioral health (including mental health and substance use).

The community-led, equity-centered strategies included in Healthier Together Oregon are a result of the work the public health system has done to modernize its practice to meet the evolving health needs of Oregonians. Oregon's public health system includes LPHAs, Tribes, CBOs and OHA-PHD. The public health infrastructure developed as a result of public health modernization has been essential to Oregon's response to COVID-19 and emerging public health threats, including opioids, domestic wells contamination and mpox. The ongoing focus on health equity and cultural responsiveness by the public health system has required engagement with community members and CBOs to utilize public health data to quickly identify community-level impacts of a public health threat and engage quickly with communities and partners to provide culturally and linguistically responsive communications to keep Oregonians safe.

Program justification and link to long-term outcomes

Public health programs and interventions contribute to reductions in health care costs and improved health outcomes through initiatives designed to prevent disease and injury. OHA-PHD uses data and culturally and linguistically responsive practices to improve health outcomes and work toward the OHA goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030. OHA-PHD works with communities that are most impacted by health inequities to collect and share health data to determine priorities for funding and policy. In 2023-25, OHA-PHD will implement public health modernization investments that provide the necessary public health infrastructure to support ongoing and complex public health needs, including the secondary impacts of COVID-19. OHA-PHD will need to phase out short-term COVID-19 Federal Funds investments and phase in other long-term General Fund and Federal Funds investments to sustain investments in communicable disease control and health equity, including cohesive, community-led approaches to achieve equity across OHA-PHD's 115 program areas.

Program performance

OHA-PHD has a system of performance management and quality improvement to inform program implementation. Specifically, OHA-PHD collects and reports annually on SHIP health outcome measures, which are also reflected in the Oregon Health Authority Key Performance Measures and public health accountability measures. In 2023, OHA-PHD will submit its application for reaccreditation with the National Public Health Accreditation Board, further cementing OHA-PHD's public health practice as meeting or exceeding national accreditation standards.

Executive Summary

Enabling legislation/program authorization

OHA-PHD plays a central role in ensuring the health of all people in Oregon. Chapters 431 and 433 of Oregon Revised Statutes set forth hundreds of code sections enabling a wide range of public health activities carried out by state public health and its partners. Federally funded public health programs are implemented according to federal laws.

Funding streams

For the 2023-25 biennium, the OHA-PHD Legislatively Adopted Budget comprises General Fund, Federal Funds and Other Funds. Federal revenue includes entitlement grants such as Medicaid and more than 72 categorical grants. As a part of COVID-19 response, OHA-PHD received over $700 million in funding from federal grants and CARES Act funds to address both the immediate pandemic and long-term strategic planning to address pandemic and any other future outbreaks. Congress has passed the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2021 and the American Rescue Plan Act.

OHA-PHD's Other Funds revenue sources include fees for activities in such areas as newborn screening tests; licensing of facilities including hospitals; and statutorily dedicated funds from the Tobacco Use Reduction Account.

Significant program changes from 2021-23

In the 2023-25 biennium, OHA-PHD will continue advancements in public health modernization by continuing a focus on health equity, communicable diseases, environmental health, emergency preparedness and the indirect impacts of COVID-19 on health, such as access to preventive care, behavioral health and community cohesion. COVID-19 has highlighted the critical foundational capabilities and programs necessary to respond to new public health threats and achieve OHA's 10-year goal of eliminating health inequities.

Executive Summary

In order to sustain the costs of service delivery in fee-based programs, the 2023-25 OHA-PHD Legislatively Adopted Budget includes fee increases for the Newborn Screening Program and the Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (ORELAP) and fee ratification for Oregon Psilocybin Services.

Additionally, OHA-PHD will implement Senate Bill 1549 – Temporary Staffing Agencies; Senate Bill 1554 (2022) – COVID-19 After Action Report; House Bill 4098 – Opioid Settlement Fund; House Bill 4077 – Environmental Justice; House Bill 2842 (2021) – Healthy Homes Grant Program; Senate Bill 587 – Tobacco Retail Licensure (2021); Ballot Measure 109 (2020) – Psilocybin Services, among other legislation impacting public health in Oregon.

The Legislatively Adopted Budget includes funding for the 2023-25 biennium to continue current service levels; however, the current service levels include a reduction of over $1 billion in Other Funds for the end of Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) funded COVID-related activities. These funds come to OHA through the Office of Emergency Management (OEM) who receives the reimbursement from FEMA. In addition, three vacant positions were abolished from the budget at LAB. The 2023-25 LAB also contains several policy packages to support building health equity and community-focused public health, which includes continuing public health modernization, strengthening access to reproductive health care, and increasing capacity to respond to emerging issues.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Office of the State Public Health Director (OSPHD) guides the strategy, operations, scientific activities, communication, and policies of all public health programs and ensures that Oregon's public health system is effective, efficient and aligned with the OHA goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. This work includes cross-division coordination of health equity initiatives for the public health system, including health equity training and capacity building, community-led data collection, policy development, strategic planning and workforce recruitment and retention. The office sets state and division-wide public health priorities in collaboration with state and local government agencies, Tribes, and community-based organizations. With support from OSPHD, the Public Health Division is organized into three centers: Center for Public Health Practice, Center for Prevention and Health

Office of the State Public Health Director

Promotion, and Center for Health Protection. OSPHD provides equity, scientific, fiscal, policy and operations leadership to all public health programs and is organized into five units: Finance, Operations, Equity, Policy and Partnerships, and Science and Epidemiology.

The OSPHD Equity Unit provides overall coordination and leadership for public health division-wide strategic initiatives, public health systems change, including public health workforce development and capacity building related to antiracism and decolonization within public health practice. The Unit leads community-determined public health efforts across the state and collaborates with OHA towards OHA's strategic goal of eliminating health inequities by the year 2030. The Equity unit mobilizes partners and collaborators to advance health equity, decrease inequities in population health outcomes, and address social determinants of health among underserved populations through statewide community- and culturally-specific strategies including outreach, engagement and equitable service delivery.

OSPHD works to identify and rectify gaps in health equity practice through equity assessments and data; collaborating with the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, Community Partner Outreach Program, regional health equity coalitions, and affected communities and populations regarding comprehensive health equity planning and development; partnering with communities to determine culturally-specific priorities and invest public health resources in them; improving the collection of REALD data to understand health by race, ethnicity and language, gender identity, place, and poverty; and building PHD organizational structures, policies and supports to promote workforce diversity.

The Finance Unit manages the OHA-PHD budget process, fiscal management, position management, legislation and contracts with local public health authorities, federally recognized Tribes and community-based organizations. It monitors and tracks all funding sources moving into or out of the Division to ensure appropriate resource allocation and responsible fiscal stewardship.

Office of the State Public Health Director

The Operations Unit manages OHA-PHD human resources, building operations, risk, employee safety and wellness, business continuity, quality improvement activities and workforce development. The Operations Unit leads division wide initiatives that improve the effectiveness of a modern and equity-centered public health system, including maintaining Oregon's Accredited Public Health status. The Operations Unit facilitates optimal public health employee engagement to inform the OHA strategic plan and performance system, PHD strategic planning, workforce recruitment, retention and professional development, and quality improvement initiatives. The Operations Unit also provides oversite and coordination across PHD's Health Information Technology projects; and directs and implements PHD's Continuity of Operations Plan, safety procedures and practices.

The Science and Epidemiology Unit includes population health data collection and reporting, program evaluation, clinical aspects of state public health service delivery, and ethical review of public health studies involving human subjects through the OHA-PHD Institutional Review Board. The Science and Epidemiology Unit aligns public health data and collection reporting around race, ethnicity, language, and disability (REALD) as well as sexual orientation and gender identity (SOGI) data. The unit also supports community-based approaches to public health data collection by working directly with communities of color and Tribal communities to collect, analyze, interpret and report disaggregated public health data that is important to community.

The Policy and Partnerships Unit leads the development and implementation of strategic initiatives to improve equity and the social determinants of health through a modern public health practice. The unit is responsible for supporting legislative policy strategy and administrative rulemaking and developing and implementing statewide plans, which support OHA-PHD's nationally-accredited status, including Oregon's State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP) and the OHA-PHD Strategic Plan. The unit manages cross-division funding programs for 147 community-based organizations, 33 local public health authorities, nine federally-recognized Tribes and one Urban Indian Health Program. The unit cultivates strategic partnerships for a cohesive public health system. The unit staffs the Public Health Advisory Board, which has directed the public health system to lead with racial equity and supported the public health system's commitment to health equity through implementation of public health modernization.

OSPHD works with partners to implement Oregon's SHIP, Healthier Together Oregon, which is focused on changing the harmful policies and practices that have created conditions by which communities of color, Tribal communities and communities experiencing other historical and contemporary injustices have not had the same access to health. Healthier Together Oregon implementation is led by the PartnerSHIP, its external advisory committee.

OSPHD will continue to support FEMA claims and closing the contracts and financial obligations tied to the COVID-19 response and ensuring that the ongoing work of the Division related to COVID-19 is centered in equity.

Background information

OSPHD works to ensure that decisions and priorities set in Oregon are community led, supported by public health data and grounded in public health practice and science to work toward OHA's 10-year goal of eliminating health inequities. OSPHD efforts focus on population-wide policy, systems and environmental changes. This work includes extensive coordination with Oregon's local public health authorities, federally recognized Tribes and community-based organizations. State public health programs also partner with a range of state and local agencies and organizations, health care providers, insurers, coordinated care organizations, state and federal agencies and the private sector.

Strategic planning and accountability

As part of national accreditation, OSPHD is responsible to develop an annual report and ongoing support for three prerequisites: a state health assessment, a state health improvement plan, and an organizational strategic plan, developed every five years. In 2018, OSPHD published Oregon's second State Health Assessment, which includes a set of quantitative state population health indicators. State population health indicators are updated annually and serve as the backbone for OSPHD's reporting of OHA-PHD's key metrics, including key performance measures, Oregon's State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP) measures, and public health accountability measures. OSPHD continues to implement REALD and support the use of data to identify and meaningfully address health inequities. OSPHD is in the process of developing the 2023 State Health Assessment to continue its five-year cycle.

From 2018-2020, OSPHD convened the PartnerSHIP, a multisector charged with guiding the development of the 2020-2024 SHIP. The PartnerSHIP used the State Health Assessment and feedback from communities across Oregon to identify the following five priorities for the 2020-2024 SHIP:

- Institutional bias
- Adversity, trauma and toxic stress
- Economic drivers of health (including issues related to housing, living wage, food security and transportation)
- Access to equitable preventive health care
- Behavioral health (including mental health and substance use)

Healthier Together Oregon officially launched in September 2020 through its website, healthiertogetheroregon.org. The PartnerSHIP provides community-based leadership for the plan through 2024. OSPHD has established a cross-OHA Core Group to support implementation of Healthier Together Oregon with the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, External Relations, Health Policy and Analytics and Health Systems Division. OSPHD partners with Health Policy and Analytics to align implementation of community health improvement plans by local public health authorities, coordinated care organizations and nonprofit hospitals with Healthier Together Oregon so that these plans can also be used to achieve statewide health outcomes.

Public health modernization
Since 2013, OSPHD has provided leadership for Oregon's public health modernization initiative. This effort began with House Bill 2348 (2013), which established the Task Force on the Future of Public Health Services, recommendations from which were used to create House Bill 3100 (2015). Since then, OSPHD has worked to implement the statutes governing public health modernization, including:

- Adopted a series of foundational capabilities and programs for governmental public health, including cultural responsiveness and health equity.
- Changed the composition and role of the Oregon Public Health Advisory Board on January 1, 2016.
- Required an assessment of how foundational capabilities and programs are provided and what resources are needed to achieve full implementation.
- Requires local public health authorities to submit plans for implementing the foundational capabilities and programs no later than December 2025.

Further refinements to the implementation of public health modernization were made with the passage of House Bill 2310 (2017). For the 2017-19 biennium, the Legislature made an initial $5 million General Fund investment in public health modernization. In the 2019-21 biennium, the Legislature added an additional $10 million General Fund investment for public health modernization. The $50 million additional investment in public health modernization for the 2023-25 biennium supports significant investments in Local Public Health Authorities, Tribes, community-based organizations, reproductive health providers and OHA-PHD in order to:

- Continue to enhance regional infrastructure created during the 2021-23 biennium, including regional epidemiologist positions, data analysis and surge capacity agreements.
- Build public health system strategies for health equity and cultural responsiveness, community partnership development, assessment and epidemiology, leadership and organizational competencies, and communicable disease and environmental health interventions.
- Implement local and Tribal public health modernization plans.
- Build community-specific climate resilience strategies for communities most impacted by wildfires, smoke and extreme heat.

Office of the State Public Health Director

- Center community in communicable disease and emergency preparedness communications and responses.
- Update public health surveillance systems to be co-designed with communities and researchers from Tribal and communities of color, incorporate new data collection methods, and provide more granular levels of data.
- Evaluate the effectiveness of the public health modernization investment, including annual collection and reporting of public health accountability measures.
- Deliver a statewide health equity framework and a statewide workforce plan for Oregon's public health system.

Per ORS 431.123, the Public Health Advisory Board, a 17-member committee of the Oregon Health Policy Board, supports implementation of public health modernization through three subcommittees:

- The Incentives and Funding Subcommittee is charged with developing a formula for distributing state funds for local public health authorities using the criteria set forward in ORS 431.380.
- The Accountability Metrics Subcommittee manages a series of quality measures for which state and local public health authorities will be financially accountable through the implementation of public health modernization.
- The Strategic Data Plan Subcommittee develops community-based plans for improving the quality of public health surveys and implementation of REALD.

The Public Health Advisory Board also provides oversight for Oregon's State Health Assessment, SHIP and the Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant.

The public health infrastructure developed as a result of public health modernization has been essential to Oregon's response to COVID-19 and low case numbers relative to other states of a similar size and geography. Specifically, Oregon benefited from additional state and local epidemiologist positions to track data to quickly manage and respond to outbreaks, and the Carceral Systems Manager works with the Department of Corrections and Oregon

Youth Authority to address health inequities. The ongoing focus on health equity and cultural responsiveness by the public health system has allowed better engagement with community members and community-based organizations. Health equity staff that have been hired by state, local and Tribal public health modernization funds have applied principles of health equity and community partnership development to communicable disease and public health emergencies and other locally-defined health priorities. Finally, work to prevent communicable disease transmission in high-consequence settings including long-term care facilities and homeless shelters was already underway across the state before the COVID-19 pandemic hit Oregon, and those relationships will continue to be supported for a number of communicable disease responses.

The Public Health Advisory Board has adopted a health equity policy and procedure to ensure all board decisions promote equity and do not further health inequities; this policy and procedure commits the public health system to leading with race in its pursuit of health equity and improved health outcomes. The local public health authority funding formula includes several variables related to health equity so that future General Fund resources can be focused on communities experiencing the greatest burden of poor health outcomes.

Revenue sources and changes

The 2023-25 budget for OSPHD is composed of 51 percent Federal Funds (primarily through the agency's federally approved cost allocation plan), 46 percent General Fund, and 3 percent Other Funds.

A portion of the General Fund is pass-through funding to local public health authorities to support local communicable disease outbreak surveillance. The remaining General Fund is used to fund new positions to support the implementation work of modernization, data and collection, and enhancements to critical data systems at the state.

Office of the State Public Health Director

The Legislature appropriated a total of $112.5 million General Fund to support the ongoing implementation of public health modernization. Of this investment, $90 million has been allocated to Local public health authorities, community-based organizations, reproductive health providers, federally recognized Tribes and the Urban Indian Health Program, NARA, to carry out local and Tribal public health modernization strategies. The remainder has funded positions and contracts at the state level that are essential for the effective and efficient delivery of public health protections and coordination across the public health system and to ensure accountability for these funds.

OSPHD administers the State Support for Public Health investment in communicable disease prevention. In the 2023-25 biennium, $10.5 million was allocated to continue support for local communicable disease outbreak response at the current service level.

The office also receives federal funding from the Centers for Disease Control for the National Initiative to Address COVID-19 Health Disparities and the Preventive Health and Health Services Block Grant to address state-determined public health priorities.

New laws that apply to the program unit

Senate Bill 965 – Public Health Housekeeping updated the membership of the Oregon Public Health Advisory Board to include community-based organization representatives, an expert in health equity, and an education system representative.

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget continues funding for most of the Center for Prevention and Health Promotion (CP & HP) programs at the current service level. The current service level includes a reduction of $15 million in General Fund for the Seeding Justice program, which was a one-time appropriation, $8 million in Federal Funds limitation for expired grants, and one vacant position was abolished.

The LAB also includes the following investments in CP & HP:

- Policy package #406 includes $3.4 million for Reproductive Health (RH) infrastructure development.
- Policy package #425 invests $5.9 million General Fund ($6.1 million Total Funds) in the Universally offered Home Visiting program to expand to additional communities and build out the community alignment, engagement, and health equity work of the initiative.
- House Bill 2656 (2023) provides $0.97 million General Fund and three positions to support the requirement in for school districts to make available OHA's Student Health Survey annually and for annual census survey implementation.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The CP & HP's mission is to help Oregon's communities and residents achieve and sustain lifelong health, wellness and safety through partnership, science and policy. The center's work is essential to achieving the OHA ten-year goal of eliminating health inequities. The center promotes population and community-based strategies to increase capacity for K-12 schools to provide school health services, health education, and be a safe and supportive environment; increase stability and safety in families; increase equitable access to healthy options and preventive health services; decrease the burden of health inequities borne by communities of color and Tribal communities; increase access to healthy food and increase healthy eating and physical activity for all people in Oregon; reduce harms related to opioids and other drugs while promoting protective factors that prevent substance use disorders; reduce suicide and other intentional and unintentional injuries and deaths; reduce tobacco, alcohol and other drug use; prevent and reduce secondary impacts of COVID-19 and support recovery.

Background information

The Center for Prevention and Health Promotion has the following five sections that work to achieve its mission:

Adolescent, ScreenWise and Reproductive Health (ASRH). ASRH promotes the health, well-being, and quality of life for all people in Oregon through the development and use of evidence-based policies, tools, educational resources, programs, and clinical preventive services to support adolescent, sexual and reproductive health across the lifespan. ASRH commits to working towards racial equity by addressing racism, acknowledging implicit bias, and shifting practice eliminate health inequities. ASRH:

- Encourages the adoption of evidence-based programs and practices that support positive youth development and promote authentic youth engagement.
- Collaborates with the education system to provide quality health services, increase implementation of K-12 health education and inform local and state policy development.
- Provides access to essential preventive health services through a statewide network of school-based health centers (SBHCs), reproductive health clinics, school nurses, mental health providers and ScreenWise providers regardless of gender identity, sexual orientation, race, sex, disability or immigration status.
- Reduces breast, cervical and hereditary cancer inequities by supporting equitable access to early detection.

Center for Prevention and Public Health Promotion

- Supports and ensures the provision of culturally and linguistically appropriate practices and services at the state and local levels through funding and establishment of standards of care.
- Supports public health systems that provide high-quality preventive health services for adolescents, people of reproductive capacity, and individuals at high risk from genetic conditions.
- Engages collaboratively with partner organizations and community members to inform policies, clinical services and activities that address systemic, structural, and institutional injustices and advance health equity.
- Recognizes the role of trauma and resilience in health behavior and outcomes and creates prevention policy and programming that acknowledges trauma and adverse experiences while enhancing developmental strengths and protective factors.
- Develops comprehensive programmatic and policy responses to emergent needs related to the changing national landscape of reproductive health access and services.
- Funds community-specific organizations that serve communities of color and tribal communities to address structural barriers to care borne from institutional bias, oppression, trauma and toxic stress.

Health Promotion and Chronic Disease Prevention (HPCDP*)* works with communities, local public health authorities and Tribes to increase the opportunities for all Oregonians to eat better, move more, live tobacco-free, drink less alcohol and take charge of their own health. HPCDP does this by analyzing and monitoring the occurrence of chronic diseases and their risk factors by demographic characteristics, including but not limited to gender, race, ethnicity, geography, income, disability, education, age. HPCDP develops and administers programs and promotes policies to prevent chronic diseases and associated risk factors among populations disproportionately impacted by health inequities.

HPCDP's strategies to prevent and manage chronic disease include:

- Equipping Tribes, local public health authorities, and other diverse communities with the strategies, data, guidance and support they need to recognize historic and current injustices, reconcile disproportionate rates of disease and addiction, make sustainable policy solutions for their communities to rectify injustices and reduce tobacco use, alcohol and drug misuse, and increase access to healthy eating and physical activity.

- Funding for local public health authorities, Tribes, regional health equity coalitions and coordinated care organizations (CCOs) to redistribute resources and power to work on community-based strategies that support health equity.
- Providing $20 million of funding to community-based organizations to develop and implement new, culturally specific strategies to address the root causes of tobacco use.
- Maintaining three mass-reach communications brands to communicate about chronic disease risk factors and provide opportunities for Oregonians to take action in their communities including Smokefree Oregon, Place Matters Oregon, and Rethink the Drink, as well as two culturally specific sub-brands, Vive sin fumar and the Native Quit Line.
- Working with Oregon's behavioral health treatment system to understand barriers to treating nicotine addiction and increase access to tailored cessation supports.
- Collecting data and evaluating all programs, including their impact on health inequities.
- Working with other state agencies like the Oregon Department of Corrections and the Oregon Department of Transportation to change policies and procurement to improve nutrition, physical activity, and access to self-management supports across state enterprise.
- Developing and implementing the Oregon Tobacco Retail License program to reduce youth smoking initiation and nicotine addiction across the lifespan.

Injury and Violence Prevention (IVP) works to prevent injuries and deaths due to violence, suicide, drug overdoses, transportation related injury, child maltreatment, traumatic brain injury among youth, and unintentional injuries. Some strategies include:

- Supporting local public health authorities, Tribes and community-based organizations to prevent harms related to opioids and other drugs.

- Working with pharmacies, employers and community human services organizations to make naloxone rescue universally available to prevent deaths due to opioid overdose, and managing the Reverse Overdose Oregon initiative.
- Administering the Opioid Settlement Prevention, Treatment and Recovery Board, which directs allocations of funding from the state's portion of national opioid settlement funds.
- Improving information sharing and implementation of drug overdose emergency response systems across public health and public safety agencies.
- Supporting development of overdose fatality review processes for local jurisdictions.Improving pain care and access to pain education for patients and providers, and supporting this work with culturally responsive messaging and resources for Tribes and other communities of color and rural Oregonians.
- Conducting surveillance and monitoring intentional (e.g. suicide and homicide) and unintentional (e.g. accidents) injuries and deaths among Oregonians.
- Providing timely, high quality, public data on injury and violence via interactive web-based data dashboards.
- Supporting expansion of the Healing Hurt People hospital-based violence intervention program and establishing a professional pathway for community violence prevention and intervention peers.
- Working with diverse communities and health care and behavioral health care agencies to track and prevent suicide attempts and reduce suicide deaths across the lifespan by implementing the Zero Suicide quality improvement model.
- Coordinating the State Child Fatality Review Team to identify systems level changes to reduce child fatalities and serving as Oregon's data steward for the National Fatality Review Case Reporting System to support local reviews.
- Providing the web-based Prescription Drug Monitoring Program, which serves more than 33,000 prescribers, pharmacists and their delegates to support safe prescribing decisions.
- Providing enhanced prescription Drug Monitoring Program access to authorized user from within their electronic workflow for streamlined access to crucial data at the point of need.

- Promoting safer opioid prescribing and access to medication for opioid use disorder (MOUD) through health care systems.
- Managing the Oregon Violent Death Reporting System that tracks suicides, homicides, deaths of undetermined intent, and unintentional firearm injuriy deaths.
- Managing the State Unintentional Drug Overdose Reporting System tracking trends in unintentional overdose deaths.Supporting the Save Lives Oregon state naloxone clearinghouse to ensure access to naloxone rescue and provision of overdose and suicide prevention grants to community based organizations.

Maternal and Child Health (MCH) promotes health across the lifespan of individuals and families by investing in preconception, pregnancy, and early childhood health. Programs address perinatal health (before, during and after pregnancy), infant and child health, newborn hearing screening, home visiting, oral health, and family violence prevention. MCH leads with social justice and anti-racism to identify and focus on historical and current inequities that lead to poor health outcomes.

The program monitors the health of Oregon's pregnant individuals and families with three-year-old children through the Pregnancy Risk Assessment and Monitoring System (PRAMS) and Early Childhood Health in Oregon (ECHO) surveys; monitors the prevalence of birth anomalies through our Birth Anomalies Surveillance System (BASS) and monitors the state of oral health through the Oregon Oral Health Surveillance System. The program manages data systems for infant hearing screenings, the home visiting system and its programs, and statewide oral health, disaggregating data by race and ethnicity.

MCH houses Oregon's Title V Maternal and Child Health Services block grant programs that support promoting and improving the health and well-being of mothers, children, and their families and focus on well-women care, breastfeeding, child injury prevention, positive youth development/anti-bullying, establishing a medical home, transition into adulthood, reducing toxic stress and trauma, addressing social determinants of health and equity, and provision of culturally and linguistically responsive services. Title V supports activities such as:

- Assessment and monitoring of maternal, family and child health needs and inequities
- Policy and program development
- Workforce development
- Program assurance through technical assistance and support
- Coordination with state agencies and community partners
- Systems development to better address the needs of Oregonians, including children and youth with special health needs
- Statewide and community specific health promotion activities that address historic and current inequities

MCH has established and launched Oregon's Maternal Mortality and Morbidity Review Committee. This committee examines the root causes of death of individuals who died during pregnancy up to 365 days post-partum and makes recommendations for system and systemic changes to prevent maternal mortality and morbidity.

Maternal and Child Health is also the home for Oregon's universally offered home visiting system. This system works toward ensuring every family of a newborn receives the opportunity to have 1 to 3 nurse home visits during the first few months of the newborn's life. MCH is prioritizing integration of Community Health Workers into the home visiting care team to better support families with culturally specific services and supports.

Nutrition and Health Screening (NHS) The Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) safeguards the health of about 111,000 low to moderate-income women, infants, and children up to age five each year who are at nutritional risk by providing nutritious foods to supplement diets, information on healthy eating and referrals to health care and other community services. Oregon WIC participants use an electronic benefit transfer (EBT) system to purchase healthy foods at local authorized retailers. In addition, the Oregon Farm Direct Nutrition Program (FDNP), which encompasses both the WIC FDNP and the Senior FDNP (SFDNP), provides around 60,000 WIC participants and 60,000 seniors living with low-income with FDNP checks once a year to purchase fresh, locally grown fruits, vegetables and cut herbs directly from local farmers. FDNP and SFDNP serves a racially and ethnically diverse population. FDNP and SFDNP connects with participants speaking 82 languages and offers print and translation services through program partner 211 info.

WIC services are delivered through local public health, Tribal health clinics, and non-profit programs. The WIC Program focuses on maternal and child growth and health, breastfeeding education and support, including peer-to-peer breastfeeding support through the WIC Breastfeeding Peer Counseling Program, nutrition-focused counseling, promotion of a healthy lifestyle and prevention of chronic diseases including obesity, and providing culturally and linguistically appropriate services and materials.

NHS program staff provide a variety of training to local staff who deliver WIC services, including annual civil rights training. The WIC program also influences the availability of nutritious foods in Oregon's communities by requiring large and small WIC authorized grocery stores in all areas of the state to carry a minimum stock of healthy foods including low-fat milk, whole grains, low-sugar cereals, and produce. The foods available through WIC offer a variety for the wide range of families served. The Oregon FDNP program collaborates with farmers and farmers markets statewide to provide vouchers for fresh produce for WIC families and low-income seniors. WIC also provides critical data on the maternal and child population by race, and ethnicity and other demographics; and evaluates programs and carries out competitively funded research studies.

Revenue sources and changes

The Center for Prevention and Health Promotion revenues include 15 percent General Fund, 32 percent Federal Funds Limited, 23 percent Federal Funds Non-Limited, 21 percent Other Funds Limited, and 9 percent Other Funds Non-Limited. General Fund revenue supports adolescent health promotion and school health service programs such as School-Based Health Centers, school-linked mobile and telehealth programs and school nursing, Oregon Contraceptive Care program (1115 family planning Medicaid demonstration waiver), and the Oregon Reproductive Health Equity Act (RHEA) to provide coverage for a full range of reproductive health services. General Fund also supports the Youth Suicide Prevention Program, the Family Connects Oregon universally offered home-visiting program and the WIC Farm Direct Nutrition Program food vouchers.

Two new program changes were approved, policy package #425 for Universally offered Home Visiting to support the implementation efforts of the next phase of the program and Public Health Modernization policy package #406 for Reproductive Health infrastructure development. The budget also includes appropriations in House Bill 2656 to support new requirements for OHA's Student Health Survey ($0.97 million General Fund). CP&HP also received an increase in limitation to utilize the JUUL settlement funds ($4.4 million Other Funds) and received appropriations for the Prescription Drug Monitoring Program (PDMP) to support integration with provider electronic health records systems ($1.5 million General Fund).

The center receives Federal Funds through the following federal grants and programs:

- The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention grants for arthritis, cancer, diabetes, heart disease and stroke, obesity, tobacco, alcohol, sodium, cancer registry.
- Core State Injury Prevention Program, National Violent Death Reporting System, Firearm Injury Surveillance Through Emergency Rooms, and Overdose Data to Action,

- Medicaid 1115 family planning waiver, Oregon Contraceptive Care which receives 90 percent federal match through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.
- Office of Population Affairs' Title X Program, which supports the provision of culturally and linguistically responsive reproductive health services.
- Administration for Children and Families for Personal Responsibility Education Program.
- Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) Meaningful Use HIT/E for Emergency Medical Services (EMS) & Trauma Data Systems and integration of the Prescription Drug Monitoring Program into clinical electronic health record.
- Funding to support opioid overdose prevention by means of grants awarded to other programs within the Oregon Health Authority via the SAMHSA State Targeted Response grant (OHA Health Systems Division).

The Center's Other Funds revenues include statutorily dedicated funds under the Tobacco Use Reduction Account (TURA), Ballot Measure 108 tobacco taxes, Tobacco Retail Licensing, the Electronic Prescription Monitoring Fund, the Opioid Settlement Prevention, Treatment and Recovery (OSPTR) Fund as well as marijuana tax revenues for alcohol and other drug prevention.

New laws that apply to the program unit

House Bill 2656 (2023) requires school districts to make available OHA's Student Health Survey annually. The bill provides funds for staffing in the Center's Adolescent, ScreenWise, and Reproductive Health Program (one FTE Operations and Policy Analyst 3) and Program Design and Evaluation Services (1.5 FTE Research Analyst 3). The bill also provides $500,000 to PDES for annual census survey implementation.

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget continues funding for most of the Center for Health Protection programs at the current service level; however, four vacant positions were abolished from the budget at LAB. The budget includes policy packages related to the Domestic Well Safety Program supporting state-wide domestic well drinking water safety and implementing a workplan to mitigate and protect public health from nitrate contamination in the Lower Umatilla Basin Groundwater Management Area (LUBGWMA), investigate exposures to toxic substances and ensure food safety where OHA has local environmental health responsibilities. The budget also includes Other Funds limitation for Oregon Psilocybin Services to continue to implement Ballot Measure 109 and the framework for licensing and regulating Psilocybin Services.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Center for Health Protection (CHP) protects the health of individuals and communities by establishing, implementing, and ensuring compliance with regulatory and health-based standards. CHP protects people in Oregon from environmental health hazards including those that may occur in drinking water, through exposure to radiation, and through food. The center also ensures compliance with critical areas of health care. The center's seven sections partner with local public health authorities, communities affected by environmental health hazards, Tribes, private practitioners, and medical experts. CHP works through its various programs towards achieving OHA's 10-year strategic goal to end health inequities by ensuring that communities of color, Tribal and communities experiencing lower-income are protected from environmental health risks. CHP also ensures that communities experiencing health inequities have safe and equitable access to health care facilities, emergency services, and to health-related services and professions.

Non-regulatory programs in CHP track, assess, and collaborate with community partners to provide outreach and education to vulnerable populations disproportionately exposed to built and natural environmental health risks, such as radon and lead exposure and the effects of climate change.

Drinking Water Services (DWS) ensures the safety of drinking water provided by all public water systems in Oregon. The program administers and enforces state and federal safe drinking water quality standards, inspects public water systems, advises operators on response to contaminant detections, assesses treatment efficacy, and provides regulatory and technical assistance to public water suppliers. DWS assists public water systems and communities with protecting their sources of drinking water from contamination. DWS also provides low-cost financing to communities to construct safe drinking water infrastructure, including funding assistance to underserved and economically disadvantaged communities.

Environmental Public Health (EPH) identifies, assesses, and reports on threats to human health from exposure to environmental hazards. EPH is called upon by local, state, federal and Tribal natural resource management, occupational safety, environmental and other agencies to assess risks to human health posed by changing conditions, policies and practices, and recommend interventions to address those risks. EPH recognizes that communities of color, communities living with lower-incomes, and Tribal communities experience disproportionate risk for environmental exposures due to long-standing policies and practices that intentionally disinvest and place environmental health risks within these communities. To address environmental health equity, EPH prioritizes its work accordingly to address inequities in exposure to environmental health hazards.

Center for Health Protection

Health Care Regulatory and Quality Improvement (HCRQI) ensures safe and high-quality health care through assessment, education and regulation of health facilities and providers. The section routinely provides regulatory guidance and flexibility options to support hospital capacity during emergencies and disasters. The Health Facility Licensing and Certification program licenses and certifies health care facilities, providers and suppliers in acute care and community-based programs. The Emergency Medical Services and Trauma Systems program ensures the effectiveness and coordination of the state's emergency medical response system for illness and injury. The program encourages improvements in the emergency care of pediatric patients and regulates systems that provide emergency care to people who experience a sudden illness or traumatic injury.

Health Licensing Office (HLO) is a central licensing and regulatory office that oversees multiple health and related professions. HLO protects the health, safety, and rights of Oregon consumers by ensuring that only qualified applicants are authorized to practice. HLO reviews and approves applicant qualification, conducts examinations, inspects thousands of licensed facilities and independent contractors, responds to, and investigates consumer complaints, and disciplines licensees who violate state requirements.

Oregon Medical Marijuana Program (OMMP) administers the Oregon Medical Marijuana Act (OMMA). The OMMP oversees the medical marijuana cardholder registry for patients, caregivers, and growers, ensures compliance with tracking and reporting requirements, and regulates medical marijuana dispensaries, processing sites, growers and grow sites. This section also promulgates and oversees cannabis testing rules.

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) administers the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act (Ballot Measure 109 (2020)). OPS licenses and regulates the production of psilocybin products and the provision of psilocybin services. During a two-year development process, from January 1, 2021, to December 31, 2022, OPS worked with the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board (OPAB), Rulemaking Advisory Committees (RACs), community partners, and the public to establish rules and regulations for the implementation of the measure. OPS adopted rules on December 27, 2022 and began accepting applications for licensure on January 2, 2023.

Center for Health Protection

Radiation Protection Services (RPS) protects workers, patients, and the public from unnecessary and unhealthy radiation exposure. This is accomplished through on-site facility inspections, licensing of radioactive materials, and registration of X-Ray and tanning devices, environmental monitoring, radiological preparedness training and emergency response, and radio analytical laboratory services. This section provides Oregon's sole public resource for radiation-related incidents.

Center for Health Protection programs are engaged in or working toward health equity and inclusion strategies increasing cultural competency among staff and advisory board members; providing funding assistance for safe drinking water system construction projects in disadvantaged communities; integrating health equity as a core priority in environmental public health analyses and interventions; reviewing regulatory and compliance procedures to address discrimination issues; collecting and reporting data that are disaggregated by race, ethnicity, language and disability status (REALD).

Background information

The Center for Health Protection programs are grounded in the principles of population-based public health, providing services and regulatory oversight for all people in Oregon.

Drinking Water Services (DWS) regulates nearly 3,400 public water systems statewide. The section certifies 1,700 public water system operators and 1,500 backflow device testers and specialists. Contracts with county health departments and the Oregon Department of Agriculture to provide oversight of smaller public water systems served by groundwater sources. DWS regulates larger public water systems served by surface water sources and provides technical assistance to water systems and partners. DWS provides technical expertise and best management practices related to emerging contaminants that may affect drinking water quality, including cyanotoxins and Per and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS).

Center for Health Protection

Environmental Public Health (EPH) protects Oregon communities from health risks in the environment and provides scientific and technical expertise on health concerns pertaining to built and natural environments. Environmental health components of Public Health Modernization, House Bill 5024 (2021), along with federal funding, helps to build state capacity for environmental epidemiology and toxicology, climate adaptation, land use and health and policy and management oversight, with investments for local public health authorities, Tribal public health departments and community-based organizations.

EPH established a new Healthy Homes and Schools Unit to implement House Bill 2842 (2021) and SB1536 (2022), that established a new Healthy Homes Grant Program in OHA. The new unit will consolidate this work with existing programs including regulation of clandestine drug lab clean-up, lead-based paint safety, detecting and preventing childhood lead poisoning, supporting radon awareness and outreach, and regulating hazardous chemicals in children's products under the Toxic Free Kids Act Program.

EPH's Assessment Unit evaluates hazardous exposures in the environment that can impact human health, and houses the agency's public health toxicologists and climate and health team. Public Health Modernization adds capacity to provide technical assistance to local public health authorities, Tribal health departments and community-based organizations to conduct climate and health work, and other intersections between health and the built environment. Assessments and partner engagement take into consideration that some communities face greater risks and environmental health inequities.

EPH Surveillance Unit monitors data on lead poisoning, pesticide exposures, occupational health, domestic well safety, beach safety, harmful algae blooms, and other environmental health hazards, and works to make information accessible to public health professionals, partner agencies, policy makers and the public. The unit focuses its efforts on data related to populations at disproportionate risk from environmental health hazards. This unit houses OHA's project in the Lower Umatilla Basin Groundwater Management Area, working with local partners, to provide water testing and treatment to residents exposed to elevated levels of nitrates in their domestic well water. The unit also develops health advisories for fish consumption, harmful algae blooms and beach water quality.

EPH's Food, Pool and Lodging Health and Safety Unit assists local health departments to ensure safety for more than 20,000 full-service and temporary restaurants, public pools, and tourist accommodations. In two counties that returned public health authority to OHA in recent years, the agency has local responsibility to license, inspect and carry out enforcement responsibilities to ensure these facilities comply with health and safety rules to protect the public.

Health Care Regulatory and Quality Improvement (HCRQI*)* oversees several health care facility types and providers. The Health Facility Licensing and Certification program oversees approximately 96 ambulatory surgical centers, 13 birthing centers, 72 dialysis facilities, 783 hemodialysis technicians, 66 home health agencies, 75 hospice agencies, 65 hospitals and hospital nurse staffing programs, 186 in-home care agencies, 115 rural health clinics, and 10 other provider types.

The Health Facilities Planning and Safety unit works to ensure that facilities are safe and effective and meet nationally accepted building standards. This program reviews design and construction plans and issues project approvals for approximately 200 health facility projects annually. Within the unit the Certificate of Need program evaluates whether a proposed service or facility is needed.

Emergency Medical Services and Trauma Systems (EMS/TS) Program works with partners and nine advisory boards to monitor and improve the emergency systems of care. The program licenses 132 ambulance service agencies, 774 ambulances, and 11,390 Emergency Medical Services Providers (EMSPs). It certifies EMT training courses, provides continuing education and on-demand educational outreach. The program also operates the Oregon Trauma Registry and the Oregon EMS Information System that are used for health care improvement and research in Oregon. The Trauma program also triennially reviews 45 designated trauma centers.

Center for Health Protection

Health Licensing Office (HLO) administers 17 boards, councils, and programs: Art Therapy; Athletic Trainers; Behavior Analysis; Certified Advanced Estheticians; Cosmetology; Denture Technology; Dietitians; Direct Entry Midwifery; Electrologists and Body Art Practitioners; Environmental Health Specialists; Hearing Aid Specialists; Lactation Consultants; Long Term Care Administrators; Music Therapy; Respiratory Therapy and Polysomnography; Sexual Offense Treatment Genetic Counseling, Temporary Staffing Registration and as of January 1, 2024, Sign Language Interpreters. In 2022, HLO oversaw 5,945 facilities and 76,806 different licensees, administered 12,211 examinations, issued 9,220 licenses and registrations, renewed 32,722 licenses and registrations, conducted 31,151 inspections, and investigated 256 complaints.

Oregon Medical Marijuana Program (OMMP) registers 16,488 medical marijuana patients, over 6,000 caregivers, and regulates over 4,486 medical growers at 3,929 grow sites. OMMP registers and annually inspects medical marijuana dispensaries. The program also oversees all compliance testing rules for marijuana items and hemp in the state. OMMP works with the Oregon Cannabis Commission, an advisory body tasked with advising OHA and Oregon Liquor and Cannabis Commission on the administration of medical and recreational cannabis regulations.

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) administers the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act. ORS Ch. 475A directs Oregon Health Authority (OHA) to license and regulate the production of psilocybin products and the provision of psilocybin services. During a two-year development process, from January 1, 2021, to December 31, 2022, OPS worked with the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board (OPAB), Rulemaking Advisory Committees (RACs), community partners, and the public to establish rules and regulations for the implementation of the measure. OPS adopted rules on December 27, 2022, and began accepting applications for licensure on January 2, 2023. OPS is organized into three program areas: Policy and Engagement, Licensing, and Compliance. OPS programs will center health equity, including outreach to partners and communities and ensuring access to psilocybin services.

Radiation Protection Services (RPS) licenses or registers more than 14,000 sources of radiation statewide. It routinely inspects those radiation sources in more than 4,200 facilities including hospitals, dental and medical clinics, radiation oncology clinics, tanning salons, and academic and research facilities. Registrant, licensee, and public domain incidents involving potential/actual radiation over-exposure are investigated and mitigated. RPS staff also conduct radiation environmental surveillance activities and test food products for radiation contamination prior to import/export. Finally, radiological emerging technologies are evaluated, and regulations are enacted for their safe use.

Revenue sources and changes

The 2023-25 Center for Health Protection budget comprises 46 percent Other Funds, primarily in the form of fees for services, 34 percent Federal Funds, and 20 percent General Fund. Funding for each program is described below.

Drinking Water Services (DWS) receives funding from federal grants, fees, and the General Fund. DWS collects fee revenue from four programs: Backflow Tester/Specialist Certification, Water System Operator Certification, Water System Plan Review fees and Water System Annual Fees. Revenue from fees and the General Fund contribute to the required state match for federal grants. DWS receives two federal grants from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) which constitute the largest source of program revenue: The Drinking Water Primacy grant (approx. $3.7 million per biennium) and the Drinking Water State Revolving Fund (DWSRF) capitalization grant. The DWSRF base funding includes support for infrastructure project financing (69 percent) and set asides for specific program functions (31 percent). From late 2022 to 2026, DWS's annual allocation from the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law, including infrastructure project financing and set-asides, is about $38 million for infrastructure projects (Base funding and Supplemental funding), approximately $30 million for service line inventory development and lead service line replacement, and approximately $10 million for treatment of emerging contaminants such as PFAS, cyanotoxins, and manganese. Disadvantaged communities are priority recipients for all grants. DWS will use a small percentage of this grant to fund five positions to cover the additional workload associated with this new funding.

Environmental Public Health (EPH) historically received most of its funding from federal grants and fees, with small amounts of additional funding coming from intergovernmental agreements with state agency partners and the General Fund. EPH receives Federal Funds revenue from Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) grants for Climate and Health, Environmental Health Data and Capacity improvement, Childhood Lead Poisoning Prevention, Environmental Health Assessment (toxicology) and Environmental Public Health Tracking, with a recent 25 percent cut to the Tracking grant. EPH also receives federal funding from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for radon monitoring and public outreach and to enforce lead-based paint best practices.

EPH receives Other Funds revenues through intergovernmental agreements with local public health authorities that assess license fees through OHA's delegated authority to support foodborne illness, public pool, and tourist facility health and safety activities. Other Funds revenue also supports the Clandestine Drug Lab Program and some lead-based paint activities. Additionally, OHA's health risk assessment and communication work supporting the Oregon Department of Environmental Quality's (DEQ) Cleaner Air Oregon regulatory program is funded through an interagency agreement. The Pesticide Exposure Safety and Tracking Program (PEST) is funded through an interagency agreement with Oregon Department of Agriculture. EPH also has interagency agreements with DEQ that supports the clandestine drug lab cleanup and issue beach water quality health advisories and with Oregon Health and Sciences University for occupational health surveillance work.

EPH received General Fund for a new Healthy Homes Grant Program, House Bill 2842 (2021), augmented by Senate Bill 1536 (2022) and through OHA's Public Health Modernization to support toxicology, epidemiology, and other staff. House Bill 4077 (2022) appropriated General Fund for EPH to staff development of an Environmental Justice Mapping Tool together with DEQ under oversight of the state Environmental Justice Council. The September 2022 Legislative Emergency Board provided EPH General Fund to test and treat domestic well water of people exposed to nitrate-contaminated groundwater in the Lower Umatilla Basin Groundwater Management Area (LUBGWMA) straddling Morrow and Umatilla Counties and support OHA and local partners to conduct outreach to alert the community to the health risk and available safe water services. The legislature supported Governor Kotek's $3 million request to continue this work. EPH also receives a small amount of General Fund to help support the Toxic Free Kids Act (TFKA) program authorized in Senate Bill 478 (2015). The Legislature also supported the Governor's request for funding to investigate risks of exposure to PCBs and other toxic substances to develop fish advisories for subsistence and recreational fishers in Oregon's rivers; and to license, inspect and enforce food, pool and lodging health and safety rules in Curry County, which returned public health authority to OHA. Finally, House Bill 3409 (2023) establishes a position and resources for OHA, and for DEQ, to develop and implement a statewide strategy to identify and alert the public to risks of harmful algal blooms (cyanotoxins) exposure in lakes, reservoirs and rivers of the state.

Health Care Regulation and Quality Improvement (HCRQI) section receives federal funding from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services to perform health facility surveys and certification. Some regulatory work such as hospital staffing and in-home care agencies and is supported with General Fund. The Health Facility Licensing and Certification program funding sources include fees for licensing and inspection of health care facilities. Emergency Medical Services and Trauma Systems (EMS/TS) program within HCRQI receives federal funding from the Health Resources & Services Administration to administer the Oregon EMS for Children program. Additionally, fees support the licensing and oversight of emergency medical services providers and ambulance services. EMS/TS also receives about $3.2 million General Fund per biennium and roughly $331,000 per biennium from the Criminal Fines and Assessment Account. HCRQI also receives $1.95 million General Fund as a pass-through to support the Oregon Patient Safety Commission's Early Discussion and Resolution program and receives funds to support a contract with Oregon Health and Sciences University for administration of the Oregon Portable Orders for Life Sustaining-Treatment (POLST) Registry.

The Health Licensing Office (HLO) collects fees for applications, examinations, issuance and renewals of licenses and registration, disciplinary actions, and other administrative fees. Each board, council and program has its own fees, which are used to cover its administrative costs and HLO. HLO collects more than $7 million in fees. Senate Bill 1549 (2022) directed HLO to authorize and regulate temporary staffing agencies. HLO received some General Fund in the 2021-23 biennium to cover costs to implement regulation of these entities.

Center for Health Protection

Oregon Medical Marijuana Program (OMMP) section collects fees for issuing medical marijuana cards to qualifying patients and maintains a registry of those patients. The program also collects fees for the registration of grow sites, dispensaries and processing sites and collects a pass-through fee for entities required to use the OLCC cannabis tracking system. Fee revenue continues to decline since the legalization of recreational marijuana in 2015 and challenges the sustainability of the program. The section also receives some General Fund, to support the Oregon Cannabis Commission.

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) received General Fund for start-up costs and staff positions for the 2021-23 biennium to begin implementation of Measure 109, the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act. OPS received both General Funds and Other Fund limitation for the 2023-25 biennium. OPS began accepting applications for licensure of psilocybin manufacturers, psilocybin testing labs, psilocybin service centers, and psilocybin facilitators on January 2, 2023. It may take several months to a year following January 2, 2023, for revenue from license fees to cover the costs of OPS's work, as businesses work to ensure compliance with statute, rules, and any local government land use, zoning, or other requirements or prohibitions. OPS expects to transition to Other Funds by the end of the 2023-25 biennium.

Radiation Protection Services (RPS) receives primary funding from three fee-based regulatory programs. They are the X-Ray Machine Program, Radioactive Material Licensing Program, and the Tanning Device Program. All three collect fees by licensing or registering devices that produce or contain radiation sources. In addition, RPS has renewed a 2022-2027 fee for service contract with the Food and Drug Administration to inspect all Oregon facilities performing mammography examinations. The 2021-23 Legislatively Adopted Budget included biennial fee increases totaling $1.4 million for the three RPS fee-based regulatory programs. Gross RPS program fees total approximately $6.2 million per biennium.

New laws that apply to the program unit

Environmental Public Health (EPH): House Bill 3403 requires manufacturers of children's products containing harmful chemicals to report products sold in Oregon using brand and product names; House Bill 3409 establishes a state harmful algal bloom program; Senate Bill 545 allows restaurants to fill customers' reusable takeout containers; and SB 546 establishes a program to protect consumers from toxic chemicals in cosmetics (effective date in 2026, so no costs in the 2023-25 biennium).

Health Care Regulation and Quality Improvement (HCRQI): House Bill 2697, regarding hospital staffing, establishes additional staffing committees that a hospital must develop and convene, including a professional/technical staffing committee and a services staffing committee. It requires hospitals to maintain specified nurse staffing and Certified Nursing Assistant ratios in specific units of the hospital. The bill also modifies the existing hospital nurse staffing committee and plan requirements, eliminates existing routine hospital nurse staffing surveys, makes all hospital staffing enforcement activities complaint-driven, and sets civil monetary penalties for substantiated complaints.

Health Licensing Office (HLO): House Bill 2696 authorizes HLO to create a board and issue licenses to sign language interpreters; House Bill 2048 directs HLO to establish a process to issue a provisional registration to behavior analyst interventionists; House Bill 2421 directs HLO to adopt rules to establish guidelines for professional methods and procedures to be used by behavior analysis interventionists; House Bill 2665 directs HLO to establish a process to receive and investigate complaints regarding temporary staffing agencies; Senate Bill 217 directs the Board of Cosmetology to convene a curriculum requirements advisory committee consisting of representatives of schools; and Senate Bill 558 relates to rules for over-the-counter hearing aids.

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS): Senate Bill 303 requires psilocybin service centers to collect certain demographic data for clients receiving psilocybin services and collect data regarding the nature of services provided and adverse reactions. The data is reported to OHA quarterly. Psilocybin service centers are required to aggregate the data and maintain client confidentiality. Clients may decline to participate in data collection.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

The Center for Public Health Practice protects the health of individuals and communities through the prevention and control of infectious diseases, provision of integrated care and treatment for persons living with HIV, issuing Oregon vital records, monitoring population health, and ensuring emergency public health services in natural and human-caused disasters. The Center's programs provide many of the essential services in the state public health's Continuity of Operations Plan and played a key role in Oregon's response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The Center is committed to bringing community into the design and implementation of interventions to reduce health inequities and burden of disease, along with the impacts of all hazard response and recovery on communities facing systemic, contemporary and historic racism, bias and oppressions. The Center's work is central to Oregon's achievement of the triple aim, health system transformation and the Oregon Health Authority's strategic goal to end health inequities by 2030.

Center for Public Health Practice

The Center has six sections:

- Center for Health Statistics, also called vital records – birth, death, marriage and divorce certificates (CHS)
- Acute and Communicable Disease Prevention (ACDP)
- Oregon State Public Health Laboratory (OSPHL)
- HIV, Sexually Transmitted Diseases and Tuberculosis Prevention (HST)
- Immunizations
- Health Security, Preparedness and Response (HSPR)

In collaboration with partners, the Center invests resources to reduce the burden of disease and health inequities across the state. The Center's programs work with local and Tribal governments, a wide range of community partners, health care providers, and affected communities to prevent, investigate and control infectious diseases. The Center coordinates interventions to control disease outbreaks; screens all newborn infants for biochemical disorders to prevent disability or death; and collects and analyzes vital record data needed to understand and plan for health trends. As part of public health emergency preparedness, the Center conducts testing for biological agents of mass destruction, such as anthrax and plague, along with emerging public health events and diseases such as the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Center for Public Health Practice delivers core public health services necessary to maintain a healthy population and respond to and recover from disasters. Preventable disease vaccine programs ensure that children are healthy enough to attend school regularly and learn successfully. The Center's communicable disease interventions for healthcare associated, respiratory, water-borne, vector-borne, food-borne and other disease outbreaks prevent disease spread and allow parents to remain at work and sustain a healthy economy. The Center's HIV/STD and tuberculosis programs work with local partners and the community to prevent and eliminate disease transmission. The Center's HSPR programs track the surge capacity of hospitals and public health agencies to respond to public health emergencies, such as COVID-19, wildfires and earthquakes. The Center's services are delivered every day throughout the year. Duty officers are on call 24/7 to provide technical support at the public health lab, epidemiology guidance, and coordination for initial stages of emerging public health incidents.

Programs in the Center for Public Health Practice are engaged or working toward the following health equity and inclusion strategies by:

- Increasing staff cultural competency.
- Increasing workforce diversity, equity and inclusion.
- Conducting Health Equity Impact Analyses on new and existing efforts.

Background information

Center for Public Health Practice program activities are described below.

Center for Health Statistics is responsible for registering, certifying, amending, and issuing Oregon vital records, including:

- Maintaining approximately 6.5 million vital records for birth, death, marriage, divorce and fetal death.
- Registering 130,000 vital events that occur in Oregon annually.
- Issuing 141000 certified copies of records and 36,000 amendments annually.

Information from vital records is used to assess overall health and identify health inequities needed to develop programs and implement actions to help all people in Oregon stay healthy. For example, race, ethnicity, language and disability information now gathered on birth records will provide a better understanding of inequities related to health and birth outcomes for different populations. The vital statistics system is modernizing by implementing interoperability standards so that timely death and birth data can be shared with federal and state partners.

Center for Public Health Practice

Acute and Communicable Disease Prevention (ACDP) identifies and prevents the spread of communicable diseases that cause illness and death, including food- and water-borne diseases, meningococcal disease, viral respiratory infections, including influenza and COVID-19, hepatitis, antibiotic-resistant bacterial infections, healthcare-associated infections, and vector-borne diseases. ACDP collaborates with partners to reduce disease transmission associated with food, water, animals, insects, human contact, and health care. The section works with and advises Oregon's local public health authorities, Tribal health jurisdictions, health care providers, and communities to identify diseases, collect case information, identify risk factors, determine transmission routes, protect exposed individuals, and control disease transmission. ACDP also collects data and provides epidemiologic expertise for a variety of other conditions as needed for situational awareness during emergencies, such as emergency department visits for heat-, cold-, or wildfire-related conditions, and assists HSPR (see below) in responding to any public-health emergency through incident command structures. ACDP is working to implement the needs of a modern communicable disease system following lessons learned from the pandemic through genomic surveillance; wastewater surveillance; informatics systems; senior health advisor (SHA) clinical expertise; infection control capacity for congregate and healthcare settings; and regional epidemiology support.

The Oregon State Public Health Laboratory performs 10.7 million tests on 399,393 human specimens biennially. This includes clinical testing for communicable diseases and newborn bloodspot screening, which performs 2 screening panels for 44 medical conditions for all infants born in Oregon. The lab's specimens come from 33 local health departments and 61 hospital and clinical labs in Oregon, as well as 3,000 individual medical practitioners in Oregon. In addition, OSPHL also provides surveillance testing and whole genome sequencing to support public health programs performing infectious disease control and outbreak investigations. OSPHL is responsible for coordinating emergency laboratory response to emerging pathogens and biological or chemical threats throughout Oregon. OSPHL's Laboratory Compliance section oversees certification of clinical laboratories and accredits environmental laboratories. This includes laboratories that monitor the safety of drinking water, cannabis, psilocybin, and the environment in Oregon. OSPHL supports the OHA mission through the following statewide and multi-state activities:

Center for Public Health Practice

- Performing medical laboratory tests for state and local public health authorities' communicable disease control programs for purposes of disease diagnosis, disease control, prevention, surveillance, and treatment.
- Tests for food, water and other environmental samples for evidence of microbial contamination.
- Provides 10.5 million tests biennially on 138,000 newborn babies for genetic disorders of body chemistry that can cause severe intellectual disability or death if undetected.
- Provides specialized reference tests unavailable elsewhere, especially for diseases of public health significance (e.g., anthrax, multidrug resistant tuberculosis, multidrug resistant bacteria, and testing for new and emerging pathogens such as Mpox).
- Responds to public health emergencies, including outbreaks of infectious diseases and bioterrorism by coordinating with Oregon's clinical laboratories.
- Provides regulatory oversight to ensure the quality of testing in medical, marijuana, environmental, and drug screening laboratories throughout Oregon.

The HIV, Sexually Transmitted Diseases and Tuberculosis section (HST) works collaboratively with local public health authorities, health care providers, and community-based organizations to prevent the transmission of HIV, STD and TB disease, improve health outcomes, and eliminate health inequities. The primary program functions include prevention, communicable disease control, and monitoring. The HST section monitors the incidence and prevalence of disease to develop public health policy and interventions. The section develops rules, policy, procedures, and standards of care. HST also provides training, consultation and technical assistance for outreach, testing, disease investigation, outbreak response, linkage to care, and treatment. The section's client population includes individuals at risk for or diagnosed with HIV, STDs or TB. The section focuses resources on populations disproportionately affected, such as people who inject drugs, men who have sex with men, people of color, immigrants, and refugees. Services promote the elimination of HIV/STD/TB transmission and improved health outcomes. These services include local outreach and education, testing, prevention supplies, lab costs, medications, case management and adherence support.

Center for Public Health Practice

The Oregon Immunization Program (OIP) section promotes the health of all people in Oregon by investing in activities that ensure access to vaccine and immunization services for all. OIP supports local public health authorities, public and private immunization providers, Tribes, schools, childcare facilities, higher education, community-based organizations, and coalitions to increase equity in access to care to meet Oregon's vaccination needs and to reduce the incidence of vaccine-preventable disease in Oregon.

These efforts include:

- Supporting the state's immunization infrastructure and measuring the gaps in access to care.
- Monitoring immunization data to ensure equitable access for all racial and ethnic groups across all service areas.
- Maintaining and modernizing the ALERT Immunization Information System (IIS). OIP's ALERT IIS (Immunization Information System) provides clinical decision support to immunizers, collects and combines individual immunization histories for people in Oregon. ALERT IIS supplies data to support all OIP programs including Perinatal hepatitis B, Yellow Fever licenses and the VFC/VAP programs. ALERT IIS is the state's key data system for multiple OHA, CCO, and other payor benchmarks. OIP and others analyze immunization status and need across gender, race and ethnicity. ALERT IIS collects and analyzes immunization data, which is available by age, gender, race and ethnicity, from health care providers and payors. ALERT IIIS provide data to local entities to achieve complete and timely immunization of all people in Oregon. ALERT IIS also provides clinical decision support to immunizers, data to support state and local interventions and programming, and clinical immunization data to disease investigators in Oregon's ACDP.
- Managing the distribution of $75,000,000 worth of vaccine to immunization providers across Oregon, including through the federal Vaccines for Children (VFC) and the Vaccine Access Program (VAP). VFC serves uninsured and American Indian/Alaskan Native children and all children on the Oregon Health Plan. VAP ensures vaccine opportunities for underrepresented communities including those housed in carceral settings.
- Identifying and promoting equity-driven evidence-based public health practices.

- Overseeing school immunization laws.
- Maintaining readiness to distribute vaccine in outbreaks and pandemics.

The Health Security, Preparedness and Response (HSPR) section supports systems to prepare for and respond to all hazards that affect the health of people in Oregon. Public health emergency preparedness is a foundational capability of a modern public health framework. HSPR emphasizes cultural responsiveness through partnerships with local public health authorities, Tribal governments, hospitals and health care systems, emergency medical services, law enforcement, fire, and local public health authorities to build community resiliency through emergency preparedness planning, training, exercises, and coalition development. These partnerships include funding for health care and public health programs in local and Tribal agencies, as well as support for essential public health functions related to communications, laboratory services and communicable disease control. The program manages a small stockpile of personal protective equipment and medical supplies. The program works to ensure equitable inclusion of persons with limited English proficiency and other language and access needs in planning activities. Current activities focus on hospital and health system surge supports, respiratory disease response, health equity planning, mass casualty planning, and all hazards response.

HSPR also manages:

- The State Emergency Registry of Volunteers in Oregon, with 6,484 registered licensed health professionals providing 56,496 hours of emergency services in the past year and a half in response to all hazard emergency response, including COVID-19, extreme weather, and wildfires.
- The AmeriCorps VISTA program, which places new public health professionals in public health and nonprofit agencies for one year of national service to build public health capacity and eliminate poverty. HSPR oversees 60 national service volunteers annually.

- Critical public health information platforms such as the Health Alert Network and the Oregon (Hospital) Capacity System, which allow for 24/7/365 mass communication and situational awareness between public health and health care organizations, along with options for those who are deaf or hard of hearing.

Revenue sources and changes

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget for the Center for Public Health Practice is comprised of 71 percent Federal Funds, 25 percent Other Funds, and 4 percent General Fund.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic, during the last biennium the Center received over $600 million of federal funding for a broad range of response activities, including case investigation and contact tracing, laboratory testing, healthcare system infection control capacity, and vaccine distribution. These federal funds supported the staff and contracts based within the COVID-19 Response and Recovery Unit as well as the Public Health Division. Much of the Center's funding is categorical, finite and directed toward federal priorities, which do not always align with state or local priorities. The Center's programs responded creatively to state priorities while continuing to meet grant objectives. This is particularly true in the areas of communicable disease prevention and immunization, which require a base level of infrastructure to operate effectively.

The Center's General Fund is used to pay for staff, supplies and equipment necessary to coordinate and deliver services to people in Oregon. The Center pays counties to deliver the Vaccines for Children program, using Medicaid matching funds and leveraged by General Fund.

In the HIV/STD/TB (HST) section, 56 percent of General Fund is allocated for distribution to local public health for HIV prevention, STD and TB testing, contact tracing and treatment. Forty three percent of General Fund supports lab assistance, medications, medical services, outbreak response and other patient services. CDC funding has not kept pace with the increased need for services necessary to control and ensure treatment for sexually transmitted infections and tuberculosis.

The STD program received $2.3 million from the American Rescue Plan Act for a 5-year project period. These funds were awarded to local public health authorities to support the expansion of a response-ready workforce of contact tracers (known as Disease Intervention Specialists) at the local level to mitigate the spread of STD, HIV, and COVID-19. However, on June 13, 2023, the program was informed that this grant will end early due to the federal debt ceiling negotiations, and funding for the last two years of the grant is no longer available. Oregon will lose approximately $5 million. This change is not reflected in the LAB. OHA will request an adjustment to the Center's Federal Funds limitation will be requested at rebalance. As with the rest of the nation, Oregon is confronted with rising STI rates. Disease Intervention Specialists play an essential role in keeping communities healthy, while testing and treatment, which were funded by this grant are key interventions to addressing rising rates of STIs. Loss of this money is devastating to the Center's collective work in rural communities, particularly with the exponential rise in STIs, and development of a critical public health workforce serving every county across the state.

In addition, Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) funds are used to support medication access and adherence services through Oregon's AIDS Drug Assistance Program (aka CAREAssist). CAREAssist also generates program income through its 340B Drug Pricing Program model, which accounts for over 70% of the program budget. This Other Fund net balance promotes a continuing annual carryover of restricted funds for maintenance of program operations. The program obligates the full amount of these restricted Other Funds carryover balance to pay for medical services and medications for persons living with HIV and for projects that support Oregon's initiative to eliminate new HIV infections, End HIV Oregon, as allowed by HRSA. The End HIV Oregon initiative supports enhanced statewide services to include HIV early intervention housing, behavioral health, case management and other supportive services that prevent the transmission of HIV and improve the health outcomes of persons diagnosed with HIV.

HST directly administers the Oregon Housing Opportunities in Partnership (OHOP) program funded by three HUD funded, Housing Opportunities for Persons With AIDS (HOPWA) grants. OHOP receives a total of approximately $1.6 million annually to provide rental assistance and utility support to persons living with HIV/AIDS.

The Acute and Communicable Disease Prevention (ACDP) section historically receives about $20 million Federal Funds per biennium from the CDC, primarily through the Emerging Infections Program (EIP) and the Epidemiology and Laboratory Capacity (ELC) grants. Along with roughly $1 million General Fund, these grants support communicable disease monitoring, outbreak investigation, interventions and evaluation activities. The program maintains Orpheus, a statewide case reporting and outbreak information system, as well as ESSENCE, a statewide syndromic surveillance system that monitors all emergency department visits (data available by race and ethnicity via a medical record or using CDC-specified designations).

As of August 2023, ACDP received approximately $500 million from the CDC dedicated to COVID-19 and other communicable disease case investigation, contact tracing, testing, and disease control across Oregon. Of that total, approximately $217 million remains available for completion of requirements for federally funded projects in the 2023-25 biennium. CDC is demonstrating ongoing commitment to a bolstered longer-term modernized communicable disease system through recent announcements for existing funding sources indicating long-term support for enhanced informatics, regional, genomic capacity, wastewater surveillance, and other core functions required to be appropriately prepared for future pandemics and other large scale disease response needs. Beginning in this budget period ACDP has support to include four additional regional epidemiologists and three additional grant funded positions; if new bodies of work in upcoming funding from CDC are enacted then additional support will be needed for long term modernized communicable disease work.

In the Oregon Immunization Program (OIP) section, state funding supports pass-through dollars to the local public health authorities; a maintenance and support contract with Gainwell for ALERT IIS; and staff and infrastructure support. To support the response to the COVID-19 pandemic, OIP received $83 million additional Federal Funds over the course of 2020-2024 – with the majority of those funds passed to local public health authorities, Tribes and community-based organizations.

The Oregon State Public Health Laboratory (OSPHL) revenues for the 2021-23 biennium were approximately $30 million Total Funds. In recent biennia, increasing operating costs have outpaced revenues and OSPHL has evaluated current fee rates and structures.

Communicable disease testing increases access to health care by providing testing regardless of ability to pay or insurance coverage. Primary submitters are local health departments and community clinics. OSPHL bills for as many tests as possible using the Medicaid fee-for-service fee schedule but does not recover enough revenue to fund the testing. New laboratory technology is changing the number and types of specimens sent to OSPHL and shifting the workload to OSPHL without corresponding funding to support the testing. OSPHL is also experiencing increased costs associated with maintaining laboratory information systems to support electronic data collection and transmission among local, state and federal partners. For the 2023-25 biennium. OSPHL was approved for fee increases to its Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program and Newborn Bloodspot Screening Program to decrease the gap between revenue and expenses.

Evaluations of additional fee structures will continue in the 2023-25 biennium.

The Center for Health Statistics (CHS) revenues include mostly Other Funds, primarily in the form of fees for services, and some Federal Funds, in the form of deliverable-based contracts for timely and accurate birth and death data. Other Funds include payments from state agencies that use vital records information. Fees from the sale of birth certificates comprise most of the fee revenue. The remaining revenue comes from sales of other types of certificates and extra fees for expedited processing and amendments. The Center for Health Statistics received CARES Act funding to develop and implement standard interoperability with the state's electronic death system and the National Center for Health Statistics to provide more timely death data. Additional CARES Act funding was provided to develop and implement interoperability with the state's birth system and the National Center for Health Statistics.

The Health Security, Preparedness and Response (HSPR) section is funded through two federal grants, the Public Health Emergency Preparedness, and Healthcare Preparedness. These funds support state and local health department preparedness staff and activities, regional health care coalitions, and grants to partners for innovative community planning and response. As of July 2023, HSPR is receiving approximately $22 million from CDC and ASPR.

The Health Security, Preparedness and Response section receives $2.5 million from the Administration for Strategic Preparedness and Response (ASPR) for the MRC-STTRONG grant that aims to address challenges and advance volunteers and MRC Coordinator readiness. The Health Security, Preparedness and Response section also receives General Fund to support one position related to Senate Bill 762 and one position related to House Bill 3409.

New laws that apply to the program unit

House Bill 2574 requires hospitals to adopt policies and procedures to ensure provision of human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) post-exposure prophylactic (PEP) drugs or therapies following patient's possible exposure to HIV. The bill requires the OHA HIV/STD/TB Section to develop formulas for estimating need of five-day supplies by Type A and Type B rural hospitals, and to supply those hospitals with five-day supplies at no cost to the hospital. HST will receive new General Fund to support the program.

Senate Bill189 permits health care facilities to release human pathological waste from surgeries, autopsies, and other procedures to the donors of the waste or to their representative for disposition in accordance with rules to be

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget continues to provide the limitation needed to implement and operate an indirect cost rate for the Public Health Division at the current service level.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

As part of pursuing the implementation of a division-wide indirect cost rate, Public Health has a Detail Cross-Reference Number (DCR) specific to the indirect cost rate and separate from the program Centers and Office of the State Public Health Director. This functions as budgetary structure to house needed limitation and does not contain any program areas.

The technical accounting entries required to operationalize an indirect cost rate will produce duplicative expenditure data in an internal services fund specific to tracking and reconciling indirect costs assessed to Public Health. Limitation is in Federal Funds and Other Funds to cover the duplicative costs and accommodate the necessary accounting processes. There are no additional “real” expenditures, and the duplicated costs will be excluded from statewide reporting by excluding the internal services fund.

Indirect Cost Rate

Background information

The Public Health Division currently operates under the Oregon Health Authority's federally approved cost allocation plan for the purpose of allocating indirect costs. As Public Health has many revenue streams (more than 72 categorically dedicated federal grants for the 2021-23 biennium in addition to billable contracts and fee revenues), operationalizing an indirect cost rate streamlines the funding request process and provides certainty across funding streams as to how each will be impacted by indirect costs. This allows Public Health to maximize use of available funding to direct resources in the best manner to achieve positive outcomes for Oregonians and eliminate health inequities across the state.

Public Health continues to implement a division-wide indirect cost rate and works with the Cost Allocation Unit to keep the plan updated as revisions are completed and as negotiations occur with Cost Allocation Services.

Revenue sources and changes

The indirect cost rate DCR limitation is both Other Funds and Federal Funds.

New laws that apply to the program unit

None.

Executive Summary

Division overview

Oregon State Hospital (OSH) is an essential part of the statewide behavioral health system, providing the highest level of psychiatric care for adults from all 36 counties. The hospital's primary goal is to help people recover from their mental illness and return to life in the community, contributing to healthy and safe communities for all people in Oregon. Oregon State Hospital promotes public safety by treating people who are dangerous to themselves or others in a secure, therapeutic setting. The hospital works in partnership with the other divisions of the Oregon Health Authority including the Health Systems Division (HSD), the Psychiatric Security Review Board (PSRB), regional hospitals, community mental health programs, advocacy groups and other community partners to ensure people with mental illness get the right care, at the right time, in the right place.

OSH operates two campuses with a total of 742 licensed beds, with 592 beds in Salem and 150 beds in Junction City. OSH services are provided 24 hours per day, seven days a week. Oregon's only state-operated secure residential treatment facility also reports to the superintendent of OSH. Pendleton Cottage, a 16-bed facility, is located on the grounds of the former Eastern Oregon Training Center in Pendleton. The secure mental health treatment program provides a community treatment setting for people who need a secure level of care as their first step out of the state hospital.

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget for the Oregon State Hospital includes $749.1 million General Fund, $24.5 million Other Funds, and $30.0 million Federal Funds as well as position authority for 2,772 positions (2,768.75 FTE). The budget includes continuing investments in previous biennium resources and funding through package #811 of a portion of policy package #402 for specialized treatment services and supports.

Program descriptions

Oregon State Hospital's role is to provide services and treatment to individuals that will prepare them for discharge when they no longer require hospital level of care. Services include 24-hour on-site nursing, psychiatric and other credentialed professional services, treatment planning, pharmacy, laboratory, food and nutritional services, and vocational and educational services. The hospital is accredited by the Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Health Organizations and all 24 hospital-licensed units (21 on the Salem Campus and 3 in Junction City) are certified by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS). Services are provided by psychiatrists, nurses, and mental health professionals. Upon discharge, people transition to the community with improved skills to better understand and manage their symptoms, fully participate and live in their local community in a variety of community-based settings, and when able, hold a job.

Services are delivered through Interdisciplinary Treatment Teams of which patients and designated family members are team members. Treatment teams collaborate with patients to develop individualized treatment care plans to identify and achieve short- and long-term goals. These goals address potential safety risks, mitigate illness and promote recovery. Treatment care plans indicate which treatments a patient needs such as individual therapy, treatment therapy groups, medications, activities of daily living (cooking, personal finance), community integration and vocational rehabilitation or paid work. Treatment teams also work with each patient to ensure their individual needs are met, including but not limited to, culture, language, religion, LGBTQ+ status, or disability. If the need cannot immediately be met within the hospital's existing resources, the team will find a contractor, such as an interpreter or faith practitioner, to deliver these services for the patient.

Personal Services costs are the main budget driver for the Oregon State Hospital. Salaries, taxes and benefits for staff comprise 88 percent of OSH's 2021-23 Legislatively Approved Budget. Of the 2,772 positions currently budgeted for the Oregon State Hospital, 86 percent are direct-care staff such as nurses, psychiatrists, psychologists, etc. Per ORS 441.154 and ORS 441.155, the staffing plan for OSH is set by the nurse staffing committee, composed of both nurse management and AFSCME-RN union members. The number of staff the hospital needs is based on the level of acuity (the severity of symptoms, direct care needs) and commitment type (civil, guilty except for insanity, aid and assist). Sufficient staffing is key to OSH's ability to provide adequate mental health care treatment and services to its patient population in the most efficacious and efficient manner possible. Timely delivery of effective treatment including patient progression through OSH levels of care and timely discharge are critical to the ability of OSH to comply with legal requirements. The Mink Order of 2002 requires OSH to admit individuals under Aid and Assist orders within seven days of the signed judge's order. The December 2021 Interim Settlement Agreement with Oregon Health Authority, Oregon State Hospital, Metropolitan Public Defenders and Disability Rights Oregon consolidated two related cases, and appointed a neutral expert in both matters, to make recommendations to address capacity issues at the Oregon State Hospital. Dr. Debra Pinals, the neutral expert, has submitted six reports to Federal Court Judge Michael Mosman that include recommendations to address OSH capacity issues in support of the seven day admission requirement for individuals under aid and assist orders, and also address the behavioral health continuum needs that support the right care, in the right time, and the right place, to improve behavioral health service access to the people of Oregon while relieving the pressure of over-reliance on OSH.

Program justification and link to long-term outcomes

As the only Psychiatric Hospital in Oregon, OSH is devoted to the diagnosis and treatment of people experiencing mental illness. Like any hospital, patients are admitted to OSH for an episode of care. Unlike other hospitals, OSH has most services a patient might need in one location with 24-hour on-site psychiatric and nursing care in a secure and safe environment. This establishes OSH as a key contributor to the 10-year OHA goal of creating health equity and allowing all patients to achieve full health potential and well-being. The contribution and progress of OSH along this path are measured and monitored through OSH's key goals.

OSH's key goals identify our core business, what we strive to do each day as we live our mission, vision and values. Our key goals are identified on our Fundamentals Map, including outcome measures for accountability. The OSH Fundamentals map supports the OHA performance system.

OSH's key goals are:

- Excelling in recovery-oriented care and treatment.
- Ensuring safety in all environments.
- Improving processes and performance.
- Recruiting and engaging outstanding staff.
- Employing information technology effectively.

Executive Summary

Program performance

OSH uses Lean methodology as the primary foundation for continuous improvement and organizational performance. Through Lean, OSH has a robust system to align and link all the services it provides with organizational goals and desired outcomes. OSH also tracks performance metrics throughout the hospital using OSH Performance System. This framework provides a clear line of sight to ensure the work is achieving the desired outcomes. Performance improvement work was disrupted between 2020-2022, due to OSH's need to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic. The focus of 2023 is to rebuild and reinvigorate these expectations.

Performance System

The OSH Performance System focuses on the hospital's fundamental work processes and desired outcomes, while enforcing discipline around measurement and metrics. The Performance System helps the hospital generate targeted breakthrough initiatives and use problem-solving techniques to address areas where performance is poor. The OSH Fundamentals Map supports the overarching OHA Tier One Fundamentals Map. OSH's Fundamentals Map is currently in a revision process to better align with current operations, priorities and goals.

The performance system scorecard monitors the hospital's outcome and process measures from the Fundamentals Map, which show progress toward key goals. The scorecard is a way for hospital leadership to manage data, monitor progress and identify achievements. Having this data available enables the hospital to proactively assign resources to continuous improvement teams early enough to make vital improvements that affect patient outcomes, improve safety and reduce costs.

Some examples of metrics tracked on the scorecard are:

- Patient treatment hours
- Incidents of aggression
- Patient and staff injuries
- Incidents and duration of seclusion and restraint

Executive Summary

- Length of stay
- Admissions wait times
- Time between placement on the Ready-to-Transition List and discharge
- Staff turnover

OSH holds quarterly performance reviews (QPRs) every three months to check the status of our organizational health using the scorecard. QPRs create the discipline to review the status of the routine work (fundamentals) and initiatives (breakthroughs), and to drive problem solving as needed to achieve the goals of the organization.

Enabling legislation/program authorization

The hospital operates under ORS 161.295-400, 179.321, ORS 426, and ORS 443. These statutes provide the authority to operate, control, manage and supervise the Oregon State Hospital campuses and state-delivered residential treatment facilities.

Funding streams

The 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget for OSH, excluding capital improvement, totals $796 million and is made up of 94 percent General Fund revenues. On an ongoing basis, OSH generates Other Funds revenue through billing of services to Medicare for eligible patients. Medicaid funds make up the Federal Funds portion of the budget.

Significant program changes from 2021-23

OSH is a critical component of the behavioral health system in Oregon. OSH strives to meet the needs of each patient while remaining nimble and responsive to the demands for beds and services across the patient populations. OSH internally reconfigures services to meet the demand for hospital level of care services across the continuum realizing the interplay of service needs across our continuum partners.

Executive Summary

The LAB includes a new investment of $1.9 million, which funds a portion of policy package #402. This package grants ten positions for specialized treatments and supports designed to create an equitable and inclusive hospital environment for both patients and staff through training, education and on-Unit support.

The pandemic has challenged OSH, as it has many service providers, to provide the services necessary to the people of Oregon who require hospital levels of care. Low staffing numbers and high vacancy rates have led to staff fatigue and low morale. At times, staffing has forced OSH to modify its operations to ensure staffing levels are sustained at the necessary levels to care and provide treatment for patients.

Following the report of an independent expert, OSH has adopted admissions processes to provide available beds to the greatest number of individuals requiring a hospital level of care, equalizing the admission timeframes for individuals under Aid and Assist orders and those deemed Guilty Except for Insanity, with these population types prioritized for bed use. With the operationalization last biennium of all OSH beds across both campuses (the opening of the last two SRTF units at Junction City), the ongoing challenge will be to admit and discharge at sufficient rates to maximize the utilization of the campus space to serve those who need services at the hospital. Meeting this challenge requires the right number of trained staff at OSH and effective and efficient treatment and processes and is equally dependent upon a robust and functioning behavioral health continuum of service.

This includes the transition back to General Fund from one-time funding made available from the American Rescue Plan Act. This budget also includes funding for promoting equity at OSH (originally requested in policy package #402, and funded in package #811). Bond-financed investment in a Programmable Logic Controller on the Salem campus is included for replacement of a system integrated into several core hospital functions such as salley ports and access controls.

Background information

Populations served

Oregon State Hospital serves adults who need intensive psychiatric treatment for severe and persistent mental illness. With 24-hour on-site nursing and psychiatric care, the hospital helps patients gain the skills they need to successfully transition back to the community.

The Salem campus serves individuals under three different commitment types:

- Aid & Assist – People who come to Oregon State Hospital through a court order under Oregon law (ORS 161.370) for treatment that will help them understand the criminal charges against them and to assist in their own defense.
- Guilty Except for Insanity (GEI) – People who come to Oregon State Hospital who have successfully pleaded Guilty Except for Insanity (GEI) for crimes related to their mental illness. These patients are under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board.
- Civil – People who come to Oregon State Hospital through a civil commitment require 24-hour care that is not available through community programs. These patients have been found by the court to be a danger to themselves or others, or unable to provide for their own basic needs – such as health and safety – because of a mental disorder.

Treatment programs – Oregon State Hospital serves patients in the program that best meets their treatment and psychiatric acuity needs.

- Springs – The Springs program serves patients from all three commitment types. These patients experience co-occurring mental and physical illnesses that often require hospital-level care for dementia or organic brain injuries. Patients each have individual treatment care plans and attend treatment mall groups every weekday.

Salem Campus

Treatment groups feature sensory and behavioral therapy, focusing on daily living skills, coping and problem-solving skills, and medication management.

- Archways – The Archways program primarily serves people under Aid and Assist court orders. This program helps patients stabilize, gain the ability to cooperate with attorneys, understand the charges against them, and participate in their own defense. Patients each have individual treatment care plans and attend treatment mall groups every weekday. Treatment groups primarily focus on understanding the court system and learning basic legal terminology. Other treatment groups and resources include a law library, legal assistance, symptom management, anger management, physical fitness, medication management and drug and alcohol education. Treatment teams conduct hospital level of care assessments to identify individuals that no longer need hospital level of care for ongoing competency restoration, providing notification to the committing court and CMPHD. During their stay, patients are periodically evaluated by forensic evaluators to determine if they are able, never able or not yet able to stand trial.

- Harbors – The Harbors program provides acute care psychiatric treatment across all commitment types. Patients each have individual treatment care plans and attend treatment mall groups every weekday. Treatment groups are designed to achieve psychiatric stabilization to transition to lower levels of psychiatric care within the hospital. Treatment groups also focus on symptoms management, medication management, legal skills acquisition, and practicing coping skills.

- Pathways/Bridges – Pathways/Bridges is a combined program. Pathways serves the GEI and Aid and Assist population. Bridges serves people in GEI population patients who are preparing to transition back to the community. Bridges units are licensed at the secure residential treatment level of care. The goal is to help patients achieve their highest level of health, safety, and independence as they prepare for discharge or conditional release to a less-restrictive community setting. Individuals work on living skills through daily treatment mall activities, classes, and approved outings. They also participate in discharge planning with their treatment team members.

- Crossroads – The Crossroads program provides progressive care services for patients from all three commitment types. Patients each have an individual treatment care plan and attend treatment mall groups every weekday. These groups are designed to help patients learn how to manage their symptoms and medications, develop coping and recreational skills, budget and manage their money, and plan and prepare meals.

Increasing Aid and Assist population

The number of people sent to OSH to be restored to competency so they can assist in their own defense has grown significantly over the past several years. To serve this growing population OSH has consolidated units, converted units and opened units. The Aid and Assist population at OSH spiked dramatically in October 2018 and has continued to increase through 2022. The Average Daily Population (ADP) increased from 221 in 2018 to 404 in May 2022. Because of this unprecedented increase, multiple conversions were required to provide hospital bed capacity to serve people under Aid and Assist orders that are waiting in jail to receive psychiatric care and competency restoration services.

Key to addressing this issue is developing a robust array of community services, including crisis interventions – such as mobile crisis teams and assertive community teams – that enable law enforcement and other community partners to connect people with mental health services, rather than arrest them. Additionally, community capacity for competency restoration must expand via diversion pre-hospitalization and post-hospitalization for those who do not require hospital level of care. The Oregon Health Authority (OHA), including the Health Systems Division (HSD) and OSH, is working with community partners to strengthen and expand these services.

Nurse Staffing

Adequate nurse staffing is fundamental for effective treatment and patient and staff safety at OSH. Per Oregon Revised Statute 441.154 and 441.155, with additional impacts from HB 2697, the staffing plan for OSH is set by the Nurse Staffing Committee, composed of both nurse management and AFSCME-RN union members. On average, about 20.1 percent of the OSH direct-care staff (registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and mental health technicians) are absent each day. OSH has experienced an increase in its rate of non-delivered staff since the pandemic. This number does not include planned absences such as vacation or personal business. To meet the staffing plan's minimum staffing requirements, the hospital is requesting a true posting factor for non-delivered staff and utilizes a system of voluntary overtime opportunities for employees to cover for other staff absences. If not enough people volunteer, the hospital must mandate staff to work overtime. However, even with overtime shifts and nursing agency contracted staffing, the hospital's staffing needs are not always met.

In addition to back-filling unplanned absences, OSH nursing staffing requirements are affected by:

- Acuity – The hospital needs a greater staff-to-patient ratio to maintain a patient-centric and effective treatment in a safe environment to accommodate for the severity of illness in the patient population.
- Enhanced Supervision – The hospital needs additional staff to carry out physician-ordered patient enhanced supervision which is when one staff is assigned to monitor and engage an individual patient who the physician has assessed as having a medical risk or risk of harming themselves or others.

Per statute, the OSH Nurse Staffing Committee established a Nurse Staffing Plan in April 2017 (in current revision process). In addition to meeting the requirements of the law regarding the length of shifts, lunch-break coverage, mandatory overtime, etc., the staffing plan also ensures the hospital meets the standards needed to maintain Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) certification.

Salem Campus

The prevalence of staff call-outs (unplanned absences) and physician-ordered patient precautions has driven staffing needs well beyond the Nurse Staffing Committee's staffing plan. Historically and currently, OSH has relied on overtime as the primary means to meet staffing needs when direct-care staff are absent and to staff patient acuity/precaution needs. Over the past three years, OSH has averaged 18,795 hours and $884,023 in monthly overtime to fill planned and unplanned direct-care staff vacancies, in addition to a significantly increased reliance on contract agency staffing.

However, the 2015 Secretary of State audit of OSH overtime practices pointed out that "Excessive overtime creates safety risks because it can lead to fatigue, affecting nursing staffs' ability to deliver good patient care, making good clinical decisions, and communicating effectively. Fatigued nursing staff could make errors, take unnecessary risks, be forgetful, and be in a poor mood."

Further, in 2016, The Joint Commission visited OSH to follow up on concerns of inadequate staffing levels. The surveyor investigated the following standard: EP 3 §482.62(d)(2) - (B150) - (2) There must be adequate numbers of registered nurses, licensed practical nurses, and mental health workers to provide the nursing care necessary under each patient's active treatment program. Because the surveyor observed the high level of unplanned direct-staff absences at OSH, she found that: "This Standard is NOT MET as evidenced by: Observed in Record Review at Oregon State Hospital (2600 Center Street, NE, Salem, OR) site for the Psychiatric Hospital deemed service. In 35 of 112 shifts reviewed, staffing was noted not to meet the organization's expected staffing matrix."

In 2019-21 the Legislature set aside a Special Purpose Appropriation of $20 million and directed the OSH to develop a programmatically and fiscally sustainable staffing plan. OSH submitted that plan in November 2021 and in May 2022 received 228 new positions. These positions represent the first of three phases to implement OSH's sustainable staffing plan. The majority of the positions —134 — replace the limited duration (LD) float pool OSH established in 2017 to ensure adequate nurse staffing to provide active treatment, a therapeutic milieu, and a safe environment. Previously, the cost for these LD positions and increased nurse agency staffing was not budgeted and has been a driver of shortfalls since 2017-19 into 2021-23 as the division has only partially afforded to make up costs from its existing budget allocation.

Revenue sources and changes

The Oregon State Hospital receives most of its funding from the state General Fund. Other Funds revenues consisting of service revenues generated through the billing of Medicare and third-party insurance and local revenue from the hospital café, coffee shop, and patient made wood products sales account for a small portion of the budget. Finally, Federal Funds from Medicaid and Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) payments make up the remaining budget.

One of the financial impacts of a shifting population at Oregon State Hospital is lower numbers of patients on Medicare being admitted. This has reduced the collection of Medicare revenue necessitating fund shift adjustments for 2023-25. DSH payments have also declined due to adjustments in the FMAP rate.

New laws that apply to the program unit

House Bill 2405 requires patient transport back to the jurisdiction in which the charges were initiated, in the event charges are dismissed.

House Bill 2665 directs OHA to adopt rules to establish maximum rates that a temporary staffing agency may charge, along with other staffing agency controls and processes. OSH is heavily dependent on staffing agencies for registered nurses and licensed practical nurses. This Bill has the potential to impact OSH either positively or negatively depending on the workforce that results from the Bill implementation.

House Bill 2697 modifies language related to hospital staffing and the Nurse Staffing Committee. The Bill introduces ratios at acute care hospitals that do not apply to OSH, however, OSH will be required to implement a new multidisciplinary sub-committee to establish staffing needs throughout the hospital. The Bill introduces fines for not meeting these staffing plans, and a civil penalty for missed meal or rest breaks. The implementation of this Bill may create a budgetary position need and future legislative requests.

House Bill 3471 makes the practice of an employer negotiating a settlement that contains a no-rehire provision unlawful. The implementation of this Bill may result in an increase of worker's compensation claims, higher insurance premiums, decreased patient care, and maintaining open positions for employees on long term leave that may not be able to perform the same job duties upon their return.

Senate Bill 321 creates a post-conviction appeal process for GEI patients convicted with a non-unanimous jury vote.

Senate Bill 629 alters the membership of the OSH Advisory Board, removing some geographical limitations.

Senate Bill 1043 requires the distribution of an opioid antagonist to patients upon release from a hospital under certain conditions.

The Legislatively Adopted Budget continues funding for the Oregon State Hospital - Pendleton Cottage, a 16-bed state-delivered secure residential treatment facility, at the current service level for the 2023-25 biennium.

Activities, programs and issues in the program unit base budget

Pendleton Cottage is a state-operated secure residential treatment facility in Pendleton, Oregon. With the capacity to serve up to 16 people, Pendleton Cottage provides 24-hour mental health treatment services for adults in a residential setting. In the 2021-23 biennium, the facility averaged a 97.5 percent occupancy rate, with an average daily population of 15.6. The mission of Pendleton Cottage is to help people recover from their mental illness by focusing on positive life experiences, self-confidence and community integration. Pendleton Cottage is often the first step for people transitioning from the state hospital to a life in the community.

Background information

People served

Pendleton Cottage serves people who have been civilly committed or who are under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board. Residents no longer require hospital level of care and still need 24-hour care and a higher level of supervision due to the status of their mental illness, safety and security concerns, and/or the severity of their offense.

State-Delivered Secure Residential Treatment Facility

Treatment philosophy

Pendleton Cottage uses the recovery model for person-centered treatment planning in which residents direct their own treatment. Together, residents and their treatment teams create an integrated service and support plan that incorporates the resident's residential service plan, treatment care plan, and the resident's self-stated dreams, desires and goals.

Residents who are under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board also must meet the expectations outlined in their conditional release plan. To align with the self-directed treatment approach used at Pendleton Cottage, residents are encouraged to determine how they will meet their conditional release requirements and are offered opportunities for choice.

Pendleton Cottage services

- On-site and telemedicine psychiatric services
- Individual therapy
- Vocational services including on-site paid employment opportunities
- Recreational services, both on- and off-site
- In-house case management
- Medication administration, monitoring and teaching
- Nursing services for individuals who have significant medical needs, such as diabetes, chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, or physical disabilities.

Facility

Opened in 2009, Pendleton Cottage consists of two separate houses, allowing for the opportunity to serve both men and women. One house has the capacity to serve up to four women and four men, and the other house serves up to eight men. The property also includes a greenhouse and park for the residents to use.

State-Delivered Secure Residential Treatment Facility

In October 2016, Pendleton Cottage opened the Lane Activity Center, a new treatment space where residents participate in leisure and therapeutic group activities. The center enhances the facility's ability to offer active treatment and help individuals develop the skills they need to successfully move to a lower level of care.

Staffing

Pendleton Cottage has 45 staff, including the administrator, to meet the residents' complex behavioral and medical needs. The average staffing ratio is three staff to eight patients, with at least three direct-care staff and one nurse on every shift. Staff provide:

- Resident supervision
- Therapeutic interventions
- Medical assistance
- Clinical work
- Case management
- Liaison to Psychiatric Security Review Board, including monthly progress reports

Revenue sources and changes

Revenue sources for Pendleton Cottage in the 2023-25 Legislatively Adopted Budget include General Fund. Other Funds revenues consist primarily of private payment Room and Board, with additional revenues for service reimbursement and meal tickets. Federal Funds revenue consist of the federal match of Medicaid claim billing. The increase in services billed for has resulted in a minor increase in Federal Funds revenue and is represented in the 2023-25 fund shift adjustment.

New laws that apply to the program unit

None.

Background information

Populations Served

Oregon State Hospital serves adults who need intensive, psychiatric treatment for severe and persistent mental illness. With 24-hour, on-site nursing and psychiatric care, the hospital helps patients gain the skills they need to successfully transition back to the community.

There are two commitment types served at the Junction City campus:

- Civil – People who come to Oregon State Hospital through a civil commitment require 24-hour care that is not available through community programs. They have been found by the court to be a danger to themselves or others, or unable to provide for their own basic needs – such as health and safety – because of a mental disorder. A subset of this population is called Voluntary by Guardian. Working through the court system, legal guardians may commit their wards who meet civil commitment criteria.

- Guilty Except for Insanity (GEI) – Oregon State Hospital serves patients who have successfully pleaded Guilty Except for Insanity (GEI) for crimes related to their mental illness. These patients are under the jurisdiction of the Psychiatric Security Review Board.

Treatment program

Because of its small size, the Junction City campus has only one treatment program. The Junction City campus provides varied treatment mall and group therapy offerings. The program's intent is to help patients achieve their highest level of health, safety and independence as they prepare for discharge or conditional release to a less-restrictive community setting. Individuals work on living skills through daily treatment mall activities, classes and approved outings. Patients also participate in discharge planning with their treatment team.

Junction City Campus

Although the campus admits people from all 36 counties, an emphasis is put on serving seven southern counties – Lane, Curry, Klamath, Douglas, Jackson, Coos and Lake.

Revenue sources and changes

The Legislatively Adopted Budget for Junction City campus of the Oregon State Hospital includes General Fund and Other Funds revenues, which consist of service revenues generated through the billing of Medicare and third-party insurance as well as local revenues derived from the hospital café and coffee shop. The Junction City campus receives no Federal Funds revenue.

2023-25 Oregon Health Authority Legislatively Adopted Policy Packages

POP #	Legislation	Title	Summary	General Fund	Other Funds	Federal Funds	Total Funds	POS	FTE
401	No	Eliminating Health Inequities	The Oregon Health Authority and its Equity and Inclusion Division are leading the state's effort to accomplish the largest and most ambitious transformation in health care and health delivery in the nation. The equity work charged to and led by the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division has agency-wide, state and national scope and impact. All divisions of the agency must be prepared and equipped to support equity and inclusion at every level of their work as well. It is critical to the success of this work that the agency hire additional subject matter expertise in the discipline of equity and inclusion and anti-racism. The work requires practitioners with career and lived experience, well versed in the research, theory and practical application of equity and inclusion. This policy package represents the next phase of assets necessary to achieve the state's and agency's imperative for health systems transformation and close the gap on health inequities that prevent the opportunity for all people in Oregon to attain optimal health, per a gap analysis related to additional capacity necessary to achieve the strategic goal of eliminating health inequities in Oregon by 2030.	$ 426,651	$ 103,882	$ (97,153)	$ 433,380	-	(0.99)
402	No	OSH Specialized Treatment Services & Supports Program	As an important step towards achieving agency goals, the Oregon State Hospital (OSH) recognizes, supports, and promotes initiatives that contribute to the advancement of equity and inclusion by active collaboration with the Equity and Inclusion Division in creating policies, processes, procedures, and developing or implementing strategies that advance the agency mission, vision, values, and transformation goals. Transformational change and progress cannot be achieved with one FTE to support the largest workforce within the Oregon Health Authority (OHA), and the people cared for at OSH. This policy package provides investment and redistribution of resources to build a successful and sustainable infrastructure necessary in fulfilling the shared goal of health equity for all Oregonians.	$ 1,890,996	$ -	$ -	$ 1,890,996	10	7.50
403	No	REALD & SOGI Implementation: Getting to Data Justice	This policy package includes resources to address requirements of House Bill 4212 and House Bill 3159 to better collect Race, Ethnicity, Language, Disability (REALD) and Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity (SOGI) data from providers and insurers. REALD & SOGI data is OHA's best tool to assess how racism, disablism, lack of language access, sexism and heteronormative dominance impact individual and community health. It is also OHA's best tool to close the significant gaps in health inequities experienced by populations that remain invisible. The data also helps OHA evaluate effectiveness of patient and person-centered care. The current lack of quality REALD & SOGI data contributes to more expensive and less effective services, particularly for members of Tribal communities, people of color, those with disabilities, and members of the LGBTQIA2S+ community. Solutions must be culturally appropriate and protect citizens' data privacy and security while providing flexibility. OHA can achieve the call to action by communities most impacted by health inequities and by legislation with sufficient resources, staffing, professional supports, and tools.	$ 12,699,241	$ 1,080,734	$ 1,909,447	$ 15,689,422	7	7.50
404	No	988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System: 988 Call Center and Crisis Stabilization Centers	House Bill 2417 (2021) directs the Oregon Health Authority to implement, expand and enhance Oregon's 988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System (988 & BHCS) and declared a state of emergency for Oregon's struggling behavioral health crisis system. The directive includes enhancement of existing services and expansion of the current system to provide a "no wrong door" approach to ensure people in crisis receive the appropriate level of care through three programs: a statewide 988 call center, expanding mobile crisis team outreach, creating crisis stabilization centers (CSCs) within each county, and developing a seamless continuity of care through follow-up service referral and tracking. This request for funding is specific to ensuring the sustainability and creating capacity necessary to continue meeting federal standards for 988 call centers. Oregon has received $5 million from House Bill 2417 for the 988 call centers. However, call volume increase in subsequent years will drive resource needs to approximately $21 million in ongoing costs. This is the front door of the continuum of crisis services with relatively less funding need and highest return on investment. In addition, over time, as 988 becomes more well-known and call volume rises, additional resources will be necessary to provide capacity coverage.	$ 21,300,000	$ 18,400,000	$ 29,300,000	$ 69,000,000	-	-
203	No	Mainframe Migration /Provider & Client Payments	Everyone deserves uninterrupted access to needed supports and to the income they earn at work. More than one million Oregonians count on the state's current mainframe platform to receive their benefit and provider payments. The COBOL programming code on the mainframe system dates to the 1970s and is increasingly unsupported. Mainframe-proficient staff are shrinking in number and hard to replace, resulting in service and payment bottlenecks. There is increasing risk the agency will be unable to make timely payments to Oregonians, potentially for an extended period. ODHS and OHA are therefore jointly requesting resources to upgrade the mainframe platform and ensure continuity of payments and benefits. It is critical to migrate all current mainframe functions to more modern, ideally cloud-based, solutions. Doing so will help avoid the risk of service breakdowns, bring ODHS|OHA technology into alignment with peer agencies, improve flow across information systems, and allow Oregon to fully benefit from its investments in the ONE eligibility system. This package represents a strategy to plan for and pilot new payment/financial modules, develop a plan to move remaining benefits on the mainframe to other applications, and decommission/archive remaining mainframe programs and data.	$ 1,985,589	$ 4,229,090	$ 1,088,537	$ 7,303,216	21	14.50
406	No	Public Health Modernization	Since 2013, Oregon has been on a path to fundamentally shift its practice to ensure essential public health protections are in place for all Oregonians through equitable, outcomes-driven and accountable services. The groundwork laid through initial investments in public health modernization have been critical to Oregon's management of the COVID-19 pandemic. However, the COVID-19 response has highlighted continued inequities in health outcomes and gaps in the public health system, specifically in health equity and cultural responsiveness and apply equity principles across all areas of public health practice. This policy package supports continued implementation of the key public health priorities selected by the Oregon Public Health Advisory Board (PHAB) for the 2023-25 biennium and builds on this work by making comprehensive investments across the public health system and elevating work that directly mitigates health inequities. Not funding this policy package puts at risk OHA's ability to ensure basic public health protections included in statute are available to every person in Oregon and challenges OHA in continuing to meet the deliverables and timelines prescribed in House Bill 3100 (2015).	$ 50,000,000	$ -	$ -	$ 50,000,000	30	20.69
201	No	Medicaid Waiver Placeholder	This policy package enables the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) to execute and implement the policy and program changes outlined in 1115 Medicaid demonstration waiver and approved by the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS).	$ 138,506,756	$ 2,640,614	$ 781,730,249	$ 922,877,619	131	104.68
202	No	Redeterminations & Basic Health Program	One-third of people in Oregon rely on the Oregon Health Plan for health care. During the pandemic, federal rules led to hundreds of thousands of additional Oregonians receiving health care through OHP. Without state action, this increase in health coverage will be lost when the public health emergency declaration for COVID-19 expires. In 2022, the Legislature passed House Bill 4035 to fund the federally mandated redetermination process to help maintain health care coverage by funding short-term coverage for people who earn too much for Medicaid but not enough to afford other coverage and authorize development of a sustainable long-term solution in the form of a Basic Health Program. This policy package would fund the remaining critical elements needed to implement a redetermination process. This package includes extensive investment in engagement with community partners to ensure OHA meets the needs of diverse Oregon communities.	$ 110,181,000	$ 774,793	$ 637,472,160	$ 748,427,953	59	50.42
413	No	Complex Case Management Unit	This policy package provides funds to build a specialized unit at the Oregon State Hospital on the Junction City campus to treat patients who are not responding to current treatment and require intensive services. This policy package will help prevent patient and staff injuries and promote health equity by addressing the needs of our most acute patients. Funding for this policy package is in Legislative Fiscal Office package #811.	$ -	$ 5,095,000	$ -	$ 5,095,000	-	-
414	No	Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnostic, and Treatment (EPSDT)	This policy package is in response to strong community feedback that Oregon's longstanding Medicaid waiver from federal Early and Periodic, Screening, Diagnostic and Treatment (EPSDT) requirements is harmful and needs to end. EPSDT is a critical federal standard to ensure state Medicaid programs meet the health care needs of children ages 0-21. Additionally, OHA recognizes that the waiver is a barrier to meeting the agency's goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. Effective January 1, 2023, this waiver ends. This policy package funds the staff and system updates necessary for OHA to build an EPSDT program that will meet federal regulations and ensure children and adolescents receive appropriate preventive, dental, mental health, developmental, and specialty services that EPSDT entitles them to and are necessary to meet our health equity goals.	$ 1,054,648	$ -	$ 1,570,934	$ 2,625,582	9	6.75
415	No	Adult Intensive Services & Diversion	This policy package will improve mental health services through the strategic funding of mental health diversion programs: jail diversion and civil commitment. These programs seek to decriminalize mental illness and work to move these individuals into appropriate treatment settings for more equitable outcomes. Jail diversion and civil commitment center health equity for people who live in rural or frontier areas and people of color. Without these services individuals may otherwise enter the justice system which would result in continued growth of the Oregon State Hospital census and disproportionally cause negative health outcomes for these populations.	$ 4,936,539	$ 8,631	$ 1,551,419	$ 6,496,589	7	5.25
416	SB 972 (2023)	Marketplace Transition from SBM-FP to SBM	This policy package furthers OHA's mission of improving access to quality, affordable health care for Oregonians and its goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. This policy package funds the initial stage of Oregon's transition away from the federally facilitated marketplace to a state-based eligibility and enrollment platform and call center for operation and administration of Oregon's health insurance exchange. Oregon is seeking a platform that: • Interfaces with Oregon's Medicaid systems to keep people covered during transitions and address churn. • Improves the qualified health plan shopping and customer services experience for Oregonians. • Integrates input from Oregon's various and diverse communities into technology and call center implementation. • Collects, analyzes, and stores enrollment data, including REALD & SOGI data to improve access to affordable coverage.	$ -	$ 2,059,864	$ -	$ 2,059,864	4	3.25
417	No	Environmental Justice Mapping	House Bill 4077 (2022) was Governor Brown's bill to reinvigorate the Environmental Justice Task Force as the Environmental Justice Council (EJC) with expanded membership and duties, and to direct Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and OHA to staff the EJC in developing an Environmental Justice Mapping Tool. OHA's fiscal impact statement identified the need for a high-level limited duration Research Analyst 4 position for this work for 2 years, and then rely on staff of an existing CDC grant-funded program for ongoing informatics support to update data and maintain the tool. However, in June 2022, the CDC notified OHA of a 25 percent cut to the Environmental Public Health Tracking cooperative agreement for the 2022-27 period, eliminating the position that would have taken over the work from the limited-duration position. OHA is therefore now requesting a permanent Research Analyst 4 position to develop and maintain the Environmental Justice Mapping Tool.	$ 191,854	$ -	$ -	$ 191,854	1	0.75

POP #	Legislation	Title	Summary	General Fund	Other Funds	Federal Funds	Total Funds	POS	FTE
422	No	Regional Resource Hospitals for Disaster Response	In local or statewide emergencies where the statewide health care system is stressed to capacity, hospitals and emergency medical services (EMS) have limited ability to efficiently coordinate patient distribution beyond normal operations or normal seasonal hospital surges. With temporary federal grant funds, OHA and partners built upon existing Health Care Coalitions and established Regional Resource Hospital systems and collaborated to develop situational communication, patient distribution and resource sharing capacity. OHA also worked with the Oregon Medical Coordination Center to ensure appropriate care no matter where you live in Oregon. These efforts support better and equitable access to all levels of hospital care during major health system surges. Oregon needs a sustained and robust operational system of communication and clinical coordination for current and future emergencies that isn't dependent on temporary federal COVID-19 pandemic related grant funding.	$ -	$ 186,908	$ -	$ 186,908	1	0.75
425	No	Universally offered Home Visiting	This policy package provides the resources required to implement and scale up the next phase of universally offered home visiting (UoHV) in Oregon with the early adopter communities and the next cohort. It also focuses on building out the community alignment, engagement, and health equity work of the initiative. Without this funding, OHA would not be able to fully implement the program as statutorily mandated in ORS 433.301. This policy package provides the resources to achieve the goal of establishing a more cohesive and comprehensive home visiting system that is evidence-based and connects every family with a newborn with local resources that are individualized, non-stigmatizing and meet them where they are with what they need.	$ 5,924,191	$ -	$ 156,129	$ 6,080,320	5	3.75
426	No	Child and Family Behavioral Health Continuum of Care	This policy package seeks to address gaps identified by youth and families to strategically expand the continuum of services available to children, youth and families experiencing behavioral health challenges, centering communities of color and people with lived experience. Funding for this policy package is in Legislative Fiscal Office package #803.	$ 3,100,000	$ -	$ -	$ 3,100,000	-	-
429	No	988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System: Payer Parity for Behavioral Health Crisis Services	In 2021, the Legislature directed the Oregon Health Authority in House Bill 2417 to implement, expand and enhance Oregon's 988 & behavioral health crisis system (988 & BHCS). This includes enhancing existing services and expanding the current system to provide a "no wrong door" approach that ensures individuals in crisis receive the appropriate level of care through three programs: a statewide 988 call center, expanding mobile crisis team outreach, creating crisis stabilization centers (CSCs), and developing a seamless continuity of care through follow-up service referral and tracking. This policy package addresses payor parity for BHCS by commercial payors. Though Medicaid is the only payor that covers behavioral health crisis services, these services are required to be accessible and be delivered to all regardless of insurance type or status. Payor parity is essential for long term fiscal sustainability of behavioral health crisis services including crisis service workforce in Oregon.	$ 191,854	$ 1,927,355	$ -	$ 2,119,209	1	0.75
430	No	Support for the Health Care Market Oversight Program	This policy package includes Other Funds to support the Oregon Health Authority's (OHA) administration of the Health Care Market Oversight (HCMO) program in the 2023-25 biennium. Through the HCMO program, OHA reviews and approves health care consolidation in Oregon, ensuring that health care mergers and acquisitions support statewide goals related to cost, quality, access, and equity. Without this policy package to support the HCMO program, health care in Oregon could become more consolidated, resulting in higher prices without improved quality, and access issues, particularly for low-income communities, rural communities, and communities of color. This package funds four full-time, permanent positions and program expenses.	$ -	$ 1,240,524	$ -	$ 1,240,524	4	4.00
432	No	Domestic Well Safety Program	This package restores the previously federally-funded Domestic Well Safety Program (DWSP) by providing position authority and funding for a dedicated DWSP staff position. DWSP uses data collected under the state Domestic Well Testing Act to inform people in Oregon about the importance of testing drinking water from wells and provides guidance about how to improve poor water quality, leading to improved health outcomes. DWSP also conducts special projects, including the 2020 Wildfires-Impacted Domestic Well Testing project and the Lower Umatilla Basin Ground Water Management Area (LUBGWMA) project. This package funds public health interventions in LUBGWMA including outreach for domestic well screening and testing and where indicated, water treatment device installation and maintenance.	$ 3,000,000	$ -	$ -	$ 3,000,000	4	2.65
434	No	Marketplace Outreach & Operations	This policy package uses existing Marketplace funds to further the Oregon Health Authority's (OHA) goals of 98 percent coverage by 2024 and elimination of health inequities by 2030. Priority populations face significant barriers to accessing health care due to systemic racism, oppression, discrimination, and bias. Specialized and dedicated efforts are needed to mitigate historical and contemporary injustices and either build or rebuild trust to ensure people are connected to the resources they need. With current staffing and due to the increasing demand from the community, the Marketplace needs additional resources to maintain and expand outreach and education initiatives to the communities it serves, including those who are at a higher risk of being harmed by health inequities, experiencing disadvantage, and most affected by social inequities. With additional staff, these communities will have access to the most effective assistance available to gain access to potentially free or very low-cost health care.	$ -	$ -	$ -	$ -	3	2.25
435	No	PEBB OEBB Benefits Management System Replacement	The current benefit management systems (BMS) used by the Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) and Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) no longer support all current business needs since their respective introductions in 2008 and 2003. OEBB and PEBB are seeking to continue the BMS replacement project to improve user experience and customer care. The new BMS will facilitate the potential collection of REALD & SOGI data and provide a mobile app experience that has a better chance of members, including those in underserved communities, having better access to enroll in benefits, utilize benefit tools and wellness programs, and make informed benefit choices. Not prioritizing and supporting a replacement effort for the current system would result in canceling a contract signed with new vendor, discontinued implementation efforts, and continued use of end-of-lifecycle technology that is fragmented, non-standard, difficult to support, and is not scalable. Approximately 300,000 covered lives would be at risk for benefits interruption if a replacement system is not identified and procured prior to the expiration of existing vendor support in 2022.	$ -	$ 6,631,605	$ -	$ 6,631,605	3	2.25
437	SB 5526 (2023)	Newborn Bloodspot Screening Program Fee Ratification	Oregon newborn bloodspot screening (NBS), which is statutorily mandated for the Oregon Health Authority (OHA), is conducted by the Northwest Regional Newborn Bloodspot Screening (NBS) Program at the Oregon State Public Health Laboratory (OSPHL). The requested fee increase would allow the NBS Program to eliminate the gap between revenue and expenses once sufficient fees are collected. Additionally, because of the evolving landscape for newborn screening, the fee increase would allow the program to be self-sufficient in future years and remain agile, with ability to respond to the needs of Oregon families and comply with federal law and guidelines.	$ -	$ 8,252,000	$ -	$ 8,252,000	2	1.50
438	No	Affordable Care Act (ACA) Employer Reporting	In 2014 employer required Affordable Care Act (ACA) reporting was delegated to PEBB to complete on behalf of the state of Oregon. This includes 1095C mailings and 1095B mailings to eligible employees, and the electronic 1094C, 1095C, and 1095B to the IRS. There was not a full understanding of ACA reporting at that time. The most complex part of ACA reporting is the data related to offers of coverage owned by HRIS systems. No funding or positions were allocated for this effort. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ended "good faith" ACA reporting beginning with tax year 2021. Data gaps in HRIS makes accurate reporting challenging. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication of any efforts to secure a position within their office to ensure required ACA data is captured. At this time, PEBB has not received an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system PEBB is looking to outsource ACA reporting to a vendor with expertise in the field to limit liability for the state, and for other employers who participate in PEBB and elect to use the vendor for ACA reporting. If PEBB is not able to procure a vendor, positions would need to be added to fill expertise in ACA rules and regulations and changes, including 1095 coding requirements based on data available. Additional positions would be needed to address data needs, data gaps, compile IRS compliant files, mail 1095 forms and track mailings, corrections for compliance. Alternatively, ACA reporting as currently conducted is a liability for the state.	$ -	$ 665,000	$ -	$ 665,000	-	-
439	No	OSH Asset & Equipment Replacement	The Oregon State Hospital (OSH) Salem facility began construction in 2009, was completed in 2011, and is over 11 years old. The Junction City facility is now over 6 years old. As aging occurs, much of the expendable property and capital assets in operation have outlived or have soon expiring useful lives. Replacement of these items is necessary to provide a safe and secure environment for patients and staff, as well as maintain critical continuity of hospital operations. Funding for this policy package is in Legislative Fiscal Office package #816.	$ -	$ 3,045,000	$ -	$ 3,045,000	-	-
440	SB 5526 (2023)	Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program	The statutorily mandated Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (ORELAP) was established in 1999. ORELAP accredits Oregon drinking water, environmental, cannabis, and psilocybin laboratories based on consensus standards to ensure laboratories are following federal and state regulations. ORELAP is a fee-based program experiencing a budgetary shortfall. This policy package supports a fee increase and an update to the ORELAP fee structure for simplification and ensure that fees are appropriate for the work required to perform laboratory accreditations of differing and increasing complexity. A fee increase is needed to ensure ORELAP can provide timely quality accreditations that meet established standards and regulatory requirements to best serve ORELAP's clients and protect the health of all Oregonians.	$ -	$ 1,039,370	$ -	$ 1,039,370	-	-
449	No	Oregon Psilocybin Services: Nation's First Regulatory Framework for Psilocybin	This policy package provides both General Fund and Other Funds limitation for implementation of the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act by the Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) section at the Oregon Health Authority. 2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Central Services
Program:	Equity and Inclusion Division, Strategic Action Team
Policy package title:	Eliminating Health Inequities
Policy package number:	401
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

The Oregon Health Authority and its Equity and Inclusion Division are leading the state's effort to accomplish the largest and most ambitious transformation in health care and health delivery in the nation. The equity work charged to and led by the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division has agency-wide, state and national scope and impact. All divisions of the agency must be prepared and equipped to support equity and inclusion at every level of their work as well. It is critical to the success of this work that the agency hire additional subject matter expertise in the discipline of equity and inclusion and anti-racism. The work requires practitioners with career and lived experience, well versed in the research, theory and practical application of equity and inclusion. This policy package represents the next phase of assets necessary to achieve the state's and agency's imperative for health systems transformation and close the gap on health inequities that prevent the opportunity for all people in Oregon to attain optimal health, per a gap analysis related to additional capacity necessary to achieve the strategic goal of eliminating health inequities in Oregon by 2030.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

The Oregon Health Authority (OHA) has worked to center health equity in all its work and programs and still has more to accomplish in this realm to meet the health goals for Oregon and the strategic goal of the agency to eliminate health inequities in Oregon by 2030. In reviewing current assets and work, looking toward the goal of the agency and state, members of the OHA Leadership Team and key personnel determined what more the agency requires after the Legislature's most recent investment in the agency's equity and inclusion work.

The policy package that OHA submitted represented a comprehensive next phase of assets necessary to achieve Oregon's and agency's imperative for health systems transformation and close the gap on health inequities that prevent the opportunity for all people in Oregon to achieve optimal health as represented in the agency's health equity definition:

> "Oregon will have established a health system that creates health equity when all people can reach their full health potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, age, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities, or other socially determined circumstances.
> Achieving health equity requires the ongoing collaboration of all regions and sectors of the state, including tribal governments to address:
> > The equitable distribution or redistribution of resources and power; and > > Recognizing, reconciling, and rectifying historical and contemporary injustices."

The funding level supports the initial priorities necessary to effectuate a tiered approach to its strategic goal of eliminating health inequities in Oregon to include:

Civil Rights and Inclusion CIVIL RIGHTS AND INCLUSION
This initiative seeks to bridge OHA's current work to maintain compliance and expand to meet OHA's strategic goal to eliminate health inequities in Oregon by 2030. This work can be imagined as a house, where OHA is moving forward from a foundation of anti-racism. OHA's current compliance work is responsive to federal and state statutory and regulatory requirements (for example, ADA, WCAG 2.1, Rehab Act, Title VII, Affirmative Action, EEOC, ORS 659A) which can be imagined as the floor of the home. The proposed work is the home's structure from the floor to the ceiling— OHA seeks to not only have a safe floor for people to exist, it seeks a sound structure in which all people can flourish.

Currently, OHA's dedicated resources responsible for addressing potential civil rights, inclusion and access issues are maxed out due to the perfect storm of COVID-19, Medicaid expansion, and long-standing and current social and racial injustices and social turmoil. Now, more people need more support which requires more resources, like engineers, architects, masons, contractors, and building supplies to maintain the floor's structural integrity and prevent people from falling through. Here, the home is Oregon. Here the resources needed are trained equity and inclusion professionals who can respond to potential civil rights issues, train a workforce to practice equity and anti-racism in how they do their jobs, create processes and systems that are accessible, helpful, usable, and relevant to the people of Oregon, whomever they are, wherever they live, however they communicate and whatever they know. OHA needs more resources to maintain the floor. Importantly, OHA seeks to do more than maintain a floor. OHA seeks to eliminate health inequities in Oregon by 2030, creating a sound and healthy home for all people in Oregon.

Phase 1 Civil Rights and Inclusion Investments includes 5 positions to support increased capacity and specialized expertise to respond to increasing internal and public civil rights issues; increased capacity and specialized expertise to develop and sustain strategic training initiatives and training programs related to integrating and operationalizing health equity by OHA's workforce; dedicated subject matter expertise in disability access including digital accessibility, workplace accessibility, and public accessibility; dedicated subject matter expertise in language access to align with current and anticipated state and federal laws and regulations.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)

OHA is committed to developing a resilient and healing workplace culture that is responsive to the impact of racism and trauma on staff. The Governor's Budget includes one position to support this effort. As part of ongoing commitment to supportive workplaces, OHA is sponsoring a workgroup to develop an internal policy related to organizational resilience and healing. This work is being done in alignment with the OHA strategic goal of eliminating health inequities in Oregon by 2030, including commitment to anti-racism and healing.

OHA has created an operational policy to shift organizational culture to one that promotes resilience and healing in the workplace. The approach in this policy outlines how managers and staff can work together to put the policy into practice through a strategic implementation plan.

Leading with race in this work is key because structural and institutional racism have long histories and pervasive presence which have shaped our structures, systems and institutions. Because of this, racism in all its forms create harm and trauma across all systems and sectors, as well as impacting us at the personal, interpersonal and cultural levels. By focusing on racism where harm and trauma most deeply and consistently show up, it makes it possible to address the dynamics that shape marginalization addressing oppression in all its forms. This work is critical to understanding how true, sustainable resilience and healing can be achieved through the centering of anti-racism. The combination of addressing harm and trauma at the root, while uplifting strengths where they exist, can create a work environment where all people can be healthy and well, and therefore serve the people of Oregon to the best of their abilities.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

Civil Rights and Inclusion

This initiative supports bringing on additional experienced and knowledgeable equity and inclusion professionals who are subject matter experts in stewarding supportive, respectful, and healthful work cultures for OHA staff, including disciplines such as training/adult learning, civil rights, disability access, language access and equity and inclusion generally. By providing proactive, restorative and cost-effective resources necessary to support the growing and ever-diverse OHA workforce and the varied needs of the people who live and work in Oregon.

One example based on a painful lesson learned from Oregon's COVID-19 response: many people who live and work in Oregon communicate in a language other than English. To provide information that is useful to people, we must invest in resources to produce and deliver information in languages other than English. It takes expertise to know how to do that effectively and efficiently. A second lesson learned is that not everyone can access and use information that is produced and delivered on a website. Even assuming you had a device and internet access, if you are blind you need the information on the website to be formatted so that your screen reader can read the information to you. That planning and doing does not happen automatically. This proposal buys justice, liberty and life for the people of Oregon, especially the people who have been most harmed by injustice and health inequities, experiencing the most of the worst than, including racism, disenfranchisement and marginalization.

This investment represents OHA's commitment to not only ensure compliance with statutory and regulatory requirements. It is a sound investment enabling the agency to develop internal capacity support a thriving workforce who are key to eliminating health inequities for the people of Oregon.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)

This policy package includes one full-time Operations & Policy Analyst 4 position to work with OHA leadership and employees to develop project management plans, assess policy impacts, and make recommendations for resources needed to fully implement the Organizational Healing and Resilience Policy (ORHP). This position will also conduct an environmental scan to create a compendium of culturally appropriate staff resources and conduct a gaps analysis to assess what supports are still needed. This effort will also make recommendations to support implementation, including staffing supports and training.

Meaningfully impacting these workforce inequities requires fiscal investment. Specific benefits of these resources include:

- Increased morale, a sense of belonging, general wellness and an overall quality of workplace interactions for OHA staff.
- Decreased staff turnover
- Increased staff retention which can especially contribute to fostering a more diverse workforce
- Allows employees the level of autonomy needed to improve equity in meaningful and appropriate ways that ensures anti-racist priorities are not compromised.
- Continues to grow the necessary capacity of OHA to address equity issues in culturally specific and effective ways.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Civil Rights and Inclusion

See answer to #2. The proposal seeks to resource the part of OHA that is mainly responsible for leading, training and modeling how to practice health equity and anti-racist principles in concert with OHA's mission and strategic plan. It recognizes the growing need to support with resources and programming to inculcate equity and anti-racism sustainably and consistently as it relates to OHA's workforce and the employment experience to enable the same sustained and consistent service provision and policy development for OHA's service recipients and the people who live and work in Oregon.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)

The package recognizes the growing need to support OHA staff with resources and programming to inculcate equity and anti-racism sustainably and consistently within the employment experience to enable the same sustained and consistent service provision and policy development for OHA's service recipients and the people who live and work in Oregon. A thriving OHA workforce translates into optimum service to all Oregonians.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
Long-term outcomes include greater workforce satisfaction, productivity and engagement, which makes for better outcomes in the communities that OHA serves, as well as timely compliance with state and federal guidelines Ultimately there is also a cost reduction related to less turnover, fewer conflicts, fewer investigations and fewer lawsuits.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
While communities of color experience avoidable inequities due to structural racism (Agénor, et. al, 2017), there remains great strength, resilience, and wisdom which should inform efforts to ultimately address health equity issues. Many over the years have discussed the power of culture in healing the traumas resulting from racism, discrimination and inequities, and the need for community wisdom to develop creative, long-term solutions to health barriers at the policy, system, and environment change (PSE) level.

Employees have the expertise based in lived experience to identify most critical equity issues, while crafting PSE solutions. This means that employees most harmed by inequities are leading identification of the “right issues” (those most urgent or impactful issues in their workplace) and develop more effective solutions with less unintended consequences.

Meaningfully impacting these workforce inequities requires fiscal investment. Specific benefits of these resources include:

- Increased morale, a sense of belonging, general wellness and an overall quality of workplace interactions for OHA staff.
- Decreased staff turnover
- Increased staff retention which can especially contribute to fostering a more diverse workforce
- Allows employees the level of autonomy needed to improve equity in meaningful and appropriate ways that ensures anti-racist priorities are not compromised.
- Continues to grow the necessary capacity of OHA to address equity issues in culturally specific and effective ways.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

Civil Rights and Inclusion

Impacts would be measured through employee engagement and cultural climate assessments as well as the quantification and decrease of investigations, turn-over (data disaggregated by race, ethnicity, language, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity and gender expression) and lawsuits.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)

The OPA4 will be responsible for developing plans to measure the impact of this investment and will project potential future impacts related to additional investments of resources.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
The unit has worked diligently to ensure civil rights, and universal accessibility for the OHA workforce and for the public; however, personnel are crushed by the workload. For example, each of the three investigators on staff currently have a case count of fifteen at any given time, which is well beyond industry standards. There are no further actions short of additional team members that will alleviate this issue.

The addition of dedicated staff well-experienced in particular fields of practice (language access, digital access, ADA access) and public civil rights will mean more timely and responsive support for OHA employees and the public whom OHA serves.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
The co-leaders of this effort reached out to Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) to have conversations about the possibility of developing a joint policy. ODHS has their own trauma informed workplace policy which was established in 2019, and the possibility of aligning policies and sharing resources was thoughtfully discussed and considered over several months. In January 2022, both groups decided that having aligned, separate policies made the most sense due to the unique nature of the agencies' work.

Workgroup members participated in anti-racism training with Engage to Change facilitators, Rakeem Washington and Kasia Rutledge, to establish an anti-racist foundation from which to do this work. Additionally, the workgroup received training from Anti-Racist Trauma Informed Care (AR-TIC) to help prepare and support members in this important work. These trainings were critical to understand how, through the centering of anti-racism, that true, sustainable resilience and healing can be achieved. Partners from ODHS also joined the OHA workgroup in participating in these trainings while continuing to discuss the possibility of a joint policy.

The OHA version of a draft policy has been established and was reviewed by the Equity Advancement Leadership Team (EALT), Employee Resource Groups (ERGs), executive sponsors, and the ORHP Workgroup to finalize this policy. The draft policy has been through several iterations, and feedback from engaged parties was integrated, including a plain language review. This policy was approved in November of 2022.

Currently the ORHP workgroup is developing the strategic implementation plan. This includes continuing to engage the ERGs to collect input about how to put this policy into practice in the most meaningful way possible.

Additionally, the ORHP co-leads have presented to OHA executive leadership team to provide background on the policy and work to date, as well as to request resources that will be required for implementation and to assist with addressing immediate needs of employees most harmed by racism and discrimination. This includes dedicated staff for implementation rollout; training, facilitation, and technical assistance; and establishing a bias incident response team who can support staff who have experienced harm related to bias.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Civil Rights and Inclusion

The unit has worked diligently to ensure civil rights and universal accessibility for the OHA workforce and for the public; however, personnel are crushed by the workload. For example, each of the current investigators have a case count of fifteen at any given time, which is well beyond industry standards. Additionally, currently one position is responsible for the agency's public civil rights, public ADA matters, and language access programs. There are no further actions short of additional team members that will alleviate this issue.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
OHA explored whether this work could be accomplished with existing staff. There is consensus that the complexity and workload associated with implementing the ORHP policy requires dedicated staff for meaningful impact. Therefore, OHA proposes creating bias incident response teams to help employees navigate services and resources, plus staff to examine existing resources and identify gaps and potential future partners. This policy package funds one new position for this work.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
Human Resources, Office of Information Services, Budget and Finance, Community Partners Outreach Program

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
Currently there is a cross-agency workgroup related to this body of work whose members developed the policy and are in the process of creating a strategic implementation plan that would be used as a starting place for the OPA4 included in this policy package.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

No.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
None.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
The impact is specific to OHA, and therefore will not affect other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No, with the exception of the following:

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
Yes, this request is related to the implementation of recommendations from a 2020 Oregon Secretary of State audit (see recommendation #19).

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
Assumption that the OHA and state of Oregon seriously want to eliminate health inequities by 2030.
Assumption that OHA will be able to timely recruit and hire for proposed positions at the appropriate classification in order to have qualified people on staff to do the work.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
The assumption that health equity and OHA's 2030 strategic goal to eliminate health inequities are indeed priorities for the agency and the state.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No except for the following:

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
Yes, OHA will need a dedicated staff to lead the effort of laying the groundwork for implementation of the ORHP policy.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Civil Rights and Inclusion
The unit would have the capacity to provide timely service and resolution to requests for accessibility from the public, timely resolution of civil rights complaints.

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)
No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This package abolishes 6 permanent full-time positions (-6.00 FTE) in 3 divisions:

- Health Systems Division: Research Analyst 3
- Health Policy & Analytics: Business Operations Supervisor 2
- Public Health Division: Administrative Specialist 1, Operations & Policy Analyst 2, Fiscal Analyst 2, and Environmental Engineer 3

In order to establish 6 new permanent full-time positions (5.01 FTE) in the Equity & Inclusion Division:

Civil Rights and Inclusion

- Two Diversity Equity and Inclusion Manager 2 positions
  - One Civil Rights Manager for 21 months
  - One Universal Accessibility and Training for 21 months
- Three Operations & Policy Analyst 3 positions
  - One Civil Rights Investigator for 24 months
  - One Global Disability Administrator for 18 months
  - One Digital Accessibility Administrator for 18 months

Organizational Resilience and Healing (ORHP)

- One Operations & Policy Analyst 4 (OPA 4) for Organizational Resilience and Healing Strategist at 18 months.

  This OPA4 position is needed to work with OHA leadership and employees to develop project management plans, assess policy impacts, and make recommendations for resources needed to fully implement the ORHP policy. This position will also conduct an environmental scan to create a compendium of culturally appropriate staff resources and conduct a gaps analysis to assess what supports are still needed.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Not applicable.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The total for all ongoing costs for this policy package are $433,380 in 2023-25.

$61,359 for Personal Services

- Net effect of abolished and established positions

$372,021 for Services & Supplies (S&S)

- S&S related to positions
- Training for the Civil Rights team
- Case management system for Civil Rights cases
- Consultant to build training and understand technical components for Accessibility
- Contractor for Organizational Resilience and Healing Policy trainings for managers

18. What are the potential savings?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
When working proactively on compliance matters liability is mitigated, therefore, there are potential savings as the work prevents lawsuits and rework when accessibility and compliance are well resourced. Training and workforce equity programs also mitigate lawsuits and rework as the workforce is well informed and supported on policy compliance and accountability.

Organizational Resilience and Healing
This funding is a nominal investment for substantial returns in terms of cost savings to impacted systems by way of improving inequities. Specifically, turnover would decrease and save resources related to outreach, recruitment, hiring, interviewing, training, and disruption of institutional knowledge. Without dedicated staff to support implementation, there would not be opportunities to meaningfully address racism and discrimination that employees face, and therefore these issues would not be as comprehensively addressed.

When employees are able to name the issues most impacting their health and wellness, and develop solutions to those challenges, it means there is less waste in addressing the wrong issues and pursuing ineffective efforts. These focused and intentional solutions not only save time and resources but move the state closer to health equity for both OHA employees and the people they serve.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Civil Rights and Inclusion
This work is utilizes a cost allocation pool to distribute costs to revenue sources based on number of cases by division. The estimated fund splits range between 80 percent General Fund to 100 percent General Fund, 0 to 11 percent Other Funds, and 0 to 11.5 percent Federal Funds.

Organizational Resilience and Healing

This work is on behalf of the entire agency and would use the agency-wide cost allocation pool to distribute costs to revenue sources. The estimated fund splits are 80 percent General Fund, 7 percent Other Funds, and 13 percent Federal Funds.

Summary statement:

As an important step towards achieving agency goals, the Oregon State Hospital (OSH) recognizes, supports, and promotes initiatives that contribute to the advancement of equity and inclusion by active collaboration with the Equity and Inclusion Division in creating policies, processes, procedures, and developing or implementing strategies that advance the agency mission, vision, values, and transformation goals. Transformational change and progress cannot be achieved with one FTE to support the largest workforce within the Oregon Health Authority (OHA), and the people cared for at OSH. Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

The Oregon State Hospital (OSH) is the largest workforce division of the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) and provides services to some of the most vulnerable Oregonians, who have both historically and currently, been harmed by inequities in systems of care. OSH experiences chronic systemic capacity limitations that have prevented it from carrying out strategies to address inequities in the system for both the people served and the service providers. Health equity work has been historically undervalued and deprioritized, and resources required for transformational change at OSH are lacking. Resources are required to facilitate diversity and equity programs and initiatives, foster the implementation of culturally appropriate policies and practices consistent with state and federal requirements, coordinate implementation of laws and regulations such as Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, and promote an increased understanding of the relevance of cultural responsiveness, culturally appropriate care, and diversity to building an organization that effectively meets the needs of its diverse patient population and workforce. There is currently one position to support this work for nearly 3,000 OSH employees and up to 675 clients between the two hospital campuses, and Pendleton Cottages.

In the current state of resource deficiency, OSH will not be able to meet OHA's mission of eliminating health inequities in Oregon, meet the Governor's State of Oregon DEI Action Plan, or provide care that aligns with the National Standards for Culturally and Linguistically Appropriate Services (National CLAS Standards) as outlined by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). Current investments are focused on responding to emergency situations and restabilizing the division to a pre-pandemic operational state. Simply operating at the historic institutional level is not sufficient for the provision of patient and staff services that address the diversity of the community, are equitable and inclusive to all community members, and meet a qualitative standard of excellence for addressing health inequity.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package invests in resources dedicated to building an infrastructure that supports culture change necessary for meeting the goals of eliminating health inequities and the provision of national CLAS standards of care. Recognizing, reconciling, and rectifying historical and contemporary injustices for patients and staff require funding for resources including but not limited to:

- Dedicated professionals trained at the intersection of equity and mental health
- Patient-specific cultural, linguistic, and identify-affirming needs and supports
- Clinical training related to the identification and facilitation of culturally and linguistically responsive treatment services
- Professionals who can work with frontline staff, patients, and managers to create inclusive and welcoming units

Additional dedicated OSH staffing resources are needed for the full implementation, tracking, and integration of Race, Ethnicity, Language, Disability (REALD) and Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity (SOGI) standards of data collection to drive decision-making processes at all levels of operations. This would include policy and practice implementation, provision of culturally and linguistically responsive and trauma-informed services, service quality improvement initiatives, and staff training for working with diverse populations. These resources are requested in the OSH policy package as OSH is moving towards utilizing REALD data to align treatment services with treatment needs specific to patients at OSH.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Lack of sufficient resources dedicated to equity and inclusion work is a long-standing detriment to progress and impedes the ability to: provide patient care that is culturally-and linguistically appropriate, patient-centered, and trauma-informed; implement systems of equitable hiring, retention, professional development, and supports for the workforce; provide training about culturally and linguistically appropriate care to service providers; and implement initiatives that are responsive to the needs of diverse communities. OSH does not have funding allocated to provide patients with cultural supports such as globally recognized gender-affirming care and treatment for LGBTQIA2S+ patients, treatment and leisure materials for Limited English Proficiency patients, treatment programming and supports for patients of color, and resources necessary to help patients from diverse backgrounds connect with community for successful recovery and reintegration. Patient-specific supports create better therapeutic alliances with providers, decreases time spent in higher levels of care, increases adherence to treatment after reintegration into the community, and increases staff and patient satisfaction with services. These fundamental principles of equity and inclusion are essential for creating a therapeutic community where all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by socially determined circumstances, do not experience discrimination or harassment, and can be assured that they will be welcomed with respect and dignity in a professional and inclusive atmosphere.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The integration of diversity, equity, inclusion, and anti-racism work has been researched and demonstrates that organizations that have a foundation of equity and inclusion see financial gains through staff retention and decreased litigation and investigations related to discrimination, harassment, and civil rights violations, as well as higher rates of patient and staff satisfaction. This policy package would provide resources to create a framework and internal infrastructure for equity and inclusion work in alignment with the Equity and Inclusion Division, OHA's transformation strategies, and needs identified by community partners who are invested in a shared goal of excellence and equity in patient and staff well-being.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

There are qualitative and quantitative metrics that would be collected and analyzed, primarily with regards to patient treatment services. The REALD & SOGI system of demographic collection can be utilized to analyze statistics surrounding target population groups and specific about patient stays:

- Patient treatment satisfaction survey
- Treatment outcomes for target populations:
  - Increase in treatment adherence (measured in completion of treatment care plan goals, attendance in treatment activities, etc), and
  - Increase in engagement with treatment services (measured in participation in treatment activities, groups, individual therapy, etc),
  - Increase adherence to treatment services after community reintegration (measured by recidivism rates to OSH as well as community tracking of engagement with community resources such as appointments)

- Number of allegations, reports, and/or complaints regarding harassment, discrimination, civil rights violations, abuse, or other workplace issues to monitoring agencies: Equity and Inclusion Division, Human Resources, Basic Rights Oregon, Disability Rights Oregon, Department of Justice, Office of Training and Investigation Services, Equal Employment Opportunity Commission

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

In 2018, Oregon State Hospital created the OSH Diversity Liaison position in collaboration with the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division. This single position is the only dedicated resource to facilitate diversity and equity programs and initiatives, foster the implementation of culturally appropriate policies and practices consistent with state and federal requirements, coordinate implementation of laws and regulations such as Section 1557 of the Affordable Care Act and the Americans with Disabilities Act, and promote an increased understanding of the relevance of cultural responsiveness, culturally appropriate care, and diversity to building an organization that effectively meets the needs of the diverse patient population and workforce. This single resource is insufficient to create cultural change that is integrated and sustainable.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

The OSH Diversity Liaison has exhausted existing internal resources, which are dedicated to the provision of patient care on a day-to-day basis. All current resources are allocated to keeping the hospital operational at a level necessary to provide treatment services and care. Those staffing and funding resources are not able to be shared across programs.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   The OHA Equity and Inclusion Division is the primary collaborator with Oregon State Hospital. There are partners in the work, such as the Oregon State Hospital Advisory Board, Joint Commission, Basic Rights Oregon, Disability Rights Oregon, Department of Justice and others that will be made aware of the work and have interest in its success.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

    Agencies that provide services to patients before and after they discharge from OSH would be provided more complete information about the appropriate services necessary to assist each individual patient in a successful reentry to the community.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): January 1, 2024

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Assumes that position descriptions can be reviewed and established through the OHA Human Resources process timely.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

All patients who are admitted to OSH will have access to these culturally and linguistically appropriate and specific treatment services. This includes globally recognized gender-affirming care and treatment for LGBTQIA2S+ patients, treatment and leisure materials for Limited English Proficiency patients, treatment programming and supports for patients of color, and resources necessary to help patients from diverse backgrounds connect with community for successful recovery and reintegration. Patient-specific supports create better therapeutic alliances with providers, decreases time spent in higher levels of care, and increases adherence to treatment after reintegration into the community.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This policy package is specific to new positions, as existing positions do not exist in the current staffing model for the hospital. These positions all impact treatment services for any person admitted to OSH under any type of commitment.

Total of 10 new permanent, full-time positions (7.50 FTE) priced at 18 months.

Ten positions in Salem:

- One Diversity Equity & Inclusion Manager 2
- One Research Analyst 3
- One Administrative Specialist 2
- One Operations & Policy Analyst 3
- Six Training & Development Specialist 2

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

$49,500 for initial program planning and $19,800 for initial system furniture, totaling $69,300.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Standard position costs in 2023-25: $1.6 million in personal services and $180,332 in standard Services and Supplies (S&S).

Other S&S is $38,600, which includes:

- Second devices for 4 specific positions
- System furniture
- Culturally specific patient supports

18. What are the potential savings?

OSH does not anticipate any direct savings to its operating budget.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is 100 percent General Fund.

Oregon Health Authority
2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Equity and Inclusion Division
Program:	REALD & SOGI
Policy package title:	REALD & SOGI Implementation: Getting to Data Equity
Policy package number:	403
Related legislation:	House Bill 2134 (Standards for Collection of Demographic Data, 2013), House Bill 4212 (Strategies to Protect Oregonians from the Effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic, 2020), and House Bill 3159 (Data Justice Act, 2021)

Summary statement:

This policy package includes resources to address requirements of House Bill 4212 and House Bill 3159 to better collect Race, Ethnicity, Language, Disability (REALD) and Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity (SOGI) data from providers and insurers. REALD & SOGI data is OHA's best tool to assess how racism, disablism, lack of language access, sexism and heteronormative dominance impact individual and community health. It is also OHA's best tool to close the significant gaps in health inequities experienced by populations that remain invisible. The data also helps OHA evaluate effectiveness of patient and person-centered care. The current lack of quality REALD & SOGI data contributes to more expensive and less effective services, particularly for members of Tribal communities, people of color, those with disabilities, and members of the LGBTQIA2S+ community. Solutions must be culturally appropriate and protect citizens' data privacy and security while providing flexibility. OHA can achieve the call to action by communities most impacted by health inequities and by legislation with sufficient resources, staffing, professional supports, and tools.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does ODHS/OHA propose this policy package and what issue is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   The READLD & SOGI data standards[1] are intended to help OHA achieve its 2030 goal of eliminating inequities with better data to identify and address inequities. Without good quality and complete READLD & SOGI data, OHA remains limited in its ability to assess how racism, disablism, transphobia, homophobia, heterosexism, and lack of language access impact individual and community health. This in turn makes services more expensive and less effective and keeps populations most impacted by inequities invisible. READLD & SOGI is a manifestation of data justice as READLD data standards came from Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon, Oregon Health Equity Alliance and other communities most impacted by health inequities and were codified by House Bill 2134 in 2013. Data justice supports communities by using data to elevate their voice and reveal the systemic inequities they experience.

   The barrier addressed by the development of a centralized READLD & SOGI Registry receiving data from providers and insurers, mandated by House Bill 3159 (Data Justice Act passed in 2021 by the Oregon legislature), is poor data infrastructure and lack of investment for collecting READLD & SOGI resulting in poor data quality, which in turn perpetuates bias in what gets collected and how it is used or not used (for example, national standards for race/ethnicity, no disability data). Such lack of [1] See here for an at-a-glance view of the READLD data standards. Note that the draft SOGI data recommendations have not been codified into the OARs. The SOGI draft recommendations were, however, put into practice in data systems relating to COVID-19 early 2020. The ONE system (for the Oregon Health Plan) also included gender identity in 2021. OEI will convene a rulemaking advisory committee early 2013, following a series of meetings with providers and community members in fall 2022.

investment and poor resourcing often stems from not recognizing that REALD & SOGI are proxies for exposure to racism, disablism, and other forms of structural oppression.

This policy package represents an investment to gather more meaningful data collection, which is "critical for the livelihood of our diverse communities, particularly those who have been oppressed in nearly all facets of society" (1). These communities (Tribal communities, communities of color, immigrant and non-English speaking communities, disability communities, and LGBTQIA2S+[2] communities) are also most impacted by health inequities.

A barrier addressed by this policy package is the lack of understanding by provider staff about how best to collect demographic information (2). Further, the lack of buy-in from provider staff can undermine data collection, which are more likely to come from communities where there is minimal diversity. However, the lack of buy-in also can come from health care settings that are diverse who may feel that disparities in health outcomes are due to structural determinants, not to differences in health care (3).

Currently OHA receives varying levels of demographic data from health providers and insurers for 31 data systems, such as the Trauma Registry and the Cancer Registry. Of these, only five comply with REALD standards and only one consistently receives REALD data from providers—the Oregon Pandemic Emergency Response Application (OPERA), which contains COVID-19 case management data. Additionally, the REALD & SOGI data is not updated regularly. This problem is the impetus for House Bill 3159, expanding the scope of House Bill 4212 (for COVID-19) to all providers and insurers, so that we can receive REALD & SOGI data from providers and insurers for all 31 data systems. Currently, demographic data from providers received for the 31 systems is largely limited to race and ethnicity, in the form of the federal Office of Management and Budget (OMB) race/ethnicity categories. These OMB categories represent a “failure to reflect substantial diversity within various groupings, can mask critical between- and within group differences that policies and programs should address. Lack of adequately disaggregated data can contribute to the unmet needs of underrepresented populations by rendering them invisible when policies are made, resources are allocated, and programs are designed and implemented; it reflects systemic inequities and, when oppressed or excluded racial or ethnic groups are involved, systemic racism” (4).

Data are coming to OHA in ways that are inconsistent and fraught with data quality issues. The lack of dedicated resources for onboarding, data quality evaluation, auditing, and remediation of REALD & SOGI data has made it difficult to ensure high quality, standardized, clean data are available for evaluation and appropriate response. Consequently, obtaining REALD & SOGI data requires laborious effort and existing data cannot be effectively analyzed due to lack of timely and complete information. Preparing REALD & SOGI data for analytics and reporting has also been challenged by lack of automated processes. These challenges have also made it difficult to monitor data quality and REALD compliance and inhibit OHA’s ability to publish COVID-19 REALD data on our COVID-19 reporting dashboards or use this information to inform culturally specific interventions to eliminate inequities.

As Oregon’s REALD standards expand beyond the nationally recognized standards for electronic case reporting, and because of the high demand for rapid ingestion of large volumes of data from providers, laboratories, and health systems, OPERA, a case management system for positive cases of COVID-19 only, was unable to sufficiently import the REALD data available for positive cases. House Bill 4212 only requires providers to submit REALD data annually, so a previous case who tested negative with complete REALD data is not populated in OPERA later when they test positive unless the provider resubmits that data. This created a serious barrier that undermines OHA's credibility with communities and could have dire consequences. For example, when examining the impact of COVID-19 among Black/African American communities in March 2022 using REALD data, OHA could not find evidence of inequities (50 percent missingness in REALD race/ethnicity data skews the data in such a way that makes it hard to discern impact of COVID-19). Yet, we know that the pandemic disproportionately affected American Indian/Alaska Native, Asian, Black, Hispanic or Latina/o/x and Pacific Islanders from our analyses of OMB race/ethnicity from electronic lab reports (about 30 percent missingness). These communities were 3–5 times more likely to have been hospitalized with or died from COVID-19 before vaccinations were readily available. Understanding who is disproportionately affected is important for OHA's 2030 goal of eliminating health inequities by identifying targeted interventions, policies and meaningful community engagement. However, OMB race and ethnicity categories do not capture the diversity of demographic identities. We need to do better.

Consequently, due to these failures and challenges, we are also not in compliance with the following legislative mandates:

- House Bill 2134 (Standards for Collection of Demographic Data, 2013): requires REALD information to be captured in all systems and surveys maintained by OHA and the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) that request or store person-based demographic information.
- House Bill 4212 (Strategies to Protect Oregonians from the Effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic, 2020): requires providers ordering COVID-19 tests to collect and submit REALD data to OHA.
- House Bill 3159 (Data Justice Act, 2021): builds upon both House Bill 2134 and House Bill 4212 by adding SOGI data collection standards to the OARs associated with House Bill 2134, and mandating the creation of a registry for providers, insurers, coordinated care organizations (CCOs), and individuals to electronically submit, review, and update data.

These bills focus on communities that experience health inequities, and together support OHA's goal of creating the conditions for data equity so that communities can do data justice.

For the first time, with the passage of House Bill 3159, OHA has an opportunity to collect REALD & SOGI data from providers and insurers in a consistent manner, following the data collection standards established by rulemaking advisory committee processes. The resources included in this policy package provides OHA with sufficient capacity to support providers and insurers in their data collection efforts with technical assistance, training, and development of resources. Further, the providers and insurers will not have to submit demographic data to multiple OHA programs (for example, Trauma Registry, Cancer Registry); this will be automated with the Repository (back end). The Registry and Repository will allow us to use REALD & SOGI data to improve care/services and identify and address inequities.

The collection of demographic data that aligns with REALD & SOGI standards, along with investment in how that data is processed and prepared for analytics and reporting, will help OHA understand better who are most impacted by health inequities across 30+ surveillance data systems in OHA, such as the Cancer Registry and OPERA (COVID-19). Accurate, complete, and timely demographic data collection, with automated processes for cleaning and processing the data for analytics, are needed to identify populations most impacted by health inequities and understand what specific health services and supports they need. Through this we can better serve these communities.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

This policy package provides funds to continue multi-biennia efforts to meet legislation outlined in House Bill 2134 (Standards for Collection of Demographic Data, 2013), House Bill 4212 (Strategies to Protect Oregonians from the Effects of the COVID-19 Pandemic, 2020), and House Bill 3159 (Data Justice Act, 2021). Supporting data collection by external providers, insurers, and individuals, the Initial Registry, Initial Repository, and creating the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository represents an investment in data equity and facilitates data justice within communities most impacted by health inequities.

Staffing to support data collection efforts and the Repository

This policy package abolishes three limited duration positions and establishes them as permanent full-time positions. It also establishes nine new permanent full-time positions. The net impact of this policy package is seven new positions (7.50 FTE) for an estimated total of $2.0 million for positions-related costs. These positions are needed to:

- Maximize data quality of REALD & SOGI data by increasing buy-in and support from providers and helping providers collecting REALD & SOGI data from patients and members understand how to ask the questions in a culturally centered and appropriate manner.
- Respond to and fill data requests for data files from the Repository (both initial and enterprise scale states).
- Liaise with other OHA divisions to manage division-level requests and coordinate appropriate uses of the Repository data.

Initial Registry (building on the work done in 2022/23 in the 2023-25 biennium):

The piloting of the patient-facing survey tool for REALD & SOGI demographic data collection demonstrated it performed well, but it will need ongoing supports and enhancements. OHA will enhance and maintain the patient-facing survey tool for REALD & SOGI demographic data collection at an estimated cost of $1.4 million. Enhancements will expand existing functionality to enable individuals to receive e-mail confirmation and additional information after submitting the survey and provide options for those who are houseless or do not have a phone. Other enhancements include allowing providers to request to onboard, migrate the platform to state-supported Microsoft, verify address entered, incorporate skip logic to streamline user experience and data quality, offer multilingual integration, and add parameters to filter questions based on age. This tool is one of the mechanisms by which REALD & SOGI data can be submitted to OHA via the initial Registry on a mobile app with QR code functionality.

Initial Repository (building on the work done in 2022/23 in the 2023-25 biennium):
Due to the challenges in data quality, and lack of automated processing so that OHA can use REALD & SOGI data to identify and address inequities, the COVID-19 Response & Recovery Unit (CRRU) data team is working with a vendor to develop a datamart where high level data cleaning, transformation, and normalization of COVID-19 data occurs, including the REALD & SOGI data attached to a case. The CRRU data team is also working closely with the Equity and Inclusion Division to ensure REALD & SOGI programming is in alignment with enterprise-wide standards established by the division. This year OHA plans to replicate these processes with just REALD & SOGI data along with person level identifiers and dates, including data from Orpheus (Public Health Division's data environment for communicable diseases), ARIAS (Public Health Division's data environment for COVID-19 contact tracing), and the ONE system (Medicaid, SNAP, TANF and other ODHS programs). We will develop an additional layer of processing that will deduplicate the REALD & SOGI records (by person and time/event).

OHA aims to have the Initial Repository (COVID-19 + ONE REALD & SOGI) completed by June 2023. Also, OHA plans to implement the data transmission to CCOs and fee-for-service (FFS) contractors, like the vaccination reporting, by June 2023. This will be transitioned to cloud interactive data environment during the 2023-25 biennium.

Additionally, OHA must continue to support the processes put in place for House Bill 4212 until the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository goes live. And there is a need for staffing to handle the governance and data requests associated with the Repository. This policy package will cover:

- The ongoing maintenance and operation costs associated with automating the cleaning and preparing of REALD & SOGI data in the initial Repository
- Transitioning the flat file data transmission to CCOs and FFS contractors, such as Kepro and CareOregon, to a cloud interactive data environment

Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository
Following the passage of House Bill 3159 OHA determined the scope of work required to implement the bill and this policy package includes the $18.9 million needed to purchase software and hardware, undertake third-party consultation, convert data systems to the cloud-based Azure service, and pay for IT professional services for initial planning and development of the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository.

Planning for the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository will include the capacity to share validated REALD & SOGI data files with CCOs, ONE, and over 30 other major data systems in OHA and ODHS. To achieve this solution, OHA will need to acquire appropriate consultative and development resources.

Whereas the Initial Registry will collect REALD & SOGI data from providers during the 2023-25 biennium for COVID-19 encounters, the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository will be implemented during the 2025-27 biennium. Per House Bill 3159, the Repository must allow a patient, member, or client to submit data directly to the Registry and allow CCOs, health care providers and health insurers to electronically submit data collected and query the Registry to determine whether it contains current data for a patient, member or client. With these functionalities, OHA will have the capacity to share clean data files to CCOs and FFS contractors such as Kepro, CareOregon, the ONE data system, and over 30 other major data systems in OHA and ODHS relying on data from providers and insurers.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further ODHS/OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This policy package represents an investment to create the conditions for data justice. "Data justice recognizes that the types of data the government collects and relies on are insufficient for understanding community needs, experiences, and equally important, desires. These data do not represent communities in ways that the communities would represent themselves – and government data often entirely erases some communities due to "the problem" of small sample size (for example, Pacific Islanders) or using too broad, and ultimately meaningless, categories (for example, Asian)" (5). This investment will help OHA gather more meaningful data by using REALD & SOGI data elements as proxies for exposure to the interlocking systems of racism, linguistic discrimination, disablism, transphobia, homophobia, heterosexism to identify, and address health inequities. These communities (Tribal communities, communities of color, immigrant and non-English speaking communities, disability communities, and LGBTQIA2S+ communities) are also most impacted by health inequities. Currently, OHA's ability to identify and eliminate health inequities is compromised by inadequate REALD & SOGI data, that is fraught with missing data and discordance.

This policy package is intended to address these challenges and directly supports OHA's goal of eliminating inequities currently faced by members of racial and ethnic minority groups, individuals with disabilities, and members of the LGBTQIA2S+ communities who face disproportionate economic and health inequities.

- The investment in staffing to support providers with data collection, build relationships, and increase readiness and buy-in to collect REALD & SOGI data is essential. Focusing on data solutions alone will not suffice. Staff with expertise specific to SOGI and race/ethnicity is also essential for ensuring data collection is done appropriately and that data analysis and reporting are done in accordance with best practices and guidance from researchers from the same communities (existing staff is able to cover expertise for disability and language). Staffing is also needed to support the Repository processes. The Repository will be the source of REALD & SOGI data for 30+ systems across OHA and ODHS, and it is imperative that we carefully manage the governance and processes to ensure data integrity and security. We will also need to work with other divisions to manage division-level requests and coordinate appropriate uses of the REALD & SOGI data.
- With the investment in the Initial Registry, a patient facing survey tool (mobile app) with QR code functionality, OHA will be able to make it easier for providers to send REALD & SOGI data to OHA and easier for people to provide REALD & SOGI information for themselves in a manner that respects their privacy and is easily accessible (ADA and in multiple languages). The tool has been proven to result in good data quality if workflows are in place to ensure processes, whereby patients/members are asked to answer the REALD & SOGI questions using the mobile app.
- With the investment in the Initial Repository we will be able to make it easier to bring together different streams of REALD & SOGI data for automated processing and cleaning. Due to the complexities of the REALD & SOGI data, detailed data cleaning must occur on the raw data prior to analysis being possible. The automation of these cleaning processes contributes to the maximization of data completeness and data quality. For example, based on our work with the ONE Repository cleaning, we are able to reduce missingness of REALD race/ethnicity data for OHP members from 40 percent (DSSURS; no cleaning) to 19 percent (ONE; cleaned, average from 2017/18 thru Feb 2022). We anticipate similar or improved results when processing the COVID-19 REALD data. This will enable automation and consistency in the creation of analytic variables which will follow enterprise wide standards set by data governance best practices and community input with a focus on data decolonization. In turn, this will enable data analysts across OHA (OHP) and ODHS (APD, SNAP, TANF) to better understand the populations they serve, improve language access, and identify ways to address inequities by identifying targeted interventions, policies, and meaningful community engagement. The Initial Repository will allow OHA to achieve the following immediate goals:

  - Monitor providers' REALD & SOGI data quality and compliance by creating periodic demographic reports
  - Publish validated REALD & SOGI data on public facing OHA dashboards
  - Use REALD & SOGI data to identify and address inequities in COVID-19 impacts, and among OHP enrollees
  - Share clean REALD data with CCOs and FFS contractors who then can more easily use this data to identify and address inequities among their members, and ensure language access

- The investment in the Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry will expand the Initial Registry to include REALD & SOGI data from health providers and insurers for all members/patients. The ability to offer individuals a direct method to update their REALD & SOGI information and to allow providers to query and update their records as described in Section 2(1)(b) will dramatically improve transparency and equity by removing barriers which currently prevent patients, clients, and members from being able to accurately describe their demographics.

- The Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Repository will build upon the cleaning processes set up for the Initial Repository, while further enhancing data quality and completeness for nearly everyone living in Oregon. The staffing for governance and Repository requests will carry over from the Initial Repository. This will enable the sharing of clean data files to CCOs and FFS contractors such as Kepro, CareOregon, the ONE data system, and over 30 other major data systems in OHA and ODHS relying on data from providers and insurers.
- This policy package helps OHA achieve the triple aim of better health, better care and lower costs by collecting REALD & SOGI data and bringing that data into the 30+ surveillance systems that currently rely on data from health care providers and insurers. Thereby, this will aid in our ability to monitor data on the health of individuals living in Oregon and using that data to implement meaningful and effective community health strategies.
- This policy package also facilitates the State Health Improvement Plan as most of the 30+ data systems reside in Public Health. The state's health priorities with strategies to advance improvement and measure progress will be greatly enhanced through complete and usable REALD & SOGI data.
- Finally, having usable and complete REALD & SOGI data enables impacted population groups to use more complete REALD & SOGI data for data informed community health improvement and data justice.

Additionally, the success of other policy packages relying on REALD & SOGI data that are in the Legislatively Adopted Budget will not succeed without this investment. For example, policy packages that would directly rely on the REALD & SOGI data from Enterprise Scale Statewide REALD & SOGI Registry and Registry will be hindered if this policy package is not supported. These include:

- Policy package #201: 1115 Medicaid Waiver
- Policy package #202: Redeterminations & Basic Health Program
- Policy package #406: Public Health Modernization
- Policy package #435: PEBB OEBB Benefits Management System Replacement

In addition to the above, efforts in other policy packages would benefit from using quality REALD & SOGI data as proxies of exposure to discrimination and systems of oppression (risk factors) to ensure equity in services and care include the following:

- Policy package #402: Oregon State Hospital Specialized Treatment Services and Supports Program
- Policy package #415: Adult Intensive Services and Diversion

In summary, this package helps populations impacted by health inequities by ensuring REALD & SOGI data is appropriately captured, stored, and leveraged so that OHA may identify gaps in service continuity and improve patient or person-centered care and services.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

OHA believes REALD & SOGI data are its best measures or proxies of exposure to the interlocking systems of racism, linguistic discrimination, disablism, transphobia, homophobia, and heterosexism. Exposure to harmful systems of oppression have long been associated with poor health outcomes (6). Accurate and high quality REALD & SOGI information enables OHA to understand at a more granular level what communities are impacted and identify the right allocation of resources. Through this we will work to identify focused interventions, enhance policies, and facilitate meaningful community engagement to achieve OHA's 2030 goal of eliminating health inequities.

OHA anticipates making continued progress through 2021-23, establishing an Initial Registry, with a patient facing survey tool, and an Initial Repository, which collects data from the Initial Registry. OHA will be able to monitor House Bill 4212 compliance by providers and publish REALD & SOGI data on a public facing COVID-19 dashboard. CCO's and FFS contractors will be able to access member transmissions.

With this investment, OHA anticipates making the following progress in upcoming biennia:

2023-25 biennium

- OHA and ODHS analysts, with ongoing supports and maintenance of the REALD & SOGI Initial Repository (with COVID-19 and ONE data) will be able to use high quality, more complete, and timely REALD & SOGI data to identify health inequities, reallocate resources, and develop culturally appropriate and accessible interventions to eliminate health inequities by:
  - Storing the raw data in a data environment for future retrieval as needed
  - Processing and cleaning REALD & SOGI data consistently
  - Creating calculated analytic variables for use by analysts across OHA and ODHS
- The Initial Repository and Initial Registry will yield more complete REALD & SOGI demographic data within the ONE population and for COVID-19 reporting.
- CCOs and FFS contractors will be able to access and retrieve clean REALD and gender identity data ready for analytics and reporting via a flat file initially, and later from a cloud-based interactive data environment.

- Data owners of existing REALD compliant data systems, such as OPERA, ARIAS, and Orpheus, will be able to retrieve REALD & SOGI data for the people in their systems and immediately be able to report on what they know about inequities with respect to COVID-19 and communicable diseases, respectively.
- These efforts include the 30+ systems relying on data from providers and insurers.
- Providers, health insurers, and community members will be trained by four OHA Equity and Inclusion Division-led support specialists on REALD & SOGI data collection. This will enable increased REALD & SOGI reporting, high quality data, and the use of culturally appropriate practices to collect this demographic information.

2025-27 biennium:

- REALD & SOGI data will expand to statewide collection with a robust, scalable central REALD & SOGI data Registry and Repository. Providers, health insurers, CCOs, and individuals will be able to use the enterprise Registry and Repository to report, update, and query demographic information.
- REALD & SOGI data will support data justice. OHA, ODHS, CCOs, FFS contractors, and impacted communities could use the data to identify inequities, monitor trends, and inform interventions to address these inequities.

This investment will result in better clinical care with an improved knowledge based about inequities. For example, after New Jersey mandated disaggregated race/ethnicity in hospital discharge data, Chakkalakal and colleagues (7) found that acute myocardial infarction hospitalization rates increased for all Asian subgroups except Vietnamese, and suggested that “population health metrics for Asian-American subgroups may be prone to significant underestimation without widespread utilization of similar practices” in collecting disaggregated race/ethnicity data. Further, the more we understand the nature of inequities, the more we can explore and understand causal mechanisms relating to exposure to racism, for example. This is true, not only between groups (for example, between white persons and Black or African Americans), but also within groups (e.g., between African immigrants and African Americans, 8). This policy package represents an investment to build data equity into our data systems so that communities can do data justice. The long-term outcome is better health and improved quality of life for all through the reduction of emergency and charity care expenditures, chronic illnesses, and functional limitations due to chronic conditions, and mortality.

If this policy package is not funded, OHA's ability to identify and enable opportunities for better health in all communities will continue to be severely limited due to lack of complete, reliable, and timely REALD & SOGI data. Communities most impacted by health inequities, including those who championed House Bill 2134 and House Bill 3159, will continue to be compromised by OHA's lack of progress. This is an ethical issue and is about equity: "Lack of adequately disaggregated data can contribute to the unmet needs of underrepresented populations by rendering them invisible when policies are made, resources are allocated, and programs are designed and implemented; it reflects systemic inequities and, when oppressed or excluded racial or ethnic groups are involved, systemic racism" (4). Indeed, we run the risk of saying that COVID-19 does not impact certain groups more than others, when in fact we know there are impacts based on aggregated OMB race/ethnicity data for example. Legally, OHA will remain out of compliance with House Bill 2134 (2013) which applies to all programs and activities across OHA; most of the remaining systems in OHA in non-compliance with House Bill 2134 are systems relying on data from providers and insurers. Understanding who is disproportionately affected is important for OHA's 2030 goal of eliminating health inequities by identifying targeted interventions, enhancing policies, and facilitating meaningful community engagement.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities through this policy package?

Impacts on health inequities will be measured by success in the following areas:

- Whether REALD & SOGI data quality increases. This would indicate provider training and community acceptance successfully produced a Repository that is frequently updated and accurately represents community demographics in real time.
- Whether OHA, ODHS, CCOs and FFS contractors share and use the REALD & SOGI Repository to leverage real time data to identify health inequities, reallocate resources, and develop culturally appropriate and accessible interventions to eliminate health inequities. This would indicate that stakeholders trust the validity of REALD & SOGI data and understand the imperativeness of addressing vulnerabilities within specific populations.
- Whether communities most impacted by health inequities see meaningful progress toward eliminating health inequities. For example, the annual CCO metrics report now includes annual changes in performance by household language. Similarly, the Registry and Repository would allow monitoring across the range of providers and individuals contributing REALD & SOGI data.
- Communities most impacted by health inequities would receive and use more complete REALD & SOGI data to do data justice.

Investment in this package supports a myriad of OHA performance measures that have revealed persistent health disparities, including:

- KPM #1: Initiation of Alcohol and Other Drug Dependence Treatment
- KPM #2: Engagement of Alcohol and Other Drug Dependence Treatment
- KPM #3: Follow-up after Hospitalization for Mental Illness
- KPM #20: Access to Care
- KPM #21: Member Experience of Care

- KPM #22: Member Health Status
- CCO quality incentive measure: Meaningful Language Access to Culturally Responsive Health Care Services

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

House Bill 2134 was passed in 2013 with one funded position to put REALD into practice across the entire agency. This level of resourcing for an agency-wide systems change was insufficient to facilitate coordinated, systematic REALD implementation across the many OHA programs that collect, house, and analyze demographic data.

Between 2016 and 2019, progress was limited to focusing on the ONE system, understanding the data quality issues in the ONE system (OHP) and MMIS. In 2018, the REALD analyst in the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division published an Assessment of REALD Data Quality in the Oregon Health Plan ONE System Full Report. Based upon a deeper understanding of the inherent limitations in the MMIS system, the REALD analyst developed extensive programming to clean and process the ONE data. The result of this work is considerable. We are now able to reduce missingness of REALD race/ethnicity data by more than half for OHP members from 40 percent (DSSURS) to 19 percent (ONE), based on averages from approximately 2017 through February 2022. Due to these improvements, the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division has collaborated with the Health Policy and Analytics division (HPA) to develop a static flat file that can be used by HPA analysts for reporting metrics by REALD categories, including an updated CCO metrics dashboard that breaks out CCO performance by REALD categories. OHA published this dashboard with REALD disaggregated metrics at a statewide level for the first time in fall 2022.[3] The agency continues to work collaboratively across divisions to achieve the full benefit of REALD data and help meet the strategic goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030. This work was also the impetus for the Initial Repository concept.

In 2017, the REALD analyst convened a group of internal and external stakeholders to develop an OHA policy requiring applicable programs to detail how they will comply with House Bill 2134. The internal policy, along with the inclusion of REALD in OHA's tier one performance measures, helped to improve compliance from about 10 percent in 2018 to 39 percent in June 2022 (28 of 72 major datasets applicable to House Bill 2134). Another 10 data systems are undergoing changes to become compliant over the next few years. In most cases, these data sets or surveys represent cases in which OHA or ODHS staff can control directly how REALD data is collected and can require that the REALD questions are asked according to the standards. However, systems that do rely on data from external sources, such as health providers and insurers, remain largely out of compliance with House Bill 2134.

Due to the pandemic and the lack of REALD data to discern impact of COVID-19, the Legislature passed House Bill 4212 (2020), which required providers to submit REALD for COVID-19 encounters. With additional resources provided by House Bill 3159 in 2021, the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division has been able to better to guide and support the implementation of REALD across the agency and with providers.

Based on lessons learned since 2016, and particularly during the pandemic, the REALD & SOGI unit clarified their role as the lead for REALD & SOGI in OHA and with ODHS OEMS. This includes developing the business rules for the data dictionary, data cleaning, analyses, and reporting. The unit also monitors data quality and compliance for the ONE system and plans to do this for COVID-19 data once the Repository is built. (The Initial Repository went 'live' at the end of December 2022 and is being used to fulfil mission-critical projects, but there is a need for continuing refinements which will likely extend for the next 6 months.). These actions require a close partnership with data owners/stewards across the agency with the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division acting as the friendly "housing inspectors." The division is taking on this role to de-silo efforts relating to REALD & SOGI and to create and foster the conditions for communities most impacted by health equities to do data justice, so that OHA can eliminate health inequities by 2030.

Additional efforts are currently underway to leverage components of the existing OPERA COVID-19 system and establish a more robust Initial Registry, consisting of reporting from COVID-19 encounters, and an Initial Repository. See below for a description of these efforts.

Within the Initial Registry:

- PHD ACDP established components of the Initial Registry for COVID-19 REALD & SOGI data collection.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division and the CRRU collaborated on development of a patient facing survey tool which is an essential component of the Initial Registry.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, ACDP, and HPA collaborated on provision of a series of webinars to providers to communicate requirements, why we have REALD, how to ask the questions, and to facilitate the development of systems by providers to achieve compliance.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Divisionand the CRRU developed REALD & SOGI training for case investigators.

- OHA Equity and Inclusion Divisionand the CRRU are collaborating on a SOGI learning collaborative and a SOGI community of practice.

Within the Initial Repository:

- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, ACDP, and the CRRU are collaborating on development of the Initial Repository. This involves reconfiguring how COVID-19 data is processed to include REALD & SOGI data for negative cases as well as positive. These can then be linked to later positive cases with missing REALD & SOGI information.
- The Initial Repository will consist of data directly from the Initial Registry as well as legacy REALD & SOGI data from a subset of existing agency systems. The Initial Repository went 'live' at the end of December 2022, and is being used to fulfil mission-critical projects, but there is a need for continuing refinements which will likely extend for the next 6 months.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, ACDP, and the CRRU are collaborating on development of SQL coding with Deloitte that will automate cleaning of the REALD & SOGI data from OPERA and will be expanded to include data directly from the Registry, from Orpheus, ARIAS, and ONE.
- The Health Systems Division (HSD) will build a file transfer mechanism by June 2023 to provide clean REALD & SOGI data to CCOs and fee-for-service contractors that they can use to identify and address inequities.

With completion of the Initial Registry and Initial Repository:

- OHA will be able to use REALD & SOGI COVID-19 data to identify and address inequities
- OHA will increase compliance with House Bill 2134
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division will be able to monitor providers' REALD data quality and compliance with House Bill 4212

- COVID-19 REALD & SOGI data will be published on OHA public facing COVID-19 dashboards.
- Valid REALD & SOGI data will be published on OHA dashboards relating to OHP members
- OHA will be able to use REALD & SOGI data to identify and address inequities in COVID-19 impacts and among OHP enrollees.

Activities with respect to House Bill 3159 and this policy package include the following:

- In early 2021, OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, HPA, HSD, and the Office of Information Services (OIS) initiated significant intra-agency planning to forecast a multi-biennium approach to REALD & SOGI implementation under House Bill 3159 and House Bill 2134.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division developed a REALD & SOGI website page to keep people informed about House Bill 3159 timelines along with options for folks to sign up for email notices as well.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division and HPA collaborated on webinars to keep people informed about House Bill 3159 and upcoming plans.
- In January 2022, leadership from the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, HPA, HSD, and OIS attended a half-day retreat to achieve consensus on the importance and significance of REALD & SOGI data collection, identify ongoing agency efforts aligned with House Bill 3159, and understand divisional roles in House Bill 3159 implementation.

This policy package is the next step in funding, and has been anticipated and established as a future need from prior work based on House Bill 3159.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

- Expand the existing systems developed for the collection of REALD & SOGI data associated with COVID-19 encounters to apply to all providers and insurers for all patients. However, this is not feasible as these systems do not allow for reporting and updating REALD & SOGI data, as mandated under House Bill 3159. Further, these systems lack the functionalities needed to ensure fidelity in how the data is submitted to OHA. Therefore, this alternative was rejected.
- Continue using demographic information currently available within individual datasets. This option was rejected because it does not fulfill the House Bill 3159 mandate requiring providers and insurers to send REALD & SOGI data to OHA on at least an annual basis via the Registry. Nor does it allow for individuals to directly update their REALD & SOGI data.
- Obtain demographic data via linkages of existing state datasets. Within specific populations, such as individuals insured by the Oregon Health Plan, this method somewhat improves the availability of REALD-compliant data and gender identity, but not sexual orientation. This option is rejected because this information is generally only collected at the time of enrollment, and thus is not updated regularly. Further, it does not fulfill the House Bill 3159 mandate requiring providers and insurers to send REALD & SOGI data to OHA on an annual basis via the Registry and does not allow for data corrections or updates.
- Do nothing. If OHA does not collect REALD & SOGI data, it will continue to fail to fulfill the missions of House Bill 2134 and House Bill 3159. Indeed, Oregon has faltered for many years to address the health inequities encountered by Tribal communities, communities of color, immigrant and refugee communities, disability communities and LGBTQIA2S+ communities. We cannot postpone this work if we want to address OHA’s goal of eliminating inequities by 2030.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

READALD & SOGI is a manifestation of data justice as both bills (House Bill 2134 in 2013 and House Bill 3159 in 2021) came from Asian Pacific American Network of Oregon, Oregon Health Equity Alliance in 2013, Coalition of Communities of Color, Immigrant and Refugee Cascade Aids Project, Basic Rights Oregon, Oregon Health Equity Alliance, Racial Justice Council Health Equity Committee, Utopia PDX, Ecumenical Ministries of Oregon Virginia Garcia Memorial Health Center, and many other organizations serving or representing communities most impacted by health inequities.

This package is a collaborative effort between the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, Health Systems Division, Health Policy & Analytics, and the Office of Information Services. OHA's Equity and Inclusion Division is charged with leading REALD & SOGI implementation for OHA and works closely with ODHS Office of Equity and Multicultural Services who is charged with leading REALD & SOGI implementation for ODHS. The Office of Information Services works in partnership with agency staff and vendors on the technical implementation relating to House Bill 3159 systems. Health Systems Division provides internal agency support regarding REALD & SOGI implementation as it relates to ONE, MMIS, and other health services data systems. Health Policy & Analytics supports the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division's work with REALD & SOGI implementation with external health care providers and insurers. Health Policy & Analytics will also be supporting the Initial Repository and enterprise scale Repository. The Office of Information Services works in partnership with agency staff and vendors on the technical implementation.

Other partners who will be invited to collaborate in this work as we move forward includes: CCOs, FFS providers, insurers, OEBB/PEBB, Oregon Association of Hospitals and Health Systems, Oregon Primary Care Association, and many others.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?
No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

Because the reporting requirements are placed on providers, CCOs, and payers it is reasonable to expect that provider groupings, which are not directly named within the bill itself, will be impacted through efforts to introduce efficiencies in reporting. This includes providers licensed by the boards described within the bill working in county health clinic, Tribal health clinics, or local public health authorities.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- It is unknown whether enhanced funding might be available from the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) for the components of this work related to Medicaid programs. This policy package has been priced with the assumption that this work is to the benefit of the entire agency and therefore utilizes the agency-wide cost allocation pool anticipated fund splits.

- The Public Health Emergency will end in December of 2023.
- Work for the patient facing survey tool is included in this policy package.
- Planned work in 2021-23 relating to the Initial Registry and Initial Repository will be completed on time.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for ODHS/OHA? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Over the course of implementing House Bill 3159, ODHS and OHA will take on new responsibilities including planning for and establishing governance of the REALD & SOGI Repository, Registry, and interfaces. These planning efforts will taper off as components of the project exit the planning phase and enter implementation, which will occur over multiple phases.

During the 2023-25 biennium:
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division and HPA will have new responsibilities related to implementing the initial REALD & SOGI Registry and Repository within the ONE population and for COVID-19 reporting.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division will have new responsibilities regarding refining the REALD & SOGI patient-facing survey tool developed for COVID-19 reporting under House Bill 4212.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division will oversee the provider specialist team that trains providers, health insurers, CCOs, FFS contractors, and community members on REALD & SOGI data collection.
- OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, HPA, HSD, and OIS will collaborate to secure a vendor to implement the statewide Registry and Repository.

During the 2025-27 maintenance and operations phase, OHA and/or OIS in Shared Services will be responsible for supporting onboarding of payers and providers to use interfaces developed for submission of and access to REALD & SOGI data. The nature of this work is indeterminate and will be based on the final design of any User Interfaces or Application Programming Interfaces (API) implemented. This could include activities such as account provisioning and management, password support, API key support and management, or ongoing monitoring to ensure the security of the proposed solution.

In OHA, several positions have been granted to support onboarding efforts including direct collaboration with CCO and Medicaid partners. This policy package includes funding for positions within the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division and HPA to support these new responsibilities and to submit and process an RFP for the enterprise Registry and Repository.

There is no additional impact on OIS.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

A total of ten positions are included in this policy package. Seven of those positions will be new permanent, full-time positions and three positions will be modified from limited duration to permanent, full-time positions.

OHA Equity and Inclusion Division positions

- One limited duration Operations and Policy Analyst 4 (OPA4) position in HPA will be modified to a permanent, full-time position in the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division. This position will lead interim REALD Repository data governance efforts and data requests.
- One new permanent, full-time OPA4. This position will serve as a Race and Ethnicity Specialist. The position will work with provider specialists, stakeholders, and data teams to increase readiness and capability in asking and responding to race and ethnicity questions. Furthermore, the position will develop partnerships with stakeholders from communities most impacted by health inequities to inform how OHA validates, analyzes, and reports REALD race and ethnicity data from the initial REALD Registry, data environment, and Repository, and future enterprise House Bill 3159 Repository.
- One new permanent, full-time OPA4. This position will provide guidance and expertise regarding current federal and local standards, best practices, resources, and research on SOGI. The position will facilitate capacity building in community and provider settings. A significant proportion of this position's responsibilities will be dedicated to creating partnerships with stakeholders from LGBTQIA2S+ communities to refine SOGI content and data equity policies.
- One limited duration OPA4 position in HPA will be modified to a permanent full-time OPA3 in OHA Equity and Inclusion Division. This position will support the Repository team and partner with OHA and ODHS colleagues, community partners, and the REALD & SOGI governance committee to inform and support changes to REALD & SOGI standards and analysis protocols.
- Three new permanent, full-time Program Analyst 3 positions. The three new provider specialist positions, working across three regions of the state, will maximize quality REALD & SOGI data collection from providers by assessing and increasing provider readiness, engaging and building relationships with provider leadership and related stakeholders, and communicating provider challenges and successes across interagency REALD & SOGI teams.

- One new permanent, full-time Information Systems Specialist 6 position. This position will oversee the intake, matching, and data storage of the initial and enterprise REALD Registry and Repository.

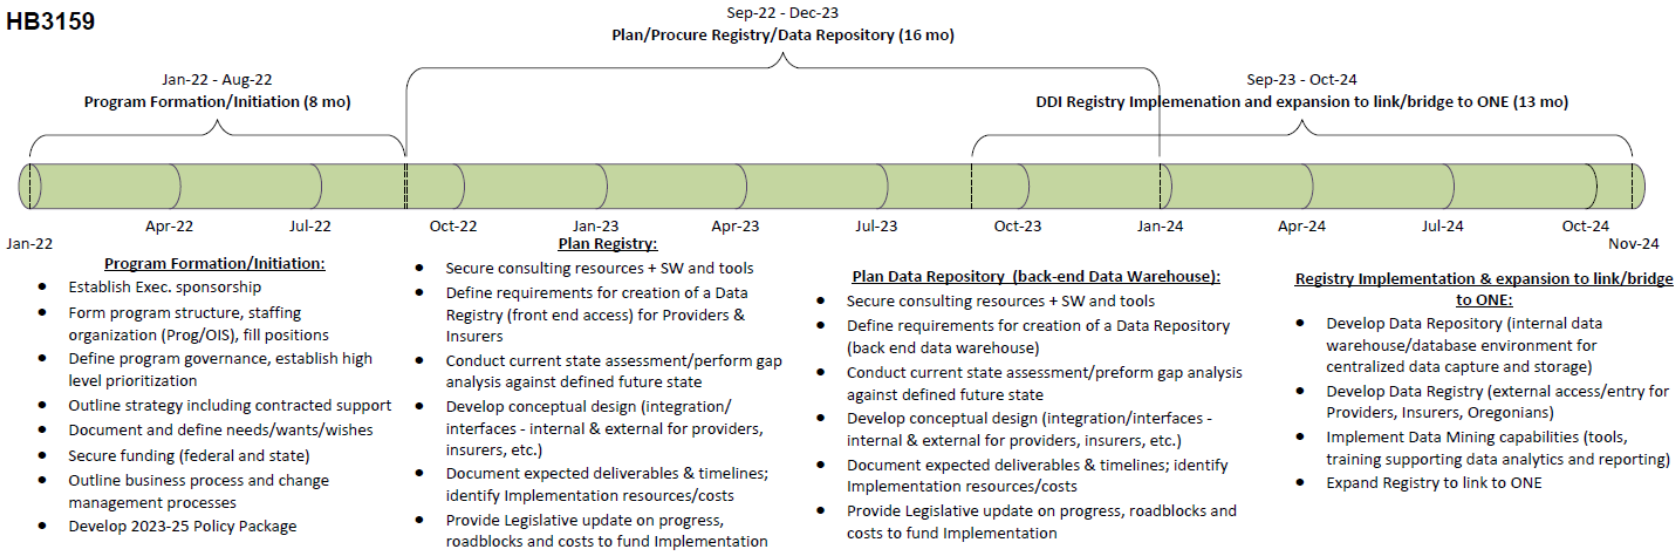
HPA positions

- One limited duration Research Analyst 4 position will be modified to a permanent, full-time position. This position will fulfill data requests and assist HPA reporting teams and interagency partners to develop reports and dashboards with REALD demographic components.
- One new permanent, full-time OPA3 position. This position will liaise with other divisions to manage division-level requests and coordinate appropriate uses of the initial REALD Registry and Repository. This position may be transferred to divisions for ongoing work.

OIS will leverage existing positions from House Bill 3159 and does not require additional staff for the 2023-25 biennium.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

The following timeline provides a visual representation of expected one-time costs as well as where projected ongoing costs occur:



Start up and one-time costs include IT Professional Services for hosting ($3 million), DDI ($8.75 million), onboarding of external entities and training ($2.75 million), quality assurance ($0.25 million), and a vendor to complete the development of the Patient Facing Survey Tool ($1 million).

Total start up and one-time costs are $15.75 million.

The Maintenance & Operations (M&O) of the above solutions will be requested ongoing in the 2025-27 biennium.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

- Position-related costs: $2.0 million in 2023-25 (This will require a 2025-27 phase-in.)
- Second devices for positions, ongoing education, and software in the OHA Equity and Inclusion Division: $89,000
- Licensing: $800,000
- Software: $500,000
- Consulting: $150,000
- Maintenance and operations support for the patient-facing online survey tool: $400,000
- Third party Operations & Maintenance for the Initial Registry and Repository: $750,000 for 6 months (This will require a 2025-27 phase-in.)
- Microsoft Dynamics Licensing (patient-facing online survey tool): $430,000 for 1 year (This will require a 2025-27 phase-in.)

Total ongoing costs are $5.12 million in 2023-25.

On an ongoing basis, the maintenance of the Registry, Repository, and corresponding interfaces will comprise direct staffing costs within the agencies but may also include significant ancillary costs based on the plan for design, development, and implementation of a solution. This could include vendor costs and ongoing licensure costs.

18. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

As mentioned above, it is unknown whether CMS will provide enhanced funding for the components of this work that are Medicaid-specific. REALD & SOGI efforts benefit the entire agency and have historically used the agency-wide cost allocation pool to distribute costs to revenue sources. This policy package assumes that will continue. Estimated fund splits are 80 percent General Fund, 7 percent Other Funds, and 13 percent Federal Funds.

19. What are the potential savings?

- With better REALD & SOGI data that can be used to guide clinical care and services resulting in better health for all, we will see reductions in emergency and charity care expenditures and costs related to chronic illnesses and functional limitations due to chronic conditions.
- Centralized storage of REALD & SOGI data and automation of cleansing data irregularities reduces manual processing inefficiencies and improves timely access to and linkages with demographic data. Consequently, health services can be provided swiftly and proactively to all individuals living in Oregon regardless of demographics. For example, future pandemic response may utilize the REALD & SOGI data to provide targeted population health supports to reduce risk in vulnerable communities.
- OHA will realize long-term improvements to data integrity and data equity allowing OHA staffing to transition from processing to analyzing data.
- Centralized storage will decrease redundancies in data storage across multiple environments and data privacy and security containment.
- The initial and enterprise Repositories will be designed to facilitate linkages with the 100+ state data systems that are required to be REALD & SOGI compliant. This will likely be resource efficient, as having a central source of REALD & SOGI data that is updated at least annually will entail less data storage and processing than retrofitting each individual data system.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Systems Division
Program:	Behavioral Health
Policy package title:	988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System: 988 Call Center
Policy package number:	404
Related legislation:	House Bill 2417 (2021)

Summary statement:

House Bill 2417 (2021) directs the Oregon Health Authority to implement, expand and enhance Oregon's 988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System (988 & BHCS) and declared a state of emergency for Oregon's struggling behavioral health crisis system. The directive includes enhancement of existing services and expansion of the current system to provide a "no wrong door" approach to ensure people in crisis receive the appropriate level of care through three programs: a statewide 988 call center, expanding mobile crisis team outreach, creating crisis stabilization centers (CSCs) within each county, and developing a seamless continuity of care through follow-up service referral and tracking. This request for funding is specific to ensuring the sustainability and creating capacity necessary to continue meeting federal standards for 988 call centers. Oregon has received $5 million from House Bill 2417 for the 988 call centers. However, call volume increase in subsequent years will drive resource needs to approximately $21 million in ongoing costs. This is the front door of the continuum of crisis services with relatively less funding need and highest return on investment. In addition, over time, as 988 becomes more well-known and call volume rises, additional resources will be necessary to provide capacity coverage.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

The Legislature directed the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) in House Bill 2417 (2021) to build upon and improve Oregon's coordinated crisis system. This policy package continues that effort by expanding 988 call center capacity.

House Bill 2417 directs OHA to enhance existing services and expand the current crisis system to provide a "no wrong door" approach to ensure individuals in crisis receive the appropriate level of care. This approach includes establishing a statewide 988 call center, expanding mobile crisis team outreach, creating crisis stabilization units within each county, and developing a seamless continuity of care through follow-up service referral and tracking.

An effective crisis response system includes someone to talk to (988 call center), someone to respond (mobile crisis response), and somewhere to go (CSCs). Due to gaps in the crisis services continuum, individuals in crisis may end up in the hospital or jail systems. This policy package aims to fill the following gap:

- 988 call centers lack sufficient capacity for call, text, and chat functions at a level that meets the projected need. Over the next five years, OHA anticipates call volume will increase gradually from 80,000 in year one (2022) to over 240,000 from year two (2023) and beyond.

House Bill 2417 provided funding to begin ensuring people in crisis have someone to talk to by appropriating $5 million for 988 call center capacity and workforce. In April 2022, OHA was awarded $2.1 million through a federal grant for training support and workforce capacity at 988 call centers in year one (2022). Oregon's 988 call center projections for implementation are 80,000 calls in 2022, with a gradual increase to 240,750 annually after five years. Correspondingly, annual funding needs for the 988 call center for call, text, and chat functions will grow from $13 million in 2022 and to $21 million in 2023 and beyond.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package funds additional capacity for 988 call centers to ensure all calls are answered timely as volume increases.

This policy package includes $24.3 million Total Funds for 988 call centers to hire and train crisis intervention specialists, clinical supervisors, and other relevant staff imperative to operating a crisis call center. The added capacity will ensure Oregon is able to answer at least 90 percent of in-state calls with no more than 20 seconds wait time for each call, which is the federal standard. This policy package funds 51 counselors, 10 supervisors, and 4 quality assurance staff. Implementing a chat and text function is projected to require additional 6 staff per year. 988 call centers are staffed with Qualified Mental Health Associates (QMHAs) and Qualified Mental health Professionals (QMHPs), and clinical supervisors trained specifically in crisis intervention and de-escalation for all ages. This is the front door of the continuum of crisis services with least resource need and highest return on investment.

The policy package also includes $35.7 million Total Funds towards increased Medicaid rates for Mobile Crisis Intervention Services. This assists in expanding mobile crisis across the state and increases access for Oregonians. Qualifying Medicaid mobile crisis responses allows providers to now claim for a higher rate of $105.57 per 15 minutes.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This policy package aligns with OHA's strategic goal of eliminating health inequities through the development of more equitable access to behavioral health crisis care for all Oregonians. Building a full continuum of crisis services promotes health equity and would support the diversion of individuals from the emergency department and jail and experiencing a behavioral health response to a behavioral health crisis. Further, this policy package would increase access to culturally, linguistically, and developmentally appropriate crisis services by increasing capacity of 988 call centers and therefore ensuring a larger more diverse workforce that reflects the population they serve. Crisis call centers such as 988 are especially impactful in providing behavioral health crisis intervention and de-escalation services to youth and young adults who are experiencing suicidal thoughts or BH crisis but are hesitant to reach out for clinical help Historically, communities of color have been disproportionately experienced adverse outcome such as jail or ED while seeking help for behavioral health crisis. OHA's 988 & BHCS, Equity and Community Partnership, and Recovery and Resilience teams continue to actively work with the Crisis System Advisory Workgroup (CSAW) and the CSAW Steering Committee to ensure the creation of the crisis system is community-led.

This policy package supports OHA's commitment to eliminate health disparities in Oregon by 2030, as communities of color and other communities that have been and are currently economically and socially marginalized are disproportionately impacted by the lack of comprehensive behavioral health services, especially during a behavioral health crisis. Communities who have historically had less access to health care due to systemic discrimination and racism have a higher risk of encountering law enforcement and first responders and ending up in the emergency department or jail when in crisis.

An alternative number (988) to 911, is critical for individuals who are most disproportionately impacted by inappropriate law enforcement response to a behavioral health crisis. 988 is part of the prevention efforts to divert individuals away from emergency departments and jail by providing an alternative place to go. Individuals who are most likely to need that level of response disproportionately belong to communities of color, LGBTQIA2S+, and individuals with development disabilities (IDD).

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The development of the statewide coordinated crisis system is intended to increase access to behavioral health services across Oregon. OHA anticipates the following outcomes:

- Improved access to quality community behavioral health services prevents interactions with the criminal justice system and prevents hospitalizations.
- People can easily access behavioral health services at the appropriate level of care through visibility into bed capacity and a “no wrong door” approach to obtaining services.
- Seamless connections between 988 call centers and crisis response services.
- Prevent suicide deaths.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

OHA will use measures disaggregated by REALD and SOGI requirements. The list below captures an initial set of measures that would continue to be built on.

The contractors and providers would use trauma informed, culturally and linguistically appropriate evidenced-based best practices for data collection and offer opportunities for individuals to engage and provide feedback and recommendations as an essential part of the equitable data collection process. The contractor would collect, analyze, and report granular data that aligns with REALD & SOGI requirements to combat service and systemic inequities inherent in aggregate data and to ensure data-informed decisions and resources are dedicated to mitigating the disproportionate impacts experienced in historically and currently marginalized communities. In addition, the contractor would assume responsibility for and accountability of the behavioral health crisis system data and ensure accuracy of the data collected. The contractor would be responsible for providing behavioral health crisis system data to OHA upon request.

Monthly reports from the contractor would include:

- Presenting problem/symptom/issues
- Total number of contacts received, broken down by call, text, or chat.
    - Answer rate
        - Goal: to meet or exceed 90 percent of total calls/texts/chats answered to reduce the amount going to the national back up centers by 10 percent or less

    - Average answer speed
        - Goal: of 90 percent answered in 20 seconds or less
    - Average call length

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

The Legislature appropriated $5 million in House Bill 2417 to fund both 988 call centers. OHA has applied and been awarded $2.1 million through a federal grant for training support and workforce capacity at 988 call centers in year one.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

An alternative that has been proposed in the past to establish a sustainable source of funding for 988 call centers is a 988 fee per phone line per household for telecommunication providers. 911 call centers are funded similarly and a few other states such as Nevada, Washington, and Utah have taken this approach to funding 988. However, this option was not approved or supported by legislators and telecommunication providers when it was being considered during the 2021 Legislative Session.

During the 2023 Legislative Session, House Bill 2757 was passed, establishing a $0.40 phone tax beginning January 1, 2024.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   Collaboration on this policy package includes but is not limited to the nine federally-recognized Tribes and Urban Indian Health Program, consumers, Medicaid providers, CCOs, peer-delivered services community, local community mental health programs (CMHPs), Oregon Council Behavioral Health (OCBH), Crisis System Advisory Workgroup (CSAW), CSAW Steering Committee, Medicaid Advisory Committee (MAC), Oregon Consumer Advisory Council (OCAC), Health Policy Board, Alcohol Drug Policy Commission (ADPC), Addictions and Mental Health Planning and Advisory Council (AMPHAC), Oregon Association of Hospitals and Health Systems (OAHHS), NAMI, law enforcement, emergency medical services, 911 programs, and other first responders.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

    This policy package will improve access to 988 & BHCS system services for the nine federally recognized Tribes and the Urban Indian Health Program, Oregon Health Plan members. Tribes have the option to work with OHA to implement 988 call centers

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023 for call centers

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- OHA's third party consultant and Health Systems Division (HSD) budget estimated a state share of cost based on population data and anticipated Medicaid match.
- Revenue calculations for the amount of 988 tax collected rely on an assumption of the number of phonelines subject to the tax.
- Medicaid funding for increased rates relies on assumptions about the incidence of mobile crisis needs, the length of those services, and the proportion of recipients eligible for Medicaid.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No. 988 and Mobile Crisis services are contracted out to external providers, such as call centers and counties. This work is already occurring, and these investments reflect an extension and continuation of those programs.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Overall, the anticipation is that as 988 becomes more socialized, call volumes will exponentially increase: 80,000 in year one (2022) to over 240,000 from year two (2023). In addition, behavioral health crisis has had a significant increase in need across all populations over the last two years.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

Note: OHA received the funding for these positions but due to an error did not receive the position authority. OHA will request position authority in the 2023 Fall Rebalance for the following six positions:

Operations & Policy Analyst 3
The purpose of this position is to provide development, implementation and accountability of the implementation, operation, and continued administration of 988 call centers in Oregon. The employee focuses specifically on supporting the implementation planning, sustained funding, consistent compliance, evaluation, and improvement of the 988 call centers coordinating internally and externally with stakeholders. This will be done by identifying key stakeholders, design the scope of work as outlined initiative, develop associated policy and program materials, facilitate weekly/monthly program site meetings, as well as monitoring system performance and outcomes of the 988 call center component of the overall 988 & BHCS system. Associated work includes acting as a subject matter expert to support the 988 & BHCS leadership in preparing recommendations for Legislative Session work, Government Relations, OHA leadership and community partners, such as Child Welfare, community justice, Local Alcohol and Drug Policy committees and behavioral health providers. This position must understand the intent, planning and priorities of the 988 call center and all components to be implemented under House Bill 2417 to integrate the other components of the crisis system with the 988 call centers. Projects assigned to this position are sometimes pilots and requires strategic thinking and planning to develop a template for statewide expansion.

The person in this position will manage large and complex contracts that blend multiple funding streams, including federal funding that has separate contracting and reporting requirements. The person in this position is responsible for contract accountability and success. Such work may include corrective action planning or repayment planning with providers.

Externally this position provides technical assistance to local government and community providers so they may expand existing services and develop infrastructure for services serving BIPOC, rural and frontier communities.

Internally, the position requires extensive partnership, collaboration, and program design with the 988 call centers, Community Mental Health Programs, and Coordinated Care organizations as it relates to the regional crisis system implementation across the state. The position will represent HSD in this cross-divisional work and be astute at determining when additional leadership is required.

The person in this position will support the 988 & BHCS Program Manager in decision-making to plan, design and direct behavioral health regulations, policies, and priorities. This includes assuring that state and local planning processes are conducted as authorized by state statutes and federal regulations. The person in this position will identify system performance and system development needs, including administrative, legislative, and funding changes to improve the effectiveness of services. The employee will handle complex and potentially controversial agency decisions and may represent the agency in dealings with other state agencies, public and private sector organizations, businesses, and advocacy or special interest groups.

Operations & Policy Analyst 2
This position will coordinate and administer all 988 & BHCS related contracts initiated by the 988 & BHCS team. The position will recommend and plan actions to bring about compliance with 988 & BHCS contracts (including 988 call center, mobile crisis, CSCs), and program goals. Collaborate with 988 & BHCS Program Manager and managers across agency levels to formulate long-range objectives, short-term operational goals, and implementation contracts. Assist agency management by monitoring and tracking program and operational data; participate on committees to gather information or plan studies to evaluate performance data; recommend refinement and development of operating procedures based on results of study. The position will work closely with the contracts unit and with federal agencies providing funding opportunities to enhance one or more components of the crisis response system.

Project Manager 3
This position will serve as the project manager for the entire 988 & BHCS system. The position will create, maintain, update, track, monitor and improve the program portfolio and the all the various related workstreams. They will work closely with every staff that coordinate/lead one or more components of the 988 & BHCS and consistently track risks to the program policies, goals and objective, and related mitigation strategies and leadership decisions.

Operations & Policy Analyst 2
The Operations and Policy Analyst 2 position would evaluate, manage keep policy, rule, and statute requirements for operational, programmatic and contracting considerations. This position would provide research and technical support for contracts work by researching rules, legislative proposals. They would ensure that contracts contain language to legislative, and other statutory requirements are met in the contract language as written. This position would also provide technical assistance for Medicaid and Behavioral Health Systems which are often integral to the crisis system.

Compliance Specialist 3
The Compliance Specialist 3 position would monitor, coordinate, ensure compliance across Health System Division across Medicaid Programs and Behavioral Health Programs. They would work closely with program and consult on development of new initiatives throughout the agency. Most of the work would be broad but would also include detail-oriented tracking and briefing.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

The startup cost for 988 call centers is $24.3 million Total Funds, of which $18.4 million will be supported by Other Funds revenue from the phone line tax established by House Bill 2575, $1.2 million will be General Fund, and $4.7 million will be supported by Federal Funds. This funding will support the hiring and training of crisis intervention specialists, clinical supervisors, and other relevant staff imperative to operating a crisis call center. The startup cost will fund 51 counselors, 10 supervisors, and 4 quality assurance staff. Implementing a chat and text function is projected to require additional six staff.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The $24.3 million in startup cost for 988 call centers would become ongoing in future biennia to continue maintaining the capacity that is built up through startup spending and fund additional capacity needed as call volume increases.

$11 million General Fund was provided to replace one-time Mental Health Block Grant funds for Service Element 25 (Mobile Crisis services). This additional funding represents an ongoing need for these services.

$33.7 million Total Funds ($9.1 million General Fund, $24.6 million Federal Funds limitation) is provided for increased rates for Mobile Crisis services to Medicaid clients. This amount reflects an increase in the fee-for-service rate as well as funds for CCO capitation contracts. CCO rates will be reflected in contracts beginning January 1, 2024. For future biennia the expected total cost for FFS and CCO contracts is $45.8 million.

18. What are the potential savings?

Resourcing 988 call centers at the full capacity will have immediate and long-term savings on the following:

1. Mobile crisis services

2. Emergency department related service including ED boarding
3. Other acute care facilities for behavior health services
4. Residential services
5. Outpatient services

988 call centers are staffed with Qualified Mental Health Associates (QMHAs) and Qualified Mental Health Professionals (QMHPs), and clinical supervisors trained specifically in crisis intervention and de-escalation for all ages. This is the front door of the continuum of crisis services with least resource need and highest return on investment.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is supported by General Fund, Other Funds from a new phone line fee, federal grant funds from Substance Abuse and Mental Health Systems Administration (SAMHSA), and Medicaid Federal Funds.

OHA's budget bill (Senate Bill 5525) includes a General Fund investment for the expansion of the 988 system and mobile crisis response (policy package #404). House Bill 2757 (2023) was passed after OHA's budget bill and included a new tax on telephone lines of $0.40 per line, which will generate an estimated $32.9 million Other Funds revenue for the program in the 2023-25 biennium. Per House Bill 2575, OHA is required to use revenue from the phone line tax for 988 call centers first and if any additional revenue is available once those services are fully funded, it may be used to support mobile crisis services. Accordingly, the end-of-session bill (Senate Bill 5506) reduced OHA's

Non-Medicaid General Fund budget[2] by $26.4 million (policy package #811) to reflect the savings resulting from the new tax, while leaving some of the original General Fund investment in place to accommodate program start-up and account for the timing of new tax revenue, which will not be available until April 2024. The fund split displayed in this document represents the application of the Other Funds tax revenue first towards the base budget for the 988 call centers and then offsetting most of the General Fund for 988 call centers in this policy package (#404).

Mobile Crisis Medicaid services have an elevated match rate of 85 percent for the first 12 quarters offering the service when providers meet the elevated standards required in the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA). Not all providers will be able to reach that standard initially, creating a split of $9.1 million General Fund and $24.6 million Federal Funds.

This policy package includes $11 million General Fund in Mobile Crisis Non-Medicaid to replace one-time Mental Health Block Grant funding.

[2] Note: The budget for 988 call centers is in the Health Systems Division Program Support and Administration program unit, not the Non-Medicaid program unit. In order to apply the new phone line tax revenues to 988 call centers expenditures and capture the resulting General Fund offset correctly, OHA will request a technical adjustment at the 2023 Fall Rebalance.

Oregon Health Authority & Oregon Department of Human Services
2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	ODHS, OHA Health Systems Division
Program:	ODHS Oregon Eligibility Partnership, OHA HSD Business Information Systems
Policy package title:	Mainframe Migration Provider & Client Payment Systems
Policy package #:	203
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

Everyone deserves uninterrupted access to needed supports and to the income they earn at work. More than one million Oregonians count on the state's current mainframe platform to receive their benefit and provider payments. The COBOL programming code on the mainframe system dates to the 1970s and is increasingly unsupported. Mainframe-proficient staff are shrinking in number and hard to replace, resulting in service and payment bottlenecks. There is increasing risk the agency will be unable to make timely payments to Oregonians, potentially for an extended period. ODHS and OHA are therefore jointly requesting resources to upgrade the mainframe platform and ensure continuity of payments and benefits. It is critical to migrate all current mainframe functions to more modern, ideally cloud-based, solutions. Doing so will help avoid the risk of service breakdowns, bring ODHS│OHA technology into alignment with peer agencies, improve flow across information systems, and allow Oregon to fully benefit from its investments in the ONE eligibility system. This package represents a strategy to plan for and pilot new payment/financial modules, develop a plan to move remaining benefits on the mainframe to other applications, and decommission/archive remaining mainframe programs and data.

	General Fund	Other Funds	Federal Funds	Total Funds	Pos.	FTE
ODHS	$2,958,688	$880,474	$1,991,333	$5,830,495	10	7.14
OHA	$1,985,589	$4,229,090	$1,088,537	$7,303,216	21	14.50
Policy package pricing:	$4,944,277	$5,109,564	$3,079,870	$13,133,711	31	21.64

Purpose

1. Why does OHA/ODHS propose this policy package and what problem is OHA/ODHS trying to fix or solve?

The agency's mainframe system dates from the 1960s. It has become a critical risk to delivering services to Oregonians and is limiting the agency's ability to respond quickly to changing needs. Over one million Oregonians receive benefits or provider payments via the mainframe. Mainframe systems are also used for provider authorization for over 40,000 care providers, and to determine eligibility for benefits to more than 11,000 Oregonians. The current payment system was designed by a single agency employee decades ago and is highly customized and unique to Oregon. This staff member is the only individual with comprehensive knowledge of the functions within that system. If they retire or otherwise become unavailable, there is significant risk that processing for benefits recipients and providers could be impacted.

More widely, the mainframe represents an anachronism at a time when the IT industry has shifted almost entirely to modern cloud platforms. It has become extremely difficult to replace staff as they retire from the mainframe team, and expanding the team is effectively impossible. 30 percent of the mainframe team's 42 total positions are unfilled, and 50 percent of the current staff are already eligible for retirement or will be within five years. Almost no technology vendors still offer mainframe consulting, software, or services.

The lack of staff to work on the mainframe has resulted in an increasingly visible bottleneck. The OregonSaves retirement plan was delayed for some home care and personal care workers, in large part because of limited mainframe team capacity and a lack of modern development tools and practices. A lack of training environments on the mainframe have made it more difficult to train new and existing staff to support Oregonians.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

This project supports the planning and initial execution of steps necessary to migrate the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) and the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) off the mainframe computing platform maintained and supported by their shared Office of Information Services (OIS). An investment in this work constitutes a multi-biennia effort. Limited mainframe team capacity has been a long-running concern for the agency and has impacted numerous key initiatives including ONE, Provider Time Capture (PTC), the transfer of the Employee Related Daycare (ERDC) program to the Department of Learning and Care (DELC), and OregonSaves. This solution offers a new take on that challenge by focusing on addressing the fundamental, long-term issues rather than attempting to simply add more resources.

The project approach has two strategic goals and phases:

1. Conduct requirements analysis and market analysis for new payments/financial modules, identification, and acquisition
    - High-level requirements and business processes are defined
    - Market analysis of leading solutions is conducted
    - Pilot program/process/area is identified

2. Create a plan to move all remaining benefits processing, eligibility, provider authorization, and other functions off the mainframe and create a decommissioning/archiving plan is defined for migrated mainframe programs and data. Migrate to another system, migrate to the cloud, replace or decommission all remaining mainframe programs. Evaluation and establishment of “Tolerate, Invest, Migrate, Eliminate” (TIME) posture toward remaining mainframe programs and data. This includes identifying data that has strategic value and determining a suitable archiving or warehousing location for it.

1. All mainframe programs and data that still have business value are identified
2. A future direction is defined for each item (for example, Gartner TIME model)

This project proposes to mitigate the risks identified above, and leverage the opportunities presented by conducting business on modern, well-supported platforms through investment in planning and execution efforts necessary to migrate off the mainframe.

	6 months	12 months	18 months	24 months
Payment/Financial modules	Establish governance; assemble team	Define scope; identify vendors	Procure solution	Pilot solution
Plan for benefit migration and decommissioning	Establish governance; assemble team	Define scope	Define requirements	Define implementation plan

Funds for this solution will be used to:

- Procure specialized financial consulting support needed to identify suitable public sector payments/financial modules
- Hire financial analysts with experience in modern payment-processing standards, systems, and practices
- Procure and pilot the new payments/financial modules
- Pay for technical consulting to assist with planning analysis to move remaining benefits to other systems (including ONE) and decommissioning remaining items on the mainframe. Procure training and modern software tools for our current mainframe team, to help them transition to current technologies and archive or migrate valuable data from the mainframe

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's and/or ODHS's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   Migration and modernization of the mainframe environment supports an increase in benefit visibility to clients, and likely increase uptake of benefits, due to their integration into the ONE platform alongside other benefits. Additionally, clients will require less time to apply for all benefits, because the ONE platform facilitates a 'one stop shop' experience for an increased number of benefits. This proposal also reduces the risk of interrupting payments to members of all Oregon communities and of delaying provider services to communities facing inequities. It will improve the agency's ability to respond to the changing needs of those communities. It will also make it easier to collect, store, analyze and use data to provide visibility of equity issues and improve service delivery to these communities. Finally, by increasing capacity it will help to avoid situations where the agency must prioritize one community's needs over another because it isn't possible to advance multiple efforts in parallel.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

This solution will make the agency more flexible and responsive to changing circumstances including federal regulations and policies, which increases trust, compliance and public confidence. When completed, this project will reduce the risk of interrupting payments to members of all Oregonian communities. It will reduce the risk of delaying provider services to communities facing inequities and improves the agency's ability to respond to those communities who are in the most need.

Creating a plan to move the remaining mainframe-based benefits determination processes to a modern, well-supported system will make it easier and faster to implement changes whether mandated at the agency, state, or federal level.

Adopting modern systems to replace the current mainframe environment will produce significant secondary benefits which align with Strategy 8 of the Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Action Plan: Diversifying the Workforce and Creating an Inclusive Workplace. This impact is expected because modern systems rely on programming languages, and technological concepts for which there are broader and more diverse hiring pools. This is expected to open doors to applicants with skillsets in those areas.

5. How will OHA/ODHS measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package? How will ODHS measure the impact on system and access inequities and/or impact disproportionality in accessibility and services in ODHS programs through this policy package?

Anticipated outcomes from this solution include:

- The agency can more easily find resources to work on more modern systems, and find them from multiple sources (vendors, consultants, open recruitment)
- Benefits are more visible to the community, and there is increased uptake of them, due to their integration into the ONE platform alongside other benefits
- Clients require less time to apply for all their benefits, because the ONE platform facilitates a 'one stop shop' experience for an increased number of benefits

Quantifiable outputs from this solution include:

- New, payments/financial modules have been procured and piloted
- A plan has been developed to move the remaining benefits to other systems and a decommission plan for the mainframe has been initiated.

Data on the success of this solution will be gathered from multiple sources:

- Project management and quality assurance metrics on implementation progress
- Internal recruitment and project staffing metrics
- Results of the payments/financial modules pilot have been accessed

Table –Benefit and Measurement

Benefit	Measurement
Reduce the risk of not being able to make payments to benefits recipients and care providers	New payments/financial modules are in pilot
Fill open positions more easily, bringing more resources to bear on agency needs	Recruitment time is decreased for positions that are currently in the mainframe space
Improve flexibility and responsiveness to changing business needs	The volume of work pending in the mainframe is reduced. New requests are implemented more quickly
Align technology with statewide modernization and cloud forward initiatives	Mainframe solutions are replaced with cloud-based solutions, whether form vendors or internally developed

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Previous efforts to address the problem focused on adding more mainframe staff, procuring contractors, and utilizing system integrators rather than shifting to newer technologies. Those efforts have not been fully successful, as the IT industry has moved almost entirely away from the mainframe: there are simply not enough resources available in the market to meet the agency's needs. Experienced mainframe staff command very high wages, and the state's compensation is not competitive with other public and private sector IT employers.

Given the lack of overall capacity, the agency has had to prioritize the limited capacity that is available, resulting in suboptimal outcomes. As noted above, OregonSaves was delayed for many care workers. And the agency is currently out of compliance with several federal reporting requirements. The mainframe staff's work is prioritized through IT governance groups comprised of business and IT executives.

Two policy packages (POP 203 Critical Systems and POP 204 Modernization: Financial Payment Systems) were included in the 2021-23 Agency Request Budget to start the work of planning in this critical area. Neither package was funded.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Status Quo

Previous efforts to address the staffing problems focused on short-term, less costly solutions such as adding more mainframe staff, rather than shifting to newer technologies. Those efforts have not been successful, as the IT industry has moved almost entirely away from the mainframe. There are simply not enough resources available in the market to meet the agency's needs, address federal regulations, and new policies. Experienced mainframe staff command very high wages, and the state's compensation is not competitive with other public and private sector IT employers. There were two POPs (POP 203 Critical Systems and POP 204 Modernization: Financial Payment Systems) in the 2021-23 Agency Request Budget to start the work of planning in this critical area and both were denied.

Continuing the status quo operation of mainframe systems will retain the risks identified above and over time will increase the risks accumulated with an aging and understaffed workforce. The risks of relying on antiquated, COBOL-based systems became highly visible nationally and in Oregon during the first year of the COVID-19 pandemic; states were not able to rapidly make emergency payments, change benefits rules, and make other adjustments in payments processing. Another large Oregon agency struggled to issue pandemic-related assistance and was unable to scale up its systems to handle a large increase in claimants. The impacts of those issues caused by aging IT systems fell disproportionately on disadvantaged populations.

Failure to fund this investment will cause OHA, ODHS and OIS to pay increased costs for hardware maintenance. In 2022, Enterprise Information Services (EIS) State Data Center informed its customers that it would no longer be able to operate mainframe hardware due to staffing issues. Instead, EIS is preparing to outsource hardware operation and maintenance to a managed service provider.

If the project was not funded, the largest risk to Oregonians is around benefit and provider payments. We would defer the lower priority items to a later policy package, while continuously seeking opportunities to find funding from other sources for the overall solution.

The risk profile for maintaining a status quo disposition toward mainframe programs was identified as ‘not viable.’

- This alternative would not alleviate or mitigate risks identified in staffing, program specialization, system stability and agility and will most certainly result in increasingly disproportionate burden on Oregonian’s that have been economically and socially marginalized.
- The high risk of failure to make accurate and timely payments will continue to grow, due to personnel/resource issues.

- As mainframe skills, resources and partners become less and less available, we will have more and more risks, delays, and constraints with mainframe-based solutions.

Do the minimum amount possible

There are a few identified approaches that incrementally address a better future than the “do nothing” or current state, but minimally:

A. Reduce personnel risks by adding more positions to the team
    - Currently the mainframe team has 42 positions, of which 13 (30 percent) are unfilled. Recruitments routinely fail multiple times, and candidates do not possess the level of skills we need. The State Data Center is preparing to outsource its mainframe operations to an external partner because they cannot fill internal positions.

B. Lift and shift (translate) mainframe code to another platform
    - OIS engaged a partner to evaluate the feasibility of migrating the mainframe code to another platform (Microsoft’s Azure cloud platform)
    - Technically, a migration is feasible however it would have significant risks and limitations

C. The largest risk to Oregonians is around benefit and provider payments. We would defer the lower priority items to a later funding request and future biennium, while continuously seeking opportunities to find funding from other sources for the overall solution.

This alternative is not viable. “Lift and shift” just moves the problem and doesn't fix the core issues:

- A direct migration to Azure doesn’t address the issue that the financial system has been developed in-house and there is no wider expertise or other source of skills available.
- A direct migration doesn’t provide any new or improved capabilities; the functionality remains the same.

- The cloud environment is new to the state; we haven't attempted anything close to the scale and complexity of running the current mainframe workloads on Azure. There would be a very high risk of technical and process failures due to our lack of cloud maturity.
- Adding positions does not address the current inability to competitively pay, attract and hire mainframe skilled staff.

Migrate Mainframe Programs [desired solution]

This solution will require investment for the following:

- Procure and pilot the new payments/financial modules
- Pay for technical consulting to assist with planning analysis to move remaining benefits to other systems (including ONE) and decommissioning remaining items on the mainframe
- To procure training and modern software tools for our current mainframe team, to help them transition to current technologies

This project promotes shared, reusable solutions that can be adopted by multiple service areas. Although not in the scope of this effort, a new payments/financial solution could become the default for other new initiatives. Having a robust, well supported, industry-standard solution available means the agency can avoid developing individual solutions for different service areas.

From the IT perspective, adopting more modern and standard solutions expands the range of resources that can be applied to projects and other initiatives. Work that can only be done by the mainframe team today will be easier to assign to other technical specialists in the future.

This solution is the most viable and sustainable of those considered.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   OIS, ODHS, and the Office of Financial Services (OFS). The agency has also engaged with the State CIO's office, including the State Chief Technology Officer and Data Center Services (DCS). DCS operates the mainframe hardware in the State Data Center for those agencies that still use it.

   The ODHS CIO along with the state CTO is forming a workgroup with other agencies still on the mainframe to coordinate and ensure we provide the state an overall approach to moving off the mainframe.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    The mainframe is not directly visible to Tribes or other community members, and as such we have not solicited Tribal or community input on what they believe would be suitable technologies to replace it.

    The Service Employees International Union (SEIU) has expressed concerns in the past about initiatives like OregonSaves that have been delayed and had an impact on their members. The union has sought assurances from the agency that ODHS│OHA will take steps to ensure the agencies can meet commitments to its members within agreed timeframes. This solution recognizes those concerns and aims to address them by shifting to more modern technical platforms where the agencies can add resources more easily and respond more quickly to changing needs.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): TBD, this will be a multi biennia effort

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- The elements of the policy package are somewhat independent of each other, and work can proceed on them independently. However, resources are a constraint in all areas and may limit flexibility.
- This investment includes vendor and consulting resources and new positions that will reduce the impact of implementation work on active, ongoing mainframe projects and priorities. However, even with those resources it is possible that there will be conflicting demands for current mainframe team resources; the agencies will monitor the capacity and priorities of the team and resolve any issues appropriately and in a timely manner.
- Microsoft's Azure cloud is the target platform for migrating mainframe programs and data.
- The current mainframe team does not have the capacity and modern technology skills to execute a migration to more modern platforms, therefore additional resources will be required.

- Cost of professional services is assumed to be in alignment with other comparable efforts.
- Resources (both internal to the agency and externally/vendors) with the necessary skills will be available
- This solution anticipates demographic and retirement trends in the aging mainframe team.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA, ODHS, and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

ODHS will lead the migration project, including overseeing of contractors, procurement and implementation of new software solutions with support from OIS. OHA, ODHS and OFS Shared Services staff will participate in business requirements gathering and supporting the migration to ensure ongoing services are not disrupted.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

It is not anticipated that this project will affect client caseloads.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

The Office of Information Services requires a total of 19 new positions to support planning and implementation. These positions include Information System Specialists, Operations & Policy Analysts, a Project Manager, a Fiscal Analyst, and a Principal Executive Manager and Administration Specialist.

ODHS is requesting at total of 10 new positions. These positions include Operations & Policy Analysts to support requirements gathering and testing requirements, as well as an Accountant, Project Managers and a Training & Development Specialist to support migration.

Two OPA3 staff will support OHA's Health Systems Division in the planning and requirements to a new solution as it relates to integrating with MMIS and other existing OHA systems.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

None. All costs are ongoing.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

All costs are ongoing.

18. What are the potential savings?

Once the mainframe has been completely migrated to new environments, the agencies expect to save on staff and technology costs related to current operations and maintenance of the legacy mainframe system. This is an expected savings of approximately $6.15 million per year.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Please see the table in question #17 for a breakdown of state General Fund and Federal Funds sources and split by agency. The source of ODHS Other Funds are Waiver-Case Management. The source of OHA Other Funds is a mix of General Fund and Federal Funds — this is the accounting method to track OIS costs.

Summary statement:

Since 2013, Oregon has been on a path to fundamentally shift its practice to ensure essential public health protections are in place for all Oregonians through equitable, outcomes-driven and accountable services. The groundwork laid through initial investments in public health modernization have been critical to Oregon's management of the COVID-19 pandemic. However, the COVID-19 response has highlighted continued inequities in health outcomes and gaps in the public health system, specifically in health equity and cultural responsiveness and apply equity principles across all areas of public health practice. This policy package supports continued implementation of the key public health priorities selected by the Oregon Public Health Advisory Board (PHAB) for the 2023-25 biennium and builds on this work by making comprehensive investments across the public health system and elevating work that directly mitigates health inequities. Not funding this policy package puts at risk OHA's ability to ensure basic public health protections included in statute are available to every person in Oregon and challenges OHA in continuing to meet the deliverables and timelines prescribed in House Bill 3100 (2015).

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Oregon families and communities continue to face new and increasingly complex public health threats. These public health threats do not impact all Oregonians equally. Systemic racism and historical and contemporary injustices have led to health inequities in the state and these inequities have been laid bare and exacerbated by simultaneous public health emergencies along with long-standing and emerging public health threats. Recently, people in Oregon have experienced COVID-19, a communicable disease that severely strained the health system and produced disparate impacts on people in Oregon. The demands on Oregon's public health system continue to increase as the impacts of COVID-19, continue to come to the fore (such as increased social isolation, alcohol use and youth behavioral health needs) and other communicable disease threats like Mpox and highly pathogenic avian influenza emerge. People in Oregon also experienced extreme wildfires which displaced many people and produced wildfire smoke and dangerous air for weeks across entire regions of the state. These wildfires are consequences of a changing climate and, again, the burden of the fires is disparate. While Oregon has seen health improvements for some, some groups like communities of color, rural communities and households living on low-incomes continue to experience an unjust burden of disease, are more exposed to hazards and have fewer resources (for example, access to care, culturally-responsive interventions and others) to support resilience and recovery. These compounding health needs require a public health system that is equity-centered, community-led and nimble.

In 2013, recognizing the need for a public health system that can support Oregon's health system transformation and achieve the Triple Aim, the Legislature set a goal to have a public health system for the future. In 2016, all state and local public health authorities completed an assessment of capacity to implement foundational public health programs. Those assessments found significant gaps in the state's ability to manage new communicable disease outbreaks, center equity and be culturally and linguistically responsive to community health needs, proactively measure and mitigate environmental impacts to human health, and collect and report public health data that is needed to solve emerging public health problems. Additionally, the COVID-19 pandemic highlighted inability of the public health system to ensure equitable health outcomes for all people in this country.[i] Now, public health system partners have a real understanding of the resources needed to respond to a pandemic and how pandemic response further complicates already-complex public health risks. Comprehensive efforts toward health equity require a shift in resources, moving from a chronically underfunded public health system to one that has the necessary resources to address these risks.[ii] [iii]

This policy package supports continued implementation of the key public health priorities selected by the Oregon PHAB for the 2023-25 biennium. These priorities aim to accelerate work toward health equity for communities of color, Tribal communities, immigrant and refugee communities, LGBTQIA2S+ communities, people living in rural Oregon, people with low income and other groups that experience intersecting oppressions.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

Oregon is on a path toward achieving a public health system that is accountable for eliminating health inequities, prioritizes disproportionately impacted communities in prevention and response efforts, and achieves improved health outcomes. COVID-19 accelerated investments in health equity and forced Oregon to take a deeper look into the systems that create and exacerbate inequities so that the root causes of poor health can be addressed holistically.

The 2023-25 public health modernization efforts focus on expanding investment in and cementing partnership with community, prioritizing a public health workforce that is adequately trained, responsive and valued, and continuing to support the growth of healthy and resilient communities.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

The 2023-25 policy package for public health modernization would:

- Invest in public health workforce development and retention;
- Build on lessons learned from the COVID-19 pandemic to respond to and mitigate emerging public health threats; and
- Invest in governmental and community public health initiatives that engage Oregonians directly.

Specifically, funding this policy package will result in the following system changes that are critical for protecting people from communicable disease and environmental health threats, as well as bolstering access to reproductive health services:

- Coordinated, statewide systems for responding to communicable disease and environmental health threats, including access to culturally and linguistically responsive services.
- Prevention initiatives that include local expertise to protect people from acute and communicable diseases.
- Continued development of plans to mitigate climate risks to public health.
- Emergency preparedness and response systems for environmental health-related events.
- Critical infrastructure supports for reproductive health clinical providers.

Foundational Capabilities

A public health system that is inclusive, nimble and representative is equipped with a set of skills and tools – foundational capabilities – that are the pillars for how the public health system protects people from health threats and achieves health for all.

Under ORS 431.131 and 431.141, the governmental public health system is required to provide foundational public health programs and capabilities. These seven foundational capabilities describe the framework in which this policy package would achieve the goals listed above and make progress toward an equitable Oregon.

- Health equity and cultural responsiveness: Ensure public health programs are co-created with communities and public health programs are culturally and linguistically competent.
- Assessment and epidemiology: Analyze data to understand emerging trends for communicable disease and environmental health threats; make data readily available to communities and partners who rely on the information and use data to implement culturally and linguistically responsive interventions.
- Community partnership development: Leverage coordinated care organizations, government agencies and other cross-sector partners and invest in community partners to increase the impact of public health modernization work in communities.
- Emergency preparedness and response: Work with communities and partners to prepare for, respond to and recover from public health threats and emergencies; ensure that populations most at risk are at the center of planning efforts.
- Leadership and organizational competencies: Develop the public health workforce to be better equipped to nimbly respond to new public health threats; use performance management and quality improvement to ensure that public health interventions are resulting in improved outcomes; spread capacity from public health modernization across public health program areas; build clinical program infrastructure.
- Communications: Ensure timely risk communications and proactive communications that are culturally and linguistically responsive.
- Policy and planning: Engage with partners, decision-makers and communities to develop and implement policy solutions that are responsive to community needs.

Foundational programs are the "nuts and bolts" work of public health modernization which cannot be successful without comprehensive foundational capabilities. In Oregon, foundational programs include topic-specific work and generally sit in one of the following categories:

- Environmental Health
- Prevention and Health Promotion
- Access to Clinical and Preventative Services
- Communicable Disease Control

This policy package will be managed by the Oregon Health Authority, Public Health Division (OHA-PHD). Throughout 2022, OHA-PHD continued to convene local public health authorities (LPHA) and Tribal public health (TPH) authorities, community-based organizations, state agencies and representatives from other sectors to develop plans for the implementation of funded work to achieve equitable health outcomes and mitigate the highest risk impacts to health across the state. OHA-PHD will continue to evaluate efforts and outcomes from the current investment and adapt work to incorporate lessons learned into subsequent investments. This package is a continuation of investments over the past three biennia and, therefore, implementation is ongoing.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This policy package seeks to directly change systems and environments with the goal of eliminating health inequities. Investments in public health modernization ensure that governmental public health and community public health partners have the resources necessary not only to solidify a foundation upon which to identify health inequities, but also to build and redesign systems that eliminate those inequities. By funding a breadth of local agencies and organizations, investments in public health modernization would further shift resources and power to communities. In addition, continued investments provide meaningful, centralized systems (for example, data, technical assistance, training, fiscal oversight, and contracting) that support statewide collaboration. These efforts, driven by lessons learned during the COVID-19 pandemic, aim to achieve health equity and equitable health outcomes for all people in Oregon.

More specifically related to health equity, this policy package means:

- Substantial investment in local public health and communities to sustain capacity to co-create, plan and lead interventions to address public health threats.
- Progress toward eliminating inequitable health outcomes and anticipated reductions in healthcare costs related to communicable diseases.
- Solidified partnerships with other governmental agencies and partners to address and respond to inequities related to the social determinants of health[iv].
- Investing in antiracist governmental and community public health initiatives that engage Oregonians directly
- A public health workforce representative of the communities served.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The long-term outcomes are to eliminate health inequities and to establish a structure of continued support to ensure sustained equity. OHA recognizes the need to work with communities to equitably distribute or redistribute resources and power. To achieve long-term outcomes, this policy package includes adjustments to public health modernization efforts based on feedback from community organizations, LPHA, Tribal governments and other partners. In addition to ongoing engagement to co-create public health programs with communities, this policy package modestly increases direct investments in community, centers community priorities and modestly increases investments in local public health workforce infrastructure

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

OHA will measure the success of this policy package through achievement of established public health accountability metrics, which are collected and reported annually. At the proposed funding level, OHA-PHD would provide incentive payments to local public health authorities based on their achievement of process measures established within the funded areas.

Public health accountability metrics continue to shift to reflect community priorities and focus attention on the economic and social injustices that result in health inequities. New metrics that reflect this shift were determined in early 2023. This policy package also includes resources for ongoing evaluation by OHA-PHD and LPHA, CBO and TPH to identify successes and areas for improvement.

Finally, OHA-PHD would identify the public health system's progress toward eliminating health inequities through annual reporting of key population health measures.

- Workforce development opportunities provided and participation in learning or training opportunities
  - Anti-racism training for PHD employees with affinity spaces and conversations to support staff of color.
  - Percent of management reviews completed each year.
  - Percent of staff reviews and performance goal-setting opportunities completed each year.
  - Employee retention by REALD.
- Public health system workforce recruitment and retention (State, local, community, Tribal)
- Total funding allocation and distribution to local health authorities, Tribal governments and CBOs
- Number of multi-drug resistant organisms investigated in long term care facilities with evidence of transmission
- Number of birth or death records processed each year by the vital records modern informatics systems meeting national timeliness and quality performance measures allowing more timely assessment of excess deaths, out of hospital births, births, and deaths associated with emerging infections, suicide, and opioid addiction by race, ethnicity and location.

- Number of laboratory records processed each year by OSPHL (to measure Modernized informatics capacity for Oregon State Public Health Laboratory to efficiently process increasingly complex laboratory information system data)
- Within each region:
  - Number of communicable diseases investigated by regional epidemiologists categorized by race.
  - Number of outbreaks investigated by regional epidemiologists categorized by race
  - Vaccine preventable disease (such as acute hepatitis A and B, pertussis, measles, mumps) rates categorized by race
  - Foodborne disease (such as shiga toxin-producing E. Coli, salmonella and shigella) rates categorized by race.
  - Vaccine preventable diseases and foodborne bacteria rates among houseless populations

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

In the 2017-19, 2019-21 and 2021-23 biennia, OHA-PHD leveraged federal grants and restructured existing positions to expand the reach and impact of the 2017-2023 legislative investments in public health modernization. OHA-PHD also quickly adjusted positions and funding to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic, demonstrating the benefit of a modernizing public health agency. Through this process, OHA-PHD identified gaps and areas for improvement which this policy package seeks to address.

Distribution of legislative investments since 2017:

	2017-19	2019-21	2021-23
LPHAs	$3.9 million	$10.3 million	$33.4 million
Tribes and NARA	-	$1.1 million	$4.4 million
CBOs	-	-	$10 million
OHA	$1.1 million	$4.2 million	$12.8 million
Total	$5 million	$15.6 million	$60.6 million

- In 2017-19 most funds were allocated to eight regional partnerships of LPHA and their key partners, reaching 33 counties.
- In 2019-21, in addition to funding regional models, funds were allocated to each LPHA. For the first time, funds were distributed to most Tribes, the Native American Rehabilitation Association (NARA), and the Northwest Portland Area Indian Health Board. Using innovative service delivery models, funding reached communities most likely to experience health inequities or gaps in access to public health services.
- In 2021-23, funds were distributed to LPHAs, Tribes and Tribe-serving organizations. OHA-PHD distributed funds to 147 community-based organizations and established a community engagement program at OHA-PHD.
    - Funds to LPHAs support efforts to plan for local and regional public health interventions that support equitable climate adaptation, building capacity for cross-sector engagement in climate and community health improvement plans and continuing to track cases of acute and communicable diseases.
    - Funds to CBOs support communities with information and messengers that are trusted and culturally and linguistically responsive to community needs. This includes support for wraparound services during the COVID-19 pandemic.

- OHA-PHD continues to work closely with Tribal governments and organizations serving Tribes to support building of public health infrastructure carrying out community health assessments and improvement plans.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

OHA-PHD explored whether additional federal funding might be available for this policy package. OHA-PHD applied and received funding under a new grant from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. The funding, called Strengthening U.S. Public Health Infrastructure, Workforce, and Data Systems, is an important yet insufficient investment to fill the gaps in public health infrastructure across the entire state over the five-year grant period.

OHA will continue to align its funding streams to further support public health modernization to the extent possible based on federal funding restrictions.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The PHAB, a committee of the Oregon Health Policy Board, guides this policy package by setting overarching priorities.

OHA-PHD partnered with community-based organizations to understand community priorities and ensure they are included in this policy package. This has been done through a series of meetings with the CBO Advisory Board, and with a joint LPHA/CBO workgroup structure. OHA-PHD partnered with a workgroup of local public health leaders to develop priorities and anticipated outcomes for an increased investment. All LPHA have been engaged also through the Conference of Local Health Officials and federally-recognized Tribes will be engaged through the Senate Bill 770 Health Cluster meeting and, if requested, formal consultation. OHA met with the Tribal Health Director of each federally-recognized Tribe and Urban Indian Program to identify each Tribe and NARA's unique 2023-25 public health needs.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

This policy package invests in Oregon's public health system, with targeted investments in LPHA, TPH and in CBOs. LPHA and TPH efforts include public health responsibilities related to the seven foundational capabilities listed above. CBO efforts include the co-creation of public health interventions grounded in equity and partnership with other public health system partners to inform actions and solutions that work for communities. For OHA-PHD's work funded in this policy package to be successful, OHA-PHD would collaborate with several state and local agencies and the sectors they support, and with coordinated care organizations and other health systems partners.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- Public health will be partially funded to address the needs of people in Oregon through this policy package.
- OHA-PHD will have sufficient revenue to address outbreaks, communicable disease prevention and disparate health outcomes for state, local, Tribal and community work.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Yes.

Public Health

OHA-PHD will be responsible for overseeing all contracts and grants included in this policy package in addition to implementing the state-level public health functions needed to improve health outcomes related to the foundational capabilities and programs. Other new responsibilities include:

- Support community outreach and listening sessions, systemic integration of community feedback and technical assistance, guided by the new PHD Equity Office.
- Technical assistance and subject matter expertise on climate and health strategies
- Support regional collaboration for emergency response with regional all-hazards epidemiologists.

Office of Information Services

The Office of Information Services will continue to support technology needs related to Public Health Modernization funding in the Center for Protection.

OHA-PHD has consulted OIS on development of this proposal and has included one OIS position to support the work.

Program Design and Evaluation Services
PDES will be responsible for supporting modernization efforts for the Student Health Survey and Oregon's Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance Survey input, including coordinating participation of community organizations and TPH.

OHA Equity and Inclusion Division
OHA-PHD will continue partnership with the division on REALD & SOGI data efforts and coordination on public health equity work overall.

Human Resources
Human Resources support hiring of staff under this policy package, as needed. No additional positions requested.

Office of Contracts and Procurement
OC&P will continue to support contracts for Public Health Modernization funding under this policy package. No additional positions requested.

Office of Financial Services
OHA-PHD has proposed one position in OFS to support payroll needs as a result of this policy package.

Health Policy and Analytics
Staff within HPA will provide consultation to OHA-PHD on opportunities to align public health accountability metrics with CCO incentive metrics.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Yes. OHA-PHD anticipates a modest increase in the level of service to residents of Oregon and visitors through slight increases in investments in state, LPHA and TPH. In addition, OHA-PHD anticipates modest increases in levels of service to people in Oregon through slight increases in investments in community-based organizations. For example, in the 2021-23 biennium, OHA-PHD provided funds to 68 community-based organizations with public health modernization funding. With a modest increase in investment through this policy package, OHA-PHD expects slightly broader (geographically and focus area) and more in-depth services throughout the state.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

The following full-time, permanent positions require position authority and General Fund and are priced at 18 months for the 2023-25 biennium unless otherwise specified:

Accounting Technician 3: (1) position (OFS)
Epidemiologist 2: (4) positions
Fiscal Analyst 1: (1) position
Fiscal Analyst 2: (1) position

Manager 1: (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 24 months
Manager 2: (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 13 months
Operations and Policy Analyst 2: (4) positions
Operations and Policy Analyst 2: (4) positions, 1.0 FTE, 13 months
Operations and Policy Analyst 3: (4) positions

Operations and Policy Analyst 3: (4) positions, 1.0 FTE, 13 months
Operations and Policy Analyst 4: (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 13 months
Project Manager 2: (1) position
Public Health Educator 2: (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 13 months

The following permanent position requires General Fund only:
Operations and Policy Analyst 3: (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 24 months

Existing permanent position with changes to classification and/or funding source:
Manager 2: (1) position, 1.0 FTE General Fund, 24 months, Manager 1 to Manager 2 reclassification
Program Analyst 2: (1) position, 1.0 FTE General Fund, 24 months

The following position will be established and funded by Federal Funds:
Manager 2 (1) position, 1.0 FTE, 24 months

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

New positions require a computer, phone and routine software packages that are included in the Services and Supplies line for each newly established position.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Ongoing costs are associated with personal services and contracts for workforce development, program evaluation, grants management, legal fees, data system upgrades, translations, interpretation and ADA accessibility. Ongoing costs include special payments to local public health authorities ($16,950,000), community-based organizations and ($16,950,000), federally recognized Tribes ($5,300,000), and the reproductive health provider network ($3,400,000).

Software license, phone services, in office rental costs, IT maintenance and operations.

18. What are the potential savings?

An investment in the prevention of disease and disability is proven to yield significant savings to Medicaid and other payers by decreasing the need for costly health care. Indeed, just a 10 percent increase in per capita public health spending in Oregon would:

- Lower infant mortality rates from 5.0/1,000 to 4.6/1,000.
- Lower diabetes death rates from 24.1/100,000 to 23.8/100,000.
- Lower heart disease death rates from 132.9/100,000 to 128.6/100,000.
- Lower cancer death rates from 167.3/100,000 to 165.4/100,000.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package includes General Fund that would continue environmental public health and health equity work that are essential to meeting the intent of this policy package due to declining Federal Funds revenue. The decline of Federal Funds revenue represents grants that will end during the course of the biennium (the CDC National Initiative to Address COVID-19 Health Disparities grant) and reductions to core CDC environmental public health grants (Environmental Public Health Tracking and ASTDR's Partnership to Promote Local Efforts to Reduce Environmental Exposure (APPLETREE)). Existing permanent positions are still needed to support the work in this policy package.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Section 1115 of the Social Security Act gives the Secretary of Health and Human Services authority to approve experimental, pilot, or demonstration projects that promote the objectives of the Medicaid. Under this authority, the Secretary may waive certain provisions of the Medicaid law to give states additional flexibility to design and improve their programs. Generally, section 1115 demonstration waivers are approved for an initial five-year period and can be extended for up to an additional 3 to 5 years, depending on the populations served. Oregon's Medicaid program has operated on an 1115 waiver since 1994. The 1115 waiver has been renewed many times since then with components designed to advance Oregon's health system transformation goals and improve the health of communities and populations served through the demonstration.

Oregon recently received Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) approval for the 2022-2027 1115 Medicaid Demonstration Waiver (1115 waiver). Activated on October 1, 2022 and set to expire September 30, 2027, the approved 1115 waiver provides an opportunity for the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) to build on a strong foundation of successful innovation as well as address system vulnerabilities and health inequities underscored and exacerbated by the COVID-19 pandemic. Through the demonstration, Oregon will address many of the complex challenges facing many of Oregon's underserved residents, including individuals experiencing major life transitions such as youth aging out of foster care, youth with complex medical and behavioral health needs approaching adulthood, individuals experiencing or at risk of homelessness, individuals of all ages involved with the justice system, individuals at risk for climate-related events, and adults transitioning to dual Medicaid-Medicare enrollment. Under the 1115 waiver, CMS approved initiatives related to continuous eligibility, coverage expansion, and health-related social needs (HRSN) with an emphasis on improving the health and well-being of Oregon's children and youth.

Oregon Health Plan (OHP) members and community partners have consistently reported the need for OHA to address health inequities both in the health system and in the communities where members live and work. Eliminating health inequities by 2030 is OHA's strategic goal. Oregon's 1115 waiver focuses on these main goals aimed at eliminating health inequities by 2030:

- Continuous enrollment to increase access to care and to promote better health
- Coverage of new HRSN benefits (housing and nutrition supports, supports for extreme climate events, and outreach and engagement/linkages to other benefits) for certain members facing complex challenges
- Enhanced coverage of and access to services for youth with complex medical and behavioral health needs
- Additional federal support for these initiatives through Designated State Health Programs.

The approved 1115 waiver and associated policy package will allow the state to meaningfully improve health outcomes in communities who face historic and contemporary injustices.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

The demonstration renewal will continue covering the 1.4 million people in Oregon currently receiving benefits through the Oregon Health Plan (OHP). This proposed demonstration was developed in direct response to the community feedback collected through strategic planning processes and waiver engagement and continues building on the existing foundation of OHP to address health equity more intentionally.

Focusing this waiver renewal application on meaningful progress toward health equity, along with clear alignment with other health policy initiatives in Oregon, allows OHA to improve health outcomes in communities most harmed by social injustices. To carry out this vision OHA is seeking to:

- Maximize continuous and equitable access to coverage

- Expand Medicaid eligibility and benefits for “youth with special health care needs” (YSHCN) up to age 26 with income levels up to 300 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL).
- Streamline transitions between systems and improve health equity through defined benefit packages of HRSN services for certain members facing complex challenges

The approved waiver provisions require a significant legislative concept and policy package in alignment with the policy and program changes outlined in the waiver, as well as operational resources, including appropriate number of staff, necessary to design and implement the transformational provisions authorized in the demonstration. Per the waiver approval, OHA has ten months after approval to complete implementation planning though some changes may go into effect sooner. Any resulting changes to coordinated care organization (CCO) contracts will occur through regular annual reinstatement, contract amendments, or at 5-year contract procurement, as appropriate. This policy package enables the OHA to execute and implement the policy and program changes outlined in 1115 waiver and approved by the CMS.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA’s mission and align with its strategic plan?

A 2018 independent evaluation of CCOs under Oregon’s 1115(a) demonstration found that under CCOs, patient-reported health status improved, quality had improved where CCOs were paid for performance, cost growth was slowed, and access and patient satisfaction were maintained. However, the data also show there is more work to do. Specifically, Oregon must better address the health inequities disproportionately impacting communities of color. The facts and need are stark. In Oregon:

- American Indians and Alaska Natives and non-Latino/a/x African Americans are more than twice as likely to die from diabetes as non-Latino/a/x whites.[2]
- Latino/a/x Oregonians comprise only 12% of the population but represent more than 18% of COVID-19 cases, and Black Oregonians are 3.1 times more likely to have a COVID-19 associated hospitalization than their white counterparts.[3]
- Non-Latino/a/x African Americans have nearly twice the rate of avoidable deaths from heart disease, stroke, and high blood pressure as non-Latino/a/x whites.[1]
- American Indians and Alaska Natives have a much higher death rate from chronic liver disease than any other group.[1]

OHP members and community partners have regularly voiced the need for OHA to address health inequities both in the health system and in the communities where members live and work. The COVID-19 pandemic further highlighted this need as communities most harmed by social injustices were, and still are, disproportionately harmed by the disease. These communities consistently report that lack of access to care and health resources was and is at the center of their struggle to stay safe and healthy. OHA has established a strategic goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. Given the facts cited above, along with myriad other examples of health inequities permeating the health care system, Oregon's 1115 waiver is focused on pushing Oregon's Medicaid system to address health equity directly and systematically.

[3] OHA COVID-19 Weekly Report, Sep. 29, 2021. https://www.oregon.gov/oha/covid19/Documents/DataReports/Weekly-Data-COVID-19-Report.pdf

OHA's renewed 1115 waiver will provide:

- Continuous Coverage: The state is now providing continuous eligibility for children from the time of initial eligibility determination until they reach age six, as well as continuous two-year eligibility for children and adults ages six and older, regardless of changes in circumstances that would otherwise cause a loss of eligibility. This supports consistent coverage and continuity of care by keeping beneficiaries enrolled for 24 months or longer, regardless of income fluctuations or other changes that otherwise would affect eligibility (except for death or ceasing to be a resident of the state). Continuous eligibility policy is likely to minimize coverage gaps and to help maintain continuity of access to care. Continuous coverage is also an important aspect of reducing the rate of uninsured and underinsured individuals.

- Expanded Medicaid Eligibility for Youth with Special Health Care Needs: Oregon will expand Medicaid eligibility and benefits for "youth with special health care needs" (YSHCN) up to the age of 26 with income levels up to 300 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL). This provides these youth and young adults with time to better navigate transitions to Oregon's adult benefit package with fewer disruptions in coverage, while maintaining access to Early and Periodic Screening Diagnosis and Treatment (EPSDT) benefits, increasing the likelihood that these youth will maintain access to the care they need as they enter adulthood.

- Coverage of new HRSN benefits (housing and nutrition supports, supports for extreme climate events, and outreach and engagement/linkages to other benefits) for certain members facing complex challenges and major life transitions

Data show members of high-risk populations often lose coverage and access to care during life transitions and in transitions between systems such as incarceration or admittance to the state hospital. These disruptions come at great cost to the individual and to the system.
Health-related Social Needs: Oregon will provide or increase coverage of certain services that address certain HRSN, as evidence indicates that HRSN services are a critical driver of an individual's access to health services that help to keep them well. This is ground-breaking authority and the first time HRSN services have been approved as a Medicaid benefit. In Oregon, HRSN services will be provided for individuals experiencing life transitions, including individuals who are homeless or at risk of homelessness, individuals transitioning from Medicaid-only coverage to dual Medicaid-Medicare coverage, youth with special health care needs transitioning to adulthood, youth who are involved with the child welfare system, adults and youth released from incarceration or discharged from an Institution for Mental Diseases (IMD).

The HRSN services approved for Oregon's demonstration include short-term post-transition housing for up to six months, housing supports, nutrition education, medically-tailored food assistance, and climate-related supports to maintain healthy temperatures and clean air during climate emergencies. Providing these services is likely to improve health outcomes as well as improve use of other clinical services. For example, individuals with poor health who also experience housing insecurity are likely to frequently use the emergency department for their care. By providing defined benefit packages to members in transition, OHA can ensure these Oregonians stay covered, have important social determinants of health needs met and maintain access to care and medicine, which ultimately improves health outcomes.

Additional Federal Funding through DSHP With this OHP demonstration, CMS has approved authority for Designated State Health Programs (DSHP – pronounced "DISH- PEA") to enable the state to implement new innovative initiatives. CMS approved $268 million DSHP federal buy out for the five years of the demonstration. The buy-out allows federal matching funds for a state-funded DSHP that “free up” state funding to support new Medicaid coverage and HRSN services and related infrastructure investments. The “freed up” state funding will result in $1.2 billion across the demonstration, which includes a state contribution of $88 million during the last year of the demonstration. Therefore, the total in new federal funds are $1.1 billion for the demonstration.

These policy changes will deliver changes to OHP that address the same goals as the original 1994 waiver and subsequent renewals. Oregon is responding to and addressing the lessons learned over the past 10 years — particularly those raised directly by community partners, OHP members and Tribal partners — and those highlighted by the disparate impacts of COVID-19.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The long-term desired outcome is to improve health outcomes in communities most harmed by social injustices in alignment with achieving OHA’s goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030. The key goals to address drivers of health inequities include:

- Maximize continuous and equitable access to coverage
- Streamline transitions between systems and improve health equity through defined benefit packages of HRSN services for certain members facing complex challenges
- Expand Medicaid eligibility and benefits for “youth with special health care needs” (YSHCN up to the age of 26 with income levels up to 300 percent of the FPL).

OHA heard from community that if those goals are achieved the system will reflect:

Maximizing continuous and equitable access to coverage	Enrolling a higher percentage of folks who are eligible
	Reducing churn and providing better continuity of coverage
	Reducing/eliminating the inequity in the uninsured rate
Improving health outcomes by streamlining life and coverage transitions	No language, cultural, or economic barriers to care
	Enrollment is preserved in OHP as patients transition between systems
	People experience streamlined, coordinated, and integrated care across health and social systems
	Easier to access and have Medicaid cover housing supports, social supports, and pre-treatment services
Expand Medicaid eligibility and benefits for "youth with special health care needs"	Maintain access to the care they need as they enter adulthood up to the age of 26
	Retain access to the care they need up to 300 percent of the FPL.
	Reducing churn and providing better continuity of coverage
	Youth with special health care needs experience streamlined, coordinated, and integrated care across health and social systems

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

As required by CMS, once the waiver renewal is in place, OHA will conduct a formal evaluation of the 1115 waiver's impacts and progress toward meeting goals and milestones. The evaluation will focus on two of the main components of the demonstration waiver:

1. Continuous eligibility, which is a proposal to reduce the unnecessary cycling of members on and off Medicaid by extending continuous eligibility (CE) to any child on Medicaid up to age 6, and CE for two years to any person aged 6 and older. This evaluation will focus on the costs and outcomes of this policy change, and will use existing qualitative data, as well as collect quantitative data among members affected by the change.

2. HRSN services, which are packages of services that will be available to people transitioning out of certain populations or settings (justice-involved, Youth with Special Health Care Needs, psychiatric residential mental health facilities), and to people who are homeless or at-risk, who are dually eligible, who are vulnerable to extreme climate events, or who are child welfare involved. This formal evaluation focuses on outcome measures (for example, impact to Medicaid members), and process measures (for example, improvements in system efficiency).

Reporting metrics will be developed that cover beneficiaries' enrollment and renewal, access to providers, utilization of services, and quality of care and health outcomes. These metrics must be reported for all populations and must also be stratified by key demographic subpopulations, including sex, race, ethnicity, age, primary language, disability status, and geography.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Many of the policy proposals in the 1115 waiver have been of interest to OHA, Tribal partners, and community members for years. However, OHA and partners analyzed the options proposed and determined that action could not be taken without an 1115 waiver, which allows for the waiver of certain federal regulations. The 1115 waiver is only renewed and negotiated every 5 years, and amendments are difficult. As such, action through the 1115 waiver was determined necessary to pursue these changes.

OHA was successful in gaining additional Federal Funding through DSHP with this demonstration. CMS has approved the state to implement new innovative initiatives. CMS approved $268 million DSHP federal buy out for the five years of the demonstration. The buy-out allows federal matching funds for a state-funded DSHP that “free up” state funding to support new Medicaid coverage and HRSN services and related infrastructure investments. The “freed up” state funding will result in $1.2 billion across the demonstration, which includes a state contribution of $88 million during the last year of the demonstration. The total in new federal funds are $1.1 billion for the demonstration.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Not leveraging this opportunity provided through the 1115 waiver would significantly impede advancement towards achieving OHA’s 2030 goal of eliminating health inequities. Furthermore, not moving forward with the policy package could greatly hinder OHA’s ability to successfully implement provisions of the waiver, as well as cause compliance issues that could result in:

- CMS either withholding funding or requiring payback of previously provided funding
- Legal challenges from various populations not being served as federally required
- Political issues and loss of community trust if OHA receives federal DSHP funds to support specific new policies and programs and does not make corresponding system changes to operationalize those programs

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The renewed waiver responds to the community feedback OHA has received over the past five years and builds on the existing foundation of OHP to address health equity more intentionally, while aligning with the priorities of Oregon's nine Federally Recognized Tribes[4] and the Urban Indian Health Program[5].

In addition to extensive public and community input, staff reviewed the following existing strategic plans during the waiver development process:

- 2020 OHA Ombuds Program Report
- CCO 2.0 Community Engagement Report
- Oregon Health Policy Board (OHPB) 2021 Health Equity Recommendations
- OHA 2019 Strategic Plan for Community Engagement
- OHA 2019 Tribal Strategic Plan for Community Engagement
- State Health Improvement Plan
- COVID-19 Listening Sessions materials

Community partnerships

OHA held multiple information sessions in English and Spanish through the Community Partner Outreach Program (CPOP), OHPB, the Medicaid Advisory Committee (MAC), and the Health Equity Committee (HEC). All these forums welcomed public comments on the waiver. Further, the state held its official public comment period from December 7, 2021 to January 7, 2022. This included

[4] https://www.oregon.gov/lcd/Commission/Documents/2021-09_Item-2_Directors-Report_Attachment-A_DEI-Action-Plan.pdf
[5] https://www.ihs.gov/urban/seven public meetings with opportunity for public comment, and people could also submit comment via survey, mail, or email. During state public comment, OHA heard from nearly 200 unique commenters on a variety of policy topics, and the following policy changes were made to the waiver application because of these comments:

- The waiver of the Early and Periodic Diagnostic and Treatment (EPSDT) benefit for children was removed from the application.[6]
- The waiver of retroactive eligibility was removed from the application.
- OHA clarified the request for House Bill 3353 (2021) expenditures to count as medical for purposes of rate setting. This request in the application was previously combined with other health-related services requests for rates and was separated out onto its own line for clarity.
- OHA added broadband services to transitions related to extreme climate events.
- OHA changed the number of upstream metrics proposed for its Quality Incentive Program from 3–5 to up to 6.

Partnership with the nine federally recognized Tribes and UIHP

In accordance with CMS requirements and OHA's Tribal Consultation and Urban Indian Health Program (UIHP) Confer Policy, OHA distributed a Dear Tribal Leaders Letter, which included an invitation for consultation, on November 29, 2021, to each of Oregon's nine federally recognized Tribes and the UIHP. The 1115 Medicaid Waiver Tribal Consultation occurred via videoconference on December 14, 2021, which was no fewer than sixty days before submission of the final Waiver language to CMS on February 15, 2022.

In addition to meeting the requirements for Tribal Consultation, OHA partnered with the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes so that they were involved in and informed of the ongoing development of the state's 2022-2027 1115 Waiver Application. This included regular updates at Tribal Monthly Meetings and Senate Bill 770 (2001) Health and Human Services Cluster Meetings, drafting a Tribal Concept Paper based on known concerns raised previously by the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes, and working with the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes to develop this concept paper before inclusion in the application. Further, OHA met with the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes in a series of meetings to further develop the policies proposed in the Tribal Concept Paper after waiver submission in preparation for conversations with CMS, to ensure all materials and responses reflected the intent of the nine federally recognized Tribes. OHA continues to update the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes and UIHP about the 1115 waiver at Tribal Monthly Meetings, Senate Bill 770 HHS Cluster Meetings, and via email as appropriate. OHA staff are working to ensure that appropriate consultation happens with the Nine Federally Recognized Tribes and UIHP as policies move toward implementation.

Coordinated care organizations (CCOs)

In addition to receiving public comment from CCOs at public meetings and through state and federal comment, OHA has provided regular waiver updates to CCOs at the OHA CCO Leadership Policy and Strategy and CCO Operations meetings. Additionally, OHA has regularly met with a subset of CCO CEOs to provide waiver negotiation updates and receive feedback. OHA has had additional meetings at the request of CCOs or those who represent them, including Coalition for a Healthy Oregon (COHO) and CCO Oregon. OHA also has met with Health Share of Oregon, whose pilot program around housing has informed Oregon's SDOH transitions support work.

Regional health equity coalitions (RHECs)

The proposal for Community Investment Collaboratives (CICs) was co-created with Oregon Regional Health Equity Coalitions (RHECs) through a unique community-driven process. In 2021, RHECs came to OHA with a proposal for the 1115(a) demonstration waiver renewal and worked closely with the Legislature to inform the design of House Bill 3353. Subsequently, OHA and RHEC leadership worked together to build out the intent of House Bill 3353 and increase accountability to community by emphasizing communities' role in identifying inequities and making investment decisions to address inequities. The OHA/RHEC workgroup met 12 times between May and July 2021 to develop strategies to develop a model for shifting power and resources to community. Recognizing that the process can be as important as the outcome, the work involved relationship and trust building, particularly to build increased trust between community organizations and government, naming some of the values held in conducting work together through developing group agreements, sharing needs to successfully accomplish the work together, clarifying roles and scope of work, and agreeing on guiding principles to ensure the model was designed to achieve health equity goals, including investment in racial, cultural, and underserved communities. The OHA/RHEC workgroup continued to meet through 2021 and 2022 to develop this proposal through negotiations with CMS.

Partnerships with other state agencies

OHA has worked with several other state agencies to ensure success of the 1115 waiver demonstration, including the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS), Oregon Department of Corrections (ODOC), and Oregon Housing and Community Services (OHCS). ODHS has been involved in informing the work for YSHCN and the SDOH transition supports, as well as informing any needed changes to the ONE system. OHCS has been consulted on housing policy. ODOC has been consulted on providing eligibility and benefits for those in state prisons.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

OHA submitted a legislative concept placeholder (LC 44300-010), because the precise outcomes of the negotiations with CMS were uncertain. The Legislature did not move forward with the concept and OHA did not require the concept upon further negotiation.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

The HRSN services package mentioned above will impact counties and their jails, because as part of the 1115 demonstration renewal request, Oregon is seeking to cover adults and youth transitioning out of the criminal justice system.

The Nine Federally-Recognized Tribes

Formal consultation and ongoing engagement with the nine federally-recognized Tribes and UIHP is explained above. The proposed policies in the Tribal Concept Paper are based on requests of the Nine Federally-Recognized Tribes and would have significant impact in reducing health inequities for Tribal members and is still under negotiations with CMS .

See question #8 for more details on the impacts to state agencies.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): October 1, 2022

End date (if applicable): September 30,2027

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Federal Limitation for DSHP aligns with Waiver approved spending limits. Waiver spending limits are based on:

- Estimated amounts of DSHP-eligible expenditures;
- CMS approval of programs and claiming protocol
- Expected costs, utilization, and federal match for DSHP-funded initiatives

Affordable Care Act (ACA) Federal Medical Assistance Percentage (FMAP) Adjustment costs uses caseload forecast, projected pace of redeterminations, average cost per person, and estimated federal match rates.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Oregon received first-in-the nation authorities with its 1115 waiver. To successfully implement and operationalize HRSN services, there will be significant work involving cross-agency (OHA, ODHS, OHCS) collaboration to develop HRSN service definitions, eligibility criteria, provider qualifications, and contract requirements and rules. Additionally, a procurement of third-party contractors to support HRSN service delivery for the Fee-For-Service (FFS) population will be necessary.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

To be determined.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

Positions needed are based on what CMS has approved. OHA currently needs 131 new full-time positions to implement waiver initiatives authorized by CMS.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

To be determined based on the outcomes of negotiations with CMS.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

18. What are the potential savings?

- The HRSN services approved in the waiver can be expected to help stabilize the housing and nutritional circumstances of certain Medicaid enrollees and thus ensure that they will keep receiving and benefiting from physical, oral and behavioral health services. This leads to better care, improved health, and lower costs overall.

- HRSN services are expected to promote coverage and access to care, improve health outcomes, reduce disparities, and create long-term, cost-effective alternatives or supplements to traditional medical services. For example, individuals with poor health who also experience housing insecurity are likely to frequently use the emergency department for their care. By providing the short-term services needed to stabilize their housing, this demonstration will test whether the individual's health outcomes and their utilization of appropriate care will improve.
- The continuous eligibility policy is likely to assist in promoting the objectives of Medicaid as it is expected to minimize coverage gaps and to help maintain continuity of access to program benefits for the populations of focus, and thereby help improve health outcomes of beneficiaries.
- Hiring agency staff as a strategy to achieve the resources needed to complete waiver implementation work will result in overall savings; an alternative is to utilize contractors, which would result in higher costs to complete necessary work.

OHA may realize long-term savings in OHP expenditures due to more cost-effective, high-quality care being delivered to OHP members. To the extent savings occur, they will be reflected in subsequent years' CCO rates, which are based on past expenditures, and incorporated into OHA's budget as part of the capitation rates for CCO-enrolled OHP members.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Direct Service Payments:

- Funded with Medicaid matched with state funds
- Funded with DSHP

Positions:

- Most of the positions will be funded with an allocation of state funds and Medicaid and CHIP Federal Funds.
- Positions not eligible for Federal Funds will be paid entirely with state funds.
- Support staff will be allocated over multiple funding sources through cost allocation.

Contracts:

- Most of the contracts will be funded with state funds matched with Medicaid Federal Funds.
- Contracts not eligible for Federal Funds with be paid entirely with state funds.

Policy package title:	Redeterminations and Basic Health Program

Summary statement:

One-third of people in Oregon rely on the Oregon Health Plan for health care. During the pandemic, federal rules led to hundreds of thousands of additional Oregonians receiving health care through OHP. Without state action, this increase in health coverage will be lost when the public health emergency declaration for COVID-19 expires. In 2022, the Legislature passed House Bill 4035 to fund the federally mandated redetermination process to help maintain health care coverage by funding short-term coverage for people who earn too much for Medicaid but not enough to afford other coverage and authorize development of a sustainable long-term solution in the form of a Basic Health Program. This policy package would fund the remaining critical elements needed to implement a redetermination process. This package includes extensive investment in engagement with community partners to ensure OHA meets the needs of diverse Oregon communities.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

About one in three people in Oregon rely on the Oregon Health Plan (OHP) for their health care coverage. People with coverage are more likely to receive preventive care and to seek care quickly when they are sick, both of which help avoid or minimize many serious health conditions. Losing that coverage contributes to poorer health and health inequities, from short-term acute health problems as well as long-term chronic ones, and to higher expenses for the individual and the entire health care system.

During the COVID-19 public health emergency (PHE), the federal government directed states not to terminate Medicaid members' coverage for the duration of the PHE. Largely as a result, OHP enrollment rose from about 1 million members to about 1.4 million. Oregon's overall uninsured rate fell from 6.0 percent to 4.6 percent, with the largest improvements among African Americans and other populations who have long experienced health inequities.

The PHE expired on May 11, 2023 and separately the federal government required states to assess whether every individual enrolled in Medicaid is eligible, a process known as "redetermination, " starting April 1, 2023. Every individual who is currently covered by Medicaid - an estimated 1.5 million Oregonians - will have their eligibility redetermined at some point between April 2023 and January 2024.

Separately, before the pandemic, there was another challenging problem related to OHP enrollment that OHA had been working to address, known as "churn." Churn is when a member cycles on and off OHP coverage due to short-term changes in their income, changing family circumstances, or the challenges of navigating the procedures for maintaining coverage. In 2019, one-third of “new” OHP members were returning after less than 12 months, and one-quarter after less than six months. This churn breaks the connections between the patient, their primary care provider, and other providers and community services assisting the patient, which disrupts or delays medical care—again contributing to poorer health and health inequities.

Churn also adds an expensive administrative burden on the state as people are enrolled, disenrolled, and enrolled again. For example, a 2015 cost analysis of national data (2005-2010) estimated that disenrolling and reenrolling one person in coverage within a year incurs administrative costs between $400 and $600, an amount which would likely be higher today.

One more related problem is the difficulty in accessing health care faced by people who earn a bit too much to qualify for OHP but not enough to afford quality private coverage. This population includes the “churn” population during those times when their income fluctuates above the OHP threshold. It is the population least likely to have employer-provided coverage. The Affordable Care Act (ACA) provides tax credits to help people with lower incomes purchase coverage through the Health Insurance Marketplace. However, this assistance does not cover the full cost for most people and is based on the price of a silver plan (the second-lowest level, below platinum and gold). Many people either end up with the lowest level of coverage (that is, bronze), which typically has the highest co-pays and deductibles and covers the fewest services, or they remain uninsured. Once again, poor or non-existent coverage contributes to poorer health and health inequities.

The Legislature has already taken initiative to address these interwoven challenges. House Bill 4035, passed in 2022, directed OHA—in consultation with ODHS and DCBS and informed by a Community and Partner Workgroup—to develop a process for OHP redetermination upon the end of the PHE. It also created a task force to develop a program to "provide affordable health insurance coverage and improve the continuity of coverage for individuals who regularly enroll and disenroll in the medical assistance program or other health care coverage due to frequent fluctuations in income."

House Bill 4035 funded the initial costs for the redetermination work in the 2021-23 biennium, including planning and preparatory work needed before the PHE ends. It also funded temporary expansion of OHP up to 200 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL). This will prevent the 138–200 percent FPL population from instantly losing coverage, and hold them in OHP until the development of a plan for a sustainable long-term solution to ensure lower income people in Oregon can access health care coverage, in the form of a Basic Health Program (BHP).

This policy package finishes the work begun in House Bill 4035. In particular, it funds community outreach and engagement efforts for redeterminations and improved access to health care in Oregon through full implementation of the BHP. The Legislature recognized that the end of the PHE brings with it much more than merely an obligation to conduct an enormous administrative redetermination process. It also brings a tremendous opportunity to maintain the gains in health care coverage, ensure coverage for even more people in Oregon, improve health outcomes, reduce health inequities, and save money in our health care system. Instead of falling back to pre-COVID levels of health care coverage, Oregon can increase the health and economic benefits associated with having stable access to health care.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented

To realize the goals of the Legislature expressed in House Bill 4035, this policy package funds several intertwined elements.

First, this package funds the redetermination work itself. Portions of this funding were already planned in the fiscal analysis of House Bill 4035, but were pushed forward from the 2021-23 biennium, as the federal government delayed the expiration of the PHE, and thus the beginning of the redetermination work. (Some portions of earlier funding have already been incorporated into the current service level, so they do not appear here.)

This package funds short-term Medicaid coverage for indiviudals with incomes between 138–200 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL). This temporary expansion of OHP ensures that this population does not lose their OHP coverage before they can join the BHP when it launches in July 2024. The original fiscal analysis of House Bill 4035 included this funding for the 2021-23 biennium, but it needs to be formally requested again due to the extension of the PHE.

This package funds a set of supporting efforts, each of which is critical to the success of the larger effort as Oregon moves from redeterminations to short-term coverage to long-term coverage through the BHP for people in Oregon with incomes just above Medicaid eligibility. These include (as described further below):

- Policy and actuarial analysis
- Information systems needs
- Advertising and communications
- Call center support
- Engagement with community partners
- A member feedback management app
- Project management support

Policy and actuarial analysis are required to inform the build of the BHP, make final determinations of caseloads and service levels, and develop strategies to address potential impacts on the Health Insurance Marketplace. Current estimates are that about 108,000 people will ultimately enroll in the program, which would reduce the percentage of uninsured people in Oregon by 0.5 percent (on top of the reductions gained during the PHE). In addition, those estimates project the BHP would have a service level equivalent to OHP (with the exception of long term services and supports). .

Information system needs are primarily enhancements to the ONE system, for streamlining the redetermination process as well as adding BHP members. Recent planning indicates more changes would be needed than previously anticipated to implement changes to the redetermination process.

To be effective, information about the redetermination process and the BHP must be shared with everyone in Oregon who is affected. This package includes a mixture of advertising and communications work to reach a diverse audience across the state.

An effective and efficient call center is essential to assisting OHP members during redeterminations. This package includes several pieces related to the call center. The delay of the PHE expiration extended the call center activities planned for 2021-23 through 2024. Also, a significant increase to the call center's capacity would provide an adequate service level and support needed to provide surge capacity; for example, a contract is in place providing contractor staff for ancillary call services, such as the lengthy task of updating the addresses of OHP members, to free up state staff in the call center who must complete the more complex eligibility determinations. A critical new call center would serve individuals who can no longer receive OHP due to income limitations, ensuring they gain alternative coverage without experiencing lapses in health coverage or care. This package also includes dedicated call center staffing to support the community partners who are, in turn, supporting and enhancing the state's already effective and trusted community outreach and enrollment efforts.

Engagement with community partners is essential to ensure the redetermination process and the BHP meets the needs of all diverse communities across Oregon. It also enables the state to benefit from partners' expertise and leadership in outreach to members of their communities. The disparate impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic highlighted the importance of engaging communities in meaningful ways beyond checking a box. Meaningful community engagement means focusing on communities and community members' needs as projects and programs are designed through a community and equity lens and ensuring internal agency infrastructure tracks, responds to, and meaningfully integrates community feedback. The community engagement work would include building partnerships with community organizations and leaders, sharing educational resources, and deliberative dialogue that brings communities together to identify needs and issues and have hard conversations towards finding possible solutions and internal agency infrastructure to carry community-based solutions to operational, implementation and program teams.

During the pandemic, the COVID-19 Response and Recovery Unit used a feedback management app to make the best use of feedback received from OHP members, community partners, public listening sessions, state and local agencies, health care providers, and other external partners. The app proved its value for improving customer service, data tracking, equity-centered systems response, and follow-up services to those providing feedback. It enabled community feedback to be incorporated across multiple state agencies involved in COVID-19 response and to elevate community voice for systems improvements through a structured internal approach. A similar approach using the existing system for the redeterminations process will allow for systems escalation and tracking of concerns received across multiple teams, documentation of feedback received by the community, and tracking actions taken based on community feedback. Importantly, this ensures an internal infrastructure to value and elevate the voice of community throughout the agency.

Like any major project, this work requires appropriate project management support. Previously planned support is extended through the end of the 2023-25 biennium in response to the delayed expiration of the PHE, and additional support is requested over what was previously anticipated. All the efforts and elements described above are designed to maximize enrollment in OHP of those people who are Medicaid-eligible and to enable the sustainable implementation of the BHP. Such a program is authorized by Section 1331 of the ACA, to serve people earning between 138 percent and 200 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL), the income level just above the eligibility threshold for OHP. The exact form of the program would depend on, among other things, agreements with the federal Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS).

As with OHP, the BHP would be provided through CCOs, taking advantage of Oregon's experience with this innovative approach to Medicaid. Also, this way, if a person's income fluctuates around 138 percent of FPL, the CCO can administratively transition that person between OHP and BHP, while their actual health care remains seamless, maintaining continuity of coverage and access to their health care network.

Oregon has also requested an amendment to the 1115 OHP waiver to allow a permanent Medicaid expansion to 200 percent of federal poverty for selected populations, including American Indian and Alaska Native people. The individuals who would be eligible for this expanded eligibility group are those, like AI/AN people, who would be eligible for the Basic Health Program (BHP), but they are statutorily exempt from the requirement to enroll in a managed care entity (CCOs in Oregon). Since there is no fee-for-service option in the BHP, a Medicaid expansion for these groups is needed to ensure that individuals who are exempt or excluded from mandatory CCO enrollment are not required to enroll in a CCO as part of the BHP.

Note that this policy package does not require significant, ongoing state funds for the BHP service package itself, because federal funding is available for the BHP without state match requirements. Section 1331 of the ACA allows states to cover people with income under 200 percent FPL who would otherwise qualify for federal tax credits toward the purchase of private coverage through the Health Insurance Marketplace. To do this, states can receive a lump sum amount based on the tax credits enrollees in the state would have received and use those funds to provide health care coverage directly for those people. This approach allows states to design a more comprehensive and coordinated system for its residents, reduces costs, and avoids many difficulties associated with buying in the Marketplace. With the BHP, Oregon would be the third state to take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity to increase and improve health care coverage for its residents.

The BHP is being designed to operate within the federal funding constraints with limited ongoing state funds required so that the program itself would be essentially 100 percent federally funded. This package includes funding for initial development, ongoing administration of the program, and coverage of services with federal limitations, but does not include, nor need, state funds for the service package itself.

This package also includes funding to support consultation related to minimizing any potential coverage disruptions and ensure stability in the individual market while Oregon creates the BHP. OHA is working with federal partners to determine whether potential federal savings that arise due to the creation of this program could be accessed after Oregon transitions to a state-based marketplace in 2027. OHA is also working with carriers to explore mititgation strategies for the interim period (2025-2026) that could be funded by through state dollars pursuant to a request during special session.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

The populations who most often experience health inequities are the same populations who most often lack health care coverage. For example, the groups of people in Oregon who saw the greatest increase in coverage during the COVID-19 pandemic were, by race, African Americans and, by income, those between 138 percent and 200 percent of FPL. These same populations are most at risk of losing their coverage through redeterminations. Maintaining coverage would improve health equity in every aspect of their lives that can be positively affected through health care services, from preventive care to long-term chronic care to critical care that many people delay due to cost.

Relationships with trusted community partners, in locations and communities where individuals are likely to already go, is essential to support Oregon's populations impacted by health inequities. Community Partners are trusted, local, accessible and effective in supporting OHP members in the redeterminations process. Various community partners and agents currently support both the Health Insurance Marketplace and OHP. New community partners and agents would help with the additional workload, and better ensure equity gaps within communities are addressed. The request in this package for additional resources to support community partners is responsive to ongoing feedback received in multiple forums from community partners and OHP members.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The desired outcome of the redeterminations process is that every person eligible for OHP maintains coverage (for example, that no one who is eligible loses coverage merely because of administrative hurdles, such as the lack of up-to-date contact information), and that those who are not eligible for OHP seamlessly move to alternative health care coverage, without interruptions to care, thereby preserving Oregon's gains in coverage.

The desired outcome of the BHP is that a higher percentage of people in Oregon have health care coverage, which in turn helps improve and eliminate inequities in health care access and health outcomes. Coverage should be more stable, with less "churn." As a result, people should experience better health because they receive the care they need when they need it, and overall costs to individuals and the health care system should be lower than otherwise.

Because the BHP would be administered like OHP, the same or similar measures, such as CCO metrics, would be broadly applicable to track these outcomes. Thus, overall, a larger percentage of Oregon's population should meet improved health metrics and outcomes as measured through CCO metrics.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

During the redetermination process, the call center and community and agent partners would collect demographic information, including REALD/SOGI data, from each person with whom they have contact. OHA would track publicly the number and percentage of the 1.4 million individuals currently in OHP who retain health care coverage through any type of coverage in the 18 months after the ending of the PHE. This would be broken down by REALD/SOGI Data, unhoused, and types of coverage (OHP, BHP, Health Insurance Marketplace, private, and uninsured).

Because the BHP would align with OHP administration and benefits, impacts on health inequities regarding BHP members would be measurable in the same or similar ways as is done with OHP. The same improvements in collecting and analyzing REALD/SOGI data currently underway in the health care system would be broadly applicable to the program without creating new mechanisms.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

The pandemic and the impact it had on OHP enrollment have led to unprecedented circumstances. There simply is no prior experience with such a situation. Without a determined effort, increased health care coverage rates during the pandemic will be squandered, and the opportunity to increase coverage rates further will be lost.

In addition to this policy package, OHA is pursuing a new continuous coverage policy via the 1115 OHP Medicaid demonstration waiver renewal. This continuous coverage policy would allow OHP enrollees aged 0–6 to stay enrolled for 5 years at a time without needing to submit for redetermination and would allow for 2 years of continuous coverage for enrollees age 6 and older. As described earlier, many individuals churn on and off OHP due to income fluctuations and an administrative burden. The 1115 waiver continuous coverage policy addresses the administrative burden element, but in addition, this policy package is needed to address the churn associated with fluctuations in income.

In passing House Bill 4035, the Legislature recognized the challenge and opportunity facing our state. This policy package follows their lead toward ensuring health care coverage for more people in Oregon.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

The main alternative is to do nothing. After the federally mandated redetermination process ends OHP coverage for potentially hundreds of thousands of people in Oregon, they will once again struggle to access affordable health care. The gains in health and health equity will fade away.

Another alternative would be enrollment in an individual, commercial health insurance plan. With cost sharing reductions and tax credits, this coverage would be free or close to free for a portion of this population. However, for others, there will still be costs; these costs, though relatively low, may present a barrier to care, leading individuals to refrain from obtaining needed medication or care and ultimately leading to worse health outcomes and higher costs than under a BHP. Additionally, the provider networks used by commercial health plans do not mirror those used by OHP, which means that many people obtaining private coverage will not be able to continue to see their existing providers. Continuity of care will be disrupted, and some individuals may even stop seeking care without access to trusted providers, resulting in churn and correspondingly higher administrative costs for the state. Finally, families that obtain individual commercial coverage may be faced with a situation that requires some individuals to obtain OHP and others to obtain health insurance. This may present logistical hurdles that are difficult for some to navigate, also resulting in a disruption of care and coverage.

Failure to fund specific elements of the package would severely reduce the effectiveness of the package as a whole, which will disrupt the continuity of care and coverage for a significant number of Oregonians. For example, without extensive and effective community outreach as well as advertising and other communication efforts, a significant number of people may never learn of potential loss of their OHP coverage or the opportunity to enroll in the BHP. The Community and Partner Workgroup has articulated through their work that relationships with trusted community partners, in locations and communities where individuals are likely to already go, is essential to support Oregon's populations impacted by health inequities. For another example, without the Medicaid to Marketplace Migration portion of the center, those who do not qualify for continued coverage under OHP or for coverage under the BHP, especially those who are members of marginalized or typically underserved communities, may not even know they qualify for a free or almost free qualified health plan through the Health Insurance Marketplace. These people in Oregon will "fall through the cracks" and increase the rate of uncompensated care furnished by providers and health systems, resulting in higher costs for payers.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

Development of the BHP is being informed by CMS and the task force established by House Bill 4035. OHA has been meeting with CMS regularly since March 2022 to identify the best path forward for covering people in Oregon whose income hovers above Medicaid eligibility. The next steps involve the submission of a BHP blueprint, which will reflect the opinions and priorities identified by the task force, the public input process, and Tribal Consultation.

As it seeks to do in all its work, OHA would emphasize engagement with community partners in implementing the BHP. By placing communities first, we genuinely shift power to communities and follow their lead to discover and uncover needs, issues, and broader inequities. This approach includes building partnerships with community organizations and official and unofficial community leaders, sharing resources available through our programs and projects, organizing with community partners to identify issues and goals, and being intentional by bringing communities together to have meaningful, needed, and at times hard conversations towards finding solutions. Such community engagement addresses system inequality by assisting historically marginalized communities to be actively engaged and involved. This policy package includes funding for meaningful community engagement to design the program through a community and equity lens, and internal agency infrastrucutre to ensure, as an agency, OHP not only listens but moves to internal implementation and action based on community engagement.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

House Bill 4035 created a task force to “develop a proposal for a bridge program to provide affordable health insurance coverage and improve the continuity of coverage for individuals who regularly enroll and disenroll in the medical assistance program or other health care coverage due to frequent fluctuations in income.” OHA has submitted a placeholder legislative concept (44300-11) in case these recommendations require legislative action.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

The Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) would be affected as a partner in the ONE system and call center. This policy package includes funding for these elements as they relate to the BHP, separate from any packages submitted by ODHS on other matters related to the ONE system and call center.

Oregon has requested a permanent Medicaid expansion, using an 1115 waiver. The individuals who would be eligible for this expanded eligibility group are those who are otherwise eligible for the Basic Health Program (BHP), but they are statutorily exempt from the requirement to enroll in a managed care entity (CCOs in Oregon). Since there is no fee-for-service option in the BHP, this expansion group is needed to ensure that individuals who are exempt or excluded from mandatory CCO enrollment are not required to enroll in a CCO as part of the BHP. This expansion impacts American Indians and Alaskan Natives and has been part of ongoing government to government consultation between OHA and Oregon's Nine Federally Recognized Tribes.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): The Basic Health Program would become permanent

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

The timeline is based on the assumption that the PHE will expire in October 2022 and that OHP will begin redeterminations by January 2023; will implement temporary OHP expansion until December 31, 2023; and will begin implementation of a BHP on January 1, 2024.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

This policy package would fund a vendor-run call center providing enrollment and application assistance and outreach to individuals redetermined ineligible for Medicaid and grant funding for community and agent partners for enrollment and application assistance as well as outreach.

OHA will be responsible for operating a new BHP that covers individuals from 138–200 percent of FPL, with the goal of covering the OHP service package through CCOs. This will require development and administration of a new CCO contract with compliance and oversight of contractual requirements.The exact service package would be informed by the recommendations of the Joint Task Force on the Bridge Health Care Program.

Human Resources would be responsible for regular onboarding for limited duration positions described above. Additional OIS resources may be necessary to link the Health Insurance Marketplace phone system to the new call center.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

During the process of redeterminations, OHA estimates that 90,000 to 300,000 enrollees will lose OHP coverage. This policy package works to ensure that every person eligible for OHP maintains coverage (for example, no one who is eligible loses coverage merely because of administrative hurdles, such as the lack of up-to-date contact information), and that those who are not eligible for OHP seamlessly move to alternative health care coverage, without interruptions to care, thereby preserving Oregon’s gains in coverage.

Preliminary actuarial analysis estimates that 55,000 current enrollees from the OHP, 32,500 current enrollees from the Health Insurance Marketplace, and 11,300 people who are currently uninsured — a total of 108,800 people — would be eligible and choose to enroll in the BHP.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

In addition to the positions approved in House Bill 4035, the policy package includes positions for the following bodies of work:

- Creation and operation of a bilingual and bicultural call center support team
- CCO Quality Assurance for compliance and contract requirement oversight for the CCOs, as well as contract administration
- CCO services to address member problems related to access to care, quality of care and health disparity
- Claims and Encounter for the review of provider claims and CCO encounter data
- Policy work, one for eligibility policy and one for Medicaid Policy
- Develop, coordinate, and track the project plan for development of a new health coverage option designed to serve people leaving OHP.
- Ombuds, for eligibility cases and concerns and Feedback Management integration
- Feedback management to ensure community feedback integrated across the agency
- Manage the metrics work of the BHP
- Health Policy & Analytics Business Operations to provide program administrative support
- Support the Medicaid to Marketplace Migration Call Center
- Health equity to work on the development and integration of health equity policies

Note: Limited duration positions that phase into the 2021-23 biennium for this work were based on an earlier PHE and have been adjusted accordingly in this policy package. Additionally, position description summaries for each of the positions in this policy package are available upon request.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Redeterminations
App design modifications, the call center to support OHP members through redetermination and paid advertising are all one-time costs.

Medicaid to Marketplace Migration Call Center
Eight limited duration positions, community partners, agents and vendor contracted call center costs described in response to question 4 are one-time costs.

Basic Health Program
One-time consulting costs on BHP design and recommendations.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Direct Service Cost
OHA estimates it will receive $979,200,000 from the federal government to cover the costs of operating the BHP for 18 months.

18. What are the potential savings?

It is estimated that between 90,000 to 300,000 individuals will no longer qualify for Medicaid during the redeterminations process. In the absence of this program, thousands of people could experience a lapse in coverage, churn on and off coverage, or become uninsured. This program is intended to ensure continuity of coverage for this population and could prevent gaps in care that can often lead to higher monthly health care costs due to pent-up demand for health care services.

A 2015 cost analysis of national data (2005-2010) estimated that the process of disenrolling and reenrolling one person in coverage within a year incurs administrative costs between $400 and $600, an amount which would likely be higher today.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Direct Service Payments

- Medicaid Federal Funds

Position Funding:

- Most of the positions would be funded with an allocation of state funds, Medicaid and CHIP Federal Funds
- Positions not eligible for Federal Funds would be paid entirely with state funds
- Support staff would be allocated over multiple funding sources through the cost allocation system

Contract Funding:

- Most of the contracts would be funded with Medicaid Federal Funds matched with state funds
- Contracts not eligible for Federal Funds would be paid entirely with state funds

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Oregon State Hospital
Program:	Salem and Junction City campuses
Policy package title:	Complex Case Management (CCM) Unit
Policy package number:	413
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

This policy package provides funds to build a specialized unit at the Oregon State Hospital on the Junction City campus to treat patients who are not responding to current treatment and require intensive services. This policy package will help prevent patient and staff injuries and promote health equity by addressing the needs of our most acute patients.

Funding for this policy package is in Legislative Fiscal Office package #811.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   OHA proposes this policy package to treat patients with complex clinical and social needs that have not responded to “treatment as usual” through the development of a specialized unit on the Junction City campus designed to meet the needs of one highly acute patient at a time.

   Patients that meet CCM unit criteria have contributed to patient and staff injuries due to recurrent physical aggression and other significant safety events. CCM unit treatment would target patient aggression, suicide attempts, and the associated long lengths of stay. It would also address staff skill development, recruitment, and retention. Attempts to treat these patients on their home unit by assigning a specialized interdisciplinary treatment team have thus far proved inefficient and, in several cases, have had limited effectiveness.

   In addition, it is not uncommon for some of these patients to have little to no ability to tolerate living in an environment where they routinely encounter other patients and many staff. This difficulty reliably results in frequent and often severe episodes of violence. A specialized area where intensive treatment can be focused on symptom reduction and skill development, so that the person can eventually be safely placed in a unit milieu or a residential environment, is needed.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

   This policy package will construct a unit focused on providing individualized care. The Junction City funding will encompass bond-financed capital construction to create a dedicated treatment space. Twenty-one new permanent positions were funded in 2021-23 to provide support to a patient receiving services in this unit.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   A patient would be identified if they present complex needs and are not improving with typical care, which includes behavior management plans that can be implemented on a standard hospital unit. These patients come from diverse backgrounds, but all have disabling conditions impacting their ability to function. This population's needs related to their disabilities have often been neglected in the community or responded to with restrictive measures such as institutionalization. These measures cause further harm to these individuals through disempowerment and social and cultural isolation.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

   The specialized unit will strive to reduce aggressive behavior and injuries, reduce self-harmful behavior, and help these patients integrate more safely into the community following discharge.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

   OHA will measure the impacts on health inequities of those that we serve at the Oregon State Hospital by defining and collecting metrics related to the use of seclusion and restraint.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

A specialized unit was created, and staff were pulled from other job duties to provide care to a highly complex patient for whom placement in a standard unit milieu would have resulted in extreme suffering and frequent violence. This was not a long-term solution and created the need for additional limited duration positions and overtime usage. Also, the space used for this specialized unit was licensed under a waiver that expired on May 11, 2023, with the Covid-19 emergency declaration. This created a need to construct a space that is compliant with licensing requirements to serve patients presenting with this type of need.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Discontinue the specialized single-patient unit in Junction City.
At any given time, OSH typically has one or two patients for whom proximity to other patients reliably triggers recurrent episodes of violence, usually directed at others. OSH does not have a dedicated housing and treatment space for such patients, so to address these needs we have historically assigned what would otherwise be patient-use space (additional patient rooms, quiet activity rooms, etc.) to these patients. Such strategies can temporarily impact bed capacity and generally are not successful in limiting the impact of these patients on their peers, and vice-versa. The physical location chosen in such situations can also increase risk to staff due to issues such as limited visibility, proximity to other potentially aggressive patients, and need to maintain proximity to the patient in question for the purposes of redirection. There is also a much higher likelihood of seclusion and restraint, which places both the patient and staff at risk of injury and is traumatic to patients.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   Internally, OSH has worked with subject matter experts from Nursing, Social Work, Psychiatry, Psychology and Treatment Services.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

   No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

    If patients continue to have unsafe behaviors (suicidality and aggression) that have not been optimally addressed while the patient is at OSH, the length of stay increases with the patient remaining in the most restrictive environment across the behavioral health continuum. Community partners involved in discharge planning are hesitant to accept such patients into their care, fearing potential negative patient incidents and outcomes, injury to staff, and property destruction. Community Mental Health Programs, Choice Contractors, acute care hospitals, and jail providers would be more engaged in coordinating care for and discharge of patients that demonstrated greater stability, skill development and coping strategies while at OSH.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): No end date

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

The pricing was developed using best estimates available for hospital construction/renovation.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

There will not be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

With the addition of the new treatment space, the staff assigned to this unit will provide the intensive, specialized care that is needed. This will help the Oregon State Hospital continue to drive towards the goal of eliminating health inequities to the chronically underserved complex psychiatric patients that would be served by this new unit.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

Positions to staff this unit were approved in 2021-23.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Start-up costs are reflected by the bond-financed construction necessary on the Junction City campus to construct the environment of care. The amount granted to OSH within its budget totals $5 million, with bond issuance and debt service provided centrally to OHA as an Agency.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The ongoing costs would be operations and maintenance of the new treatment space.

18. What are the potential savings?

There is no significant budgetary savings expected from this package, although there are expected efficiency gains.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Bond-financed Other Funds will be used for the capital construction.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Systems Division
Program:	Program Support and Administration, Medicaid
Policy package title:	Early and Periodic Screening, Diagnostic, and Treatment (ESPDT)
Policy package number:	414
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

This policy package is in response to strong community feedback that Oregon's longstanding Medicaid waiver from federal Early and Periodic, Screening, Diagnostic and Treatment (EPSDT) requirements is harmful and needs to end. EPSDT is a critical federal standard to ensure state Medicaid programs meet the health care needs of children ages 0-21. Additionally, OHA recognizes that the waiver is a barrier to meeting the agency's goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. Effective January 1, 2023, this waiver ends. This policy package funds the staff and system updates necessary for OHA to build an EPSDT program that will meet federal regulations and ensure children and adolescents receive appropriate preventive, dental, mental health, developmental, and specialty services that EPSDT entitles them to and are necessary to meet our health equity goals.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Early and Periodic, Screening, Diagnostic and Treatment (EPSDT) is a federal standard that requires state Medicaid programs to cover all medically necessary services for children. Oregon has had a long-standing waiver from these requirements through its 1115 Oregon Health Plan Demonstration Waiver (OHP waiver). OHA engaged in dialogue with our community and the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) regarding our upcoming OHP waiver renewal and we heard clearly that Oregon's waiver from federal EPSDT requirements is problematic for children and families. Our waiver has been particularly problematic for children with disabilities and special healthcare needs. Because of this waiver, Oregon's Medicaid program has not made individual considerations to meet the needs of children with unique circumstances. The program has applied hard limits that determine which services are covered for children under the Oregon Health Plan (OHP). With the current waiver of EPSDT, when children's health needs don't fall above the coverage line on the Prioritized List, Oregon has been waived from federal requirements to make case-by-case considerations and cover all medically appropriate care.

As a response to the strong community feedback that we heard, OHA has reversed this long-standing and harmful waiver. OHA will adopt the important federal EPSDT requirements that protect children, effective January 1, 2023. To fully support this policy change, OHA must build and maintain an EPSDT program to effectively serve Oregon's children on the Oregon Health Plan ages 0–21.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

This policy package includes administrative funding for the positions needed to build and maintain an EPSDT program and make updates to the Medicaid Management Information System (MMIS) needed for complying with CMS requirements. These positions would make it possible to rollout and maintain a robust and compliant EPSDT Program. Children's health needs touch all aspects of Medicaid services and programs, including foster care, school-based programs, behavioral health, dental, physical health, developmental disabilities, home health, maternal health, institutionalized youth, etc. The staff funded in this policy package are needed to listen to communities and monitor outcomes. They are also needed to develop policy, operational processes, IT system changes, and contractual requirements, conduct oversight and quality assurance activities, and manage efforts to improve the Oregon Health Plan to better meet the needs of children.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   EPSDT serves and ensures coverage for all children on the Oregon Health Plan ages 0–21. The EPSDT program is a critical avenue for OHA to identify, address, and close the gaps based on historical racism, and subsequent health inequities that impact children. OHA will focus on where gaps exist as resources are prioritized in the program. Community partner and Tribal engagement is included in the program design plans. In anticipation, OHA has identified a need to acknowledge and reduce the limitations of the existing bodies of evidence, and the relationships between the scientific community and under-represented communities that we use in setting policy in the Medicaid program.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Long term, OHA will work towards a robust and fully compliant EPSDT program that serves children and families well. The program must meet CMS regulatory requirements but OHA will also strive to develop a program through continual family feedback that helps produce better health outcomes and reduces health inequities for children. OHA will need to ensure that families are well informed about their EPSDT benefits. OHA will need to have sound oversight of CCO contractors and the fee-for-service (FFS) program.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

OHA will evaluate the program design to ensure that structures are in place to specifically address the impacts of health inequities before implementation. OHA will use already established outcome measures, such as CCO metrics and required CMS EPSDT reporting, to evaluate whether the program is achieving intended outcomes. OHA will work with community partners, OHA Equity and Inclusion Division, Ombuds Program, and interested parties to ensure that we receive feedback from traditionally under-represented populations whose voices may not otherwise be identified in our data. OHA may need to develop new measures or analyze existing measures in a new way over time.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

OHA has hired Oregon's first EPSDT Policy Analyst to join the HSD Medicaid team. Every other state, including DC, has a full EPSDT program. Oregon is the last state to take up this work due to the long-standing waiver. Staff from HSD and HPA have organized a project and begun the work needed to make Oregon compliant with federal EPSDT requirements by January 1, 2023. HPA staff are on track to make necessary updates to the Prioritized List, which defines the covered benefit for children. HSD staff are on track to make needed CCO and other care coordination entity contract and MMIS system changes; however, this is not sufficient staffing to sustain the program over time and ensure that inequities for children are continuously being evaluated and addressed.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

   Because of CMS requirements, there were no alternatives considered.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   OHA is collaborating with the following programs and entities: Title V Maternal and Child Health, Oregon Law Center, Health Evidence Review Commission (HERC), Oregon Health & Science University – Oregon Center for Children & Youth with Special Needs, Children' Behavioral Health, ODHS – Child Welfare, ODHS – Office of Developmental Disabilities Services.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

   No, OHA has sufficient statutory authority to establish the EPSDT program.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    OHP will be better positioned to assist Tribal and local governments as they work to take care of their community members' needs particularly children's needs.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): January 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

This policy package assumes that the budget to pay for medical claims through the Oregon Health Plan is sufficient to accommodate these program changes. This policy package includes staff to address critical quality issues for children on OHP and funding for enhancements to MMIS, but also assumes no additional funding is needed to pay for additional utilization of services by members. The new staff in this policy package will increase HSD's manager to employee ratio. There is an assumption that EPSDT will be able to leverage the CCO compliance need and CMS requirement through other Medicaid policy packages.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

OHA will now be required to review requested services for medical appropriateness and approve those that meet EPSDT criteria for children ages 0–21. Requested services that previously would have been denied because they are not covered (our hard limits) will now need to be reviewed for case-by-case consideration. This affects both CCOs and FFS.

OHA will have new CCO contract oversight responsibilities to ensure the EPSDT program is administered through out all parts of the Oregon Health Plan consistently and that children's needs are being met.

To comply with federal regulations, OHA must write administrative rule, amend and update contract language, and issue guidance to administer the program. OHA will need to create member facing materials to ensure the members are informed of the benefits and can use them.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No anticipated change in client caseloads. This change won't add anyone new to OHP.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

To implement this policy package, OHA needs the following positions:

- OHA needs one Operations and Policy Analyst (OPA) 3 position for the following duties:
  - Meet with families, advocates, Tribes, and partners to explain the program, to listen, and take direction for the program.
  - Stand up the initial program.
  - Develop continuous improvement plans and manage improvement activities.
  - Write administrative rule, contracts, and guidance to ensure the program remains compliant with federal requirements.
  - Issue guidance for providers and CCOs to ensure they understand what is needed.
  - Act as contract administer for agreements with primary care providers (PCP) in the FFS program.

  - Conduct oversight and compliance activities with CCOs and other contractors.

- To design and implement needed changes in MMIS including assigning children in the FFS program to a PCP who will be responsible for managing their care, OHA needs one OPA 3 position for the MMIS team.

- To receive and review individual cases and make coverage determinations to address the needs of children with unique circumstances, OHA needs two additional Medical Review Coordinators.

- To ensure families are well informed of their benefits, OHA needs one Public Affairs Specialist 3 staff. This position will coordinate communications and public outreach and create family friendly communications for handbooks, fliers, and websites.

- To support the many activities required to stand up and operate the program, OHA needs one OPA 1 position for project management. After the initial rollout, OHA will need to take up many program improvement and refinement efforts as we listen to our community and work to close gaps in health outcomes. The purpose of this position is to be able to support the implementation of the EPSDT program. This position will gather information from internal and external stakeholders to provide analysis of gaps in services and systems to help coordinate and prioritize system improvements. EPSDT is a program that crosses through all aspects of Medicaid and this individual will be expected to work across OHA teams to coordinate EPSDT projects. Will develop PowerPoint presentations, work with and maintain Smartsheet spreadsheets to track work assignments, provide assistance with document development and will be able to provide scheduling assistance as needed for project coordination. This position is expected to help identify and work toward the elimination of health inequities as part of the EPSDT Program.

- To provide ongoing child and adolescent content expertise, direction, and advice to the agency and the Legislature in support of and in partnership with the ESPDT program, the Health Policy & Analytics (HPA) Division will need one OPA4 position. The position will evaluate the broader implications of initiating a comprehensive EPSDT benefit on equitable access to care for children in the Medicaid program.

- To monitor and track implementation of EPSDT by developing and designing analyses and evaluations, one Research Analyst 4 in HPA is necessary. This position will track ESPDT claims and denials stratified by REALD indicators to ensure there are no inequities in access and outcomes. Additionally, the position will monitor against national trends, as well as state trends outside of the Medicaid program, and prepare technical reports in partnership with the EPSDT program to further inform program rollout and improvements.
- With a focus on behavioral health, one Clinical Reviewer (CR) will support EPSDT benefits by ensuring that all prior authorization requests for services for eligible members <21 years old are clinically reviewed for individual medical appropriateness and necessity, regardless of service coverage established by Oregon Administrative Rule and the Prioritized List. This ensures that OHA is not arbitrarily denying service requests for eligible members if the service is deemed medically appropriate and necessary to improve their health, manage their health challenges, or mitigate the effects of progressively worsening disease processes. This level of enhanced individual review requires technical expertise to apply OARs, Guideline Notes, and agency processes, and while relying on strong clinical knowledge and experience to interpret complex supporting prior authorization health records. This enhanced EPSDT review process also requires the CR to conduct more active engagement with requesting providers when existing supporting documentation does not clearly illustrate medical appropriateness and necessity, and requesting specific clinical documentation may help OHA approve the request. When requests cannot be approved by CRs, they are presented by the CR to the Medical Management Committee, who also reviews them for medical appropriateness and necessity prior to issuing their determination. In addition, the CRs work closely with a variety of OHA Medicaid staff to ensure that OARs are clinically appropriate, that EPSDT specific information is shared with providers via the Medicaid hotline, that EPSDT claims appeals are granted clinical review when appropriate, and that quality assurance reviews are conducted to ensure that OHA is successfully supporting EPSDT.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

A one-time upgrade to the MMIS system to add functionality for approving EPSDT reviews in the FFS program and assigning children to a PCP responsible for delivering the EPSDT benefit.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Staff salaries and benefits are the ongoing costs.

18. What are the potential savings?

There are potential savings though they are unquantifiable. The program focuses on screening and prevention, which should move the burden to providing health care services upstream potentially preventing more expensive costs later in the child's life.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is 40.8 percent General Fund and 59.2 percent Federal Funds from Medicaid match.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Systems Division
Program:	Non-Medicaid Behavioral Health
Policy package title:	Adult Intensive Services & Diversion
Policy package number:	415
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

This policy package will improve mental health services through the strategic funding of mental health diversion programs: jail diversion and civil commitment. These programs seek to decriminalize mental illness and work to move these individuals into appropriate treatment settings for more equitable outcomes. Jail diversion and civil commitment center health equity for people who live in rural or frontier areas and people of color. Without these services individuals may otherwise enter the justice system which would result in continued growth of the Oregon State Hospital census and disproportionally cause negative health outcomes for these populations.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

This policy package aims to address inequities in access to and quality of mental health and substance use treatment for Oregonians at risk of entering the criminal justice system through the expansion of jail diversion programs and an overhaul of the civil commitment system.

Criminalization of mental illness and inequitable access to healthcare. People of color are incarcerated at higher rates than their white peers. Communities without equitable access to jail diversion programs, such as diversion or mental health courts, and rapid evaluations, have more frequent interactions with law enforcement, are chronically marginalized, and struggle to access appropriate care across multiple systems. There are currently seven rural counties in the state that do not receive OHA funding for jail diversion programs. This lack of funding is a barrier to providing services and interventions that 1) divert individuals with mental illness from jail into the appropriate behavioral health system, 2) respond to the overrepresentation of people of color in the justice system and 3) provide equitable and quality behavioral health services for all Oregonians.

Underutilization of civil commitment. This policy package would ensure Oregonians civilly committed under ORS 426.130 would get their treatment needs met in an appropriate care setting that is the least restrictive environment possible. It would also strive to standardize non-hospital civil commitment practices and procedures across the state and ensure that Community Mental Health Programs (CMHPs) are equipped to have more efficient and effective operations.

Extraordinary lengths of stay in acute psychiatric care settings. The wait list for civilly committed patients at Oregon State Hospital has increased 190 percent between 2017 and 2021, from 20 days to 38 days, and these patients have no option but to remain in acute psychiatric care hospitals. This policy package would provide capacity for OHA to work closely with acute care hospitals to identify resources and assist with identifying barriers and limitations to discharge.

Lack of standardization of trial visit. Following stabilization during a hospitalization, individuals under civil commitment are eligible for a trial visit, which is an opportunity to step down to a lower level of care outside of the hospital setting while remaining under civil commitment. They are beneficial for those who no longer require a hospital level of care but could still be supported by ongoing monitoring and possible court intervention to remain stable. In 2021, there were 28 trial visits reported in the Acute Care Reporting database, where all civil commitment related data is held. In 2020, there were 38 trial visits reported and in 2019, before the pandemic, 216 trial visits were reported. In 2019, trial visits were just 16 percent of the total 1,282 civil commitment cases that year. And in 2020 and 2021 they made up 5 percent and 4 percent respectively of all civil commitments those years. Trial visits could be the primary mechanism by which CMHPs could step people down from an acute care hospital setting. This team would standardize the commitment process, including trial visit, which would make it easier to step individuals into less restrictive levels of care, thus freeing up space in acute care settings to treat individuals in the most need.

Pre-commitment caseloads are not budgeted as a mandated population. Per ORS 426.070(3)(c), CMHPs are required to begin a pre-commitment investigation upon receiving a Notice of Mental Illness, for every Notice of Mental Illness within its county jurisdiction(s). A pre-commitment investigation can take at minimum 72 hours of intensive services and, for a diversion case, up to 14 calendar days. This requires a substantial amount of dedicated work to both move toward a civil commitment hearing or determine a person does not meet criteria. At this time, CMHPs are not compensated by OHA or any other payor for this work through the mandated caseload budget process, putting them at a financial disadvantage to build out dynamic, comprehensive community-based commitment programs.

Insufficient support for CMHPs to comprehensively implement all civil commitment programs. At this time, OHA has one position, seated in Licensing and Certifications, tasked with managing community and advocate questions and concerns, conducting trainings to certify examiners and investigators, executing all licenses and certifications for hospital and non-hospital placements for civil commitment, serving as subject matter expert for the Division, and more. The current structure of and allocations for civil commitment oversight are insufficient to serve the entire state, which, pre-pandemic, civilly committed nearly 1,300 Oregonians.

Unbalanced investments in adult intensive services. Investments in Aid and Assist have inadvertently ushered CMHPs to pursue civil commitment less often. The lack of capacity in the civil commitment system has led CMHPs to believe the more reliable door into mental health treatment is through criminal charges and then clients being found unfit to proceed. The courts, community providers, and law enforcement are not utilizing diversion methods sufficiently enough to keep those with mental illnesses out of jail. Further complexity includes the continued marginalization of people of color who continue to be overrepresented in Aid and Assist and other criminal justice programs.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package would buy programs, staffing, and financial incentives. All would be slated for implementation beginning January 1, 2024.

Jail diversion programs
This policy package would improve behavioral health services, in seven counties, for residents of rural areas that could otherwise enter the criminal justice system and/or the Oregon State Hospital (OSH). This funding would provide services not covered by Medicaid that can be used for early intervention and diversion services. Jail diversion services, such as diversion and mental health courts, community outreach, rapid evaluations, and housing coordination are services designed to keep individuals with mental illness out of the criminal justice system and, instead, supported by the appropriate community-based services. These services are intended to reduce the number of individuals with mental illness in the criminal justice system, jails, and OSH.

Staffing for a civil commitment program team
This policy package would establish a civil commitment program team to be housed in Intensive Services Unit. Specifically, it includes the following positions:

- Operations & Policy Analyst 4: Program implementation lead
- Operations & Policy Analyst 3: Complex systems consultant
- Operations & Policy Analyst 1: Program support
- Fiscal Analyst 2: Data and budget analysis

Information technology support and management
This policy package would also secure three new positions to manage ongoing data and information technology needs for the intensive services teams. More specifically, it would secure one informational technology manager, one OPA3 position, and one RA3 position.

- Information Technology Manager 1: Manage the Compass team
- Operations & Policy Analyst 3: Identify data needs, facilitate data access, and integrating data into the data warehouse
- Research Analyst 3: Establish evaluation tools and support program analysis and reporting

Technical assistance & program development
ORS 426 and OAR 309 mandate that certified investigators seek the least-restrictive option possible when investigating whether a person is a person with mental illness. However, providers and community members report that trial visits are rarely done, assisted outpatient commitment is virtually non-existent, and there is a standardization issue across the state among the civil commitment programs with CMHPs interpreting and executing the statues and rules in different ways. This POP will result in a rulemaking process for Chapter 309 of the Oregon Administrative Rules to update rules to reflect current practices and procedures as well as a community engagement plan to enhance current rules around outpatient commitment and trial visits. This rulemaking process will also spark increased collaboration and partnership between OHA, community members at large, and advocate groups such as Disability Rights Oregon.

Financial compensation for CMHPs
This policy package would increase engagement, cooperation, and collaborative decision-making between the Behavioral Health Division and relevant stakeholders including the CCOs, CMHPs, Department of Administrative Services, and others to determine how to most efficiently and equitably expand the mandated caseloads to incorporate this population, from pre-commitment through post-commitment.

Overall, this policy package aims to shift focus back to community-based treatment and recovery for Oregonians who become civilly committed and those at risk of entering the criminal justice system. The collective efforts of the newly established team would create cost efficiencies via decreases in unnecessary lengths of stay and more efficiently transitioning care to community-based options, such as trial visit. And investments in jail diversion programs would support and empower local communities to better serve those in need.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

OHA's mission guides the agency's work toward helping people and communities achieve optimum physical, mental and social well-being through partnerships, prevention and access to quality affordable health care. It is well known that the criminal justice system has disproportionally impacted people of color, in addition to other groups that have been economically and socially marginalized. Without robust, functional jail diversion and civil commitment programs, these communities will continue to be ushered into the criminal justice system, further exacerbating poor health outcomes related to weathering, stigmatization, and criminalizing mental illness. This policy package, by way of destigmatizing and decriminalizing mental illness through development of and ongoing support for programs that divert individuals from OSH and jail, helps to bring OHA closer to eliminating health disparities in Oregon.

As it stands today, roughly 5 percent of civil commitments are completed as step-downs into trial visits, and virtually none are completed by assisted outpatient treatment. Currently CMHPs are not adequately supported by OHA's infrastructure for civil commitment and, as such, the outpatient commitment programs across the state are not meeting the need. All Oregonians, including those who are civilly committed and under OHA's care, deserve to heal, recover, and thrive in their own communities. Today, that reality is not equitably distributed across the state. This policy package would increase capacity to develop and sustain more robust community-based commitment programs to close this gap.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

In recent years, the overall trends for Oregonians civilly committed under ORS 426.130 have shown access to the state hospital to be significantly more challenging. In a six-year period, OSH admissions for this population decreased roughly 1,100 percent between 2017 and 2021 and the average length of stay (LOS) increased 186 percent. The need for the most restrictive level of care at OSH has not dissipated, it has only been displaced. Today, many civilly committed Oregonians are sitting in inappropriate levels of care that are more restrictive than necessary. Similarly, Oregonians in seven counties – Baker, Clatsop, Jefferson, Lincoln, Tillamook, Wallowa – do not have access to jail diversion programs that provide community-based supports and treatment in the least restrictive setting possible. These are unjust hardships that result from inequitable access to resources.

Due to current inequities in access across Oregon, like the ones previously discussed, the Oregon State Hospital is beyond capacity, and it is now unable to fulfill its full scope. Despite state hospitals being designed to serve and treat those needing civil commitment, just over 2 percent of the Oregon State Hospital census is comprised of civil commitment patients. This has resulted in civil commitment patients being held at acute care hospitals for extended lengths of stay, preventing Oregonians with complex care needs from access to the necessary treatment for recovery. Jail diversion and civil commitment help counter the consequences of criminalizing individuals with mental illness.

With a revamp of Oregon Administrative Rules to bolster community-based approaches to civil commitment on a long-term basis and as a statewide cultural shift in treatment, this policy package expands access to appropriate treatment, diverts clients from incarceration and the justice system, and decreases likelihood of adverse health outcomes related to a person’s identities.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

As diversion programs, jail diversion and civil commitment encourage communities to use the least restrictive environments for treatment and recovery, reducing reliance on and use of incarceration for those living with mental illnesses. Both programs support access to appropriate care in the community and work to destigmatize mental illness through de-institutionalizing and de-criminalizing mental illness. As such, this policy package's long-term desired outcomes underscore OHA's goals of improving quality of life; increasing availability, use, and quality of community-based, integrated health care services; increasing the effectiveness of the integrated health care delivery system; and increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of the state health care system.

- Equitable access to jail diversion programs and community-based services for all Oregonians with mental illness.
- Decrease in jail admissions for Oregonians with mental illness.
- Decreased lengths of stay in jail for Oregonians with mental illness.
- Decrease in recidivism through the availability of alternative community-based services and programs for individuals with mental illness, particularly those with intensive services needs and people of color.
- A reduction in the overrepresentation of people of color in the criminal justice system and OSH.
- Equitable access to appropriate levels of care for Oregonians who are civilly committed.
- Reduced lengths of stay for civilly committed patients being treated in the acute care setting.
- Increased utilization of non-hospital based civil commitment rules and statues to support community-based treatment and recovery.
- OARs, Chapter 309, would be completely updated, brought current, and include policies and procedures that standardize processes across the state.

- An understanding of how pre-commitment work could fit within the County Financial Assistance Award (CFAA) funding package for increased financial support for CMHPs to complete this vital work.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

Current MHS 09 (Jail Diversion) quarterly reporting requirements would be used to monitor the success of Oregon's expanded jail diversion programs. The Jail Diversion data could be further enhanced with the use of REALD & SOGI data, and at this time HSD does not have reliable access to these data.

Currently, available data include:

- Race and ethnicity as identified by individual
- Gender as identified by individual
- Diversion type (pre or post booking diversion)
- Types of diversion services received
- Number of charges dismissed
- Number of new arrests

Civil commitment data primarily comes from two reporting systems: MOTS and the Acute Care Reporting systems. In addition, civil commitment data specific to OSH can be obtained from the state hospital staff and the Oregon Judicial Department (OJD) tracks data internally as well. These two databases plus the OSH and OJD data, however, do not fully capture the full scope of civil commitment work, from pre-commitment to the commitment period to post-commitment. Additionally, these siloed data systems could benefit from synthesis and re-imagining to maintain more reliable, trustworthy data on civil commitment in the state. At this time, OHA would be able to capture the following data points to measure program progress and its impact on health inequities:

- Number of new civil commitment patients admitted to OSH.
- (Anticipated) Decrease in regional acute care hospital lengths of stay for civil commitment patients.
- Increase in number of civilly committed patients completing commitment in the community through trial visit or other avenues as appropriate.
- Attendance at and number of community sessions soliciting community, provider, client, and family input on rule change(s).
- OARs for civil commitment (Chapter 309, Division 33) reviewed, updated, and changed to increase and encourage community-based commitment capacity; re-purpose trial visit to include both hospital step-down and direct placement from hearing; and standardize practices across the state.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

- Minor changes to Chapter 309 of the Oregon Administrative Rules were made periodically between 1999 and 2016 to keep up with legislative changes related to criteria, custody transfers and transport, and some definitions in 2016 to support the legislative changes related to “ability to meet basic needs” becoming a criterion for civil commitment, and the previous major overhaul was in 1998. No major changes to the community-based commitment options have been seen, and many CMHPs have reported minimal support for these options and hospitals report inconsistent use and understanding of these options. Support from OHA is needed to ensure accurate information is leading to appropriate interpretation of OAR so that effective programs can grow.

- In the 2021-23 biennium, an adjacent program in the Intensive Services Unit, Aid and Assist, received a great deal of financial support to increase community-based treatment options and reduce the census at OSH. According to House Bill 5024 — apart from Emergency Board and separate housing funds, as well as FTE increases — Aid and Assist received a total of $19.2 million in the 2021-23 biennium, to be invested in community restoration and evaluation services. While these funds are intended to increase community-based treatment options, it will take time for these programs to take full effect. The OSH census on the Salem campus continues to remain at roughly 70 percent Aid and Assist, and 1.7 percent Civil Commitment, with PSRB making up the difference. These community restoration investments have not created any meaningful room for civil commitment patients to gain access to OSH. One community hospital recently cited that in the last 29 months they have had 1 person get admitted to OSH, whereas historically 25–30 patients per year were able to admit. The community continues to report that, despite increased community options for Aid and Assist, they are experiencing increasingly worse access to OSH for all programs.

- Various regional workgroups and meetings regarding complex cases and lengths of stay at regional acute care hospitals centers have been established to explore OSH admissions issues and serving this population in the community. These meetings and workgroups have too often remained focused on the individual level and have rarely taken the systems perspective in regard to civil commitment. For example, a complex case consultation would be requested for one patient with an extraordinary length of stay in an acute psychiatric care setting; however there has been little-to-no bandwidth and little investment in looking at the threads between each one of these cases to address civil commitment as a statewide issue.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Leaving it as is. OHA could not bring jail diversion programs to the seven counties without these programs. However, that would not be in line with achieving health equity and reducing disparities for all Oregonians. The civil commitment rules appear to have last had a major overhaul in 1998 – nearly 25 years ago. It is time OHA's rules reflect changes in our society's perspectives, views, and understanding of mental health, mental illness, and wellness. Without adding these programs and updating operating guidelines, Oregon will maintain current inequitable access to adequate and appropriate treatment.

Monthly complex case group. The unit considered bringing hospitals together on a regular basis to discuss patients with extraordinary lengths of stay, identify barriers and solutions, and transition people out of hospitals and back into the community. In preliminary, exploratory conversations with providers, it became apparent that these types of groups were being held internally at some hospitals and then regional meetings did occur as well. We also learned that coordinated care organizations were also holding internal consult groups about these patients and actively working with hospitals, CMHPs, and other providers to find remedies. Using this as one of the few avenues to increasing equity in behavioral health maintains the narrow focus on individuals or clusters and does not address the systemic issues that could reach Oregonians as a whole.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

- Licensing and Certifications Unit, Health Systems Division
- Complex Systems Consultations with the various acute care hospitals across the state
- Community Mental Health Programs
- Circuit courts in the seven counties currently without jail diversion programs

- Local Public Safety Coordinating Councils
- Coordinated care organizations

Once the jail diversion programs and civil commitment group within intensive services are established and operational, they would be collaborating with additional community advocacy groups like Disability Rights Oregon to continually improve and enhance services to clients.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

It does not require a change to statute.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

- County governments operating as CMHPs as well as non-governmental CMHPs would be impacted. CMHPs are expected to provide and are responsible for the oversight of community-based jail diversion and commitment programs, including having staff to monitor operations and compliance.
- The circuit courts would be required to understand and carry out statutes related to community-based commitment options. Courts across levels in the seven additional counties would be tasked with integrating new program operations and workflows, which would require increase collaboration with law enforcement and jails. The courts would also have to possibly staff additional FTE to manage increase in workload.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): January 1, 2024

End date (if applicable): Not applicable.

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- Jail Diversion assumed to be operating at 24 months.
- All FTE are priced at 18 months; this assumed recruitment will begin right away but could take up to six months for positions to be filled.
- Budgets for Jail Diversion are based on the budgets submitted by Baker, Clatsop, and Jefferson counties. The other four counties did not submit budgets within the policy package's timeline. These budgets were summed, then averaged, and then multiplied by county population to get assumed costs creating a cost per person. That figure was then multiplied by county population for the remaining four counties to come up with an estimated cost per county.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

- Jail Diversion Services: This policy package would provide funding for seven counties that currently don't receive jail diversion funds. This would increase the amount of reporting and data collection currently received.
- CFAA administration: Additional service elements would need to be added to seven CMHPs.
- Intensive Services Unit: This policy package would create a specific civil commitment specialty within the Intensive Services unit. It would share some responsibilities with the Licensing and Certification unit, while also providing training, technical assistance and legislative support to internal and external partners.
- Business Information Systems Coordination: Additional data collection and data sharing would be required for civil commitment to get an accurate assessment of number of investigations, acute care hospital stays and access to community resource.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Yes, this policy package would likely have impact on client caseloads and/or services provided.

Jail Diversion Impacts. The desired changes would create jail diversion caseloads in the seven counties that do not currently have jail diversion programs. These services could increase caseloads by 150 clients per county. It is anticipated that this would reduce Aid and Assist caseloads by decreasing the numbers of individuals entering the criminal justice system and diverting them to appropriate community-based services.

Civil Commitment Impacts. With the anticipated practices and policies standardization as well as changes to Division 33 of Chapter 309 of the Oregon Administrative Rules, it is possible that caseload numbers for pre-commitment services and for trial visit could increase. These rules are primarily related to discharges and trial visit. The number of individuals on trial visit was over 1,200, pre-pandemic. That number decreased to 28 in 2021 due to Covid restrictions. Going forward, OHA expects numbers to grow to 2,400 due to changes in accessibility and support for trial visits.

Dual Impacts. It is anticipated that the new jail diversion programs and the enhanced civil commitment programs would increase the number of Oregonians living with behavioral health conditions remaining in the community for treatment, rather than using inpatient acute psychiatric care beds or ending up in jail. This community-based diversion for treatment supports people to maintain stabilization in their usual environment, which is correlated to longer term recovery. That recovery is also supported by crisis services. Crisis services teams are able to quickly assess people in the community before they substantially decompensate and require a hospital level of care for stabilization or potentially get charged with criminal offenses resulting in jail bookings. OHA anticipates that services provided under crisis services would increase.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

All positions would support development of the 360 degree of Oregonians receiving services to identify inequities, focus efforts on eliminating those inequities, and connect information across the continuum of care. All positions would be new, permanent positions.

- Operations & Policy Analyst 4 (OPA4) – Lead implementation of the civil commitment program expansions and statewide standardization, oversee rulemaking process, build relationships with key internal and external partners, recommend pathways to improved communications and relationships to advance program goals

- Operations & Policy Analyst 3 (OPA3) – Support providers in the community with complex systems issues that are preventing the flow through the courts and care settings, provide technical assistance
- Operations & Policy Analyst 1 (OPA1) – Coordination and administrative support to team
- Fiscal Analyst 2 (FA2) – With thorough knowledge of state and federal budget processes, provide support and project management skills to a wide range of budget analysis activities including monitoring, development, forecasting, and evaluation
- Information Technology Manager 1 – Manage a Compass team responsible for improving access to data needed by behavioral health teams
- Operations & Policy Analyst 3 (OPA3) – Identify data needs, facilitate data access, and integrate the data into the behavioral health data warehouse
- Research Analyst 3 (RA3) – Working with behavioral health programs and health analytics, identify appropriate metrics and data needs for reporting program outcomes, and support improving reporting and program analysis resources.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

This policy package does not include any one-time costs.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Positions and corresponding services and supplies are all ongoing costs, including:

- Seven positions for full team described above.
- System changes for the Compass program as it relates to the specific program.

18. What are the potential savings?

- Acute care hospital admission bed usage may decrease. With a more efficiently moving acute psychiatric care network in the state, including a more robust and standardized community-based commitment option, lengths of stay in acute care hospitals would decrease, allowing for more Oregonians to access the acute care psychiatric setting for treatment.
- Anticipated decreases in the use of and length of stay in jail beds. Diverting individuals with mental illness from jail to community-based resources and programs is the focus of diversion programs. Serving individuals in the community is less expensive than housing them in jails.
- Reducing potential liability to state. By increasing diversion services, both jail diversion and civil commitment, fewer people would be charged with crimes and would therefore not be as likely to enter the criminal system altogether. This could decrease the number of people at risk of entering the Aid and Assist system, decrease the likelihood they board in jails without access to OSH, and decrease the likelihood that this could result in legal action against OHA. The decrease in Aid and Assist cases across the state could also decrease the demand for OSH beds for that population, opening up beds for the civil commitment and PSRB populations, thus likely reducing the likelihood of lawsuits related to lack of access to OSH, or placement in inappropriate levels of care, for these two populations.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Most of the costs will be funded with General Fund. Some support staff will be allocated over multiple funding sources through the cost allocation system. Information Technology costs will be funded with enhanced Medicaid funding allocated for Compass.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Policy and Analytics
Program:	Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace
Policy package title:	Marketplace Transition from SBM-FP to SBM
Policy package number:	416
Related legislation:	Senate Bill 972 (2023)

Summary statement:

This policy package furthers OHA's mission of improving access to quality, affordable health care for Oregonians and its goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. This policy package funds the initial stage of Oregon's transition away from the federally facilitated marketplace to a state-based eligibility and enrollment platform and call center for operation and administration of Oregon's health insurance exchange. Oregon is seeking a platform that:

- Interfaces with Oregon's Medicaid systems to keep people covered during transitions and address churn.
- Improves the qualified health plan shopping and customer services experience for Oregonians.
- Integrates input from Oregon's various and diverse communities into technology and call center implementation.
- Collects, analyzes, and stores enrollment data, including REALD & SOGI data to improve access to affordable coverage.

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

The purpose of this policy package is to end Oregon's reliance on the federal health insurance exchange eligibility and enrollment platform and the federal call center, and to fund the initial stage of its transition to a state-based marketplace platform and state-controlled call center.

In 2010, President Obama signed the Affordable Care Act (ACA) into law. Part of the intent of the ACA was to make individual health insurance more affordable so that more of the then-estimated 44 million uninsured Americans could obtain coverage. To reduce costs for individuals and families who do not receive health coverage through an employer or a government program, the ACA uses income-based tax credits that eligible consumers could choose to receive in advance (advanced premium tax credits, or APTC) and subsidies to reduce cost-sharing (cost-sharing reductions, or CSRs) such as co-insurance, co-payments, and deductibles. APTCs and CSRs are available only to consumers who purchase a qualified health plan (QHP) through a health insurance exchange. A health insurance exchange is a public or semi-public entity that administers the provisions of the ACA under state authority, including using technology to determine eligibility for APTCs, allowing consumers to shop for and choose health insurance plans, enrolling consumers in those plans, and storing consumer information. Under the ACA, if a state fails to administer its own exchange, the federal government will step in and do so.

The Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace (Marketplace) is an office of the Health Policy and Analytics (HPA) division of OHA. The Marketplace is Oregon's health insurance exchange, and its mission is to empower Oregonians to improve their lives through local support, education, and access to affordable, high-quality health coverage. The Marketplace administers Oregon's health insurance exchange in this state, through which Oregonians may purchase ACA-compliant individual health insurance plans and receive tax credits and cost-saving reductions to make those plans more affordable.

States like Oregon, that retain direct authority over their exchanges but rely on the technology and call center provided by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), a division of Health and Human Services (HHS), for its APTC, CSR, and plan eligibility, shopping, and enrollment operations, are known as state-based marketplaces on the federal platform (SBM-FPs). Thus, because Oregon is an SBM-FP, Oregonians enroll in QHPs through HealthCare.gov, which is owned and managed by CMS. HealthCare.gov is the front end of the enrollment technology that is known as the federal platform or federally facilitated marketplace (FFM). Tied to the FFM is a telephone consumer assistance center staffed by customer service representatives – federal employees or contractors – who help people with APTC and CSR eligibility, plan enrollment and related support over the phone. Oregon health insurance companies selling plans through the Marketplace pay a fee for use of the federal technology. The fee has fluctuated over the years from zero to three percent of total premiums paid by Oregonians who purchase QHPs through the Marketplace.

Oregon and other states using the federal platform as SBM-FPs began doing so because a lack of alternative options available to them at the time. When the SBM-FP exchange classification was created, the federal government made the FFM and its call center services available without charge.

The agreement with CMS to use the federal platform does not have any guaranteed service levels. Instead, the agreement is focused on the requirements of the SBM-FP, and the conditions with which Oregon and the Marketplace must comply for use of the platform. This is one of the disadvantages of using the federal platform, which also includes the following:

- Inflexibility of the FFM technology. Because the HealthCare.gov is a one-size-fits-all solution, it is designed for use by many states and cannot be customized according to Oregon’s needs, preferences, or requirements. In other words, what works for Oregon must also work for Alabama. For example, CMS cannot or will not operationalize the following:

- Increasing the length of open enrollment to accommodate the specific needs of Oregonians. So, while Oregon has the authority to increase the length of open enrollment (which may be important due to specific conditions in the state, such as unusually high COVID-19 infection or hospitalization rates), Oregonians cannot take advantage of the opportunity because the FFM cannot operationalize this change.
- Creating special enrollments to accommodate Oregon-specific circumstances. For example, Oregonians in need could not take advantage of a special enrollment created for victims of wildfires, flooding, or earthquakes unless the FFM deemed it necessary independently of what the state determines.
- Providing on-demand and real-time access to current or historical enrollment data and statistics, including race, ethnicity, and language, disability, sexual orientation, and gender identity data (REALD/SOGI).
- Coordinating with OHA's Medicaid program to eliminate gaps in coverage and care resulting from churn or to auto-enroll individuals who are redetermined ineligible for Medicaid after the end of the public health emergency.
- Establishing a basic health program to use federal funds to provide Medicaid-like coverage for individuals with incomes from 138 percent of the federal poverty level (FPL) to 200 percent FPL, including lawfully present immigrants who do not qualify for Medicaid due to limited in-country residency.
- Innovating and coordinating with other state agencies to, for example, create an easy Marketplace eligibility system for interested Oregonians that allows them to simply check a box on their tax returns authorizing the automatic transfer and analysis of income data to the Marketplace's system to determine APTC and CSR eligibility.

- Lack of control over operations, customer service, and service levels. Oregonians can face long wait and hold times when contacting the FFM's Customer Assistance Center (CAC), and when finally able to speak with a customer service representative, there is no guarantee that the information provided will be accurate. The latter is because the CAC serves many states, and its representatives are not all familiar with Oregon laws and requirements. This has resulted in some Oregonians needing to call the CAC repeatedly over periods extending into weeks or months to resolve complex case issues. While these issues would typically be addressed with the CAC vendor in a service level agreement (SLA) (assuming the state had access to performance metrics), CMS has not entered into an SLA with states for either the enrollment technology or the consumer assistance center, and Oregon does not have the leverage to insist that one be instituted. The agreement for use of the federal platform is presented by CMS to each state for acceptance or rejection. There is no negotiation, and all states receive the same terms. For a state to reject the agreement, it must be able to administer its own exchange and provide its own technology platform.
    - The FFM technology's provider search option is frequently out of date. When a consumer desires to select a plan based on its coverage of their doctors, the consumer cannot always trust that that the information displayed is correct. Incorrect provider directory information does not serve as a basis for a plan-selection "redo," meaning that a consumer will have to remain in a plan that doesn't cover their doctors until the next open enrollment (unless they cancel coverage or qualify for special enrollment for another reason).

- Unpredictable and opaque charges. The fee for using the FFM is paid directly to CMS by Oregon insurance companies and is passed on to consumers in the form of increased insurance premiums. In 2023, a family of five will pay an estimated $42.50 per month in premiums solely for the use of the FFM. The fee is established annually by CMS as part of a set of rules called the Notice of Benefit and Payment Parameters (NBPP). While initially free for SBM-FP states to use, starting in 2017, CMS began charging for use of the federal platform. In 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, and 2023 the fees were 1.5 percent, 2 percent, 3 percent, 2.5 percent, 2.5 percent, 2.25 percent, and 2.25 percent respectively, of total premiums for plans purchased through HealthCare.gov.

- CMS claims its charges are based on the following “special benefits” provided to insurers that use the FFM: (1) provision of consumer assistance tools; (2) consumer outreach and education; (3) management of a Navigator program; (4) regulation of agents and brokers; (5) eligibility determinations; (6) enrollment processes; and (7) QHP certification processes. As an SBM-FP state, Oregon performs the majority of these functions yet CMS charges Oregon only half of one percent less than it charges states that rely on the FFM for all of these functions. Although, for the past several years Oregon has inquired about CMS’s charging calculous and its underlying rationale and have requested a state-specific break down of services used and charges imposed, CMS has refused to acknowledge Oregon’s requests. The state has questioned how a flat percentage fee on premiums could possibly apply across the board. Such a "flat tax" disadvantages smaller states, like Oregon, whose residents collectively use fewer federal resources - fewer people are using the call center, seeking eligibility determinations, using the federal platform, requesting special enrollments, asking shopping-related questions, receiving APTCs, etc.
- CMS's flat user fee does not give Oregon credit for the expense and success of state-specific programs. As an SBM-FP, Oregon funds its own navigator program and funds a very targeted outreach and education program. For the 2016 plan year, without federal navigator funding, Oregon increased its enrollment by 31 percent over the 2015 plan year, far exceeding any of the FFM states. This increase was second only to New Mexico, another SBM-FP state. For the 2017 plan year, when almost all FFM states lost enrollment, Oregon increased enrollment by 6 percent. In fact, six of the ten top performing states, including Oregon and Nevada, were state-based marketplaces. From the 2015 plan year, when Oregon became an SBM-FP, to the 2017 plan year, Oregon increased enrollment by a total of 39 percent, second only to Utah (at 40 percent), and far outperforming the vast majority of FFM states. The Marketplace also pays for use of a shopping tool that allows Oregonians to compare plans based on medications taken, accurate provider searches, and more. It provides a superior shopping experience than HealthCare.gov.

- Although CMS has touted savings and cost-reductions at the federal level, it does not account for those savings when setting the user fee. In 2018 alone, CMS collected $1.2 billion in user fees with a two percent user fee and relatively low enrollment. Conservatively, one could estimate that through 2022, CMS will have collected $6 billion in user fees, enough to pay for a state-based technology for a state with twice the enrollment of Oregon more than 400 times. The Marketplace estimates that a customizable, state-based enrollment and eligibility platform and a state-controlled call center would save Oregonians roughly $10 million per year.

- No ownership of data, stifled innovation. Oregon does not have direct access to the data of any of its residents enrolled through HealthCare.gov. While CMS provides some data periodically, it frequently requires the Marketplace to keep these data confidential. This poses a problem for the types of targeted outreach and education the Marketplace must engage in to be most effective. Access to more demographic data would enable the Marketplace to make the most effective and efficient decisions regarding how to allocate resources to boost enrollment, especially leading up to and during an open enrollment period. It is necessary for the specialized outreach required to begin to end health inequities in the individual health insurance market.
  - This inability to create and/or share reports at a desired frequency with specific demographic data also limits the Marketplace's ability to provide information regarding health policy initiatives that the Governor or the Legislature may be considering, such as a public option, increasing subsidies to middle income consumers, or a state premium assistance program to help more marginalized and underserved Oregonians more easily afford health insurance. Since the Marketplace is often the mechanism for states to enact these initiatives, starting an effort without a functioning, state-specific technology already in place could add years to an implementation timeline for an executive or legislative priority program.

- Barriers to health equity. Use of the FFM precludes the state from using input it receives from its various and diverse communities and partners. Implementing Oregon-centric approaches into the operation and administration of many aspects of the Marketplace to address health inequities is all but impossible. For example, if people in Oregon ask for the use of additional languages (currently available only in English and Spanish) or even simply alternate verbiage on the enrollment platform, the Marketplace cannot act because the FFM does not operationalize single state solutions. Moreover, because the Marketplace does not own or control the data of its enrollees, there is no baseline for Oregon to know the extent of any problems faced by people of color, non-English speakers, people with disabilities, or people who identify as LGBTQIA2S+. Simply put, use of the FFM is a barrier to OHA's goal of ending health inequities by 2030.
    - Data collection, particularly on race and ethnicity, is widely recognized as fundamental to understanding enrollment disparities. The FFM's race and ethnicity application data is unreliable because of a low response rate, and the FFM has failed to improve data collection through the application by asking questions differently and does not have the ability to engage insurers in data collection and reporting like the Marketplace does.
    - Without additional, more reliable data, the Marketplace cannot refine its outreach and communication strategies, both overall and in real-time, to reach communities who have been economically and socially marginalized and underserved.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

The Marketplace anticipates a two-phase funding process. This policy package funds the initial phase of Oregon's transition away from the FFM to use of a state-based enrollment and eligibility platform and call center for operation and administration of Oregon's health insurance exchange. Funds will be used for research and planning purposes through the request for proposals (RFP) stage, drafting of the required federal blueprint to transition from an SBM-FP to a full SBM, and vendor selection under Phase 1. This phase will also include the initial stage-gate review by Enterprise Information Services (EIS).

OHA will release an RFP for a state enrollment and eligibility platform and a call center. OHA will seek bids from vendors with proven versatile, adaptable technologies capable of the following:

- Coordinating with Oregon's Medicaid systems to address churn.
- Coordinating with other state agency systems to implement innovative, easy eligibility checks to help increase the rate of insurance among Oregonians.
- Improving the QHP shopping and customer service experience for Oregonians.
- Implementing input from Oregon's various and diverse communities into every step of technology and call center implementation.
- Collecting, analyzing, and storing enrollment data, including REALD/SOGI data to:
  - Recognize trends and inform policy development and decision-making that affects communities who have been economically and socially marginalized and underserved.
  - Allow for real-time, micro-focused outreach and education to communities who have been economically and socially marginalized and underserved.
  - Create a baseline that will inform outreach and education resource allocation to ensure that the Marketplace effectively and efficiently reaches those impacted most by the inequities inherent in current systems.
- Customizing open and special enrollments to meet the needs of Oregonians and address the specific circumstances Oregonians are facing in real time.
- Embedding health equity principles in every aspect of an SBM – guiding policy decisions, contracting and hiring, consumer support, and community engagement. These decisions can help to enroll disproportionately uninsured groups, including people of color, people with low-incomes, rural residents, and immigrants.

- Saving Oregonians money.

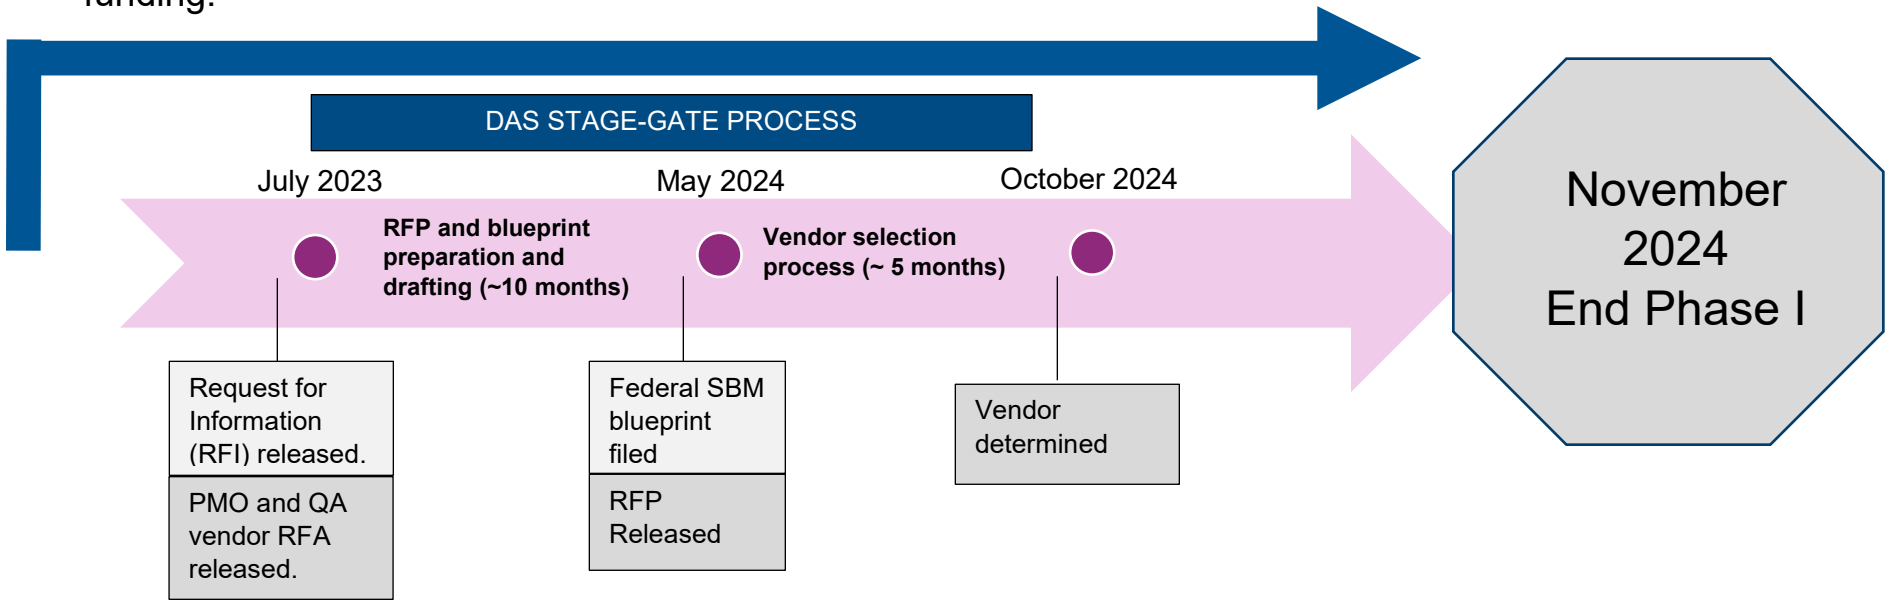
Some high-level research has already been performed and the Marketplace has started the initial drafting of the business case for the stage-gate process. However, additional work is needed. The Marketplace will rely on internal, external, and contracted sources for specialized expertise in the fields of project management, technology integration and implementation, procurement, quality assurance, data, legal, security, and privacy.

The Office of Information Services (OIS) will provide specialized expertise in technology project management, technology/architecture, planning, research, and experience with large multi-million-dollar stage-gate projects. The project management support, in collaboration with the Marketplace team, will include coordination with the various internal, external, and contracted roles including procurement teams for expertise in the RFP development, solicitation, review, and vendor selection process. The Marketplace anticipates that these divisions will bill for the services they provide and could need additional staffing to support this effort. The Marketplace expects that it will be required to contract for a quality assurance (QA) vendor beginning in Phase I and through to implementation and close out of the project. Additional resources will be necessary for drafting of the SBM blueprint that must be submitted to, and approved by, the federal government prior to transitioning from an SBM-FP to a full SBM. Although the Marketplace believes it can absorb some work with existing staff, this project will require at least one Business Analyst, which the Marketplace does not currently employ. Additional resources may be necessary as determined by Enterprise Information Services (EIS) and OIS during the project initiation phase. Costs including staffing for Phase II will be informed through the vendor selection process and detailed project planning.

It is believed that OHA requires the following positions for Phase I:

1. PCS 3 Procurement Specialist
2. ISS8 MMN Senior Technical Project Manager
3. OPA4 VMS Contracts Specialist
4. Business Analyst

The implementation timeline below illustrates the estimated timing of Phase I, which leaves twelve months for IT implementation and testing for open enrollment readiness in November 2025 for plan year 2026. Leading up to vendor selection, the Marketplace will determine the appropriate method for funding Phase II. Timing of contracting with the selected vendor will be determined by available funding.



3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This policy package funds the initial stage required to obtain a state-based call center and eligibility and enrollment platform. The platform will further OHA's mission to end health inequities by 2030 and increase access to quality, affordable health care through:

- Coordination with Oregon's Medicaid systems to address churn, which benefits individuals with lower incomes, a group that often includes people who have been historically oppressed and marginalized.
- Coordination with other state agency systems to implement innovative, easy eligibility checks to help increase the rate of insurance among Oregonians, especially those who qualify for APTC, making coverage more affordable and removing barriers to access to care.
- Improvement of the QHP shopping and customer service experience, making it easier for all Oregonians to enroll in health care that will address their specific needs.
- Implementation of input from Oregon's various and diverse communities into every step of technology and call center implementation, which helps ensure that existing barriers to health equity are not perpetuated in the new systems.
- Collection and analysis of enrollment data, including REALD & SOGI data to:

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

  - Recognize trends and inform policy development and decision-making that affects groups who have been economically and socially marginalized and underserved.
  - Allow for real-time, micro-focused outreach and education to groups who have been economically and socially marginalized and underserved.
  - Create a baseline to inform outreach and education resource allocation to ensure that the Marketplace effectively and efficiently reaches those impacted most by long-standing systemic health and social inequities.
- Customization of open and special enrollments to meet the needs of Oregonians and address the specific circumstances Oregonians are facing in real time.

Inclusion of health equity principles in every aspect of an SBM, guiding policy decisions, contracting and hiring, consumer support, and community engagement. These decisions can help to enroll disproportionately uninsured groups, including people of color, people with low-incomes, rural residents, and immigrants.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Because this policy package funds only the initial stage required to obtain a state-based call center and eligibility and enrollment platform, the long-term desired outcomes are contingent on a second, separate policy package for purchase and implementation of a call center and state-based platform with proven versatile, adaptable technologies capable of achieving the outcomes outlined in the response to question 3. The desired outcome of Phase I is federal approval of Oregon's blueprint to transition from an SBM-FP to an SBM, determination of a vendor that can provide a state-based eligibility and enrollment platform, and determination that Phase II should be pursued.

Failure to fund this policy package would require that the Oregon's health insurance exchange remain reliant on the FFM and its accompanying disadvantages, which are detailed in the response to question 1 (in the discussion regarding the disadvantages of the FFM). They include the following:

- Inflexibility of the FFM technology. Because the HealthCare.gov is a one-size-fits-all solution, it is designed for use by many states and cannot be customized according to Oregon's needs, preferences, or requirements.
- Lack of control over operations, customer service, and service levels. Oregonians can face long wait and hold times and when finally able to speak with a customer service representative, there is no guarantee that the information provided will be accurate.
- Unpredictable and opaque charges. The fee for using the FFM is paid directly to CMS by Oregon insurance companies and is passed on to consumers in the form of increased insurance premiums.
- No ownership of data, stifled innovation. Oregon does not have direct access to the data of any of its residents enrolled through HealthCare.gov.
- Barriers to health equity. Use of the FFM precludes the state from using input from diverse communities and partners.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

As noted, this policy package funds only the initial stage required to obtain a state-based call center and enrollment and eligibility platform. Impact on health inequities will not be measurable or realized until after the completion of the second phase, which is contingent on a second, separate policy package for purchase and implementation of a call center and state-based platform.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

   The Marketplace has advocated for changes to the federal platform to broaden input from different voices across race, ethnicity, language disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, geographies, and intersections among these communities and identities in the decision-making and design of the FFM. The Marketplace has also advocated for changes to the FFM that would allow for culturally specific responses to address the distinct needs of Oregonians.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

   Maintaining the status quo was rejected because doing so will not result in meaningful change or contribute to OHA's coverage and health equity goals.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   None.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

   Yes. Senate Bill 972 (2023) requires OHA to implement a state-based enrollment and eligibility platform and call center by November 1, 2026.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    This policy package funds only the initial phase required to obtain a state-based call center and enrollment and eligibility platform and does not affect other state, Tribal, or local government agencies. Phase II, implementation of the platform and call center, may have some impact on the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS), the state agency that controls the federal data hub. A state exchange platform must interface with the hub so some coordination with ODHS will be necessary.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable):

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Staffing and contracting will continue through Phase II (implementation) if it is determined that transition off the FFM is in the best interests of Oregonians. Phase II funding would be obtained through a policy package for the 2025-27 biennium.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

The Marketplace will rely on internal, external, and contracted sources for specialized expertise in the fields of project management, technology integration and implementation, procurement, quality assurance, data, legal, security, and privacy.

OIS will provide specialized expertise in technology project management, technology/architecture, planning, research, and experience with large multi-million-dollar stage-gate projects. The project management support, in collaboration with the Marketplace team, will include coordination with the various internal, external, and contracted roles including procurement teams for expertise in the RFP development, solicitation, review, and vendor selection process. The Office of Contracts and Procurement (OCP) will require a Procurement Contract Specialist 3 to support Phase I, and into Phase II if implemented. The Marketplace will require at least one Business Analyst during Phase I, and into Phase II if implemented. Additional resources may be necessary as determined by EIS and OIS during the project initiation phase. Costs including staffing for Phase II will be informed through the vendor selection process and detailed project planning.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

Existing Marketplace staff (Administrator and four Operations and Policy Analysts) will absorb much of the additional work, which includes the following:

- Drafting the federal blueprint for the transition from an SBM-FP to an SBM
- Working through the Stage-Gate Process
- Drafting the RFP(s) for platform and call center vendors
- Obtaining community and partner (carrier, agent-grantee, community partner-grantee) input

However, additional staff are needed. At least one Business Analyst is necessary for working through the requirements of the project and determining the business processes to operationalize the SBM. Business process development needs to be worked on in preparation for the on-boarding of the vendor. The Marketplace does not currently employ staff who are business analysts or have this skillset.

OIS requires the following positions for Phase I, and unless otherwise noted, Phase II if implemented. These positions will provide specialized expertise in technology project management, technology/architecture, planning, research, and experience with large multi-million dollar stage-gate projects. The project management support, in collaboration with the Marketplace team, will include coordination with the various internal, external, and contracted roles including procurement teams for expertise in the RFP development, solicitation, review, and vendor selection process. The Office of Contracts and Procurement (OCP) requires a Procurement Contract Specialist to support Phase I, and into Phase II if implemented.

1. PCS3 Procurement Specialist
2. ISS8 MMN Senior Technical Project Manager
3. OPA4 VMS Contracts Specialist

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

The staffing resources listed in the response to question #15 are required for Phase I. Some of these resources will be required for Phase II if it is determined that the project should move into Phase II. A separate policy package would be requested for Phase II funding.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

None. Additional funding for stage two of this project would be requested in a policy package for the 2025-27 biennium.

18. What are the potential savings?

The initial stage of this project will not result in savings. If implemented pursuant to the second stage of this project would result in estimated platform savings of approximately $10 million per year.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Other Funds are Health Insurance Exchange Fund moneys in excess of operating expenses and reserves (estimated at $1.4 million). General Fund may be required if, and only if, excess moneys are not sufficient to fund Phase I. Phase II may require the Marketplace to raise its assessment or the receipt of General Fund.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Public Health Division
Program:	Environmental Public Health
Policy package title:	Environmental Justice Mapping
Policy package number:	417
Related legislation:	House Bill 4077 (2022)

Summary statement:

House Bill 4077 (2022) was Governor Brown's bill to reinvigorate the Environmental Justice Task Force as the Environmental Justice Council (EJC) with expanded membership and duties, and to direct Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and OHA to staff the EJC in developing an Environmental Justice Mapping Tool. OHA's fiscal impact statement identified the need for a high-level limited duration Research Analyst 4 position for this work for 2 years, and then rely on staff of an existing CDC grant-funded program for ongoing informatics support to update data and maintain the tool. However, in June 2022, the CDC notified OHA of a 25 percent cut to the Environmental Public Health Tracking cooperative agreement for the 2022-27 period, eliminating the position that would have taken over the work from the limited-duration position. OHA is therefore now requesting a permanent Research Analyst 4 position to develop and maintain the Environmental Justice Mapping Tool.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   House Bill 4077 (2022) was Governor Brown's bill to reinvigorate the Environmental Justice Task Force as the Environmental Justice Council (EJC) with expanded membership and duties, and to direct DEQ and OHA to staff the EJC in developing an Environmental Justice (EJ) Mapping Tool. OHA's fiscal impact statement identified the need for a high-level limited duration Research Analyst 4 position for a minimum of two years to complete this work, which has a deadline of September 15, 2025 (Section 18). OHA then planned to provide data and system update support through our federally funded CDC Environmental Public Health Tracking Program; OHA could not divert CDC funds to pay for staff to develop the tool. The budget report for House Bill 4077 included the following note: "The funding and position are intended to be one-time, but due to the measure's timing OHA may need the position for a portion of the 2023-25 biennium. If OHA determines a need for the position in the next biennium, it should be included in the agency's 2023-25 budget request." In June 2022, the CDC notified OHA of a 25 percent cut to the Environmental Public Health Tracking cooperative agreement for the 2022-27 period, eliminating the position that would have taken over the work from the limited duration position. OHA is therefore now requesting a permanent Research Analyst 4 position to develop and maintain the Environmental Justice Mapping Tool.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

   House Bill 4077 (2022) provided OHA a limited duration Research Analyst 4 position to start when the EJ Mapping Tool provision of the bill becomes operative August 1, 2022 and set a completion deadline for the tool of September 20, 2025. However, House Bill 4077 only funded the OHA position through the 2021-23 biennium. This policy package funds a permanent Research Analyst position, starting July 1, 2023, using General Fund to ensure continued development and subsequent updating and maintenance of the EJ Mapping Tool.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   The purpose of the Research Analyst 4 position is for OHA and DEQ to serve as the lead agencies assisting the EJC, with support from the Portland State University Population Research Center and Oregon State University Institute of Natural Resources, in the development of an EJ Mapping Tool. This position provides subject matter expertise in environmental public health and health equity policy, epidemiology, informatics, data, and data visualization to create a tool with meaningful participation of, and to identify and assess inequitable environmental health burdens on "communities of color, communities experiencing lower incomes, communities experiencing health inequities, Tribal communities, rural communities, remote communities, coastal communities, communities with limited infrastructure and other communities traditionally underrepresented in public processes and adversely harmed by environmental and health hazards, including seniors, youth and persons with disabilities."

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

House Bill 4077 contemplates a wide array of outcomes from an Oregon EJ Mapping Tool. A core outcome is understanding the nature of environmental justice communities to assess benefits and disproportionate burdens on these communities and understand negative environmental consequences resulting from industrial, municipal and commercial operations or the execution of federal, state, local and Tribal environmental programs and policies. This outcome in turn is intended to inform changes to policies, systems and budgets to reduce disproportionate environmental justice burdens and increase benefits, including “the distribution of resources to communities that have experienced underinvestment.”

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

The EJ Mapping Tool will help agencies and organizations identify inequities that could be addressed through policy and action. OHA is defined in statute as a “natural resource agency” required to track and report on policies, programs and budget priorities that address environmental justice concerns. OHA will document actions carried out directly by OHA and through collaboration with other natural resource agencies that reduce environmental health burdens and increase resilience to those burdens among priority populations, and those experiencing current or historical health inequities.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

OHA requested two years of funding (i.e., through June 2024) to implement the legislative directive. The Legislature approved funding only through June 2023 and directed OHA to submit a policy package to request permanent funding and position authority, as needed.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

OHA has no viable alternative source of funding to support the technical position needed to develop the EJ Mapping Tool.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The EJC is the oversight entity for this work and for engaging inclusive community participation in development of the EJ Mapping Tool. OHA will carry out this work with DEQ as the primary partner and the Department of Administrative Services Enterprise Information Services Office, Oregon State University and Portland State University, as supporting partners named in the bill.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

All state, Tribal and local governments will have access to accessible and user-friendly information that has never been brought together before about who is most impacted by climate and other hazards, the location of their communities, associated priority health concerns, and opportunities for supportive policies, programs and interventions to reduce environmental health burdens.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

One Research Analyst 4 position is needed to complete and maintain the EJ Mapping Tool, as directed by the legislation.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Not applicable.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

One Research Analyst 4 is needed to complete and maintain the EJ Mapping Tool. OHA plans to fill this position with a current Research Analyst 3 (step 10) working out of class as Research Analyst 4, who has the technical expertise and whose position would otherwise be eliminated due to a recent cut in CDC grant funding. General Fund would cover the ongoing need for this position.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

This policy package does not include one-time costs.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The ongoing cost of the Research Analyst 4 position.

18. What are the potential savings?

Savings may be realized through policies becoming better informed with respect to health inequities and environmental justice.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Public Health Division
Program:	Center for Public Health Practice
Policy package title:	Regional Resource Hospitals for Disaster Response
Policy package number:	422
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

In local or statewide emergencies where the statewide health care system is stressed to capacity, hospitals and emergency medical services (EMS) have limited ability to efficiently coordinate patient distribution beyond normal operations or normal seasonal hospital surges. With temporary federal grant funds, OHA and partners built upon existing Health Care Coalitions and established Regional Resource Hospital systems and collaborated to develop situational communication, patient distribution and resource sharing capacity. OHA also worked with the Oregon Medical Coordination Center to ensure appropriate care no matter where you live in Oregon. These efforts support better and equitable access to all levels of hospital care during major health system surges. Oregon needs a sustained and robust operational system of communication and clinical coordination for current and future emergencies that isn't dependent on temporary federal COVID-19 pandemic related grant funding.

Policy package pricing:	$0	$186,908	$0	$186,908	1	0.75

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   In disasters and other emergencies stretching beyond normal business operations or seasonal hospital surges, the statewide Oregon health care system is drastically affected by a limited ability to coordinate between hospitals, EMS, and other resources. Oregon's rural communities lack the density of resources and access to the level of care needed, leaving rural communities with limited access to emergency patient distribution capacity and response resources. This limited rural capacity can result in additional burden to large health systems in populated urban areas that have access to higher care levels. Access to the highest level of care is especially disruptive and inequitable for citizens in areas served by rural and frontier hospitals when the surge is statewide and more resourced hospitals and health systems are stressed to capacity. Oregon needs a robust operational system of regional and inter-hospital situational communication, along with acute and critical care clinical coordination, that can be sustained for the current and future emergencies and disasters.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

   This policy package provides Other Funds limitation and position authority for OHA staff to provide project support for Regional Resource Hospitals and the Oregon Medical Coordination Center to plan, implement and operationalize collaborative situational communication, resource sharing, and high-level clinical coordination. This package funds coordination to continue building statewide regional resource hospital network coordination capacity to confront all types of hazards and health care system crises by coordinating the following efforts which may be supported by other funding streams:

   - Serve as lead point of contact between OHA and the Oregon Medical Coordination Center, which may be supported through separate legislative funding streams. The Oregon Medical Coordination Center was initiated by Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU), Providence, Kaiser and Legacy in partnership with the other identified Regional Resource Hospitals and sponsored by OHA Health Security Preparedness and Response. The Oregon Medical Coordination Center would provide statewide operational patient transfer coordination during emergencies, events of high consequence and resource constrained situations.

- Maintain intergovernmental and regional agreements for the six Regional Resource Hospitals and the Oregon Medical Coordination Center that work across health systems and normal business operations to support health care system capacity and better patient outcomes in resource constrained situations. Activities will incorporate established goals of improving health outcomes for improved access to care and otherwise advance health equity in Oregon.
- Coordinate operational plans for the Oregon Medical Coordination Center with the five existing Health Care Preparedness Coalitions, centered around permanently establishing the six Regional Resource Hospitals, which bring multiple healthcare partners together geographically from hospitals, EMS, long-term care, federally qualified health centers (FQHCs), emergency management, pharmacies, public health, and others. Activities would incorporate established goals of improving health outcomes for improved access to care and advance health equity in Oregon.
- Coordinate with Oregon Medical Coordination Center and regional resource hospitals on other grant or funding opportunities to improve and institutionalize the program developed under the currently proposed funding.
- Participate with OHA behavioral health and EMS programs to collaborate on patient movement initiatives that may be associated with the Oregon Medical Coordination Center for future development.

- Liaise with the OHSU Oregon Medical Coordination Center clinical advisor to who will provide ongoing expert clinical input to OHA Emergency Support Function (ESF)-8 and regional coalition response planning and response activities.
- Analyze performance data provided OHSU: The Oregon Medical Coordination Center will provide and inform statewide collaborative response systems and planning development with health care access data metrics, with the goals of improving health outcomes, access to care, and advancing health equity in Oregon.
- One permanent position for OHA within the Health Security Preparedness and Response Program at Public Health for project management and coordination on this initiative. Funding provides for OHA staffing of Regional Resource Hospital and Oregon Medical Coordination Center projects and grant management.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Based on the recommendation of the Governor's Joint Task Force for COVID-19, the Regional Resource Hospital charter was officially established in July 2020, with a mission grounded in principles of health equity, focused on minimizing health inequities. The overarching goals of the charter are to identify challenges, address any barriers, and facilitate information sharing in preparation for any existing or potential significant surge of patients into Oregon hospitals in order to prevent any negative effects to patient care, while centering communities with less access to services. This policy package would help rural communities to have increased access to emergency patient distribution capacity and response resources while limiting burden on other hospitals struggling to meet the highest needs of care for their vulnerable populations. This work led to the initiation of complex urgent work of the Oregon Medical Coordination Center, with an overarching goal of ensuring that all Oregonians always have timely and equitable access to the highest level of life-saving care available to any anyone in Oregon during emergencies. This work will contribute towards OHA's mission to ensure all people and communities can achieve optimum physical, mental, and social well-being through partnerships, prevention, and access to quality, affordable health care.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The long-term goal of this policy package is sustainability of the Regional Resource Hospital Collaborative network and Oregon Medical Coordination Center for all-hazards response. With the increasing pace of emergencies and disasters in Oregon, this coordination adds an organized strategy for equity in health care access at the forefront for health care systems delivery, which needs to be ongoing in order to address current and future needs.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

The Oregon Medical Coordination Center will provide and inform statewide collaborative response systems and planning development with health care access data metrics with the goal of improving health outcomes by improving access to care and advancing health equity in Oregon. Through evaluation of the metrics described above, in partnership with the OHSU Oregon Medical Coordination Center, OHA will evaluate the impact of patient transfers that would not have otherwise occurred.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Regional Resource Hospital Collaborative: On March 23, 2020, Governor Brown issued a Joint Task Force for Health Care Systems Response to COVID-19, which jump started the implementation of what is now known as the Regional Resource Hospital Collaborative. The Joint Task Force recommended the adoption of a regional model based on the already established Area Trauma Advisory Board (ATAB) and OHA Health Security Preparedness and Response Health Care Coalition regions. Each region designated a Regional Resource Hospital. By the summer of 2020, OHA completed agreements establishing six Regional Resource Hospitals. These Regional Resource Hospitals service the Regional, Inter-Regional, and Statewide Regional Resource Hospital Hub framework to support mutual aid, patient information, coordination, flow, and distribution during a declared disaster or emergency.

Oregon Medical Coordination Center: OHA established a regional collaboration, as an operational extension of the Regional Resource Hospital Collaborative, to include all major health systems in the Portland area, who also serve as the only providers of quaternary intensive care in Oregon in response to a severe surge of patients to a limited amount of hospital quaternary care bed capacity during the Delta COVID-19 variant in August 2021. As the statewide capacity decreased for tertiary and quaternary critical care, the Oregon Medical Coordination Center was created to improve equitable access to these critical care services and decrease duplicative work. The center participation was then broadened, to include all of the state's Regional Resource Hospitals. OHA used the statewide center to coordinate placement of patients needing ICU care in the closest hospital with the capability and capacity to provide this care. Oregon also established a partnership with the Washington Medical Coordination Center to refer patients to their home state's system and avoid interstate transfers. Together, these collaborative efforts allowed Oregon to avoid extended delays for ICU care during surges. The Oregon Medical Coordination Center is modeled from the Medical Operations Coordination Cell framework utilized by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, FEMA, and other states.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

This work was implemented during the COVID-19 pandemic as the result of the Governor's Joint Task Force recommendations. The need for this patient transfer work continues due the ongoing strain on Oregon's hospitals and local and regional capacity limitations. Those limitations cannot be overcome without extraordinary investments to increase individual hospitals' staffing and beds.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

Other partners include all hospitals in Oregon, EMS agencies, and federal partners providing technical support.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

None known.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

None known.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Program:	Center for Prevention and Health Promotion
Policy package title:	Universally offered Home Visiting
Policy package number:	425
Related legislation:	Senate Bill 526 (2019), Senate Bill 1555 (2021)

Summary statement:

This policy package provides the resources required to implement and scale up the next phase of universally offered home visiting (UoHV) in Oregon with the early adopter communities and the next cohort. It also focuses on building out the community alignment, engagement, and health equity work of the initiative. Without this funding, OHA would not be able to fully implement the program as statutorily mandated in ORS 433.301. This policy package provides the resources to achieve the goal of establishing a more cohesive and comprehensive home visiting system that is evidence-based and connects every family with a newborn with local resources that are individualized, non-stigmatizing and meet them where they are with what they need.

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

A safe and healthy environment during childhood forms the foundation for a lifetime of physical and mental well-being and healthy relationships. The birth of a child is a big change for any family and impacts a family's social, emotional, financial, and physical environment. Most families welcome support as they move through this transition. However, our current health system does not have a universal touchpoint with all families of newborns to support them at this critical time. This policy package provides an opportunity to impact those earliest moments of life and change the trajectory of individuals, families, and communities by bringing together community partners to create and connect families of newborns to a preventive system of care through a universal, short-term, postnatal nurse home visiting program. Health care systems, public and private agencies, and community-based organizations work together to strengthen the local system of care and connect families of newborns to those resources. The system of care utilized by families improves the overall health outcomes of not only the family, but also the entire community. This is achievable through universal reach, rigorous evaluation, and creating a model for sustainable funding.

Rates of maternal mortality have been on the rise in the United States and there are significant inequities by race/ethnicity due to the long understood intergenerational effects of systemic racism. Despite maternal mortality rates in Oregon being lower than the national average, Oregon experiences similar inequities to those experienced in other states. Washington State's Maternal Mortality Review Panel included a recommendation to expand efforts to provide early and frequent home visits to prevent pregnancy-related deaths and improve maternal health care.

Existing home visiting programs play an integral role in preventing adverse childhood experiences (ACEs), which can harm developing brains and increase lifelong risk for many chronic diseases and other serious problems. Existing home visiting programs provide a critical preventive system of care for families; however, these programs have eligibility criteria, are long-term, intensive and don't have enough funding or dissemination strategies required for population change. This universal effort would not replace more intensive targeted home visiting programs, but identify what families need and want from local resources and provide an individualized, non-stigmatizing entry into their community's system of care.

Statewide access to this service is anticipated by 2027. In 2019, the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) partnered with the then Early Learning Division (ELD) to explore the feasibility of implementing a universal home visiting program. Both Senator Elizabeth Steiner and Governor Kate Brown joined the effort and supported achieving universally offered nurse home visiting to families of newborns in Oregon. As a result, the 2019 Legislature passed Senate Bill 526, which states OHA "shall design, implement and maintain a voluntary statewide program to provide universal newborn nurse home visiting services to all families with newborns residing in this state to support healthy child development and strengthen families. The authority shall design the universal newborn nurse home visiting program to be flexible to meet the needs of the communities where the program operates."

Oregon selected the Family Connects model, which is the only evidence-based model of universal nurse home visiting that meets the criteria set in Senate Bill 526 (2019): Recognized by the Home Visiting Evidence of Effectiveness review project by the US Department of Health and Human Services (HomVEE[1]). Policy package #401 of the 2019-21 Legislatively Adopted Budget (LAB) provided critical start-up funding and staffing needs to identify and stand up the program in early adopter communities, with the expectation that additional phases of funding and staffing resources would be needed to continue building out the program towards eventual statewide access. Policy package #418 of the 2021-23 LAB continued to build out the state level infrastructure, support local implementation, support contracts, and provide the Medicaid match to reimburse providers for services to Medicaid members.

The project began with a statewide solicitation of Letters of Intent (LOIs) from interested communities which resulted in the engagement of eight self-selected, early adopter communities to gain lessons learned and apply them to subsequent cohorts across the project lifecycle. Originally, the early adopter communities were slated to begin service delivery July 1, 2020. Due to the impact of the COVID-19 pandemic response on local public health authorities and the health system generally, service delivery with early adopter's did not begin until Spring/Summer 2021. One community postponed to a subsequent cohort and three others continue to be paused in the wake of the COVID-19 response. With funding for the current 2021-23 biennium provided in policy package #418, OHA is hiring a Community Alignment Coordinator, an Informaticist, and a manager specifically for the initiative. OHA has improved support to local sites to include startup funds until they reach sustainability. In addition, Senate Bill 1555 (2022) provided clarity to ensure full program costs are reimbursed by health benefit plans adequately.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

This policy package continues building out the UoHV initiative as directed in ORS 433.301. The 2019-21 policy package #401 and 2021-23 policy package #418 provided initial investments to establish core state infrastructure, support key implementation contracts, and resource early adopter community implementation including support for Medicaid reimbursement. The focus for this next investment is ensure health equity impacts are analyzed and addressed in communities and to center the initiative around community engagement practices through infrastructure development within the Maternal and Child Health section, contractual support and additional community level support.

This policy package supports developing more diverse provider teams that incorporate Traditional Health Workers (THWs), assure fiscal sustainability and viability, develop nursing workforce pipeline opportunities with a focus on THWs, fully anchor the universal offering of the service in communities currently participating in the program, including Tribal partners in those communities, and scale in the next cohort of communities. This will require intentional investments in health equity, workforce and community alignment capacity at the state and community levels and centering practices and policies to address health inequities facing Oregonians during pre-and post-natal health care and that all families have the opportunity for support of a home visiting option.

This policy package contains five additional state staff to support equity, workforce and operations:

- Nurse Consultant (Public Health Nurse 2): Focus on expanded capacity to support the clinical aspects of the program and develop and implement the workforce development strategies.
- Health Equity Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Working with community and providers, develop and implement the initiative's health equity plan.
- Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Develop and implement a CQI plan that monitors program implementation for fidelity and effectiveness and works with community partners on improvements.
- Fiscal Analyst 2: Provide necessary fiscal analyst capacity to manage the fiscal aspects of the initiative.
- Communications Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Provide coordinated communications and marketing across both the state and local level.

It also includes supporting contracts to ensure effective implementation and model fidelity:

- Family Connects International: Support the model's developer and partner in implementation.
- Program Evaluation: Support to continue evaluating and monitoring program implementation.

- Business Consultation: Support for marketing, branding, business processes, health system integration.
- Health Equity Consultation: Support the development, centering and implementation of health equity in the initiative.
- Medical Director: Support for Medical Director to provide medical oversight and collaborations with the provider and hospital communities.
- Steering Committee Consultation: Support in developing processes and facilitation of the Steering Committee.

Lastly, it supports local capacity, sustainability, and centers equity at the community level:

- Community alignment support: Funds to support the onboarding of new Community Alignment Lead Agencies.
- Service provider start-up support: Funds to support new service providers until revenues reach a sustainable level.
- Small community support: Funds to support small communities where revenue would not reach a sustainable level until their sustainability can be established locally through regionalization of functions and model adaptations.
- Tribal implementation: Funds to support implementation with Tribes — either as part of an ongoing community or independent implementations.
- Health equity support: Funds specific to support communities to analyze, recommend and implement the health equity strategies.
- Medicaid match: Provide the Medicaid match needed to support the additional number of newborns on Medicaid receiving services during the biennium.
- Workforce development: Funds to support continual nursing workforce development, such as International Board-Certified Lactation Consultation (IBCLC) certification and nursing recruitment and retention.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[2] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Unaddressed health inequities during the earliest years can lead to intensified health problems and widening social, educational, and economic gaps. The initiative plans to address early childhood health inequities and achieve health equity through its goals to: create and strengthen community level systems of care for families of newborns; offer support to all new parents in Oregon (regardless of risk and insurance status); center racial, cultural and linguistically responsive care for families and communities, increase access to community services and supports; promote collaboration and coordination across Oregon's early childhood and home visiting systems; and improve health outcomes for families across the life-course.

Family Connects has been shown to increase families' connections to community resources and strengthen parenting supports; it has also been found to improve parents' mental health, enhance the quality of home environments, reduce infants' emergency medical care, and increase parents' utilization of higher quality childcare for their children, and reduce emergency medical care (hospital overnights, emergency department and emergency doctor visits) for infants at 6 months, 12 months, and 24 months. The model achieves this by addressing social determinants of health that impact health outcomes and by addressing structural racism in health care and increasing the access and availability of social supports.

In addition, this policy package aims to further the agency's goals of lowering and containing health care costs. Evaluation of the Family Connects Model has shown reduced emergency medical care (hospital overnights, emergency department and emergency doctor visits) for infants at 6 months, 12 months, and 24 months. The FC evaluation estimates that for every dollar invested in the program, there is a $3.17 savings, primarily from reduced infant emergency medical care. Additionally, this policy package offers OHA the opportunity to further the mission of the Department of Early Learning and Care to support all of Oregon's young children and families to learn and thrive.

This policy package will move this work forward by building a more complete picture of what health equity looks like across Oregon. OHA's Maternal and Child Health (MCH) section commits to working towards racial equity by addressing racism, acknowledging implicit bias, and building equity-based approaches into our state and local programming. The section acknowledges that government has a role in perpetuating inequities that have intentionally harmed Oregon's communities, including Black, Tribal, and indigenous communities. This has led to historical and ongoing trauma. The section envisions an Oregon where all families thrive, and where all women, adolescents, and children enjoy health and health care free of racial inequities.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Health Outcomes

Supporting all families in identifying and accessing needed resources and attending to time sensitive family needs in the first month of life promotes positive early childhood experiences, lays the foundation for lifelong health, and furthers the agency's goals of supporting behavioral health needs and addressing the social determinants of health. Evaluation of the Family Connects Model has shown:

- More family connections to community resources at 6 months
- More positive parenting behaviors with their infant (such as hugging, reading) at 6 months
- Less clinical anxiety reported by mothers at 6 months
- Higher quality home environments (such as safety, books, toys, and learning materials) at 6 months.

Research has shown the successful implementation of an evidence-based universal, short-term, postnatal nurse home visiting program for Oregon's Medicaid population would impact several the metrics for Oregon's coordinated care organizations including:

- Emergency department utilization
- Childhood immunization status
- Cigarette smoking prevalence
- Depression screening and follow up plan
- Developmental screening in the first 36 months of life
- Effective contraceptive use among women at risk of unintended pregnancy
- Patient-centered primary care home enrollment
- Timeliness of postpartum care

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

This policy package will provide key capacity and expert guidance to center health equity. The funds will allow the program to bring on a Health Equity Coordinator and contract with a health equity expert to advise and support the team in the development and execution of a comprehensive health equity plan based in meaningful impact and outcome measures. We anticipate measures such as program participation and non-participation by race/ethnicity, the extent the workforce represents the communities served, and improved culturally specific community services will be central. We aim to build out a comprehensive set of outcome measures that center impact on health inequities, particularly for communities of color. The package will also provide supplemental funding for small communities without the birth rates to fiscally sustain the program to fidelity, while the UoHV team works toward long term solutions with these communities.

Portland State University (PSU) conducted a Year 1 evaluation of the Universally offered Home Visiting initiative which included input from communities, providers, and state and model developers. The evaluation illuminated 4 key implementation gaps:

1. Aligning equity values with practice.
2. Addressing adequate state level capacity to build infrastructure needed to engage community partners to participate in a systematic home visiting model approach in policy and partnership that ensures an equity focus to support communities as they implement their programs.
3. Ensuring sustainable revenue streams that support local program viability.
4. Strengthening communication and coordination.

This policy package seeks to ensure the distribution of resources as needed to support local program implementation and remove barriers for small counties with low birth populations, as well as to provide the infrastructure necessary within the state to prioritize and support equity and community engagement at the level needed to address health inequity and effect change in the home visiting system in Oregon. Each of these four gap areas are key to reaching all communities and achieving universal access to these services for newborns and their families. Led by communities, PSU and OHA work with communities to develop meaningful measurement of the impact of this initiative on health inequities.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Oregon has been working to build a home visiting system and is poised to build on existing evidence-based and evidence- informed home visiting programs. However, the initial connection, coordination and triage for families was missing. ORS 433.301 addressed this gap by requiring all families of newborns be offered nurse home visiting services. This policy package is the next phase of designing and implementing the initiative as outlined in the bill.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Implement a universal short-term, postnatal nurse home visiting program through Oregon's Department of Early Learning and Care. LPHAs have experience delivering nurse home visiting programs and the partnerships in place to create the preventive system of care required to support families. The current state plan amendment (SPA) to support the delivery of Targeted Case Management (TCM) by Nurse Home Visiting programs would need expansion and approval by CMS to provide federal support to the delivery of this model.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

While OHA is the only state agency that requested funding to address this problem, the following agencies are collaborating on this policy package as key partners:

- Department of Early Learning and Care (DELC) has assisted with connections to Oregon's early learning system.
- Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS) has assisted with implementation for parents with commercial health benefit plans.

- OHA's Health Systems Division (HSD) and CCOs would integrate this service into Oregon Health Plan member benefits, reimbursing service providers and participating in development and maintenance of a community level system of care for families with newborns.
- OHA's Health Policy and Analytics Division (HPA) has assisted with health policy coordination.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

- Local Public Health Authorities, Early Learning Hubs and Tribes will be asked to implement this program which will require additional staff and new partnerships.
- The home visiting programs of the Department of Early Learning and Care will be integrated into the preventive system of care being created for families.
- Families will be referred to resources and services of the Oregon Department of Human Services including TANF and ERDC.
- Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS) will be required to continue partnering with OHA to support the commercial health plans' integration of UoHV into their member benefits, reimbursing service providers, and coverage for Oregonians with plans not covered by Senate Bill 526.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

OHA assumes birth rates will remain stable and the split between public and private insurance coverage for newborns will remain stable.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

None outside of those that come with an additional five employees.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

This universal effort will not replace more intensive targeted home visiting programs, but referrals for more intensive home visiting will be made into eligible programs, including Healthy Families Oregon, Early Head Start, Parents as Teachers, Family Spirit, Babies First! and CaCoon. Families enrolled in home visiting programs prenatally (Nurse Family Partnership, Babies First!, Early Head Start and Healthy Families Oregon) will not receive Family Connects services to reduce duplication.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

No modifications will be needed on existing staff. New staff in this policy package are priced for 18 months given the time needed for recruitment and hiring. They include:

- Nurse Consultant (Public Health Nurse 2): Focus on expanded capacity to support the clinical aspects of the program and develop and implement the workforce development strategies.
- Health Equity Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Working with community and providers, develop and implement the initiative's health equity plan.
- Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI) Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Develop and implement a CQI plan that monitors program implementation for fidelity and effectiveness and works with community partners on improvements.
- Fiscal Analyst 2: Provide necessary fiscal analyst capacity to manage the fiscal aspects of the initiative.
- Communications Specialist (Operations and Policy Analyst 3): Provide coordinated communications and marketing across both the state and local level.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Start-up costs are focused on local communities until such time each local program is sustainable through service reimbursement (Medicaid, commercial payors).

Small community sustainability support	$150,000
Health equity support for implementing sites	$500,000
Nursing workforce development	$200,000

18. What are the potential savings?

Evaluation of the Family Connects Model has shown reduced emergency medical care (hospital overnights, emergency department and emergency doctor visits) for infants at 6 months, 12 months, and 24 months. With the demonstration of positive impacts of home visiting on life-long health, the programs have also been proven to be a cost-effective strategy for states. An investment in home visiting programs have shown to offer returns on investment ranging from $1.75 to $5.70 for every dollar spent. This benefit is acquired through savings across the life-course through reduced costs of K-12 special education and grade retention, criminal justice expenses, and child protection. Specifically, the Family Connects® home visiting model, through cost-benefit analyses, has been shown to produce a return on investment of $3.17 for every dollar spent from reduced costs for emergency medical care for ED visits and overnight hospital stays. They estimated a local average of $432 per emergency outpatient visit and $3,722 per hospital night.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This package is primarily General Fund, with some Federal Funds from Medicaid.

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

This policy package seeks to eliminate health inequities in addressing gaps and quality in the children's behavioral health service continuum as part of OHA's goal to eliminate health inequities by 2030. The children's behavioral health system in Oregon must provide a full spectrum of effective supports, from prevention to intensive acute care, to be meaningfully responsive to the needs of children, youth, and young adults (ages 0 to 25 years).

The policy package seeks to improve access to providers who are culturally or linguistically responsive, to further reduce and eliminate disparities in access to and utilization of health care for people who are African American, Black, Latinx/a/o, Asian and Pacific Islanders, indigenous and American Indians and Alaskan Native tribal members. The proposal works toward eliminating gaps in the provision of services for children and youth who have co-occurring intellectual or developmental disabilities in addition to behavioral health challenges. The proposal also seeks to make needed services available to youth who identify on the LGBTQIA2S+[1] spectrum, who are in need of specific supports and therapeutic services for commercial sexual exploitation, and to those youth and young adults who need support as they transition to adulthood. The proposed programs and services address the needs of the child, youth, and young adult population with an intersectional intention in service access.

[1] Lesbian, Gay Bisexual, Transgender, Queer, Intersex, Asexual, Two Spirit and all the other ways individuals may identify.

The Child and Family Behavioral Health (CFBH) unit continues to develop capacity and support workforce development to ensure availability and access to a broad, flexible array of effective services and supports for youth from all backgrounds, in all regions of the state. Elements of this policy package create expansion of Child Psychiatrists and Developmental Pediatricians in Oregon:

1. Expansion to provide incentives and funding to increase and retain the number of Child Psychiatrists and Developmental Pediatrician fellows (CP/DP) trained in Oregon.

This policy package seeks to solve problems in existing services:

Child Psychiatrists and Developmental Pediatricians

Current wait times are not in an acceptable range for child psychiatrists' and developmental pediatricians' services. Families are forced to seek care during crises from resources not adequate for their root challenges, such as in a hospital emergency department. Children of all ages, including babies and toddlers, are waiting up to two years for an initial evaluation when there is concern about an intellectual or developmental difficulty. Lost time during very early developmental periods cannot be regained completely. The critical period for brain growth and development is at its peak during infancy through age 3.

Rural Oregon communities do not have adequate access to the services of developmental pediatricians or child psychiatrists. While telehealth can help bridge this gap, there are times when an in-person evaluation is critical. The potential for inadequate or poor treatment can produce consequences that are lasting for children and youth who are not accurately diagnosed and treated in a timely way.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

Child Psychiatrists and Developmental Pediatricians

There is a longstanding shortage of both child psychiatrists and developmental pediatricians in Oregon, which has been exacerbated over the past several years due to impact from the COVID-19 pandemic. Physicians are needed with specialized expertise in assessing and treating youth with complex behavioral health conditions, including those who also have co-occurring intellectual and/or developmental disabilities, and those with neurodivergence[2]. Access is severely limited to these important specialty services.

This policy package increases the number of child psychiatrists and developmental pediatricians trained in Oregon by providing incentives and funding to attract child psychiatry and developmental pediatrics fellows with priority given to residents with diverse backgrounds, to work in various settings related to child and family behavioral health, to increase available specialty physician workforce within Oregon. One strategy to assist with retention includes incentivizing trained physicians in this program to work in Oregon following completion of their fellowship.

OHA will provide continued support to OHSU Division of Child Psychiatry for an additional 3 slots for child psychiatry and assist them to fund their plan to add two more slots over the next three years (beginning in mid-2024) for a total of 10 residency slots; and with OHSU Child Development and Rehabilitation Center (CDRC) to add two Developmental Pediatrician training slots per year.

[2] Neurodivergence is the term for people whose brains function differently in one or more ways than is considered standard or typical.

Developmental Pediatricians are critical providers in addressing the needs of children with intellectual and developmental disorders, and for children and youth who are neurodiverse, including those with autistic spectrum disorders, attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD), and other learning disabilities. Developmental Pediatricians are specialized in their knowledge of child development for youth who are neurodivergent, youth with intellectual and developmental disorders and in addressing educational, learning and behavioral challenges resulting from neurodivergence. Other types of neurodivergence include Tourette's Syndrome, dyspraxia, synesthesia, dyscalculia, Down syndrome, epilepsy, and chronic mental illnesses such as bipolar disorder, obsessive-compulsive disorder, borderline personality disorder, anxiety, and depression.

OHA is collaborating with the Division of Child Psychiatry and the CDRC housed at OHSU for this proposal. Target dates for implementation: July 2023 add three Child Psychiatry slots and July 2024 add two more Child Psychiatry slots. For developmental pediatrician residency slots, OHA proposes to add two each July of the biennium in beginning in July 2024.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[3] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   OHA has one strategic goal: to eliminate health inequities in Oregon by 2030. Achieving health equity requires the ongoing collaboration of all regions and sectors of the state, including Tribal governments, to address: “The equitable distribution or redistribution of resources and power; and Recognizing, reconciling and rectifying historical and contemporary injustices”.

To eliminate health inequities, the children’s behavioral health system needs to do things differently by de-centering whiteness. Oregon is a state with 565,177 Latinos/as/x residents, comprising 13 percent of the state’s population. As only one example, the lack of behavioral health practitioners in Eastern Oregon, where the majority of the Latino/as/x community resides is significant. Morrow, Malheur and Hood River are 34 percent Latino/a/x identified and have an average ratio of 180 residents per full time licensed mental health providers[4].

This report by the Oregon Commission on Hispanic Affairs states: “This report’s workforce demographic summary shows the agency [OHA] experiences pervasive and ongoing challenges with underrepresentation and inequitable outcomes for people of color and people with disabilities in the overall workforce, within management, and in hires, promotions and separations. The COVID-19 pandemic has underscored systemic racism and health inequities faced by people of color, Tribal members and other communities in Oregon and across the country. This reality has shown it is vital to OHA’s mission to develop and support a workforce that is culturally responsive and reflects the racially, ethnically, linguistically, ability- and gender diverse populations across the state.”

The adverse effects of not funding this policy package would be significant impact on many of Oregon’s most vulnerable children, youth and families, particularly Tribal youth and youth of color. Those who are African American, Black, American and Latino/a/x are disproportionately impacted by

[4] Oregon Commission on Hispanic Affairs Crisis De Nuestro Bienstar; a report on Latino Mental Health in Oregon. (https://www.oregon.gov/oac/Documents1/Crisis_de_Nuestro_Bienestar_-_Latino_Mental_Health_in_Oregon.pdf)

ODHS Child Welfare involvement. Neurodiverse children have lifelong challenges and while they may not always qualify for entitlement programs, such as developmental disabilities, the challenges are long term and similar supports are often needed as individuals in intellectual/developmental disabilities (I/DD) programs. Youth who identify as LGBTQIA2S+ may be reluctant to seek out services because they do not find providers who they can identify with, they are not trusting of adults who may have discriminated against them (including their own families) and they are generally disconnected from support. This reluctance is further heightened if they have an intersectional identity.

Youth in Oregon are languishing because Oregon's behavioral health care is in crisis, with headlines on newspapers across the state. Enhancing the current services and supports and diversifying the workforce offered is a critical step in providing adequate services for children, youth, and families in Oregon.

This policy package represents an intention to respond to needs identified by youth and families in communities throughout Oregon. Not funding this policy package would keep the children's behavioral health service array status quo, with youth continuing to use emergency departments and higher levels of care (which are not always immediately available) to meet their psychiatric needs, and with parents/caregivers turning to ODHS Child Welfare for assistance in safely managing the intense needs of their children, when behavioral health services are not available or adequate, and with some children and youth and their families completely unable to access services.

This policy package furthers OHA's mission of ensuring that all people and communities can achieve optimum physical, mental, and social well-being through partnerships, prevention, and access to quality, affordable health by improving the children's continuum of care. This policy package supports the OHA Health Equity initiative.

Funds will be prioritized to culturally specific populations who have not been adequately served, or served at all, in prior years. Emphasis in contracts will encourage the hiring and training of provider staff who resemble the clients they are serving demographically. The proposed investment increases the availability, use and quality of community based, integrated health care services.

This policy package is rooted in feedback given to OHA from youth and families, through local Systems of Care barrier identification, listening sessions, monthly meetings with families, 'Think Tanks' with Oregon's youth and input from the Children's System Advisory Council (CSAC), a key advisory council for the Child and Family Behavioral Health unit. The System of Care Advisory Council (SOCAC), a governor appointed oversight group for the Systems of Care, have endorsed this package. It is fully supported by the Oregon Council for Behavioral Health, Oregon Alliance of Children's Providers and the Oregon Alliance to Prevent Suicide.

Making a larger pool of child psychiatrists/developmental pediatricians available in Oregon would increase care to African American/Black, Latinx/a/o, American Indian/ Alaskan Native, Asian, Pacific Islander communities and improve access to care for all; we recommend that applicants of color be prioritized as the presence of providers who are of similar ethnic and racial and other diverse backgrounds can facilitate populations impacted by health inequities in seeking out services. Having adequately prepared providers reflective of populations who've experienced health inequity will also assist with continued engagement in care.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Increasing access to practicing child psychiatrists and developmental pediatricians and expanding current workforce to include more African American, Latinx/o/a, Tribal and LGBTQIA2S+ identified practitioners who are available to serve children, youth and young adults addresses current inadequacies in access to timely appointments and service providers who are culturally responsive and who ideally have similar cultural backgrounds to their clients.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

Success will be measured by tracking the following in the next five years to ensure adequate increases in workforce and in youth and family satisfaction:

- Number of CP/DP who currently serve Medicaid members,
- Number of assessments for intellectual and developmental disabilities and neurodivergent conditions such as ADHD or Autistic Spectrum Disorder,
- Number of Child Psychiatrists/Developmental Pediatricians trained who remain in and practice in Oregon with 40-50% of their practice being devoted to underserved communities/groups as defined herein; and,
- Number of CP/DP who identify as African American, Latina/o/x, American Indian/ Alaskan Natives, Asian/Pacific Islander and LGBTQIA2S+.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

OHA's CFBH unit has addressed the lack of child psychiatry availability since 2014, by standing up the Oregon Psychiatric Access line (OPAL-K), a child psychiatry consultation service housed at OHSU. This service is available to physicians around Oregon, including primary care, psychiatric mental health nurse practitioners, and other providers with questions related to child psychiatry, particularly medication management.

OHA currently funds a portion of child psychiatry residency training: three child psychiatry residents per year are required to work three days per week in settings certified by OHA under the Intensive Treatment Services (ITS) or substance use residential settings. OHA has not taken prior actions to increase the workforce of developmental pediatricians but has worked closely with one of the OHSU providers to better understand the barriers that prevent children from being evaluated in a timely manner.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Due to the scope and nature of the continuum of children's behavioral health services and current need, the following alternative were considered:

- Approaching other training programs in other states and utilize incentives to attract physician residents interested in these specialties to Oregon. More research needs to be done about the feasibility/cost of this option.
- Telehealth is an option being used to improve access; yet the virtual environment is not appropriate for the evaluation and observation of some children's diagnostic needs.

- Based on implementation of OPAL-K, OHA is aware that use of ancillary providers such as physician associates and psychiatric mental health nurse practitioners (who can be specially trained to do some aspects of these evaluations) is an option, but this would still not provide the level of expertise and knowledge base for children with the greatest challenges.
- This evaluation and treatment work is highly specialized because the disorders can be difficult to treat and may frequently exist with other mental health conditions. Appropriate evaluation and treatment are best provided by specialty physicians.
- HPA one-time investments: Legislative funding recently created a 30/30/30 plan with funding to OHSU, however, the targeted providers were not at this level.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The full Governor appointed SOCAC voted in support of this policy package. The Oregon Alliance of Children's Providers, the Oregon Council for Behavioral Health and the Oregon Alliance for Suicide Prevention also have offered full support. CSAC also supports this proposal.

These concepts were explored and supported in 2020 and 2021 in response to our Policy Vision[5] paper and during extensive feedback through community engagement with children, youth, young adults and families.

OHA has consulted and collaborated with Health Policy and Analytics division and outreached system partners providing graduate medical education.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

This policy package does not require any changes to existing statute.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

This policy package was created with the knowledge that the children, youth and families receiving behavioral health services can also be served by all other child serving state agencies, Tribal health programs, coordinated care organizations, community mental health programs and community-based organizations. Program information dissemination will be provided to all nine Oregon Federally Recognized Tribes and the Urban Indian Health Program. Of the proposals in this policy package the following entities will be affected:

- All populations are underserved for this specialty level of care and particularly those communities who have been historically marginalized and who've had poor or no access to care overall.
- Tribes and other underserved populations need access to child psychiatrists and developmental pediatricians at a much higher rate than the wider population given their ongoing health inequities. Tribes will receive outreach from OHA staff and invitation to collaborate to meet the need of tribal communities.
- All child serving state agencies will be impacted by improved diagnostic and follow up services to populations most in need, which include our most vulnerable populations.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

In September 2020, the Secretary of State audit[6] focused on the children's behavioral health system. The audit highlighted the crisis that Oregon's Children's Behavioral Health system has been experiencing, how OHA is failing to serve children, youth and families who are involved with multiple systems and have complex needs.

The report highlights five key areas: data shortfalls, chronic workforce shortages, weakness and limitations of state statutes that have contributed to the fragmented service delivery model, inadequate monitoring of General Fund spending, and a lack of consistent leadership, strategic vision and governance.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 2023 to June 2025

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

This policy package assumes inflation and the current work force shortage impacting the children's behavioral health system.

[6] https://sos.oregon.gov/audits/Documents/2020-32.pdf

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Child Psychiatry and Developmental Pediatrician expansion will be managed by the CFBH unit utilizing existing staff.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Yes, this policy package seeks to expand current services and supports to children, youth and families.

By expanding services and supports it is hoped there will be a decrease in emergency department use, emergency department boarding and a need to access services through ODHS child welfare.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

The CFBH unit will provide support for CP/DP fellows by providing contract management and technical assistance.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

This policy package doesn't not include any start-up or one-time costs.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

There will be ongoing costs for the following:

- Three additional training slots at OHSU for child psychiatry, two more child psychiatry training slots over three years, and two new training slots for developmental pediatricians per year
- Retention incentives, training and support for Child Psychiatrists and Developmental Pediatricians in Oregon

17. What are the potential savings?

This policy package will save youth and families time, energy and offering services and supports when they are most needed. There will be no duplication of services under this policy package.

There will also be cost savings resulting from decreased use of emergency departments and higher levels of mental health care, such as psychiatric residential treatment services, including subacute, and substance use residential services.

18. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is funded with General Fund only.

Policy package title:	988 & Behavioral Health Crisis System: Payor Parity for BH Crisis Services
Policy package number:	429
Related legislation:	House Bill 2417 (2021), House Bill 3046 (2021)

Summary statement:

In 2021, the Legislature directed the Oregon Health Authority in House Bill 2417 to implement, expand and enhance Oregon's 988 & behavioral health crisis system (988 & BHCS). This includes enhancing existing services and expanding the current system to provide a "no wrong door" approach that ensures individuals in crisis receive the appropriate level of care through three programs: a statewide 988 call center, expanding mobile crisis team outreach, creating crisis stabilization centers (CSCs), and developing a seamless continuity of care through follow-up service referral and tracking. This policy package addresses payor parity for BHCS by commercial payors. Though Medicaid is the only payor that covers behavioral health crisis services, these services are required to be accessible and be delivered to all regardless of insurance type or status. Payor parity is essential for long term fiscal sustainability of behavioral health crisis services including crisis service workforce in Oregon.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Currently, behavioral health crisis services, including the crisis call line, mobile crisis services and stabilization services, are paid for by Medicaid Federally matched Funds and state General Fund and are not paid for by commercial insurers. As a result, state General Fund must be used to cover the full cost of crisis services delivered to individuals (including children) who are covered under commercial insurance, uninsured or underinsured. This continues to impact the workforce reimbursement, 24/7 availability, and in general the quality of service for Community Mental Health Programs (CMHP), especially rural and frontier ones, who are the primary providers of behavioral health crisis services. When providing crisis services to children, youth, and young adults, providers are not just treating the individual but the entire family to provide person/family centered service. While this is the ideal way to provide crisis services, it also further incurs cost on the provider.

Recently, Oregon has seen federal and state investments to enhance and improve the behavioral health crisis system and services; however, the ongoing state fiscal impact will be significant, in part due to the lack of payor parity for behavioral health crisis services. An independent consultant found Oregon would pay approximately $1.0 million per year in mobile crisis services and $11.3 million per year in stabilization services for individuals with commercial insurance coverage. Establishing payor parity would help ensure the long-term fiscal sustainability of a robust behavioral health crisis system of care in Oregon.

Reimbursement being available only through Medicaid makes it difficult for crisis service providers to maintain a multidisciplinary team of behavioral health staff qualified to do assessment, diagnosis, and treatment. CMHPs eventually end of losing one or more staff who are part of crisis services team and some even have to cut down crisis service hours to less than 24/7. This gap in mobile crisis team availability often leads to law enforcement being called out to after-hours behavioral health crisis responses. Therefore, communities are less inclined to seek behavioral health crisis services, especially those communities who have historically been traumatized by law enforcement response to their crisis due to structural racism and bias. Communities who don't have consistent access to behavioral health crisis service teams seek care at emergency departments when they experience behavioral health crisis.

Payor parity for behavioral health crisis services means mandating all payors to cover behavioral health crisis services provided in the following settings: (a) A crisis walk-in facility; (b) An evaluation and treatment facility that can provide directly, or by direct arrangement with other public or private agencies, emergency evaluation and treatment, outpatient care, and timely and appropriate inpatient care to persons suffering from a mental disorder, and which is licensed or certified as such by the Oregon health Authority; (c) all agencies licensed or certified by the OHA that provide outpatient crisis services; (d) An agency that provides medically managed or medically monitored withdrawal management services; or (e) A mobile crisis team that provides crisis response services in the community.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

This policy package includes one Operations & Policy Analyst 3 position to coordinate and administer the potential new statutory requirements, in collaboration with Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS). The policy package also covers the cost for PEBB and OEBB to cover behavioral health crisis services for their members.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This gap in mobile crisis team availability often leads to law enforcement being called out to after-hours behavioral health crisis responses. Therefore, communities are less inclined to seek behavioral health crisis services, especially those communities who have historically been traumatized by law enforcement response to their crisis due to structural racism and bias.

Reimbursement method limited to Medicaid enrolled individuals and providers makes it difficult for crisis service providers to recruit, retain, and maintain a multidisciplinary team of behavioral health staff qualified to do assessment, diagnosis, and treatment. CMHPs and other behavioral health providers eventually end up losing one or more staff who are part of crisis services team and some even have to cut down crisis service hours to less than 24/7. This often leads to after-hour behavioral health crisis response being entirely comprised of law enforcement and therefore communities less inclined to seek behavioral health crisis services, This is specifically harmful to communities who have historically been traumatized by law enforcement response to their crises due to structural racism and bias. Communities who don't have consistent access to behavioral health crisis service teams seek care at emergency departments when they experience behavioral health crisis. Emergency department utilization is a higher cost alternative to appropriate crisis supports and often leads to prolonged and unnecessary boarding of individuals, with excessive days spent in the ER especially for communities of color.

Therefore, this policy package directly aligns with OHA's strategic mission to eliminate health inequity for communities who have been impacted due to historic injustice and systemic racism.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The development of the statewide coordinated crisis system is intended to increase access across Oregon. OHA anticipates the following outcomes:

- Payor equity to increase sustained coverage of behavioral health crisis service costs
- Remove barriers to accessing quality behavioral health crisis services including referrals, care coordination, and timely receipt of crisis and stabilization services
- Prevent suicide deaths
- Improve equity in behavioral health treatment and ensure culturally, linguistically, and developmentally appropriate responses to individuals experiencing behavioral health crises, in recognition that, historically, crisis response services placed marginalized communities at disproportionate risk of poor outcomes and criminal justice involvement
- Decreased emergency department boarding
- Higher quality crisis services workforce with higher competency as well as increased staff retention in crisis services due to better reimbursement models

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

OHA will look at measures that are disaggregated, as clinically appropriate, by REALD & SOGI requirements. Measures that will be tracked and monitored include:

- Fee schedule for commercial payors for behavioral health crisis services.
- Number of people on commercial insurance who accessed behavioral health crisis services.
- Number of people on commercial insurance who avoided emergency department by receiving crisis services.
- REALD & SOGI data that is collected would be collected, if identified as clinically appropriate, as a secondary focus to providing crisis and stabilization services and not considered mandatory.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

Lack of payor parity for behavioral health crisis services has always been a cause of concern especially among crisis service providers who must cover the cost. Currently, OHA must seek legislatively appropriated General Fund to help providers (specifically CMHPs) to cover all individuals who are not on Medicaid and seek behavioral health crisis services. Through a combination of funding appropriated under House Bill 2417, and one-time federal grant funds, OHA has made investments to enhance the crisis system.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Legislative pathway to address statute change is the only alternative identified to address lack of payor parity in behavioral health crisis services. House Bill 3046 addresses payor parity for behavioral health services at large, however, behavioral health crisis services are still only covered by Medicaid but are required to be available for everyone regardless of insurance. This creates unstable funding and workforce attrition for behavioral health crisis services, which in turn impacts the standard and quality of crisis services to all Oregonians. While OHA has put in significant investment, CMHPs continue to struggle to have a 24/7 multidisciplinary team of crisis workforce.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

Collaboration on this policy package includes but is not limited to Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS), the nine-federally recognized Tribes and Urban Indian Health Program, consumers and those utilizing services, Medicaid providers, coordinated care organizations (CCO), peer-delivered services community, local community mental health programs (CMHPs), Oregon Council Behavioral Health (OCBH), Crisis System Advisory Workgroup (CSAW), CSAW Steering Committee, Medicaid Advisory Committee (MAC), Oregon Consumer Advisory Council (OCAC), Health Policy Board, Alcohol Drug Policy Commission (ADPC), Addictions and Mental Health Planning and Advisory Council (AMPHAC), Oregon Association of Hospitals and Health Systems (OAHHS), National Alliance on Mental Illness (NAMI), law enforcement, emergency medical services, 911 programs, and other first responders.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

OHA put forward legislative concept 44300-023. There may be requirement of a new statute, or changes can be made to ORS 414.766, 743A.168 and 743B.505.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

This policy package could impact DCBS as the regulatory agency for commercial payors. All community mental health programs and CCOs will also see the positive impact of cost savings due to commercial payors picking up their share of crisis services in the community. This will be especially visible among children, youth, young-adult population.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable.

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- Commercial payors will identify and recognize the lower cost of covering crisis services compared to inpatient services.
- Commercial payors will make changes to their fee schedules and contracts with Community Mental Health Programs to reflect behavioral health crisis services as a covered benefit for their clients.
- Medicaid and legislatively appropriated funds will continue at level funding to support the crisis system.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

There may be a need for shared responsibilities to be coordinated between OHA, PEBB/OEBB, and DCBS.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Not applicable.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

Operations & Policy Analyst 3
The purpose of this position is to provide development, implementation, and accountability of the implementation, of any new statute and rules associated with this policy package. The employee will focus specifically on coordinating with DCBS and commercial payor partners, providers responsible for delivering behavioral health crisis services, and other community partners. This will be done by identifying key stakeholders, design the scope of work as outlined initiative, develop associated policy and program materials, facilitate weekly/monthly meetings, as well as monitoring system performance and outcomes as a result of statute change. Associated work will include acting as a subject matter expert to support the 988 & BHCS leadership in preparing recommendations for Legislative Session work, Government Relations, OHA leadership and community partners. This position must understand the intent, planning and priorities of the behavioral health crisis services.

Internally, the position will require extensive partnership, collaboration, and program design with the 988 call centers, Community Mental Health Programs, and CCOs as it relates to the regional crisis system implementation across the state. The position will represent the Health Systems Division in this cross-divisional work and be astute at determining when additional leadership is required.

The person in this position will identify system performance and system development needs, including administrative, legislative, and funding changes to improve the effectiveness of services.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

None.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

According to the PEBB/OEBB consultant, the increased cost will result in an estimated 0.05 percent premium increase in PEBB's and OEBB's medical/rx plans. The premium increase will result in a fiscal impact of $1.1 million to PEBB and $0.8 million to OEBB through Other Funds Special Payments during the 2023-25 biennium. This assumes a statutory effective date of July 1, 2023. Total ongoing cost will be $2.1 million per biennium.

18. What are the potential savings?

Payor parity with commercial payors will save Oregon approximately $1.0 million per year in mobile crisis services and $11.3 million per year in stabilization services annually, according to an independent consultant contract by OHA.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

General Fund for position costs in HSD. For PEBB and OEBB, the Other Funds revenue comes from administrative fees assessed on PEBB and OEBB Core Benefits. The administrative fee is paid by members and state agencies through an assessment added to medical and insurance premiums and premium equivalents.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Policy and Analytics
Program:	Office of Health Policy & Delivery System Innovation, Office of Health Analytics
Policy package title:	Support for the Health Care Market Oversight Program
Policy package number:	430
Related legislation:	ORS 415.500 et seq.

Summary statement:

This policy package includes Other Funds to support the Oregon Health Authority's (OHA) administration of the Health Care Market Oversight (HCMO) program in the 2023-25 biennium. Through the HCMO program, OHA reviews and approves health care consolidation in Oregon, ensuring that health care mergers and acquisitions support statewide goals related to cost, quality, access, and equity. Without this policy package to support the HCMO program, health care in Oregon could become more consolidated, resulting in higher prices without improved quality, and access issues, particularly for low-income communities, rural communities, and communities of color. This package funds four full-time, permanent positions and program expenses.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

In Oregon and nationwide, health care consolidation has become increasingly common, resulting in more markets being dominated by large, national companies and fewer independent and local health care providers. Research shows that when health care corporations combine, it can lead to higher prices without improving quality or health outcomes. Health care consolidation can affect access to care, particularly for low-income communities, communities of color and rural communities.

Health Care Market Oversight is a legislatively mandated program (per ORS 415.500 et seq.) and a key strategy to achieve OHA's goals related to containing health care costs. In 2021, the Oregon Legislature passed House Bill 2362 to address health care consolidation in the state. This law directs OHA to review proposed transactions, such as mergers and acquisitions, that involve health care entities, including hospitals, health insurance companies, and provider groups. The program ensures that health care transactions in Oregon are transparent and support lower costs, increased equity and access, and better quality. Through the program and per the legislation, OHA also monitors, evaluates, and reports on the statewide impacts of health care consolidation. The HCMO program launched March 1, 2022.

This policy package continues that program supported by fees. In the 2021-23 biennium, the Legislature funded the program with 100 percent General Fund with the intention that fees collected would sustain the program long-term. Delays in the ability to establish and collect fees have created a revenue shortfall for the 2023-25 biennium. In 2023, OHA began collecting fees to conduct reviews of planned health care transactions; however, the timing and number of reviews is unpredictable, and the effort required to review transactions will vary.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package provides Other Funds limitation in the 2023-25 biennium to cover HCMO program costs. It provides resources for four existing permanent positions to support the following statutorily required work:

- Conduct reviews of proposed health care transactions, including gathering materials and information, acquiring data, coordinating with entities involved in the transactions, overseeing the work of outside advisors, and conducting qualitative and quantitative analyses, and making determinations about whether the transaction should be approved, approved with conditions, or rejected. OHA will also conduct follow-up reviews of approved transactions one, two, and five years after the deal is completed.
- Implement a robust public input process, including engaging interested parties from the health care industry and advocate groups, using inclusive best practices to solicit comments and input from the public, and developing public facing-materials to build awareness and transparency. OHA may convene a community review board, comprising patients, plan members, and community members to inform reviews and provide recommendations about whether to approve transactions.
- Administer the program, including providing technical assistance to health care entities considering a transaction, overseeing vendor contracts, and coordinating with other related efforts in Oregon and nationally.
- Monitor consolidation in Oregon through ongoing tracking and reporting of health care transactions and evaluating the impacts of health care transactions. HCMO's governing statute directs OHA to publish a report on the state of consolidation every four years.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

HCMO supports OHA's strategic goal of lowering or containing the costs of health care. As the COVID-19 public health emergency unwinds, efforts must continue that help ensure that health care consolidation does not further destabilize the health care system.

HCMO does not just focus on cost and market impact of health care consolidation; it also has an explicit focus on equity in its rules and statute. Equity is a core component of all transaction analyses and reviews, and the program supports robust public and community engagement. HCMO processes require health care entities to consider the health equity implications of their actions. And moreover, OHA may not approve transactions that are likely to have a negative impact on health equity, which positions HCMO as an effective initiative to improve health equity over the long term in Oregon.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The desired long-term outcome of this program is a health care system with competitive markets that support affordable prices and access to essential services. The program seeks to deter health care corporations from creating monopolies and anti-competitive markets. ORS 415.510 directs OHA to conduct a study of the impact of health care consolidation in the state every four years. This study, along with ongoing monitoring efforts, will examine trends in consolidation and the impact of consolidation on health care markets, costs for consumers and payers, quality of care, population health management, and health outcomes.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

For each transaction review, OHA will measure quality outcomes and access to care, stratified by community and patient demographics, including race, ethnicity, age group, gender, and geography, as available. OHA will also examine community engagement and availability of equity-enhancing services.

ORS 415.510 directs OHA to conduct a quadrennial study of the impact of health care consolidation in the state. Through this study, OHA will assess the impact of consolidation on costs for consumers and payers, quality of care, population health management, and health outcomes, particularly for uninsured individuals, low-income individuals, and people living in rural communities.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

The HCMO program launched March 1, 2022. The program waived fees for the first nine months of operations in response to public and stakeholder input. Program staff are now engaging in rulemaking that will allow the program to implement fees in 2023. Because the volume and timing of reviews is unpredictable, especially given the disruption of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Governor's Budget included this policy package funded with General Fund to ensure that program operations can continue uninterrupted as the program continues to grow. The Legislatively Adopted Budget funds this with Other Funds to cover the program expenses; however, OHA will request General Fund for any revenue shortfall at a future rebalance, in order to continue the program at full capacity.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

   The Legislature fully funded the program with General Fund for the 2021-23 biennium. OHA will propose in rule for fees to begin in 2023. OHA is proposing a tiered fee structure of realistic fees, avoiding fees that are too high for entities to abide. Due to the unpredictability of how many reviews will be conducted and the type of reviews, however, funding the program completely with fees is not a viable option.

   OHA plans to revisit fee amounts for the 2025-27 biennium with a better understanding of the number and type of transactions that may come in over time; future fees may be sufficient to fully fund the program in future budget cycles.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   No other agencies or programs are collaborating on this policy package.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No. This policy package would not require any changes to ORS 415.500 et seq, HCMO's governing statute.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

OHA partners with the Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS) and the Department of Justice (DOJ) to align regulatory oversight of reviewing proposed health care transactions. This policy package would allow for continued partnership. Local and tribal governments would not be directly affected by this policy package. All Oregon residents and all purchasers of health care would indirectly benefit from ensuring that market consolidation does not result in cost increases or reduced access to services.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Ongoing

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

OHA anticipates implementing program fees, but since OHA has not yet obtained authorization to collect fees, this policy package does not include estimated fee amounts. Any fees the program collects in the 2023-25 biennium will be used to fund this program.

OHA will request General Fund for revenue shortfall needed to run the program at a future rebalance.

HCMO began collecting fees January 1, 2023. Program fees for the 2023-2025 biennium are listed in OAR 409-070-0030. The fee schedule includes flat fees for emergency and preliminary (30-day) reviews. There are tiered fees for comprehensive (180-day) reviews, based on the revenue of the second largest entity involved in a transaction. Most HCMO transactions do not receive a comprehensive review. (See fee schedule below.)

Fee Name	Current Fee	2023-25 Fee
Emergency Review	0	$2,000
Preliminary Review	0	$2,000
Comprehensive Review - Revenue $10M - $50M	0	$25,000
Comprehensive Review - Revenue $50M - $200M	0	$80,000
Comprehensive Review - Revenue $200M - $500M	0	$90,000
Comprehensive Review - Revenue >$500M	0	$100,000

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No new responsibilities.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Not applicable.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This policy package would support four existing permanent staff positions:

- One Operations & Policy Analyst 4 to lead and oversee program policies and processes, transaction reviews, and the study of health care consolidation
- One Operations & Policy Analyst 4 to oversee program administration, operations, community engagement and health equity, and vendor contracts. This existing position was previously budgeted in the 2021-23 biennium as an OPA 3; OHA is requesting a reclass of this position (see below).
- One Research Analyst 4 to analyze data and support transaction review analyses
- One Economist 3 to conduct market and cost analyses and support transaction review analyses

OHA is requesting to reclass the Operations & Policy Analyst 3 position to an Operations & Policy Analyst 4. Upon implementation, OHA identified the need for this position to provide higher-level expertise and more independent support for the program. The initial fiscal analysis did not account for the level of effort required to support administrative and operational aspects of the program. In alignment with OHA's agency efforts to advance health equity and recent state laws to support equity, the program seeks to develop more robust community engagement and equity assessment, which requires additional expertise and skills to implement equity-focused processes and support broader outreach and communications.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Not applicable.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Ongoing costs include resources to support staffing, services, and supports. The HCMO program includes four permanent positions. Additional services and supports include funds for public engagement and DOJ support. All transaction reviews will have a public engagement process and comprehensive reviews may convene a community review board. This policy package would provide funding to support public engagement activities, including translation, interpretation, and outreach, as well as compensation for qualifying community review board members, as required by House Bill 2992 (2021). This policy package also includes resources for ongoing support from DOJ to review transaction decisions, assist with pre-filing technical assistance, and support rules updates.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Public Health
Program:	Environmental Public Health
Policy package title:	Domestic Well Safety Program
Policy package number:	432
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

This package restores the previously federally-funded Domestic Well Safety Program (DWSP) by providing position authority and funding for a dedicated DWSP staff position. DWSP uses data collected under the state Domestic Well Testing Act to inform people in Oregon about the importance of testing drinking water from wells and provides guidance about how to improve poor water quality, leading to improved health outcomes. DWSP also conducts special projects, including the 2020 Wildfires-Impacted Domestic Well Testing project and the Lower Umatilla Basin Ground Water Management Area (LUBGWMA) project. This package funds public health interventions in LUBGWMA including outreach for domestic well screening and testing and where indicated, water treatment device installation and maintenance.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

In mid-2020, the federal Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) ceased funding the Domestic Well Safety Program (DWSP), housed in OHA's Environmental Public Health (EPH) Section. CDC had funded most of a position in EPH since 2013, allowing OHA to provide domestic well safety education and outreach to approximately 20 percent of Oregon's population who rely on domestic wells for their drinking water. Water insecurity, exacerbated by climate change, has been a growing concern in recent years given increasing scientific evidence that changes in precipitation, heat and wildfires will impair drinking water systems including domestic wells. Preventable direct health outcomes of water insecurity include water-borne illnesses, exposure to contaminants and toxins, dehydration and malnutrition. Indirect outcomes include emotional distress, depression and anxiety. Understanding water quality and quantity needs and inequities in access to safe water in Oregon is a prerequisite to developing community-specific and culturally-relevant water security strategies or policy solutions to help communities build adaptive capacity, strengthen resiliency and protect the health of all people in Oregon.

The threat of water insecurity was dramatically realized with the September 2020 Labor Day wildfires that impacted communities throughout central and western Oregon, leaving thousands with damaged or destroyed homes and wells and disproportionately impacting communities of color and with low incomes. Because OHA had suspended the DWSP due to lack of funding, OHA required legislative Emergency Board (2020) and 2021 Legislative Session funding for staff and laboratory contracting funds to offer free domestic well testing to the estimated 2,000 homes impacted by wildfires. That project is funded through FY 2023. In summer 2021 hundreds of wells went dry in the Klamath Basin due to drought, and while OHA dedicated manager time to interagency drought council efforts, there was no one able to provide public health information to people concerned about health impacts apart from the OHA website.

Most recently, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), responding to a legal petition under the Safe Drinking Water Act, is expected to require the State of Oregon, and OHA in particular as the agency with drinking water primacy under federal law, to mitigate exposure to nitrates in domestic well water to residents in the Lower Umatilla Basin Ground Water Management Area (LUBGWMA). The LUBGWMA, encompassing northern portions of Morrow and Umatilla counties, is designated due to high levels of nitrates from human activities.

EPA is requiring OHA to conduct outreach and education, domestic well testing and relief (bottled or trucked water, treatment systems, well repair or redrilling, connection to local systems) until high levels of nitrates fall under maximum contaminant levels of 10 milligrams per liter. There are two other Ground Water Management Area and other areas of concern in Oregon that may request similarly equitable treatment. Meanwhile, OHA receives results of domestic well tests conducted during Real Estate Transactions under the Domestic Well Testing Act (ORS 448.271). OHA is contacted by home buyers, sellers and realtors regarding these data. OHA has been unable to enter these data since the end of federal funding in 2020.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This package includes funding for a permanent full-time Program Analyst 2 and a permanent full-time Operation & Policy Analyst 4 as well as position authority and partial funding for a Natural Resource Specialist 4 and a Public Health Educator 2 (Federal Funds and Other Funds will cover the balance of costs for these positions). OHA would be able to use the funds immediately to maintain and make permanent the limited duration staff carrying out day-to-day Domestic Well Testing Act work, coordinating special short and intermediate-term projects like the wildfire-impacted domestic well testing project and coordinating long-term projects such as the LUBGWMA workplan, while carrying out recruitment for the permanent position.

- Contract funds for outreach activities, including mass communications (e.g., radio, print, web, social media) and to resource local partners (local public health authorities, community-based organizations) to develop and deliver well testing and safety outreach and communications, including conducting domestic well sample canvassing events; these funds will be deployed as soon as OHA establishes contracts.
- Contracts to certified environmental laboratories to conduct domestic well water analysis; these funds will be deployed as soon as OHA establishes contracts.
- Contracts to purchase through local water treatment professionals point of use water treatment systems to reduce nitrate contamination in domestic well water, prioritizing communities of color and with low income; these funds will be deployed as soon as OHA establishes contracts.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

At least 40 percent of all Oregon residents rely on public or private groundwater supplies for their drinking water (some public water systems rely on wells as some or all of their water source). In rural areas, 90 percent of Oregonians are dependent on groundwater and for many communities it is the only source of potable water. Oregon's rural populations experience elevated levels of poverty and compromised health status, particularly among communities of color. This makes groundwater protection and domestic well stewardship of critical public health importance. There are an estimated 350,000 active wells in Oregon. When this estimate is coupled with Oregon census estimates for household size, it suggests that approximately 23 percent of the state's population may be relying on private wells. With only 1 percent of state land use designated as urban, Oregon is primarily a rural state and private wells predominate. The Oregon Water Resources Department reports that every year 3,800 new exempt-use wells are drilled across the state. These small wells are exempt from the water-rights permitting process and regular water quality testing is not required leaving users of these wells at increased risk for adverse health outcomes stemming from exposure to well water contamination.

With respect to the LUBGWMA in particular, there are approximately 4,500 domestic wells serving an estimated 12,000 household members in an area of the state that tends to be more ethnically diverse, higher representation of Latino/a/e and American Indian/Alaskan Native populations and with a higher poverty rate than the state as a whole.

This policy package will improve awareness of domestic well sampling and water treatment, leading to decreased exposure to contaminants and improved general health outcomes. For the LUBGWMA, this work will include provision of free well water sampling and free water treatment for people impacted by poor water quality.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

We desire improved compliance with the Domestic Well Testing Act and increased general awareness of the importance of water testing (and utilization of free testing for the LUBGWMA project), improved drinking water quality based on action taken from test results and improved general health outcomes due to decreased exposure to contaminants. An ultimate environmental outcome would be dissolution of the LUBGWMA due to reduction of groundwater nitrates below levels of concern.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

The clearest and direct measure of equity would be the decrease in the number of households exposed to contaminated well water for their daily living activities. Due to the complexity of environmental exposures, it is difficult to measure health impacts of nitrates in drinking water. Acute outcomes (primarily fetal and infant mortality from methemoglobinemia, also some birth anomalies) are rare and chronic outcomes (primarily stomach cancer) are difficult to ascribe to individual causes. OHA is currently collecting baseline data for the LUBGWMA to see if it is possible to measure health impacts. OHA can measure intermediate outputs, including uptake of well testing and water delivery and implementation of water treatment by census geography which can be correlated with demographic information.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

In 2021, US EPA was petitioned to resolve concerns and US EPA directed Oregon state agencies to deliver a plan. In December 2021 OHA, Oregon Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) and Oregon Department of Agriculture (ODA) developed an interagency workplan in response. This policy package is based in large part on that workplan. In June 2022, Morrow County declared a state of emergency related to findings of high nitrates in portions of that county in LUBGWMA and requested support from state agencies. OHA expedited planning and requisition efforts.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

OHA asked US EPA for funding to address concerns; no funding has yet been identified from that source. OHA considered requesting federal Congressional Discretionary Spending and then learned that Morrow County requested congressional spending to monitor domestic wells and extend public water system lines. The county's application only covered a portion of the LUBGWMA project and public health action plan. OHA provided a letter of support.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

OHA partnered with DEQ and ODA in developing the workplan that forms the basis for this policy package. OHA is partnering with Morrow and Umatilla counties (as well as DEQ and ODA) on workplan refinement and long-term implementation.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

Local public health authorities in Morrow and Umatilla County will receive funding to assist in outreach and education efforts. OHA consulted the Confederated Tribes of the Umatilla Indian Reservation in August 2022 to offer services but none were required by the Tribe.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Position pricing assumes 1.00 FTE Program Analyst 2, step 3 based on current limited-duration staffing. For LUBGWMA, assumptions are 4,500 wells in the area to sample, 500 of which might be contaminated. Pricing assumes that half will need less expensive reverse osmosis water treatment and the other half will need ion exchange water treatment. Pricing assumes that treatment systems will be point-of-use (i.e., kitchen sink) versus whole-house treatment.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Office of Contracts and Procurement will need to support contracting for outreach and education, well sampling and water treatment. Office of Information Services will need to maintain existing information systems.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This policy package requests funding for a permanent full-time Program Analyst 2 and a permanent full-time Operation & Policy Analyst 4 as well as position authority and partial funding for a Natural Resource Specialist 4 and a Public Health Educator 2 (Federal Funds and Other Funds will cover the balance of costs for these positions) to restore the Domestic Well Safety Program to carry out required statewide and LUBGWMA-focused work. OHA will also dedicate time of existing Environmental Epidemiologist 2 and Compliance and Regulatory Manager 1 positions to support the work.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Anticipate LUBGWMA contracting costs are initially high during first period of outreach and education and recruitment for well testing and water treatment implementation.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Ongoing costs to maintain the day-to-day Domestic Well Testing Act work, coordinate special short and intermediate-term projects like the wildfire-impacted domestic well testing project. For LUBGWMA outreach and education, well testing and water treatment installation costs would taper off; water treatment system maintenance costs would remain until groundwater nitrate levels were no longer hazardous. The other ongoing cost is funding for a permanent full-time Program Analyst 2 and a permanent full-time Operation & Policy Analyst 4 as well as position authority and partial funding for a Natural Resource Specialist 4 and a Public Health Educator 2 (Federal Funds and Other Funds will cover the balance of costs for these positions).

18. What are the potential savings?

There are potential savings to be gained by improved individual and community health due to removal of exposure to harmful level of drinking water contaminants from domestic wells generally, and particularly in LUBGWMA.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is 100 percent General Fund.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Policy and Analytics
Program:	Oregon Health Insurance Marketplace
Policy package title:	Marketplace Outreach and Operations
Policy package no.:	434
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

This policy package uses existing Marketplace funds to further the Oregon Health Authority's (OHA) goals of 98 percent coverage by 2024 and elimination of health inequities by 2030. Priority populations face significant barriers to accessing health care due to systemic racism, oppression, discrimination, and bias. Specialized and dedicated efforts are needed to mitigate historical and contemporary injustices and either build or rebuild trust to ensure people are connected to the resources they need. With current staffing and due to the increasing demand from the community, the Marketplace needs additional resources to maintain and expand outreach and education initiatives to the communities it serves, including those who are at a higher risk of being harmed by health inequities, experiencing disadvantage, and most affected by social inequities. With additional staff, these communities will have access to the most effective assistance available to gain access to potentially free or very low-cost health care.

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

To meet the goals of eliminating health inequities by 2030 and achieving 98 percent health insurance coverage, OHA proposes this policy package, which relies on unused, excess Marketplace Other Funds that would otherwise be rebated back to commercial insurance carriers.

Priority populations face significant barriers to accessing health care due to systemic racism, oppression, discrimination, and bias. Specialized and dedicated efforts are needed to mitigate historical and contemporary injustices and either build or rebuild trust to ensure people are connected to the resources they need. The Marketplace's Outreach and Education Program is a critical effort focused on building relationships with community. Over the last five years, the Marketplace has employed five permanent outreach and education coordinators and two limited duration outreach and education coordinators.

Outreach and Education Coordinators (OECs) are the face of the Marketplace as health insurance and coverage experts, confident trainers, providers of excellent customer service to Oregonians, and trusted resources for the communities they serve. OECs serve every county in the state, providing school and college outreach; cultivating relationships with health insurance agents, community partners, community leaders, and local businesses; attending and supporting county, local, and regional government and community groups; partnering with OHA Regional Outreach Coordinator partners (ROCs); educating individuals throughout the state about how to get and use coverage; and working closely with WorkSource Oregon to give Rapid Response and Trade Act session presentations statewide for workers who have recently lost their jobs. In addition to outreach, the coordinators provide in-person and virtual Marketplace training to over 1,000 community partner assisters each year in both English and Spanish.

An ongoing challenge facing the Outreach and Education Program is staff turnover in the limited duration positions. The turnover resets relationships with the partners and communities; eliminates earned trust; and disrupts outreach, education, and enrollment assistance efforts. The development and training of these staff is lost when they move on to permanent employment elsewhere. The use of limited duration employees to fill these essential roles is neither sustainable nor effective to meet the needs of communities and ensure access to potentially free or very low-cost, high-quality health care.

With current staffing and due to the increasing demand from the community, the Marketplace needs additional resources to maintain and expand outreach and education initiatives to the communities it serves, including communities at higher risk of being harmed by health inequities, experiencing disadvantage, and most affected by social inequities. With additional staff, these populations will have access to the most effective assistance available to gain access to potentially free or very low-cost health care.

Another challenge facing the Marketplace's Outreach and Education efforts is the lack of a permanent staff member to operate and manage the call center. Per Oregon law, the Marketplace must operate "a call center dedicated to answering questions from individuals seeking enrollment in a qualified health plan" in a manner that will "mitigate health disparities linked to race, ethnicity, primary language and similar factors." ORS 741.002 and 741.001(4) (respectively). Following the transition of the Senior Health Insurance Benefits Assistance (SHIBA) team to the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS) on July 1, 2021, the Marketplace no longer has any Call Center Representatives to support the call center. The Marketplace did hire a limited duration call center representative, but a permanent position is required to provide necessary information to consumers who use the call center; allow the Marketplace's outreach and education coordinators to remain in the field providing outreach, education, and enrollment assistance; monitor and reply to emails; help support constituent work; and to meet statutory requirements.

Finally, the Marketplace brings additional complex reporting and contracting requirements that were not fully recognized at the time the program was integrated with OHA after the passage of SB 65 (2021). Additional fiscal reporting and support has been identified as a need to successfully support the program, its grants, and federal reporting requirements.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package requests the following three, full-time permanent Marketplace positions:

- One Outreach and Education Coordinator (Program Analyst 2)
- One Marketplace Customer Service Representative (Public Service Representative 4)
- One Budget Analyst (Fiscal Analyst 2)

The first two positions would provide outreach, education, and enrollment assistance to traditionally underserved and marginalized populations. The budget analyst would assist with budget reporting and tracking of federal grants, contracts, revenue and Marketplace expenditures.

Outreach & Education Coordinator
Program Analyst 2s support Outreach and Education in their assigned regions and provide Oregon-specific, in-person training to community partners. This position would serve both Central Oregon and the Gorge. Both regions have rural areas that are best served with in-person support and face-to-face relationship building. This OEC would serve the following counties, Jefferson, Wheeler, Crook, Deschutes, Hood River, Wasco, Sherman, and Gilliam.

Call Center Representative

A permanent call center representative would provide necessary information to consumers who use the call center, monitor and reply to emails, help support constituent work, and to meet the requirements of ORS 741.002 and 741.001(4). This role is integral to allowing the Marketplace's outreach and education coordinators to remain in the field serving and assisting community members.

Budget Analyst

A permanent budget analyst position would provide the necessary fiscal support for the Marketplace. This position would help ensure that the revenue, expenditures, federal reporting and other budget needs are done in a timely and accurate manner as required by ORS 291.100.

For all three positions, OHA would begin recruitment on the next business day after policy package approval, on or around July 1, 2023. OHA anticipates hiring permanent positions around January 1, 2024.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Additional outreach and education, call center, and budget/operational staffing would help the Marketplace focus on, and effectively implement, strategies to serve traditionally underserved and priority populations to educate individuals about affordable health insurance options and assist them with enrollment into affordable, high-quality health care. Increased coverage of communities at higher risk of being harmed by health inequities, experiencing disadvantage, and most affected by social inequities would contribute to OHA's mission of ensuring all people and communities can achieve optimum physical, mental, and social well-being through partnerships, prevention, and access to quality, affordable health care.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Increased enrollment, especially of priority populations, in qualified health plans (QHPs) using maximum tax credits and/or cost-sharing reductions if applicable, or – depending on eligibility – in the Oregon Health Plan (OHP). While the Marketplace will continue to do its best to reach all people in Oregon eligible for QHP coverage and tax credits, failure to fund this policy package and the necessary permanent staff will limit the support the Marketplace is able to provide. As mentioned in question two, the additional budget position would help ensure that the revenue, expenditures, federal reporting and other budget needs are done in a timely and accurate manner as required by ORS 291.100.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

During open enrollment for 2024, the Marketplace will begin to require community partners, agent partners, outreach coordinators, and call center representatives to record data disaggregated by race, ethnicity, language, disability, sexual orientation, and gender identity. The Marketplace will also seek enrollment data from carriers required to obtain such data. The Marketplace will also use existing federal and state data resources to analyze year-over-year county changes and solicit qualitative input and feedback from community partners. Information for 2024 would be used as a baseline to compare against future years after implementation of the policy package.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

The Marketplace hired limited duration Outreach and Education Coordinators and a limited duration call center representative, expanded coverage areas for existing permanent OECs, added statewide LatinX outreach to each OEC's workload, combined two regions for one OEC, required one OEC to perform statewide outreach, and worked with community partners and Tribal liaisons to help support regions. OECs have also helped cover phones. These attempted mitigation strategies taxed an already heavily burdened staff, resulting in a reduction in the quality and quantity of outreach and education to all communities, including those that are typically marginalized and underserved.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

The Marketplace originally covered the loss of the Call Center Representative when the SHIBA program moved to ODHS by hiring a limited duration position. A limited duration position was also hired to support the Outreach and Education team as a coordinator. As referenced above, limited duration positions result in too much turnover in jobs that require building trusted, lasting relationships with community and significant levels of training. The Office of Business Operations budget team has been managing the additional workload brought by the Marketplace through existing resources, but a permanent position is needed to sustainably meet the needs of both the Marketplace and the rest of the division.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   None.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

    Tribal governments would be affected to the extent the additional staffing results in increased Tribal member enrollment in qualified health plans (QHPs) through the Marketplace. Increased Tribal member QHP enrollment could reduce required Tribal spending on health care, freeing up funds for other priorities.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): January 1, 2024

End date (if applicable): Ongoing

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

None.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This policy package requests three permanent, full-time positions:

- One Program Analyst 2 (Outreach and Education Coordinator) would replace a current non-budgeted limited duration position. The limited duration positions have been ongoing as this work is permanent within the Marketplace.

- One Public Service Representative 4 (Marketplace Customer Service Representative) would replace a current non-budgeted limited duration position. The limited duration positions have been ongoing as this work is permanent within the Marketplace.
- One Fiscal Analyst 2 (Budget Analyst) would be responsible for providing the necessary fiscal support for the Marketplace by helping ensure that the revenue, expenditures, federal reporting and other budget needs are done in a timely and accurate as required by ORS 291.100.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

Initial cost would include standard services and supplies costs for new staff including employee training, office supplies and telecommunications devices. Other initial costs include IT charges and assessments that include software, expendable property, and background checks and other shared services within OHA.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

Ongoing costs include employee salaries and benefits, office expenses, travel, and training.

18. What are the potential savings?

This policy package would minimize the need for annual recruitments for limited duration positions. Savings would include reduction in staff time that could be directed to other work or priorities in human resources, Health Policy and Analytics, and payroll; in specific costs associated with recruitment channels outside of State Jobs pages; and in time and costs associated with onboarding and training new employees.

18. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is funded by existing, unused Health Insurance Exchange Fund moneys (Other Funds) that are legally required to be rebated back to commercial QHP issuers if unused. This is an ongoing funding source. The Fiscal Analyst position may be supplemented by cost allocation funding from other sources, but that amount is unknown at this time.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Health Policy and Analytics
Program:	Public Employees' Benefit Board & Oregon Educators Benefit Board
Policy package title:	Benefits Management System (OEBB-PEBB BMS) Replacement
Policy package number:	435
Related legislation:	Senate Bill 1067 (2017)

Summary statement:

The current benefit management systems (BMS) used by the Oregon Educators Benefit Board (OEBB) and Public Employees' Benefit Board (PEBB) no longer support all current business needs since their respective introductions in 2008 and 2003. OEBB and PEBB are seeking to continue the BMS replacement project to improve user experience and customer care. The new BMS will facilitate the potential collection of REALD & SOGI data and provide a mobile app experience that has a better chance of members, including those in underserved communities, having better access to enroll in benefits, utilize benefit tools and wellness programs, and make informed benefit choices. Not prioritizing and supporting a replacement effort for the current system would result in canceling a contract signed with new vendor, discontinued implementation efforts, and continued use of end-of-lifecycle technology that is fragmented, non-standard, difficult to support, and is not scalable. Approximately 300,000 covered lives would be at risk for benefits interruption if a replacement system is not identified and procured prior to the expiration of existing vendor support in 2022.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Since 2019, OEBB and PEBB have completed planning for a replacement Benefits Management System (BMS), selected a vendor to provide a solution, and begun implementation of that solution. The planning was done as a result of a technical assessment of the current BMS systems used by OEBB and PEBB, and as a result of Senate Bill 1067 (2017 Regular Session) to align operational and administrative activities of the two systems. The planning included requirements gathering, alternative analyses, development of a Request for Proposal (RFP), evaluation and scoring of RFP responses, vendor selection, and contract execution with the selected vendor. The replacement BMS is part of the goal to align the state's operational and support processes to provide demonstrably improved services with increased efficiency and sustainable effectiveness, and a fundamental step to activate that lever is alignment across OEBB and PEBB. Replacing the antiquated and independent operating systems for benefit management in the two programs with a single, modernized and efficient system is a necessary step toward integration and alignment of benefits.

The current benefit management systems used by OEBB and PEBB (MyOEBB and pebb.benefits respectively) no longer support all current business needs since their respective introduction in 2008 and 2003. These needs include the ability of OEBB and PEBB subscribers in securely accessing and changing their personal account information; updating family member eligibility with legal documentation, which may include personally identifiable information (PII) data; modernized, secured communications between subscribers and OEBB/PEBB support staff, and enhanced remote capabilities for school district/university/state benefits administrators to properly manage accounts for their organizations and employees.

OEBB and PEBB, along with the OEBB and PEBB boards, are seeking to integrate the administrative and support of the two systems, with improved user experience and customer care, into a single platform to meet the legislative direction provided under SB 1067. Section 25 of the bill specifies the need for increased efficiency, reduction of duplication and merging of the two separate PEBB and OEBB oversight boards into one function as essential to driving cost reductions and driving operational improvements consistent with applicable law and administrative rule.

Both systems were built on, and still maintained with antiquated legacy technologies utilizing extensive custom code using development languages, tools and infrastructure which are past the end of their product lifecycle. Turnover of the current support staff further increases the urgency of this project as replacement staff require increasing amounts of time to become familiar with the old architecture before reaching a level of sufficient competency to address issues.

In addition, the continued operations and maintenance of an aging, complex and highly customized system (by essentially the same vendor under different names) has led to an increased dependency on this single vendor. The current contract ends June 30, 2025.

Finally, OHA's 2015 Benefit Management System Technical Assessment Report noted that both systems are at the end of their lifecycles and continue to be supported with obsolete technologies. The report recommended implementing system upgrades in the short term and replacing the entire system as quickly as feasible to allow OEBB and PEBB to meet their statutory responsibilities.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

OEBB and PEBB are in the initial stages of the replacement BMS implementation. This policy package funds the remaining implementation activities including additional project staffing, vendor implementation costs, hosting and licensing fees, oversight fees for quality assurance, and contingency allowances. The implementation plan outlined by the selected vendor, Telus Health, has a go live date in the first quarter of 2025.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   PEBB and OEBB goals are the same – provide a modernized, centralized, standardized, supportable, and scalable solution to replace both OEBB's and PEBB's benefit management systems for public employees, with the ability to accommodate the administrative and organizational changes while implementing and maintaining more rigorous security best practices.

   The new BMS will allow members to access anytime anywhere from multiple devices, including mobile devices. Mobile access is a significant benefit for members, including underserved communities who rely on them to easily enroll in benefits and use tools available to make informed benefit choices. The new BMS will also facilitate the potential collection of REALD & SOGI data for analyses of benefit disparities.

   REALD & SOGI Implementation

   - The replacement BMS will facilitate the potential collection of REALD & SOGI data.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

- As part of House Bill 3159, insurance carriers and providers are required to collect SOGI and REALD data from participants and report to OHA once per year effective July 1, 2022. OHA intends to build a data repository to store the data which is slated to be piloted in 2024.
- The potential for REALD & SOGI data to be stored in the BMS if not available elsewhere would allow for analyses of potential disparities related to access to benefit information, access to benefits, and utilization of benefits among various populations.

Broader access to enrollment and benefit tools

- The new BMS will allow members to access anytime anywhere from multiple devices, including mobile devices. Most website visits are from mobile devices.
- Mobile access is a significant benefit for members. Studies show that underserved populations are more likely to access health information on smartphones. A well-designed mobile app will provide more access for underserved populations and assist them to easily enroll in benefits, use tools available to understand their benefits and costs, and make informed benefit choices.
- OEBB-PEBB will look at the expandability of the mobile app to include wellness content, and incorporate plan partner programs so more members, including underserved populations, can easily understand and access.

Alignment with the ODHS / OHA Strategic Technology Plan (STP) Initiatives includes:

Business Automation

While the current Benefit Management System (BMS) solutions have provided significant efficiency gains, the multitude of options now available provide greater functionality and capability to further automate and streamline essential business processes, including support of dependent eligibility verification.

Dynamic Needs Supported by Seamless Technology Services

OEBB and PEBB's existing systems have been continuously enhanced to meet the needs of the member populations served, and the program staff responsible for overseeing benefits administration; replacement solutions provide for additional capabilities including modularity, agility, reusability, and incorporation of best practices in benefit administration.

Enables Connectivity Anytime, Anywhere, in Multiple Ways

The current solutions provide connection capability via multiple interfaces, but alternative solutions offer expanded capabilities to better meet member, staff, and partner needs through inclusion of mobile devices.

Trusted Source for Health & Human Service Data

The member information collected in the existing systems is organized in such a way as to allow searching and reporting capabilities, but lacks the ability to provide predictive analytics, which may be available with more modern solutions. The proper use of predictive analytics would allow for a strong improvement of customer service and support, reduce unnecessary insurance risks based on more reliable interpretation of provider data, assist in detecting possible fraud, enable better marketing and facilitation of currently available options as well as new, innovative wellness and healthcare options, all while helping strengthen accessibility to improved healthcare and meet the insurance expectations of a highly diverse population of clients and their families.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

A new combined Benefit Management System (BMS) will allow OEBB and PEBB to modernize its members' and administrators' user experience. Among the top modernization goals:

- Alignment with state information technology strategic plan.
- Ability to implement and maintain latest security best practices.
- Mobile app compatibility.
- More integrated benefit education tools to allow informed benefit choices.
- Compatibility with commonly used browsers, operating systems and devices.
- Flexibility to make changes to accommodate business partners and customers.
- Expanded automated error checking and data validation.
- Availability of on-demand enrollment, and training tools for members and administrators.
- Self-service tools and features for members and administrators.
- Automated dependent eligibility verification among, and between OEBB and PEBB member groups.
- Integrated financial module to improve invoice and payment processing, reconciliation, and ensuring enrollment and financial payment accuracy.
- Remove reliance on single vendor to maintain custom coded system.
- Reduce ongoing operations and maintenance costs for the OEBB and PEBB Benefits Management System.
- Reduce manual and duplicative processes.
- Improved and enhanced reporting module for participating employers.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

Surveys and the availability of data will allow the opportunity to evaluate access and usage of benefit enrollment tools available in the new BMS. More information will lead to more targeted improvements in the application and better-informed choices by the members.

In addition to measuring impacts on health inequities, success of this policy package will be validated by the following outcomes being met:

- Business process improvements and cost containment/recovery upon system implementation shall be quantitatively and measurably improved relative to their respective initial baseline measurement.
- System performance and reliability shall be measurably improved relative to their initial baseline measurement.
- Data integrity and security shall fully meet all state and federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), Producer Price Index (PPI) and Personally Identifiable Information (PII) security standards.
- Reports and notifications to both internal and external partners and customers shall be complete, correct, and verifiable against currently held account and personal information to ensure correctness and timeliness of distribution.
- Security access shall be verifiably controlled (by role access) and limited to the appropriate agency representatives.
- Disaster recover stand-up and on-line accessibility shall meet or exceed their currently observed level with 99.5 percent reliability and database management redundancy

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

PEBB and OEBB have sought advice from technical experts within the Oregon Office of Information Services (OIS) and Oregon Office of the State Chief Information Officer /Enterprise Information Services OSCIO/EIS. OEBB and PEBB have continued to contract, with little negotiating leverage due to the antiquated technologies involved, for maintenance and operations support to maintain basic system functions. OEBB and PEBB staff must either rule out or be very selective about enhancements to the systems as new functionality adds to the custom-made complexity of each system and could introduce new security risks.

In 2015, PEBB and OEBB contracted to have an in-depth security penetration test and an overall technical assessment conducted to identify and help in addressing any discovered risks and issues. Recommendations proposed by the 2015 Benefit Management System Technical Assessment Report were followed, including implementing hardware and software system upgrades to remedy issues identified in the report, and to allow OEBB and PEBB to continue meeting their statutory responsibilities until the replacement solution could be implemented.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

Status quo

The current OEBB and PEBB benefit management systems were built on antiquated legacy technology. OEBB-PEBB recently had an independent security assessment conducted. Future security assessments and remediation would be conducted biannually but the risk of a browser-based penetration attack is increased with the older technology.

Because of the custom nature of the systems, transition time related to contractor staff turnover puts programs more at risk as it takes new staff a much longer period of time to understand the systems well enough to address identified issues. The continued contractual relationship with the same vendor from the initial build to current maintenance and operations has resulted in an increased dependency on a handful of key knowledgeable individuals employed by the contractor due to the age, customization and complexity of the systems. Transitioning to a new vendor could be both cumbersome and costly in terms of maintenance and operations. In addition, the architecture of the systems, implemented over a decade ago, relies on server side, data base driven procedures and modernization of current systems to accommodate newer technology and program goals would be costly.

Workday

Incorporation of BMS reporting and management into the current WorkDay Human Resource Management platform was reviewed including software demonstrations by Workday. The Workday solution did not meet enough of the requirements for the combined BMS for OEBB-PEBB, particularly the financial services section and the uniqueness of the OEBB program and the participating school districts, community colleges, special districts, other local governments.

Internal custom development and support of a state-funded, self-maintained software package and hardware platform (an “in-house” product).

OIS resources not readily available for a customized in-house product. Another custom solution does not meet the strategic goal outlined by the Enterprise Information Services Office.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   OEBB and PEBB have received endorsements from both boards. The Office of Information Services (OIS), Legislative Fiscal Office (LFO), EIS, Oregon State Treasury, Oregon Department of Justice, Cyber Security Services, and DAS Procurement have all assisted in aspects of the RFP development, evaluation, and contracting process. Other agencies, programs, and stakeholders will be involved with any implementation of a new system.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No additional statutes or changes to existing statutes.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    All the benefit and payroll processes of state agencies, universities, school districts, education service districts and community colleges will be impacted: either by benefiting from a new benefit management system or adversely impacted if the benefit systems were not maintained, maintenance costs increased substantially due to the reliance on a single vendor, or if the systems became no longer viable.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): March 2025 for the implementation phase

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

- Estimated staff time allocated to the project and dedicated to the project
- Costs in contract for Internal Quality Management Services (iQMS) vendor (NTT Data)
- Implementation and Operations and Maintenance costs in contract with solution provider vendor (Telus Health)
- Ten percent contingency

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

Although there are technical advisors from OIS on the project, there are no new responsibilities identified.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

None.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

OEBB and PEBB will need three new permanent positions for the implementation of the project. One of these positions will be to train new agency/entity administrators, and continuously update training materials for the Benefits Management System. Two positions will be used to test ongoing operations & maintenance bug fixes, enhancements, and other system changes resulting from changes made by vendor or configurations changes made by System Administrators.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

This policy package is comprised mainly of one-time costs. It includes $4.2 million in non-position-related costs to complete the implementation of the new BMS.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The costs for the three new permanent full-time Operations and Policy Analyst 1 positions ($425,000) included in this policy package will be ongoing.

This policy package also includes $2.0 million for operations and maintenance of the new BMS. Starting in 2025-27, operations and maintenance for the new system the will be paid for from PEBB/OEBB's existing operations budgets. After implementation, per contract, annual ongoing operations & maintenance costs for the new system are as follows:

Operations and Maintenance Support	$1,350,000
Third Party Software Licensing	$ 84,000
Hosting and Services	$ 566,000
Total	$2,000,000

Annual cost for O&M is in contract for five full years after ‘go live’.

18. What are the potential savings?

After implementation, OEBB and PEBB expect savings in operations and maintenance (O&M) costs of at least $1 million annually initially. This is based on the O&M costs in the new vendor (Telus Health) contract and the current (2022) O&M costs for the legacy system. The O&M costs for Telus Health are set for five years without an increase; the O&M costs for the legacy system vendor increase annually so savings in O&M likely exceed $1 million annually.

Additional research and ongoing measurements are needed to quantify savings by implementing a more modern system applying best practices regarding security, deduplication of processes, removal of one-off systems or the need to contract for additional enrollment.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Funding sources are Other Funds revenue from administrative fees assessed on PEBB and OEBB Core Benefits. The administrative fee is paid by members and state agencies through an assessment added to medical and insurance premiums and premium equivalents. A greater percentage is allocated to PEBB as PEBB will acquire two limited duration positions and OEBB will acquire one limited duration position.

Summary statement:

Oregon newborn bloodspot screening (NBS), which is statutorily mandated for the Oregon Health Authority (OHA), is conducted by the Northwest Regional Newborn Bloodspot Screening (NBS) Program at the Oregon State Public Health Laboratory (OSPHL). The requested fee increase would allow the NBS Program to eliminate the gap between revenue and expenses once sufficient fees are collected. Additionally, because of the evolving landscape for newborn screening, the fee increase would allow the program to be self-sufficient in future years and remain agile, with ability to respond to the needs of Oregon families and comply with federal law and guidelines.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   Oregon newborn bloodspot screening (NBS) is statutorily mandated for the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) and is conducted by the Northwest Regional Newborn Bloodspot Screening (NBS) Program (NBS Program) at the Oregon State Public Health Laboratory (OSPHL).

   The NBS program is projecting a budgetary biennial shortfall approaching $4 million. Several factors lead to this deficit, including increased costs for staffing, reagents, and instruments; an expanding panel of diseases; heightened national standards set by Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA); and a loss of other state partners.

   The requested fee increase would allow the NBS program to close the gap between revenue and expenses. Additionally, because of the evolving landscape for newborn screening, the fee increase would allow the program to be self-sufficient in future years during long-term program funding planning. In addition, the fee would support the program remaining agile to align with the increasing number and complexity of disorders screened. The fee change would further provide the program with the ability to respond to the needs of Oregon families and comply with federal law and guidelines.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

   The fee increase would be used to back-fill the projected budgetary shortfall for the NBS program. In addition, the fee would be used for the following activities and program modernization to align with national best practices:

- Addition of new disorders to the Oregon NBS panel.
    - X-linked adrenoleukodystrophy (X-ALD) and Spinal Muscular Atrophy (SMA) have already been added by HRSA to the national recommended uniform screening panel (RUSP) and were recommended for inclusion to the Oregon panel by the NBS Program Advisory Board. The laboratory implemented screening for SMA in June of 2022 and X-ALD in January 2023. The fee covers the additional costs to screen newborns for these diseases.
    - Each year, at least 1–2 new diseases are being considered for inclusion to the newborn screening panels within our state and nationally. The fee would give the program the ability to remain agile to align with national standards and provide the best care for Oregon families.

- Improve timeliness by providing courier service or expedited shipping.
    - Newborn bloodspot screening must be completed quickly after an infant's birth; approximately 38 newborn bloodspot screening programs provide a courier service or expedited shipping in their states. HRSA recommends all newborn bloodspot screening programs receive specimens in their laboratory within 24 hours of specimen collection.
    - The fee would allow the program to implement specimen transport services for rural and frontier counties in the state, during the 2023-25 biennium.

- Modernize equipment to meet industry standards.
    - Instrumentation within the laboratory needs to be maintained and updated to ensure accurate and timely newborn bloodspot screening results are provided.
    - Changing methodologies from biochemical to molecular tests requires new instrumentation and technical expertise to support more accurate and modern technologies.

- Modernize data exchange to ensure timely receipt of laboratory test results by providers.
    - Currently, most newborn bloodspot screening results are delivered via US mail. Moving toward electronic data exchange for orders and results will provide enhanced specimen tracking and improved result delivery.
    - The fee will support staffing to modernize laboratory data systems to improve methods and timeliness of result delivery.

- Appropriately address complex medical disorders.
    - The number and complexity of disorders for which the program screens continues to increase and involve advanced testing methods. In addition, these disorders require more complex follow-up care than previous disorders.
    - As part of newborn bloodspot screening, newborns who have a positive screening result are referred to specialty centers for diagnostic testing, evaluation, and/or treatment. The NBS program provides financial resources to these specialty clinics. The partnership between medical clinics and the NBS program is essential to appropriately support newborns and their families.

- Modernize payment mechanisms by adding the option to pay by credit card for Oregon birth centers/hospitals and state partners.
    - Currently, only check or electronic payments are accepted.
    - The program expects this option will be implemented by the end of the 2021-23 biennium.

- Enhance the equity of screening services, detailed below.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   The newborn bloodspot screening program is a statutorily mandated program requiring that all newborns receive testing, regardless of their ability to pay for this service. Oregon's screening rate is estimated at greater than 95 percent of all births. The additional fees would support heath equity by providing the funds needed to:

   - Enhance culturally and linguistically responsive outreach services. Enhancements will include identifying populations who do not get screened, understand the barriers to screening, and explore opportunities for program education and community partnerships.

   - Monitor timely access to diagnostic testing, medical evaluation, and treatment.

   - Enhance the process for addition of new conditions to the screening panel to include populations of color and opportunity for family input.
     - As the NBS Advisory Board considers new disorders for Oregon panel, analysis of affected populations, location of available treatment and specialty providers, and any health equity concerns are assessed and addressed.
     - The NWRNBS Program is exploring options for affected families to provide more input on program services.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

- Provide universally offered specimen transportation services to the laboratory. Currently, providers in many rural and frontier counties experience challenges achieving national timeliness goals. Providing courier or shipping services will help ensure that specimens from infants born in Oregon reach the laboratory in a timely manner.
- Modernize laboratory instruments and methods, resulting in more accurate screening results. While some false positive and negative results are expected in screening, reducing the number of false positive cases reduces the burden on the medical community (e.g., follow-up care and additional testing, clinic visits) and minimizes the stress or anxiety placed on families. Reduction of false negative cases will provide the opportunity for all Oregon babies to receive early treatment and improve health outcomes.

While further health equity can be achieved through the state goals above, we recognize that the increased fee may create an obstacle to screening. A small percentage of families pay for newborn bloodspot screening out of pocket. The program offers a fee waiver for qualifying families, but the increased fee could result in families opting out of screening if families do not qualify for the waiver. The NWRNBS Advisory Board has expressed interest in evaluating the qualifying criteria for fee waivers.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

The NWRNBS Program aims to:

- Ensure all infants babies have access to newborn bloodspot screening.

- Meet federal guidelines for specimen collection timing, specimen transport and laboratory testing such that medical providers are notified of abnormal results within the first 5 to 7 days of life.
- Meet federal guidelines for the recommended diseases on the Oregon screening panel.
- Comply with federal laws related to patient access to laboratory test results.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

The NWRNBS Program plans to measure impacts to health equity by:

- Collaborating with the Center for Health Statistics to identify the community populations who are not receiving newborn bloodspot screening.
- Monitor and track families requesting fee waivers for newborn bloodspot screening.
- Monitor regions of the state experiencing challenges with specimen transport, therefore resulting in potentially delayed screening results.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

To promote sustainability, the NBS Program participated in a touch-time study to determine opportunities for program efficiencies. This study assessed all program costs, including staff time spent on specific programmatic activities.

To reduce costs, the NBS Program optimized staffing, reduced equipment, and consumables, implemented an inventory system to reduce wasted reagents and emergency supply orders, and changed testing algorithms and workflows to be more efficient.

Additionally, the NBS Program Advisory Board is forming a subcommittee to explore long-term funding options outside of fees for future programmatic support. The NBS Program will be working with the advisory board on this topic.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

The NWRNBS Program currently provides newborn bloodspot screening for infants born in Oregon, New Mexico, parts of the Navajo Nation, and other contracted international clients. The Program considered only providing screening services for infants born in Oregon. However, this was determined to not be a feasible option. The NWRNBS Program is staffed at a minimal level and incurs high fixed costs for test kits, supplies and equipment. Reducing the number of specimens tested would result in lower revenue and increase cost per test due to the economies of scale offered by larger volume testing. This option would require an even higher fee increase for Oregon than is currently requested.

The NWRNBS program currently requires screening of each infant twice, once at 24–48 hours of life and again at approximately two weeks of life. The program considered providing only one screen instead of two. While this action would likely decrease costs, milder forms of the condition that still require treatment are often best detected on the second screen. This action would result in fewer patients being identified, negatively affecting health outcomes, reducing the potential for early detection and treatment, and increasing long-term health care costs.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The NWRNBS program has engaged key partners regarding this change, as part of the rulemaking and Senate Bill 333 processes.

Internal partners

- Public Health Division: Maternal and Child Health
- OHA Health Systems Division
- Oregon Department of Consumer and Business Services

External partners

- The NBS Advisory Board: Comprised of representatives from different specialties and perspectives related to the newborn bloodspot screening system including family members, birthing hospitals, advocacy groups, professional associations of midwifery and pediatricians and medical experts. The board discussed the fee increase on February 23, 2022 and provided feedback on how to engage with their respective areas. Board members served on the Rules Advisory Committee (RAC) on April 27, 2022.

- Oregon providers and submitters:
    - The NWRNBS Program engaged with a group of contracted specialty medical consultants in January and February 2022 to provide feedback and input on additional community engagement.
    - Various provider communities are represented on the NBS Advisory Board and their input was recorded and is described above.
    - The NWRNBS Program received feedback from the Oregon Association of Hospitals and Health Systems in April 2022.
    - Additional Oregon health care providers representing pediatrics and family practice were invited to serve on the RAC. These invitees did not attend but were otherwise represented by the NBS Advisory Board membership.
    - Oregon health care providers (i.e., hospitals, midwives, pediatricians) will have an opportunity to provide feedback through the rulemaking process, including a public hearing and public comment period.

- Tribal partners: A Dear Tribal Leader Letter was sent through the Tribal Affairs Office in April 2022. Within the letter, Tribal partners were invited to self-select to participate on the RAC.
- Community Partners and Parent Groups: The NWRNBS Program reached out to five community-based organizations and parent groups to discuss the program's interaction with the organizations and invite them to provide feedback on the fee change.
- Insurance Industry: The NWRNBS Program invited four individuals representing the insurance industry to participate on the RAC; one invitee attended.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

No significant impact anticipated to the OHA Health Systems Division (HSD) based on this rule change. The reimbursement rates paid by HSD and CCOs are defined in HSD rulemaking processes. The cost of NBS is a component of the total cost of labor and delivery.

A small impact could be anticipated on units of local government or Tribal agencies. Most babies who are seen at local health department clinics for the first well-baby check undergo collection of the second screen using the collection kit that has already been purchased by the birth facility or parent. However, units of local government or Tribal agencies caring for infants at the first well-baby check may need to purchase a small number of single-specimen collection kits when the second part of the kit is not available.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

The program generally assumes that current operational conditions will continue, including staffing levels, clientele, lab facility costs, and vendor contracts. The current Oregon birth rate is projected to hold steady or decline slightly in coming years. Personal services projections assume that all positions are filled.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No new responsibilities are anticipated, other than the typical needs associated with two new positions. The program plans to start work on a large-scale software package replacement in the 2023-25 biennium, but it is not anticipated to move from the planning stage to the implementation stage (which will likely require expanded OIS involvement) until a future biennium.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

This package includes position authority for one Principal Executive Manager E (PEM-E) and one Operations and Policy Analyst 3 (OPA3) to support the enhancements planned and described in this narrative. Both positions are budgeted as management service (not represented by a union). The program does not anticipate a need to modify existing positions.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

In the short term, startup costs funded by this policy package are limited due to other funding sources available to the program, including General Fund for Spinal Muscular Atrophy testing provided in House Bill 3107 (2021) and modernization funding available to the Public Health Lab in the 2021-23 biennium. There are more startup/one-time costs anticipated over the next few years; notably, there are $500,000 in consulting costs related to planning for the anticipated Laboratory Information Management System (LIMS). There is also $120,000 budgeted to reconfigure the room where tandem mass-spectrometry is performed due to changing requirements for updated instruments and another $100,000 to develop a robust continuity of operation plan to ensure that testing can continue even if the Lab is affected by supply chain issues or other externalities.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The revenue generated by the policy package would allow the program to continue providing expanded services that they have recently implemented or will soon be implementing as part of improved screening practices and/or Modernization initiatives. These new services are intended to enhance health outcomes and include screening for new disorders, courier specimen transport, and outreach to community-based organizations that can help educate parents and health care staff about disorders that may predominantly affect a particular race such as sickle cell disease.

18. What are the potential savings?

None.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package is 100 percent Other Funds, as the program is fee-based.

Oregon Health Authority
2023-25 Policy Package

Division: Health Policy and Analytics
Program: Public Employees' Benefit Board
Policy package title: Affordable Care Act (ACA) Employer Reporting
Policy package number: 438
Related legislation: Affordable Care Act, March 2010
Summary statement:

In 2014 employer required Affordable Care Act (ACA) reporting was delegated to PEBB to complete on behalf of the state of Oregon. This includes 1095C mailings and 1095B mailings to eligible employees, and the electronic 1094C, 1095C, and 1095B to the IRS. There was not a full understanding of ACA reporting at that time. The most complex part of ACA reporting is the data related to offers of coverage owned by HRIS systems. No funding or positions were allocated for this effort. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ended "good faith" ACA reporting beginning with tax year 2021. Data gaps in HRIS makes accurate reporting challenging. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication of any efforts to secure a position within their office to ensure required ACA data is captured. At this time, PEBB has not received an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system PEBB is looking to outsource ACA reporting to a vendor with expertise in the field to limit liability for the state, and for other employers who participate in PEBB and elect to use the vendor for ACA reporting. If PEBB is not able to procure a vendor, positions would need to be added to fill expertise in ACA rules and regulations and changes, including 1095 coding requirements based on data available. Additional positions would be needed to address data needs, data gaps, compile IRS compliant files, mail 1095 forms and track mailings, corrections for compliance. Alternatively, ACA reporting as currently conducted is a liability for the state.

Policy package pricing:	$0	$665,000	$0	$665,000	0	0.00

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

The state of Oregon does not have staff dedicated to ACA rules, coding expertise, or systems in place to adequately conduct ACA reporting required of Applicable Large Employers (ALEs).

In 2014, Affordable Care Act (ACA) employer reporting for Oregon was delegated to PEBB. This includes 1095C mailings and 1095B mailings to eligible employees, and the electronic 1094C, 1095C, and 1095B to the IRS. There was not a full understanding of ACA reporting at that time and the reasoning for delegating ACA reporting to PEBB was because PEBB has self-insured plans and the reporting requirement was looked at as primarily an enrollment reporting requirement. No funding or positions were allocated for this effort.

While ACA employer reporting has an enrollment element, the complexity of ACA reporting is tracking and determining whether an offer of coverage should be made and when it should be made. This typically is determined by the HRIS system. This includes tracking measurement periods and tracking of monthly hours worked and then determining a definite yes/no per month as it relates to an offer of coverage. PEBB is not the source of this data. This data is owned by the Human Resource Information System (HRIS) and the legacy payroll system (OSPS). The legacy HRIS system in place in 2014 did not have the capability to track and store the necessary data. The new HRIS system does not have the adequate data because ACA reporting requirements were not included in the scope of the new HRIS system project. It is not known when or if ACA reporting will be incorporated into the HRIS system.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ended “good faith” ACA reporting beginning with tax year 2021. Data gaps in HRIS makes accurate reporting challenging. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system and improve the data it provides to PEBB to report on their behalf.

PEBB is looking to outsource ACA reporting to a vendor with expertise in the field to limit liability for the state, and for other employers who participate in PEBB and elect to use the vendor for ACA reporting.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

PEBB will seek services of a vendor for comprehensive ACA reporting that includes evaluation of data needs, data gaps, coordination of employer data gathering, evaluation and coding of offers of coverage, employee share, enrollment codes, mailing of 1095 forms, filings with IRS, correction filing, and responses to IRS inquiries.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

This package will improve accuracy and compliance with ACA reporting and regulations and aligns with OHA's goal for data integrity and reliability.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

- Accurate and reliable ACA reporting
- Accountability for data source systems
- Limit the liability to agencies and other employers for inaccurate reporting or missed offers of coverage

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

This is not applicable to this request.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

In 2014, it was decided that PEBB would complete the required Affordable Care Act (ACA) employer reporting for the state of Oregon. This includes 1095C mailings and 1095B mailings to eligible employees, and the electronic 1094C, 1095C, and 1095B to the IRS. There was not a full understanding of ACA reporting at that time and the reasoning for delegating ACA reporting to PEBB was because PEBB has self-insured plans and the reporting requirement was looked at as primarily an enrollment reporting requirement. No funding or positions were allocated for this effort.

Since the initial year, the advisability of this reporting being conducted by PEBB has not been revisited. PEBB has made a good faith effort to accurately conduct ACA reporting based on data available from the various source systems.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) ended “good faith” ACA reporting beginning with tax year 2021.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

ACA reporting is an employer responsibility. The complexity of ACA reporting is primarily related to the tracking of hours worked and tracking measurement periods to determine if offers of coverage must be made. This data is owned by HR systems. HR and payroll systems do not have the capability currently to complete ACA reporting or enhance the data it provides to PEBB to complete ACA reporting on their behalf. The Chief Human Resource Office (CHRO) has not given an indication of any efforts to secure a position within their office to ensure required ACA data is captured. At this time, PEBB has not received an estimated timeline as to when HRIS will be able to include essential ACA data elements into its system.

PEBB is looking to outsource ACA reporting to a vendor with expertise in the field to limit liability for the state, and for other employers who participate in PEBB and elect to use the vendor for ACA reporting. If PEBB is not able to procure a vendor, additional positions will need to be added to fill expertise in ACA rules and regulations and changes, including 1095 coding requirements based on data available. Additional positions would be needed to address data needs, data gaps, compile IRS compliant files, mail 1095 forms to member and track mailings, corrections for compliance.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

None.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?

No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

While PEBB is designated to conduct reporting on CHRO's behalf, other participating employers can utilize the same services. Universities, local governments that participate in PEBB will benefit from the professional services of an ACA vendor.

At such time that the state CHRO and payroll systems have incorporated their responsibility for ACA reporting in scope of their systems, PEBB will give universities and local governments who currently elect to use PEBB at least one year notice so they can find an alternative for ACA reporting.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Not applicable

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

Assumptions are a rough estimate of comprehensive ACA reporting services starting on July 1, 2023 provided by PEBB's actuarial consultant.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

No.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

No.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

None.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

None.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

ACA reporting is required annually. The total costs will vary as the number of employees change and the regulations change.

18. What are the potential savings?

By outsourcing to a vendor who has expertise in ACA regulations and specializes in ACA reporting, the state will limit liabilities related to inaccurate reporting and avoiding penalties related to offers of coverage not being made.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

Funding source is Other Funds revenue from administrative fees assessed on PEBB Core Benefits. The administrative fee is paid by members and state agencies through an assessment added to medical and insurance premiums and premium equivalents.

2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Oregon State Hospital
Program:	Oregon State Hospital Operations
Policy package title:	Asset and Equipment Replacement
Policy package number:	439
Related legislation:	None

Summary statement:

The Oregon State Hospital (OSH) Salem facility began construction in 2009, was completed in 2011, and is over 11 years old. The Junction City facility is now over 6 years old. As aging occurs, much of the expendable property and capital assets in operation have outlived or have soon expiring useful lives. Replacement of these items is necessary to provide a safe and secure environment for patients and staff, as well as maintain critical continuity of hospital operations.

Funding for this policy package is in Legislative Fiscal Office package #816.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

   OSH campuses in Salem and Junction City have a considerable volume of equipment at or near the end of their useful lifecycle that must be replaced to maintain critical operational continuity and provide 24-hour hospital level of care to patients needing intensive psychiatric treatment for severe and persistent mental illness.

   Lifecycle replacement of equipment is part of the requirement for accreditation by the Joint Commission and for Medicare reimbursement through the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). Much of the existing equipment was purchased at the time of hospital opening, while other pieces were transferred from the old facility. This equipment has experienced the wear and tear of a production environment and is requiring upkeep or replacement beyond existing budget resources. Replacement of these items is necessary to provide a safe and secure environment for patients and staff, as well as maintain critical continuity of hospital operations.

2. What will this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

   The Salem campus of OSH relies on a Programmable Logic Control (PLC) system to interface with monitoring cameras and access control, primarily including the sally ports that allow staff and patients ingress and egress from different sections within the secure perimeter of the hospital. This system is outdated and frequently malfunctions, necessitating the utilization of Security personnel to manually operate the sally ports. Additionally, the PLC system is a custom, proprietary script that requires a specific vendor to troubleshoot and resolve issues. OSH proposes the replacement of the existing system with an “off the shelf” program that is easier to maintain and more reliable. Coupled with the ARPA funding received in 2021-23 for security cameras, this will make monitoring and access control more robust and provide a safer environment for patients, staff, and visitors.

The PLC System is eligible for Bond Financing. This will result in $3,000,000 of the above total financed through Other Funds, with central OSH debt services taking an additional $45,000 as Cost of Participation (COP).

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

   As good stewards of the public trust and public dollar, OSH strives to achieve the highest standards and outcomes in all aspects of work, including the maintenance of state facilities. Through regulatory and infrastructure improvements, OSH is able to meet the needs of both patients, and staff working towards OHA's mission of ensuring all people and communities can achieve optimum physical, mental, and social well-being through partnerships, prevention, and access to quality, affordable health care.

[1] Health Equity: When all people can reach their full potential and well-being and are not disadvantaged by their race, ethnicity, language, disability, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, social class, intersections among these communities or identities or other socially determined circumstances.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

OSH will continue to comply with regulatory requirements and maintain good stewardship of state assets in its mission to provide a safe and therapeutic environment of care to some of Oregon's most vulnerable populations.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

The replacement of critical depreciable assets helps ensure a safe, secure, and therapeutic environment for treating some of Oregon's most vulnerable populations.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

OSH has attempted to use budgetary resources to resolve lifecycle issues in a break/fix capacity, as budget constraints did not allow a resolution for the quantity of items in need of replacement. A preventative maintenance plan has been established to include lifecycle equipment replacement schedules projected out 25 years to predict future lifecycle funding needs.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

There are no viable alternatives to lifecycle asset replacement and preventative maintenance replacement.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   None.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    None.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

    Standard procurement practices may impact purchasing and implementation dates.

No.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

Oregon Health Authority
2023-25 Policy Package

Division:	Public Health Division
Program:	Center for Public Health Practice
Policy package title:	Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program
Policy package number:	440
Related legislation:	Senate Bill 5526 fee ratification bill

Summary statement:

The statutorily mandated Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (ORELAP) was established in 1999. ORELAP accredits Oregon drinking water, environmental, cannabis, and psilocybin laboratories based on consensus standards to ensure laboratories are following federal and state regulations. ORELAP is a fee-based program experiencing a budgetary shortfall. This policy package supports a fee increase and an update to the ORELAP fee structure for simplification and ensure that fees are appropriate for the work required to perform laboratory accreditations of differing and increasing complexity. A fee increase is needed to ensure ORELAP can provide timely quality accreditations that meet established standards and regulatory requirements to best serve ORELAP's clients and protect the health of all Oregonians.

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Environmental laboratories conduct analysis of air, drinking water, wastewater, solid and chemical waste, biological tissue and, in Oregon, cannabis and psilocybin. Analyses performed by these laboratories are used to ensure compliance with federal, state, and local regulations that may have a direct effect on human and environmental health.

The Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (ORELAP) established in 1999 operates under ORS 438.605 to 438.620, ORS 475A.606, and ORS 475C.560. ORELAP accredits laboratories based on standards established by the National Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (NELAP) under the guidance of the Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, Safe Drinking Water Act, the Resource, Conservation and Recovery Act and Oregon statutes related to cannabis and psilocybin.

ORELAP accredits Oregon drinking water, environmental, and cannabis & psilocybin laboratories. ORELAP also provides primary and secondary accreditation to laboratories outside of Oregon. ORELAP provides on-site assessment for accredited laboratories every two years and new laboratories seeking accreditation to ensure compliance with accreditation standards.

ORELAP is a fee-based program within the Oregon State Public Health Laboratory that supports a team of eight. Funding of ORELAP is accomplished using fees to reimburse the program for cost of performing all accreditation activities performed by ORELAP staff to ensure compliance to all standards set by The NELAC Institute (TNI), federal regulations and state rules and statutes. ORELAP has received state funding for work connected with House Bill 3000 (2021) and work for Ballot Measure 109 related to psilocybin. The program also receives a small amount of federal funding for drinking water related work.

ORELAP is projected to have a budget shortfall in the next biennium. ORELAP's current fees, which are some of the lowest in the country, have not increased for in-state laboratories since the inception of the program in 1999 despite increasing costs and expanding required scope of work. A fee revision is needed to ensure that ORELAP can provide timely and quality accreditations that meet established standards and regulatory requirements to best serve ORELAP's clients and protect the health of Oregonians. In addition, there are changes to the ORELAP fee structure for simplification and to ensure fees are appropriate for the work required to perform laboratory accreditations of differing complexity. Importantly, this policy package helps ORELAP accredit laboratories that respond to critical emerging needs, such as cyanotoxin exposures from algal blooms and Per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) chemicals in drinking water.

2. What does this policy package buy and how and when will it be implemented?

The policy package implements changes to the ORELAP fee structure and increases to its fees. ORELAP's fees use a complex tiered structure that scales up based on each laboratory's accreditation needs. The fee increases are wide-ranging and impact all ORELAP clients; the fees include a switch from three tiers to a five-tier system to better address the difference in program time required to assess small laboratories as compared to very large laboratories. In-state annual application fees will increase by $750 to $4,200. If the policy package is enacted, biennial on-site assessment fees will increase by $110 to $500 for the first program in each field of accreditation, while a biennial "Trip Fee" for on-site assessments will be eliminated. Out-of-state application fees will see increases of $1,450 to $7,190. Out-of-state assessment fees will be brought in line with in-state fees through increases of $80 to $340. These changes will ensure the sustainability of ORELAP and support current ORELAP staff to perform timely and quality accreditations of drinking water, environmental and cannabis and psilocybin laboratories to established national and state standards to protect the health of Oregonians.

The fee increase will be made permanent on July 1, 2023, following Department of Administrative Services approval and an OAR update during the 2021-23 biennium (via the Senate Bill 333 process).

The policy package supports:

- ORELAP staff, including the below activities:
  - Preparing for and conducting on-site assessments for accredited laboratories every two years, when a new laboratory seeks accreditation and when a laboratory adds a new testing method to ensure laboratories are compliant with established testing standards.
  - Writing and responding to assessment corrective actions to ensure deficiencies found during the on-site assessment are addressed.
  - Review of proficiency tests to ensure testing at accredited laboratories are performed accurately.
  - Providing client services to laboratories regarding accreditation, including addressing questions related to obtaining and maintaining accreditation and providing recommendations for improvement. Assessors may assist laboratories with technical questions related to laboratory operations.
  - Continued training for ORELAP assessors in advanced testing technologies.
  - Billing services enhancements to ensure billing is timely and accurate.
  - Investigating and collaborating with other agency partners regarding complaints.

- Information Technology (IT) support for the ORELAP electronic database.
  - The ORELAP Data Input and Edit (ODIE) state database application is the interface between ORELAP and accredited laboratories. Support will improve ORELAP operations and ensure client ease of usability.
- Travel associated with on-site assessments.
  - ORELAP accredits laboratories throughout Oregon and other states to ensure all Oregonians have access to accredited laboratory services to protect and promote the health of their communities.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

ORELAP plays a vital role in protecting and promoting the health of all people and communities by helping ensure the water that people in Oregon drink, the air they breathe, and the environment they live in is free of chemicals, toxins and other substances that negatively impact health and disproportionately impact communities of color, Tribal communities and low-income communities through policies that have increased risk in these communities.

Specifically, ORELAP-accredited laboratories play a critical role in testing for lead in school drinking water and cyanotoxins from harmful algae blooms. In addition, ORELAP helps protect public health by ensuring that laboratories testing cannabis and psilocybin provide accurate data on potency and potential contaminants.

Importantly, ORELAP helps respond to critical public health events by accrediting laboratories that test for emerging contaminants that impact health, such as cyanotoxin exposures from algal blooms and exposure to PFAS chemicals.

ORELAP serves all drinking water, environmental, and cannabis and psilocybin laboratories in the state, including laboratories that support rural communities. For example, upon a real estate transaction containing a well, the well water needs to be tested for nitrates, arsenic and total coliform at an ORELAP accredited laboratory to inform the safety and health of communities sourcing water from wells.

Promoting the sustainability of ORELAP is critical for protecting the health and ensuring the safety of all Oregon communities.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

Environmental laboratories, in part, perform tests on air, drinking water, environmental, and cannabis and psilocybin samples to detect and measure potentially harmful microbes, chemicals and other substances that could potentially affect the environment and health of individuals. ORELAP accredits the laboratories performing these tests to federal and state standards to certify that test results produced are accurate, therefore promoting the safety of drinking water, cannabis/psilocybin products, and the environment. The fee increase ensures fees are appropriate for work performed, allowing ORELAP to operate sustainably and continue to provide quality, timely accreditations to protect the health of Oregonians.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

With appropriate resources, ORELAP will be able to provide timely accreditation services to the testing laboratories that help keep Oregonians safe. This includes any Oregonian that drinks water from a public water system, recreates in public waters, breathes air, and uses cannabis or psilocybin products. Including those from rural communities, historically underserved populations and those experiencing health inequities.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

ORELAP has implemented several process improvements to make operations more efficient and use existing resources as best as possible. These include:

- Reorganizing how ORELAP assessors are sent on on-site assessments to reduce the number of assessors traveling per on-site assessment.
- ORELAP conducted a six-month touch-time analysis to determine the true time and cost to accredit laboratories and other work necessary to perform accreditations in line with established international standards. This analysis helped inform programmatic decisions and the fee changes in this policy package.
- Enhancement of the ORELAP Data Input and Edit (ODIE) state database application (the interface between ORELAP and accredited laboratories) to improve ORELAP operations and ensure ease of usability by clients.

- Reorganization and delegation of ORELAP staff job duties to streamline the accreditation process.
- Notifying international clients, and out-of-state clients involved in radiochemistry testing, that they will need to seek primary accreditation through another accrediting body other than ORELAP to ensure staff resources are utilized most efficiently.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

ORELAP recently completed a touch-time analysis where time spent on all activities was recorded for 6 months. The purpose of this project was to better understand the time, costs, and laboratory capacities required for different accreditation processes to inform program strategic and business plans. This also included researching other state's fee structures. The data from this analysis helped inform the discussions and decisions that formed the updates to the ORELAP fee structure.

Some of the different fee structures and program changes considered included a fee-for-service fee structure and a fee based on how many different methods needed by laboratories for accreditation.

Ultimately, the fee structure was determined to be the most appropriate based on the amount of work required to accredit laboratories of different complexities. The simplest and most familiar structure for clients is one that incorporates flexibility, is sustainable, and able to support timely, quality accreditations for accredited laboratories and their clients.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

The ORELAP Executive Team consists of the OSPHL Laboratory Director, DEQ Laboratory Director, and ODA Laboratory Manager. This team guides the strategic direction of ORELAP. The ORELAP

Executive Team provided input throughout analysis of the ORELAP fee structure to help identify a final decision on the policy package to ensure it best reflects the needs of ORELAP, partners, clients, and the health of Oregonians. These agencies are not requesting funding in relation to this policy package. ORELAP also conducted a rules advisory committee (RAC) as part of administrative rulemaking to revise accreditation fees. This RAC included members of the accredited laboratory community who helped design the fee structure.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute?
   No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies will be affected by this policy package? How will they be affected?

    ORELAP accredits laboratories throughout Oregon to ensure communities have access to needed accredited laboratory services, including a non-profit environmental laboratory owned and operated by The Klamath Tribes. ORELAP may also accredit environmental laboratories performing work for Tribal entities. In addition, ORELAP accredits municipal laboratories performing analysis of drinking water, wastewater, and solid waste. All accredited laboratories would experience increased fees under this policy package.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

    The Secretary of State Audits Division completed an audit report of the Oregon Health Authority marijuana programs entitled Oregon’s Framework for Regulating Marijuana Should Be Strengthened to Better Mitigate Diversion Risk and Improve Laboratory Testing (2019-04). Two findings from the report may be addressed by this policy package:

Key Finding #3: All recreational marijuana in Oregon must be tested for pesticides and solvents, but most medical marijuana is not required to be tested. Also, OHA does not require heavy metal and microbiological testing, in contrast to some other states. These contaminants could pose a risk to consumers.

- The inclusion of heavy metals and microbiological testing will require ORELAP to offer new fields of accreditation for cannabis testing laboratories. This policy package helps sustain ORELAP staff, potentially supporting the addition of these new fields of accreditation for cannabis laboratories.

Key Finding #4: Without a mechanism for verifying test results, Oregon's marijuana testing program cannot ensure that test results are reliable, and products are safe. Limited authority, inadequate staffing, and inefficient processes reduce OHA's ability to ensure Oregon marijuana labs consistently operate under accreditation standards and industry pressures may affect lab practices and the accuracy of results.

- The update to the fee structure and fees in this policy package provide ORELAP staff ability to examine and work to address the findings of the Oregon Secretary of State, particularly the assessment of potential process improvements.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): Ongoing

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

The key assumption is that the ORELAP program will retain the bulk of its current client base after increasing its fees, thereby generating additional revenue. Although fees charged by other NELAP accrediting bodies use a wide variety of structures that are difficult to directly compare to ORELAP's, the program's analysis indicates that the increased rates will remain competitive in the industry. Other assumptions include continued partial funding of the ORELAP program by House Bill 3000 (assumed $487,278 in the 2023-25 biennium) and some direct funding of ORELAP staff by the OHA psilocybin program and the EPA Drinking Water Primacy grant (total of $465,000 per biennium).

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

There will be no new responsibilities for OHA associated with the policy package. It will promote the sustainability of ORELAP and support current ORELAP staff to perform timely and quality accreditations to international standards and in accordance with ORELAP's mandate ORS 438 and 475A & C.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

This policy package does not directly result in a change to the ORELAP client caseload.

Currently ORELAP accredits approximately 120 laboratories. This policy package helps support the services provided to these laboratories by ensuring timely and accurate accreditations and performance reviews; highly trained assessors that can accredit to national and state standards; and support accreditation services.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions will be modified and/or new staff will be needed.

This policy package does not require new positions or modifications to existing positions. It supports current ORELAP staff and ensure the sustainability of ORELAP to provide quality services to accredited laboratories and protect the health of Oregonians.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

None.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

The ongoing costs are personnel costs including employee services, supplies, travel, shared services, and State Assessments & Enterprise-wide costs.

18. What are the potential savings?

None.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

The policy package includes Other Funds limitation to support a fee increase paid for by laboratories needing accreditation.

Program:	Center for Health Protection
Policy package title:	Oregon Psilocybin Services: The Nation's First Regulatory Framework for Psilocybin
Policy package number:	449
Related legislation:	Ballot Measure 109

Summary statement:

This policy package provides both General Fund and Other Funds limitation for implementation of the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act by the Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) section at the Oregon Health Authority. In accordance with ORS 475A, OPS began accepting license applications on January 2, 2023 and will review applications, conduct site inspections, and issue licenses for applicants that meet requirements. OPS expects to transition from General Funds to Other Funds by the end of the 2023-25 biennium. As the first state in the nation to implement a regulatory framework for the provision of psilocybin services, it is critical for OPS to create a safe, equitable, and accessible program for Oregonians while setting a precedent for the nation.

Oregon Health Authority: 2023-25 Policy Package

Purpose

1. Why does OHA propose this policy package and what problem is OHA trying to fix or solve?

Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) received General Fund for start-up costs and staff positions for the 2021-23 biennium to begin implementation of Ballot Measure 109 (M109), the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act, which was passed in 2020 and is now codified in ORS 475A. OPS will begin receiving Other Funds revenue from licensing fees after January 2, 2023, when OHA begins accepting applications to license psilocybin manufacturers, psilocybin testing labs, psilocybin service centers, and psilocybin facilitators. It may take many months into the 2023-25 biennium for OPS to begin receiving enough revenue from license fees to cover the costs of the section's work.

For the psilocybin framework created by M109 to roll out successfully in Oregon, OPS must have the ability to fully support equity goals by centering equity and community throughout the process. Under ORS 475A, a client 21 years of age or older may access psilocybin services. While no prescription or referral from a medical or clinical provider is necessary, a client will be required to complete a preparation session with a licensed facilitator before participating in an administration session. The client will only access psilocybin at a licensed service center during an administration session in the presence of a trained, licensed facilitator. Optional integration sessions will be made available to each client after an administration session, which will provide additional safety and support planning for clients as they are supported in the integration process, as well as referrals to peer support networks and community resources.

Although OPS has worked to prevent delays to begin accepting license applications by January 2, 2023 for licensure of manufacturers, testing labs, service centers, and facilitators, there are many factors that are outside of OPS' control. For example, psilocybin facilitator training programs may be subject to Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) career training school licensure, which could cause delays for psilocybin facilitator training programs admitting students and training them in time for the January 2, 2023 date. In addition, local governments may adopt ordinances to prohibit licensed manufacturers and service centers from operating in their local jurisdictions, which may cause further delays as those interested in setting up service centers or manufacturer sites navigate these ordinances, as well as possible land use and zoning changes, before investing in property and setting up businesses. OPS expects to transition from General Fund to Other Funds (fees) by the end of the 2023-25 biennium.

2. What would this policy package buy and how and when would it be implemented?

This policy package provides both General Fund and Other Funds limitation for implementation of the Oregon Psilocybin Services Act by the Oregon Psilocybin Services (OPS) section at the Oregon Health Authority.

3. How does this policy package help, or potentially hinder, populations impacted by health inequities from achieving health equity[1] or equitable health outcomes? How does this policy package further OHA's mission and align with its strategic plan?

Psilocybin has been used for centuries by various indigenous and Tribal communities for spiritual, ceremonial, healing, and other purposes throughout the world. Ensuring that OPS has the capacity to continue working with community partners, listening to community-based solutions, honoring indigenous and traditional knowledge, and working collaboratively to apply an equity lens in implementation will be critical to meeting the needs of communities across the state.

Research suggests that psilocybin can help address mental and behavioral health issues, including trauma, anxiety, depression, and addiction. The State Health Improvement Plan (SHIP), Healthier Together Oregon 2020-2024, identifies adversity, trauma and toxic stress, behavioral health, behavioral health, economic drivers of health, and access to equitable preventive health care as top priorities. Oregon Psilocybin Services has been working to implement ORS 475A by addressing the top priorities identified by community organizations in Healthier Together Oregon and also with OHA's strategic plan goal of eliminating health inequities by ensuring that psilocybin services become and remain a safe, equitable, and accessible option for achieving optimal health.

Because people of color can experience adversity, toxic stress, anxiety, and trauma due to racism, creating access to psilocybin services could have particular benefit for these communities, especially when licensed facilitators are able to deliver psilocybin services in culturally responsive ways. To that end, facilitators will be required to complete training in health equity, history of indigenous use, cultural equity, racial justice, intergenerational trauma, and implicit bias. These training requirements are designed to ensure that culturally appropriate psilocybin facilitation is available to people of color in Oregon. OPS will provide appropriate technical assistance to training programs and our regulated community to maximize positive health impacts, particularly among Black, Indigenous, people of color, and Tribal members.

OPS has engaged with priority communities identified in the SHIP throughout the development period. OPS has incorporated meaningful ways for community members to share feedback and suggestions, with an emphasis on engaging with historically under-represented communities. Part of this work includes re-building trust with communities that have not always been well-served by government systems.

Oregon Psilocybin Services also creates new economic and business opportunities in Oregon. Successful implementation will help to decrease barriers for license applicants, especially for those in communities that are disproportionality affected by health inequities. This includes creating pathways for practitioners of diverse backgrounds who can support the health of their communities through facilitating psilocybin services in culturally grounded ways. This part of the work connects to the SHIP priority of addressing economic drivers of health.

Quantifying results

4. What are the long-term desired outcomes?

OPS is committed to creating safe, effective, and equitable psilocybin services in Oregon. OPS is also committed to centering equity and working toward the agency's strategic plan goal of eliminating health inequities by 2030. To do this, OPS will work closely with internal and external partners to ensure that psilocybin services become and remain a safe and accessible option for healing and wellness.

Research suggests that psilocybin may help reduce depression, anxiety (including end of life anxiety), problematic alcohol and tobacco use, and trauma-related disorders (including PTSD and race-based trauma). Across studies, psilocybin has been found to increase spiritual well-being. Making psilocybin services available as an option to address these behavioral health challenges has the potential to have a long-lasting positive impact on the health of Oregonians. The Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board Rapid Evidence Review and Recommendations[2], or Revisión rápida de evidencia y recomendaciones del Consejo Consultor sobre la Psilocibina de Oregon, findings show that psilocybin, the active ingredient in psychedelic mushrooms, holds promise as an option to address mental health issues, and may be efficacious in reducing problematic alcohol and tobacco use.

To provide safe, effective psilocybin services to those who are 21 years or older who may be interested and seeking relief from anxiety, trauma, depression, addiction, or other issues, OPS must respond to licensees in a timely manner and have the funding to conduct the section's work appropriately. In addition, many priority populations outlined in Healthier Together Oregon have interest in applying for licensure, so it is important that OPS is effective in development and efficient and responsive to our regulated community. For these and many other reasons, implementing a sustainable framework is a priority for OPS.

5. How will OHA measure the impacts on health inequities of this policy package?

In January 2022, OPS conducted a community interest survey to better understand interest in accessing psilocybin services, in licensure, and in training program approval. The survey was open for one month and made available in Spanish, Russian, Vietnamese, Simple Chinese/Mandarin, and Somali. There were over 4,400 survey respondents indicating a high level of interest in seeking services and licensure. OPS used an adapted version of REAL-D in consultation with staff at the Equity and Inclusion Division and published a summary of findings in February 2022. OPS expects to conduct other community interest surveys in the future and will continue to include demographic data that can help measure how well we are engaging with different communities across Oregon.

OPS is in the beginning stages of developing a section-wide evaluation plan and equity plan. Both plans will help to chart the course for how we measure impacts and may include qualitative feedback from our community partners, community listening sessions, focus groups, interviews, and surveys.

OPS will continue to apply a health equity lens as programs are implemented, being mindful to balance program sustainability with the need for equitable access to services. Each program will start with and focus on health equity, including outreach to communities and providing clear, timely, and accessible information. As a new section and first in the nation to implement psilocybin services, the OPS team will be continuously learning in response to feedback and stories from the community.

How achieved

6. What actions have occurred to resolve the issue prior to requesting a policy package?

As discussed above, for the psilocybin framework created by M109 to roll out successfully in Oregon, OPS must have the ability to fully support equity goals by centering equity and community throughout the process.

In the fall of 2021, OPS recognized there were several risks for licensure delays if OPS was not ready to license each of the four license types on January 2, 2023 and prioritized several implementation actions. OPS worked with the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board, community members, and partners to ensure that board recommendations and public feedback were provided in time to draft rules for rulemaking early in 2022.

- To ensure that trained psilocybin facilitators would be ready to apply for licensure by January 2, 2023, psilocybin facilitator training programs would need OHA curriculum approval before admitting students, and students would need to complete training by the end of 2022. OPS expedited the training program rules to ensure that rules were adopted by May 20, 2022 to give training programs the ability to move forward.

- Similarly, to ensure that testing labs would be ready to apply for licensure by January 2, 2023, the Oregon Environmental Laboratory Accreditation Program (ORELAP) would have to adopt rules for accreditation and begin accepting applications to accredit testing labs by the fall of 2022. Again, OPS expedited a subset of the products and testing rules to ensure that rules were adopted by May 20, 2022 to give ORELAP the ability to move forward.

Although OPS has worked to prevent delays for the licensure of manufacturers, testing labs, service centers, and facilitators there are many factors that are outside of OPS's control. For example, psilocybin facilitator training programs may be subject to Higher Education Coordinating Commission (HECC) career training school licensure, which could cause delays for psilocybin facilitator training programs admitting students and training them in time for the January 2, 2023 date. In addition, local governments may adopt ordinances to prohibit licensed manufacturers and service centers from operating in their local jurisdictions, which may cause further delays as those interested in setting up service centers or manufacturer sites navigate these ordinances, as well as possible land use and zoning changes, before investing in property and setting up businesses. For these reasons, OPS does not expect to have enough revenue from licensure fee revenue to cover the costs of the section's work by the end of the first year of the 23-25 biennium. OPS will need any carryover funds from the 2021-23 biennium to help support the section's work.

7. What alternatives were considered and what were the reasons for rejecting them?

There were no other alternatives as M109 (ORS 475A) requires that OHA adopt rules by December 31, 2022 and begin accepting applications for licensure on January 2, 2023. OPS received General Fund for 21-22 and 22-23, and while OPS has no control over the risk of delays that may affect licensure but are not related to the section's work, the section is working with partners to identify possible ways to overcome them.

8. What other agencies, programs, community partners or stakeholders are collaborating on this policy package?

   OPS is engaging with many community members and partners on the implementation of M109 (ORS 475A), including the Oregon Department of Justice, Oregon Department of Revenue, Oregon Department of Agriculture, Oregon Liquor and Cannabis Commission, Oregon State Treasury, Higher Education Coordinating Commission, Oregon Department of Administrative Services, Oregon Department of Education, Secretary of State Office of Small Business Development, Business Oregon, Oregon Health Authority inter-agency partners, Oregon's 9 Federally Recognized Tribes, Oregon's Professional Licensing Boards, Local Governments, Local Public Health Authorities, Law Enforcement, Advocacy Organizations, Academic Institutions, Professional Associations, Psilocybin and Psychedelic Partners, Other states, Community Based Organizations, the Oregon Psilocybin Advisory Board and subcommittees, and members of the public.

9. Does this policy package require any changes to existing statute(s) or require a new statute? If yes, identify the statute and the legislative concept.

   No.

10. What other state, Tribal, and/or local government agencies would be affected by this policy package? How would they be affected?

    There would be an impact to Oregon Department of Revenue (DOR) if Oregon Psilocybin Services experienced a budget shortfall and did not have the capacity to license service centers. DOR will be collecting a 15 percent tax on the sale of psilocybin products to clients by licensed service centers and have spent time preparing staff and processes for the collection of this tax.

11. Is this policy package being requested because of an Oregon Secretary of State or internal audit? If so, provide further information.

No.

Staffing and fiscal impact

Implementation date(s): July 1, 2023

End date (if applicable): June 30, 2024

12. What assumptions affect the pricing of this policy package?

The assumptions included that the Legislature wouldn't significantly amend Measure 109 (ORS Ch. 475A) in the 2023 session in a manner that would affect OPS's ability to accept and assess application fees to cover program expenditures.

13. Will there be new responsibilities for OHA and/or Shared Services? Specify which programs and describe their new responsibilities.

There would be no new responsibilities.

14. Will there be changes to client caseloads or services provided to population groups? Specify how many in each relevant program.

If OPS experiences a budget shortfall and is unable to implement ORS 475A, there are many communities and members of the public that will not have access to psilocybin services. According to the results of the OPS Community Interest Survey Findings, out of 4,421 respondents, 94 percent were interested in accessing services. In addition, 660 respondents were interested in applying for training program approval, 1,613 were interested in facilitator licensure, 982 were interested in manufacturer licensure, 903 were interested in service center licensure, and 226 were interested in testing lab licensure. In addition, a significant number of applicants and licensees would be impacted due to the investments they have made into establishing businesses and securing property to conduct this work, as well as the expense of psilocybin facilitator training programs.

15. Describe the staff and positions needed to implement this policy package, including whether existing positions would be modified and/or new staff would be needed.

There would be no new positions needed to implement this package.

16. What are the start-up and one-time costs?

OHA will continue to monitor expenses and expects costs will be covered by 100 percent Other Funds fee revenue toward the end of the 2023-25 biennium.

17. What are the ongoing costs?

OPS has been working to better understand the number of licensees it should expect to license and regulate beginning January 2, 2023 through the OPS Community Interest Survey, as well as working with partners. Because rules were adopted by the end of the development period in December of 2022, future regulated community members may not be ready to establish their businesses and apply for licensure until late in 2023 or early 2024. OPS expects to transition from General Fund to Other Funds by the end of the 2023-25 biennium.

18. What are the potential savings?

These are unknown at this time, although OPS expects that the health impacts of psilocybin services in Oregon may have reductions in health care costs over time.

19. What are the sources of funding and the funding split for each one?

This policy package includes both General Fund and Other Funds limitation for the 2023-25 biennium.

Overview

The Oregon Health Authority's Legislatively Adopted Budget includes one capital construction and one acquisition project for the Oregon State Hospital for the 2023-25 biennium: environmental renovations on the Junction City campus to renovate administrative space into a patient care area sufficient to meet complex and intensive treatment needs and a Programmable Logic Controller (PLC) System Replacement (originally within policy package #439) that will be financed with Article XI-Q Bonds issued October 2023.

Project costs and purpose

The costs described below are for the 2023-25 biennium. Following each project's implementation plan, all bond issuance is expected to occur during the 2023-25 biennium, with no additional financing required in future biennia. Debt service will extend into the 2029-31 biennium and will be funded with General Fund, which is budgeted and managed centrally in OHA.

The Junction City Renovation request is related to the OSH need for an available space to serve patients that display symptoms that require intensive treatment away from the general OSH population. It will fund the creation of a single occupancy Unit and will accommodate any patient that has acute symptomology that cannot be intermingled with the patient population at large and requires dedicated resources for successful treatment. Project is estimated to cost $6.35 million, which includes $5 million for renovations, $95,000 for bond issuance, and $1.26 million in debt services.

The PLC System Replacement project is expected to cost $3.63 million, which includes PLC system costs of $3 million, $45,000 for bond issuance, and $581,000 for debt services. This will fund the acquisition of a single, unified software platform that will replace the existing Programmable Logic Controller (PLC) system, integrating into access control, security cameras, video recording, emergency door release, entry door, sally port and hospital duress systems. The Oregon State Hospital originally utilized a PLC system that is proprietary to a vendor, requiring consultants from that vendor to troubleshoot and repair any errors during downtime, which is costly, inefficient, and an obstacle when errors occur during hours outside of normal business operations. This replacement will be an “off the shelf” solution, that will greatly expand the system maintenance options available to OSH and should significantly decrease downtime for an integrated solution that is vital to patient and staff security.

Description of Agency Business/Master Plan and Project Purpose/Problem to be Corrected
The Single Occupancy Unit Remodel on the Junction City campus project is estimated to cost $6.35M, including Issuance expenses of $95K and 2023-25 Debt Services of $1.26M as estimated by the Department of Administrative Services (DAS) in addition to the $5M renovation estimate. This Bond issuance will fund the conversion of a space within the Junction City campus to accommodate a patient who has acute symptomology and cannot be intermingled with the patient population at large without severe risk of assault. This space will then be available as similar patient need addressed. OSH has currently contracted with a vendor to undergo an architectural and engineering feasibility study to develop the exact remodel specifications, with the Bond request a result of that A&E work. Note that this work will re-purpose existing square footage rather than add to it.

Project Scope and Alternatives Considered
Current feasability study determined remodel parameters and scope. The hospital is administering care to the patient currently under a temporary waiver from the Centers of Medicaid and Medicare Services (CMS), that cannot be indefinitely extended, requiring a more permanent solution to provide quality patient care. Before the operationalization of the full Junction City campus, the patient was able to be treated on a Unit with no other occupancy; with the full operation of all Units, a new solution is necessary given the exhibited patient aggression.

Description of Agency Business/Master Plan and Project Purpose/Problem to be Corrected
The PLC System Replacement project is expected to cost $3.6 million in total, including Issuance expenses of $45K and 2023-25 Debt Services of $581K as estimated by the Department of Administrative Services (DAS) in addition to the $3M PLC system direct estimate. This will fund the acquisition of a single, unified software platform that will replace the existing Programmable Logic Controller (PLC) system, integrating into access control, security cameras, video recording, emergency door release, entry door, sally port and hospital duress systems. The Oregon State Hospital originally utilized a PLC system that is proprietary to a vendor, requiring consultants from that vendor to troubleshoot and repair any errors during downtime, which is costly, inefficient, and an obstacle when errors occur during hours outside of normal business operations. This replacement will be an “off the shelf” solution, that will greatly expand the system maintenance options available to OSH and should significantly decrease downtime for an integrated solution that is vital to patient and staff security.

Project Scope and Alternatives Considered
Project scope would include procurement and deployment of new PLC system at the Salem campus. Because of the current proprietary system, there is no viable alternative to replacement in order to maintain operational, safety and security needs.

Facilities Maintenance

Key drivers of facility needs and measuring demand

Oregon State Hospital is subject to standards set by the Centers for Medicaid and Medicare Services (CMS) and reviewed and accredited through the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO). In addition to standard repair and maintenance of buildings and equipment, the hospital may be required to meet more stringent facilities requirements as determined by those governing bodies. These will be related to patient and staff safety, such as anti-ligature efforts.

The occupancy of the hospital is primarily determined by the judicial system. Periodic legislative changes impact the types and number of patients admitted to OSH. Depending on the changes in law, this can drive an increase or decrease to the facility demand, partially determined by the level of care required for new patient admissions and the associated adaptation of existing hospital space. Space requirements are therefore fluid. The measurement of space is done through monitoring of legislative and regulatory requirements, with associated increases or decreases to staffing dependent on shifting requirements and the needs of the patients.

Challenges over next 10 years

- Construction or renovation to ensure efficient hospital utilization and sustainability.
- Lifecycle replacement of high value equipment and assets.
- Responding to regulatory changes requiring facility improvements.
- Office space needs inside and outside of the secure perimeter.
- Ensuring a 5- and 10-year equipment replacement cycle is maintained.
- Funding to develop life cycle costing, and budget for life cycles in advance of equipment breakdown.
- Ensure upgrades are made to equipment to extend life cycles.
- Above standard wear and tear of a facility partially occupied by persons not invested in long term facility care.

What is needed to meet challenges

- Receive budgetary funding adequate to meet these challenges.
- Ensure related technology resources are adequate and available.
- Update and maintain associated maintenance software.

Facilities Operations and Maintenance Budget	1	The Facilities Operations and Maintenance budget includes costs to operate and maintain facilities and keep them in repair including utilities, janitorial and maintenance costs. Maintenance costs are categorized as external building (roof, siding, windows, etc.); interior systems (electrical, mechanical, interior walls, doors, etc.); roads and ground (groundskeeper, parking lots, sidewalks, etc.) and centrally operated systems (electrical, mechanical, etc.). Agencies with significant facilities may include support staff if directly associated with facilities maintenance activities. Do not include other overhead costs such as accounting, central government charges, etc.

Total Short and Long Term Maintenance and Deferred Maintenance Plan for Facilities Value Over $1M	3	All Maintenance excluding routine O&M costs. 23-25 and 25-27 auto-populates with 2% of the sum of your agency portfolio's CRV. Written to deliver on SB 1067: SECTION 9. (1) Each biennium, the Governor shall propose as part of the Governor's recommended budget an amount for deferred maintenance and capital improvements on existing state-owned buildings and infrastructure that is equivalent to at least two percent of the current replacement value of the state-owned buildings and infrastructure.
Priority One: Currently Critical	4	From the Budget Instruction: Priority One projects are conditions that require immediate action in order to address code and accessibility violations that affect life safety. Building envelope issues (roof, sides, windows and doors) that pose immediate safety concerns should be included in this category.
Priority Two: Potentially Critical	5	From the Budget Instruction: Priority Two projects are to be undertaken in the near future to maintain the integrity of the facility and accommodate current agency program requirements. Included are systems that are functioning improperly or at limited capacity, and if not addressed, will cause additional system deterioration and added repair costs. Also included are significant building envelope issues (roof, sides, windows and doors) that, if not addressed, will cause additional system deterioration and added repair costs.
Priority Three: Necessary - Not yet Critical	6	From the Budget Instructions: Priority Three projects could be undertaken in the near to mid-term future to maintain the integrity of a building and to address building systems, building components and site work that have reached or exceeded their useful life based on industry standards, but are still functioning in some capacity. These projects may require attention currently to avoid deterioration, potential downtime and consequently higher costs if corrective action is deferred.
Priority Four: Seismic and Natural Hazard Remediation	7	From the Budget Instructions: Priority Four projects improve seismic performance of buildings constructed prior to 1995 building code changes to protect occupants, minimize building damage and speed recovery after a major earthquake. Projects also include those that mitigate significant flood hazards.
Priority Five: Modernization	8	From the Budget Instructions: Priority Five projects are alterations or replacement of facilities solely to implement new or higher standards to accommodate new functions, significantly improve existing functionality as well as replacement of building components that typically last more than 50 years (such as the building structure or foundations). These standards include system and aesthetic upgrades which represent sensible improvements to the existing condition. These projects improve the overall usability and reduce long-term maintenance requirements. Given the significant nature of these projects, the work typically addresses deficiencies that do not conform to current codes, but are 'grandfathered' in their existing condition to the extent feasible.
Facility Condition Index	9	A calculated measure of facility condition relative to its current replacement value (expressed as a percentage)

Oregon Health Authority
Audit Response Report

1. ODHS and OHA: Statewide Single Audit Including Selected Financial Accounts and Federal Awards for the Year Ended June 30, 2019, audit #2020-14 (dated March 2020)

- Recommend management ensure year-end accrual methodologies are complete and include consideration of all relevant expenditures.

  During FY21, the SFR unit has reviewed/updated every year-end procedure, including accruals, by going through them as a team so everyone understands the process and what to review.

  The Office of Financial Services has also put together a group from multiple financial units to document the financial processes of each program within the sub-systems, so everyone understands the impacts and needs for accruals. This document includes the financial transactions throughout each step of the process and the year-end financial process.

  We expect to continue this until all programs are completed. Lastly, we have created an accrual template for the program areas that provide the accrual estimates to use in order to clarify our needs.

- Recommend authority management implement procedures to monitor user access and potential unauthorized changes to the application, as well as continue to implement processes to verify the effectiveness and completeness of the claims edits and audits function.

  1. Rewrote the deliverable from Gainwell so that testing results are easier to read and understand.

  2. The steps involved in creating and implementing an edit into the MMIS require the interaction of at least three managers: including Medicaid Policy and MMIS Business Support Unit manager approval, and approval from the EDI/Claims manager.

3. Since January 2021, OHA conducts monthly meetings involving managers from Provider Services, Claims, EDI, and BSU to review any claims/EDI issues, including new edits being proposed or developed. This meeting is a checkpoint to be sure that all units impacted by claims edit and audit changes are aware of proposed & pending changes, and to create accountability before implementing a new edit or audit in MMIS.

4. Staff with access to MMIS Edits & Audits is 4.

5. Weekly audit activity reports on the four analysts who can update edits and audits in the MMIS are generated and reviewed by HSD Leadership & Management to monitor activity by the analyst in MMIS to determine if any incorrect actions have occurred.

6. MMIS contains audit tables detailing the activities of users – HSD Management monitors for suspicious activity.

7. The MMIS Business Support Unit is automated or enhanced solutions monitoring of edits.

8. OHA maintains system documentation in the Oregon Project Workbook site, secure for access by management, which serves as project site for MMIS and houses system documentation including details on edits.

9. Documentation from Gainwell shows that between July 1, 2019, and June 30, 2020, that 94 of 116 identified edits were tested. Of the 116 edits, those tested had active paid status. OHA is committed to a clearer presentation of testing results.

10. OHA reviews, on a weekly basis, the claims edits & audits, in MMIS.

- Recommend authority management continue their analysis and correct all incorrect provider payments. It is also recommended that authority management ensure tables are updated timely and accurately when CMS provides updates.

  A correction was made in MMIS to change the incorrect table rate and rule so that future claims will be processed at the proper rate. A total of six System Mass Adjustment Processes (SMAP's) were conducted to pay at the lower rate. The final total amount to be recovered or recouped by the state would be $348,079.

Decision was made on February 24, 2021, by Medicaid Policy not to reprocess these claims as originally pursued, but instead to let them remain because they will be corrected when they go through the settlement process.

The programmed rates in MMIS were corrected in alignment with the fee schedule to correct future payments on January 1, 2020. The State assigned a backup to monitor emails from CMS that contain conversion factors to prevent future issues. Having more than one person in BSU subscribed to receive CMS transmittals/updates and watching out for rate changes should reduce/ prevent future errors. The State is not planning on adjusting the 2019 past claims because of a detrimental effect it would have on providers based on the lack of a State Plan requirement that specifies which conversion factors the state must utilize for outpatient claims.

- Recommend authority management strengthen controls to ensure documentation supporting a provider's eligibility determination is retained.

  Starting with the 2020 revalidation cycle, October 2020, the state requires new Provider Enrollment Agreements (PEAs) for all revalidating individuals and organizations. Revalidation is required every five years for all Medicaid providers. This requirement ensures all newly enrolling and revalidating organizations and individual providers will have new or updated PEA's at the time of enrollment or revalidation. Enrollment and revalidation applications without attached PEA's are no longer accepted. Providers failing to revalidate with a new PEA will be inactivated as a Medicaid provider.

  Provider validations may be missed due to the manual nature of the processes. Currently, the state is reviewing missed validation reports no less frequently than monthly to ensure missed validations are corrected at the earliest opportunity. The state continues to check all providers against OIG, SAM and Death Master databases monthly as required. Waiting for a response from CMS in order to update projected implementation to December 31, 2022.

- Recommend department and authority management strengthen controls to perform timely eligibility redeterminations and verification of client income and ensure eligible clients are appropriately enrolled in both Medicare and Medicaid. Additionally, we recommend management provide periodic training to caseworkers to reduce the risk of administrative errors. We also recommend management correct all identified issues and reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

OHA and ODHS have confirmed with CMS that the requirement to pursue Medicare as a condition of eligibility was not submitted as a requirement of SPA 10-011 filed in 2011 by previous leaders no longer with either agency, however our rules and processes had not been updated. APD is in process of filing Temp rules immediately and permanent rules in October 2022. We anticipate having all gaps tied up by the end of December 2022.

- Recommend authority management comply with subrecipient monitoring requirements, develop and implement internal controls to ensure risk assessments are performed and documented for each subrecipient, and monitoring activities are completed and documented in conformance with risk assessment results.

  The Health Systems Division (HSD) has assigned a project manager to assist program area to develop and implement a sustainable process, documentation and grant administrator training package and creating corrective action for remediating the issue and ensuring it does not reoccur.

  There is now a documented process and standardized tools to perform risk assessments of subrecipients to determine appropriate monitoring policies. There is also a documented formal process to ensure subrecipients comply with federal regulations, terms, and conditions of the subrecipient performance. However, we are currently piloting this process and tools within a small workgroup, the Grant Management Process Improvement Team, in anticipation of conducting division wide training and implementation by May of 2023.

- Recommend authority management develop and implement controls to ensure performance progress report are complete and accurate prior to report submission.

There is now a documented process and internal control tool to ensure that performance reports are accurate and complete. Tools are in the final phase of testing and this recommendation will be implemented by January 31, 2023.

2. OHA: Chronic and Systemic Issues in Oregon's Mental Health Treatment System Leave Children and Their Families in Crisis audit #2020-32 (dated September 2020)

- Recommend develop and document a comprehensive strategic plan for the agency and Behavioral Health Division. A process to update and report plan progress to governing bodies should be created in tandem. Once established, the plan should be communicated to the public, agency staff, and governing entities.

  Management Response*: OHA agrees with a primary theme of this audit about the importance of aligning agency values, principles, and strategic vision with agency operations. This audit illustrates the complexities and gaps that have resulted from lack of a documented and well-communicated strategic plan. We agree with all the elements of this recommendation, including the need to develop and document plans; conduct regular performance reviews against the plans; report performance to governing bodies; and to broadly communicate all aspects of planning to stakeholders including consumers, providers, staff, the public and governing bodies. Prior to the pandemic, OHA was nearing completion of a strategic plan whose conclusion was that OHA must eliminate health inequities. Our work during the COVID-19 pandemic has confirmed that direction as we have observed inequity in the rate of infection among communities of color, more acute illnesses for those who are infected, and higher rates of hospitalization.*

  Inequity issues: As this audit acknowledges, COVID-19 has disrupted OHA operations since early 2020. While that is an important backdrop to some of our responses, the pandemic has also helped OHA staff and partners learn and adapt. Much of that learning, focus and adaptation will inform future strategic planning efforts.

  In addition, the Legislature allocated $25.6 million from the Coronavirus Relief Fund to focus on culturally appropriate behavioral health services during the crisis. OHA is working with Community Based Organizations and stakeholders to better understand how to provide outreach and improve access to meaningful behavioral health services for historically underserved people. Much of our effort involves engaging with stakeholders we have not previously known. These new connections will carry forward after the pandemic to inform our strategic planning.

Consumer voice: Any strategic plans created for the behavioral health system must center consumers and be trauma informed. OHA must devote time and resources to ensure that consumers can express needs and co-create solutions. We will include people with lived experience in planning from the beginning and embed their participation in processes and procedures.

As this audit stressed, we must take a trauma-informed approach to all of our work and planning as we create a more culturally and linguistically responsive system of behavioral health services.

Work underway: The Behavioral Health Director was appointed in April 2019. His initial vision is included in this audit report: Behavioral health services must be simple, responsive, and meaningful. For children and families, the guiding vision is that children can be at home, in school and in their community because they receive the right services, at the right time and for the right duration.

The behavioral health system does not exist in isolation from other public systems. Decisions made by OHA can affect other systems and, conversely, things happen in other systems that can affect the behavioral health system. We are embarking on strategic planning that is fully inclusive to help all systems function better.

After articulating our initial vision, OHA and the Behavioral Health Director have been working with stakeholder groups, the Governor, the Legislature and various workgroups and committees over the past year to gather input and map a direction for the behavioral health system and its components.

While the audit pointed out that the myriad groups and advisors can be overwhelming, OHA receives important input from people representing diverse interests and perspectives. That input is critical to understanding the implications of the decisions being made in the behavioral health system and in setting effective strategies for system improvement.

Other planning efforts include the strategic plan developed by Oregon's Alcohol and Drug Policy Commission (ADPC). The purpose of the ADPC is to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of state and local substance use disorder prevention, treatment, and recovery services for all Oregonians. The ADPC and its state agency partners adopted a comprehensive strategic plan. The plan seeks to identify processes and resources to create, track, fund and report on strategies for systems integration, innovation, and policy development; strategies to reduce Oregon's substance use disorder (SUD) rate, including preventing SUD and promoting recovery; and strategies to reduce morbidity and mortality related to SUD. This work intersects with services to children and their families and adults, as people who have SUD often have mental health issues as well.

OHA is committed to the work that is needed to synthesize the results of all these efforts into a comprehensive strategic plan for behavioral health services.

Internally, after the audit was completed, OHA reorganized the Office of Behavioral Health Services. The new structure will allow the office to better focus on strategic planning and data analytics. The structure adds a Child and Family Behavioral Health Director, an Adult Mental Health and Addictions Director, and a Behavioral Health Operations Director, all of whom report to the Behavioral Health Director.

OHA is also integrating performance management into the expected duties and work of all staff.

Challenges: As this audit recognizes, the financial picture changed rapidly and unexpectedly upon the arrival of COVID-19. OHA and the behavioral health system started the 2019-2021 biennium with momentum and expectations of new funding after several years of a strong*

Oregon economy. The Governor and the Legislature established multiple workgroups to begin addressing chronic system underfunding, much of which is called out in this audit report.

Once the impacts of COVID-19 are fully known, we expect the funding situation to be significantly worse, and we anticipate the need to imagine a system with different financial constraints than we had been planning. We also expect that administrative resources will be constrained and that we will have to make difficult decisions about what work our staff can support and what will be deferred.

That being the case, it is more important than ever that we plan for, implement and monitor a behavioral health system that is responsive to consumers, children and families when the services are needed and that results in the best outcomes possible.

This audit recognizes the complications faced by people who receive services in a system with multiple funders, multiple stakeholder groups and multiple levels and systems of government, all with differing objectives and requirements. These realities cannot be ignored and must be synthesized during strategic planning to ensure a system that meets the vision of being simple, responsive, and meaningful.

Agency needs: As this audit report stresses, our current data and analysis capacity is severely limited. Our Agency Requested Budget for 2021-23 includes funding to support data improvement work that is underway. If that effort is not funded, challenges will continue. Without the data improvement, we will not be able to monitor, analyze and track performance and outcomes, as the audit recommends throughout.*

Update: OHA has adopted the bold vision to Eliminate Health Inequities in Oregon by 2030. This essential work seeks to recognize the systemic racism and discrimination experienced by communities of color in our in our state and to achieve health equality within 10 years.*

The Behavioral Health director has developed a strategic plan for the Behavioral Health Division of Health Systems Division in line with this larger vision. Over the past year, he has met with community groups and partners across Oregon and has engaged consumers in feedback sessions to build a comprehensive vision for behavioral health. In recent months, the Director has presented this vision to legislators and interested community members in multiple sessions and is implementing this vision across behavioral health programs.

While OHA has taken steps to address this recommendation and even expanded upon it, it is not yet complete. Next steps include public communication of this information and updates to OHA's website for full transparency.

- Recommend Oregon Health Authority define necessary terms, such as "health" and "mental health," and integrate those terms into all plans and contracts and propose integration into Oregon Administrative Rule and ORS in order to be institutionalized.

  Management Response: We agree that defining key terms and integrating them into our work and guiding documents will better define the relationship between behavioral health and the broader agency goal of "better health." OHA agrees that we need to revisit our Performance Outcome system and strengthen the behavioral health linkages to the high-level goal of "Better Health." We will engage consumers and other stakeholders in the development of the definitions. With the vetted definitions, we will review our contractual instruments to incorporate the definitions. We will also identify OARs where these definitions need to be clarified and begin rulemaking to incorporate these changes. Finally, we will review Oregon Revised Statutes (ORS) and create legislative concepts that include these definitions as well as other needed changes identified during the strategic planning processes. We will engage a broad array of stakeholders and partners to integrate the definitions into the governance and delivery systems. OHA will craft legislative concepts, rule revisions and contract changes to ensure consistency of terms and definitions used across all ORSs, OARs, procedures, and contract instruments.

  Inequity issues: We must articulate the most basic element of our strategic vision for behavioral health, or the concept of mental health will remain invisible. Without that common understanding, consumers won't be able to find connections to the services they need, and stakeholders won't be able to effectively advocate for needed changes to the system.

Consumer voice: Acknowledging that mental health is an integral part of health is a trauma-informed action that will support co-creation of solutions with consumers. Definitions should center on the consumers and their experiences and emphasize that each individual defines what constitutes mental well-being. Co-creating definitions will support a responsive and meaningful system.

Work underway: OHA staff are familiar with consolidating and synthesizing definitions. During the recent development of Oregon Health Plan coordinated care organization contracts (CCO 2.0), we focused on using consistent definitions in the CCO contracts and OARs. This process has been completed for OAR Chapter 410, and additional work is needed on Chapter 309. OHA is also aiming to provide consistent definitions in its work on County Financial Assistance Agreements.

Challenges: Clear definitions will provide the foundation for all of OHA's behavioral health work. Incorporating these definitions into all statutory references, Oregon Administrative Rules (OAR) and contracts will help to prevent the fragmentation that can result from decentralized administration. If everyone is working from the same definitions, expectations will be clearer, and accountability will be easier to institute. That said, it will be complex and time-consuming.

Agency needs: OHA will need support and agreement from stakeholders as we develop definitions. Additionally, each governance document or protocol requires specific procedural actions that may require additional champions. Statutory change may be necessary. The support of legislative leadership will be key.

Timeline*: Development of the definitions can begin during the next strategic planning phase, as envisioned in Recommendation #1. Implementing changes to governance documents will* require calendaring and coordination with contracting, rulemaking and legislative cycles. Target completion of this recommendation is December 31, 2021.

Update: In his 2019 message on Health Equity, The OHA Director defined health as "a positive state of physical, mental, and social well-being and not merely the absence of disease." Additionally, HB 3046 (2021) provided a definition of mental health treatment and services as "the treatment or services provided to address any condition or disorder that falls under any of the diagnostic categories listed in the mental health disorders section of the current edition of the a) International Classification of Disease; or b) Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders."

In updates to Oregon Administrative Rule and ORS, terms are being addressed and edited over time. Efforts to achieve this goal have been slowed by the COVID-19 pandemic, which stretched resources across OHA. These efforts are ongoing and staff within OHA are monitoring for this issue as any rule changes are considered.

OHA has a process in place to integrate terms into all plans and contracts and is in the process of doing so. Legislative action has not been proposed yet, but OHA would like to do so pending leadership changes.

- Recommend Oregon Health Authority work with the Oregon Health Policy Board and Legislature to review effectiveness and role of councils, commissions, and other advisory boards. Bodies identified as not essential should be considered for dissolution or revised in function.

  Management Response: As the audit report demonstrates, many councils, commissions and advisory boards provide guidance for the delivery of behavioral health services in Oregon. OHA and the behavioral health system have a long tradition of seeking broad-based input and advocacy.

  Additionally, various system funders, including the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services and the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, and the Oregon Legislature, have mandated many of the formal advisory bodies. Currently, there are at least 42 of these types of groups established to advise OHA about the behavioral health system. This is an unwieldly number of councils to support, and the important input provided by each group often gets overwhelmed and difficult to hear or extract. OHA agrees with the recommendation that the functions, overlaps and effectiveness of these advisory bodies should be evaluated and addressed.

When the Behavioral Health Director was appointed in April 2019, he quickly realized that he would be unable to devote the hours needed to actively engage with every advisory board within his purview. To prepare for the Governor's Behavioral Health Advisory Council, OHA staff began to identify all the formal and informal boards, commissions and groups advising the Behavioral Health Director. Most of that work is complete. To ensure that consumers and underserved communities are centered, the Office of Consumer Activities Director has taken lead in analyzing the information. Conversations have also been started with several of the advisory groups regarding the question raised in this recommendation.

Inequity issues: Membership and representation on these advisory groups is often pre-defined by statute and other processes. The groups typically include medical professionals, business executives and other professional-level staff, sometimes combined with other representatives such as family members or consumers. Meetings are generally conducted in English and take place on weekdays in state office buildings. This systematically excludes the voices of unserved and underserved people. In addition, some of the same people fill roles in several groups, which creates less diverse representation. The sheer volume of advisory groups also means that the individual issues identified by any one advisory group or group member may not receive full and meaningful attention from OHA leadership.

Consumer voice: OHA will evaluate how each group prioritizes consumer voices and ensure that we are providing the proper, trauma-informed spaces to co-create solutions that are simple, responsive and meaningful as we consider next steps with each council.

Work underway: Instead of identifying groups as nonessential, the Behavioral Health Director is taking a holistic look at the groups, their makeup and their missions and how they relate to one another. He is evaluating methods to engage behavioral health stakeholders as a whole and gather information and feedback from them. The goal is to find more efficient ways to synthesize the information and make it available for multiple purposes, including strategic planning, budgeting, troubleshooting, advocacy, and service delivery system improvements. Along the way, OHA is also asking who does not currently have a seat at the table and how to engage those voices.

Challenges: Deciding whether to disband or disengage with an advisory body is a difficult one. Understanding the history and needs of each advisory body is critical to deciding how to make it function better or whether to incorporate it into another advisory body or disband it altogether. Allthese advisors have been convened for legitimate purposes, so it's imperative to understand the implications of changes to the function of those groups.

Because of the decentralized and fragmented system that currently exists, this multitude of advisory councils is duplicated on every level. Community Mental Health Programs and CCOs and providers all have requirements for advisors at the local level. Often those requirements are prescribed by funders and the legislature. At any level of the system, when advisors convene with the primary goal of meeting a contract or funder requirement, we do not see engagement at the levels intended when those advisory boards were imagined and required.

Agency needs: OHA needs the groups' membership and stakeholders to understand the goal of the work: to have a better coordinated slate of advisory groups whose voices are heard. We will prioritizethis work with a focus on culturally responsive, consumer-centered input.

Timeline: This work has already begun and will continue throughout the current and next biennium. Initially, work will focus on providing a trauma-informed avenue for effective input from consumers and underserved communities and be completed by July 1, 2021.

Update*: Since the publishing of the audit report, OHA has created a new unit within Health Services Division titled the Office of Recovery and Resilience. This unit is charged with coordination of community feedback and participation in OHA councils, policy work, and strategic planning. As OHA embraces the strategic goal to eliminated health inequity in our state by 2030, community voice is* seen as more important than ever. The Office of Recovery and Resilience is working to streamline meetings where possible, but also to broaden community input and empower individuals with lived experience to be part of discussions and decision-making.

A comprehensive list of councils, commissions, and advisory boards has been compiled. Many of these are legislatively required and OHA is not able to make independent changes to these committees and councils. However, the Office of Recovery and Resilience is working to expand the communities involved, and to educate a broader group in ways to participate in these meetings. This work will continue as OHA continues to embrace health equity and the value of lived experience.

- Recommend using the existing stakeholder map presented to Legislature on November 18, 2019, to develop and document a process for maintaining regular stakeholder input. Once the plan for receiving input has been established, it should be communicated across the stakeholder spectrum to ensure coordination.

  Management Response: As this recommendation points out, OHA has a starting point for compiling information about the formal advisory channels in place. We are building on that list of stakeholder partners. We have significant work left to do to create input channels for the list of stakeholder partners – and partners who may not yet be on the list.

  Inequity issues: The November 18, 2019, stakeholder map is the compilation of formal stakeholder input channels as of that date. OHA continues to identify and implement new methods for reaching unserved and underserved populations. The COVID-19 emergency has helped OHA better understand and improve communications with key stakeholders who have been historically and systematically underserved. Developing and documenting a process for regular stakeholder input will require flexibility and adaptation as we become more skilled at hearing and centering the voices of those who need or receive service.

Consumer voice: OHA must create trauma-informed avenues that support consumer input to OHA and throughout the service delivery system so that we are able to co-create solutions to complex system issues.

Work underway: Since that initial list was created, OHA and the behavioral health system have shifted focus to the COVID-19 response. In that shift, we have developed more insight into the needs of stakeholders, including those who currently receive services, those who need service, providers of service, funders, and system managers. We have been forced to get creative about stakeholder engagement, which has introduced us to new ways to engage with the community and put us in touch with new people.

Challenges: Stakeholder input is critical at all levels of the system, and different groups need to be engaged with in different ways. Additionally, processes are evolving as we learn and implement trauma-informed approaches to working with various stakeholders and groups. The volume, complexity and ever-changing needs have made documenting and communicating across the spectrum challenging.

Also, because the system is locally driven and delivered, stakeholder input from all levels of the system and at all levels of the system is critical. This creates the need for a well-functioning web of interrelated communication channels.

Agency needs: The more we learn from each stakeholder group about the most responsive ways to engage with them, the more effective our communications will be. Communicating across the stakeholder spectrum will require attention, interest and patience from each stakeholder group.

Timeline: This work has begun. Anticipated completion is July 1, 2021.

Update: Since the publishing of the audit report, OHA has created a new unit within Health Services Division titled the Office of Recovery and Resilience. This unit is charged with coordination of community feedback and participation in OHA councils, policy work, and strategic planning. As OHA embraces the strategic goal to eliminated health inequity in our state by 2030, community voice is seen as more important than ever. The Office of Recovery and Resilience is working to streamline meetings where possible, but also to broaden community input and empower individuals with lived experience to be part of discussions and decision-making.

A comprehensive list of councils, commissions, and advisory boards has been compiled. Many of these are legislatively required and OHA is not able to make independent changes to these committees and councils. However, the Office of Recovery and Resilience is working to expand the communities involved, and to educate a broader group in ways to participate in these meetings. This work will continue as OHA continues to embrace health equity and the value of lived experience.

- Recommend Oregon Health Authority update outdated policies and procedures that refer to divisions that no longer exist within the agency, such as Addictions and Mental Health, and update all outdated policies, (s)procedures, and evidence-based practice guidelines.

  Management Response: OHA agrees that imprecise information in the regulatory documents creates confusion at all levels and must be updated. OHA sees a need for a comprehensive review of definitions and consistencies across policies and procedures, contractual instruments, OARs and ORS. We have been working to align terminology across OARs, CCO contracts and County Financial Assistance Agreements. As opportunities arise, staff are poised to update other documentation for consistency.

  Inequity issues: Consistency in regulatory information is needed so that people can trust and understand how the various systems work and can be accessed. The system needs to be free of unwritten rules and informal processes, otherwise people who don't know how to navigate these informal channels cannot get access.

  Consumer voice: Updating and cleaning up regulatory documents is a basic starting point to the process of simplifying the behavioral health service system. With access to accurate and up-to-date information on policies, procedures, and other guidelines, service users will be better positioned to make informed decisions about their care and advocate for their own needs.

Work underway: The Office of Behavioral Health Services was recently reorganized. In that restructure, a Behavioral Health Operations Division has been created that has assumed responsibility for this work.

Challenges: OHA is a large agency with multiple programs and rules supported by a biennial budget exceeding $23 billion. Statutes, rules, procedures, and contractual instruments change frequently, and the processes that support those changes often have long lead times. Keeping all governance documents aligned requires constant attention, with staff particularly focused on that alignment. OHA is working to improve internal processes to better recognize opportunities to include consistency updates across governance documents. Inconsistencies in policies and procedures and evidence-based practice guidelines make it difficult to establish transparency and accountability in a decentralized system.

Agency needs: Changes to statutes and rules require open, public process, so OHA would need participation from stakeholders to ensure that changes fully reflect the needs of stakeholders.

Timeline: This work will begin immediately, and initial work will be completed by the end of the biennium, June 30, 2021.

Update: This work was delayed due to staffing resource assignment to pandemic response. However, OHA has assigned staff within the Health Services Division to search policies, procedures, and rules for outdated terms in need of update. A list will be compiled and addressed as a comprehensive process over upcoming months. Rules Coordinators are aware of this need and are monitoring for any language updates needed as part of the standard rule updates.

- Recommend Oregon Health Authority identify data gaps that prevent the tracking of behavioral health performance measures and:

1. Once identified, develop a plan for addressing the gaps, and communicate the plan and its results to appropriate bodies.

2. Define benchmarks for children's mental health service performance measures tied to goals and document the methodology used to track the measures with appropriate data.

Management Response: OHA appreciates that this audit highlights the need we have for a defined set of outcomes and goals. Outcomes are best defined as part of a comprehensive strategic plan, which is currently underway. Once the strategic plan is in place. This in turn will help us better define the needs we have in data collection and administrative data sets used to collect data. But to fully achieve this and several other recommendations, we must secure funding to continue the COMPASS Modernization Project.

Inequity issues: We will continue to work to implement data systems that match REAL-D (race, ethnicity, language and disability) data requirements, which are comprehensive. As we work to achieve this goal, it will allow us to better understand and identify inequities and differences associated with underserved populations in Oregon.

Consumer voice: Historically, OHA has selected performance measures based on the availability of data from legacy systems. As noted above, this is a poor approach and will be corrected by defining and comprehensive strategic approach to services and using that to define need outcomes to measure progress. For this to be a success, we must engage with consumers and other advocates.

Work underway: While OHA does need to define an overall strategy to attach outcomes, we have consulted with national children's System of Care expert Liz Manley. Manley was the chief architect behind the New Jersey System of Care mentioned in this audit report. She will help us define targeted outcomes so we can begin to create meaningful outcome reports. Additionally, as a result of 2019's Senate Bill 1, OHA, Oregon Youth Authority, and Oregon's Department of Human Services are teaming up to create a children's focused data dashboard.

OHA will incorporate this work into an overarching data collection and outcome process that is inclusive of all the populations served and integrates the work overseen by OHA in the behavioral health system.

At the foundation of our work to improve our data capabilities is the COMPASS Modernization Project. As we reported in our response to our internal audit in December 2019, the behavioral health system has long struggled with data issues. In 2014, the primary legacy system for tracking community behavioral health systems was replaced by the system now in use, Measures and Outcomes Tracking System (MOTS). Due to budget constraints, the MOTS system that was implemented was a truncated version of what was actually needed. Implementation and data quality issues have plagued the system. As a result, OHA submitted a Policy Option Package for the 2019-2021 budget to replace MOTS. The Legislature approved funding sufficient for the planning phase of the COMPASS Modernization Project. Additional phases will require coordination across all OHA and DHS data initiatives and legislative approval and funding. In the meantime, behavioral health managers have deployed various desktop tools or relied on contracted studies and data collection to assist in managing data for key components of the behavioral health system.

Behavioral health and substance use disorder data is currently underreported by providers due to the outdated, fragmented processes and systems; under-analysis and utilization of the data by the agency is due in part to underreporting and in part to system age and fragmentation. The agency cannot adequately utilize data for required reporting or for analytical purposes that would better promote the Triple Aim.

The COMPASS redesign provides OHA with an opportunity to examine and update business processes and better align to the agency's vision and the continuity of care model. Part of this business process alignment will include the standardization of data fields, validation of business data needs, an evaluation of partner needs, and an analysis of desired inputs and outputs. OHA has the chance to reduce silos and begin integrating data from Managed Care Entities (Coordinated Care Organizations or CCOs) into the behavioral health service delivery model.

The objectives of Compass modernization:

1. A data collection system to evaluate more timely, appropriate, cost-effective services for Oregonians.
2. Reduce the administrative burden on providers and improve care coordination.
3. Streamline and update business processes for collection, analysis, and reporting of information.
4. Improve the standardization of behavioral health data.
5. Collect data to increase the agency's ability to measure and report on behavioral health outcomes.
6. Implement a solution that includes data elements necessary for tracking outcomes and providing data for a 360-degree view of the client.
7. Establish a platform that can be easily modifiable and expanded to meet evolving needs.
8. Provide more accurate and robust data for SAMHSA and Block Grant reporting.
9. Reduce use of Excel and paper surveys and improve the data collection efficiency.
10. Enable analysis of program approaches and resource allocation efficacy.

In addition, the resulting system will conform to all standard Privacy and Security requirements.

In addition to work on the underlying data infrastructure, in 2018, OHA implemented the Performance System. This system is about organizational alignment across all agency divisions. The agency identified outcome measures that are quantifiable indicators of the agency's overall performance. Process measures were then created to assess the progress of the work that supports our customers and functions in the organization. Cross-functional collaboration and engagement allows teams with different functions to move toward the same goals. The performance system is data-driven, telling us how our processes are doing. Health Systems Division units are creating metrics for their work, measuring their processes to understand current conditions and setting goals for short and long-term continuous improvement. All units are creating dashboards for essential and priority work. At the quarterly performance reviews, measure owners share the current condition of their unit dashboard, process measures, improvements, and quarterly goals. The agency-wide quarterly performance reviews focus on shared goals and outcomes. Strategic planning recommendations influence the measures highlighted at the agency-wide reviews.

Challenges: OHA relies on what is currently a decentralized and fragmented system to provide quality data inputs. Providers and subcontractors have varying capabilities and challenges when it comes to synthesizing local data and feeding it into the state-level collection systems. OHA will need to simplify and focus its data-gathering efforts to allow for a comprehensive view of the system envisioned by its strategic plan while keeping the administrative burden on the providers to a minimum. This will be a difficult but important task.

Agency needs: To implement the data system development needed to support this recommendation, OHA and OHA/DHS Shared Services will require ongoing state and federal funding support. Additionally, OHA's data needs require staffing and prioritization within Shared Services.

Timeline: Work is underway and will continue for at least the following two biennia. Planning and benchmarking to be completed by June 30, 2023.

Update: The Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit worked extensively with community partners to identify key indicators of youth mental health and coordinated with Health Policy and Analytics to compile data and create a Unit dashboard for inclusion on the CFBH internet page for internal and public use. Some concerns are ongoing related to reporting from counties and CCO's, and CFBH leadership is coordinating with other parts of the HSD team to address these issues through contracting, CFAA updates, and CCO accountability. However, even though these efforts, many reporting requirements have been suspended during the Covid-19 pandemic to help alleviate administrative burden on counties and provider agencies. The CFBH Unit will provide information as it becomes increasingly available and is committed to being data driven as access to data improves.

- Recommend Oregon Health Authority develop and deliver a proposal to request additional resources for a data analyst within the Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit.

  Management Response: OHA appreciates how this audit highlights the critical need for quality data and meaningful analysis. The audit further highlights the challenges OHA faces when attempting to identify and support staff skilled in the multiple areas needed to do this work well. While this recommendation is one way to achieve the goal, OHA may need to explore alternative solutions.

  Inequity issues: As this audit report points out, OHA's current analytic capabilities are limited. As such, we often lack information about unserved and underserved populations, systemic racism, and outcomes related to service delivery or lack of service.

  Consumer voice: OHA must have staff who are able to engage with children and families and direct the analytical questions posed to the data systems. Those staff must also be well-versed in the underlying data that supports needed analyses and have the technology skills to be able to extract and interpret data appropriately.

  Work underway: Regardless of whether OHA can pursue additional resources, we are determining how to integrate analytical functions into the functions of multiple positions in the Office of Behavioral Health. Recent reorganization of the office creates a specific unit with focus on Medicaid, Policy and Analytics.

  Longer term, through the COMPASS initiative, we are also looking at newer types of technology and platforms such as Behavioral Health Data Warehousing and the cloud to identify methods to get more accessibility to system data.

  Challenges: OHA and other state agencies now face significant budget challenges. Considering those constraints, it is not prudent to expect to receive funding for additional administrative staff. We will likely need to develop an alternative method to meet the goals of this recommendation.

This audit reveals that the decentralized and fragmented system creates real challenges when it comesto understanding all the complex program and data interrelationships. These issues are further exacerbated by confidentiality and identification issues that create real barriers to data sharing.

Recruiting, training, supporting and supervising staff who have information technology skills coupledwith multi-system program understanding would be difficult regardless of where staff sit in the organizational structure.

Timeline: The work of enhancing the analytic functions within the Office of Behavioral Health Services has begun and will include submission of a proposal for an analyst position by June 30, 2021.*

Update: A proposal for an additional data analyst was delivered, and funding for an additional dedicated position for the CFBH Unit was authorized through HB 2086 (2021). The position was posted in November 2021 and interviews were held in December; it is hoped that this position will be hired early in 2022.*

- Recommend OHA leverage data analysts in the Health Policy and Analytics Division and resources in the Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit to determine the extent to which Medicaid claims data can be used to accurately identify and track the number of children receiving mental health services statewide and outcomes.

  Management Response: Even considering the data and analytical challenges described in this audit, OHA does have a wealth of information available through the Medicaid Management Information System (MMIS). OHA agrees that we can do more to extract and analyze data from the Medicaid system to make assessments about how many children are receiving services and their health outcomes. In consultation with national children System of* Care experts Liz Manley and Shelia Pires, OHA staff are working on a project to determine what Medicaid claims data can be used to identify and track children receiving mental health services statewide and define targeted outcomes. This project work will overlap with the Senate Bill 1 data dashboard project team (DHS/OHA/OYA) and the work that is currently underway.

Inequity issues: Through regular review of information about service delivery, we can begin identifying patterns in service utilization. These patterns can serve as proxies that will bring us closer to understanding inequities faced by certain children and families in Oregon.

Consumer voice: As we identify service patterns and outcomes, children and families will be equipped with information to help us co-create system solutions and identify trauma indicators.

Challenges: We will continue to face challenges with the massive scale of the data that is submitted through a centralized and fragmented system. All conclusions must be considered carefully as there are many nuances to the data. Developing careful understandings about how the data was extracted and for what purpose is significant to interpreting results. Also, the sheer size of MMIS, coupled with the data submission rules that must allow adequate time for service providers to submit and time for correction mean that the data system is fluid and subject to change well after the dates of service.

Update: This work is ongoing but is being delayed due to reporting pauses as part of the Covid-19 support for CMHP's. Additional data analysis support within HPA will help make this work possible when reporting resumes.

- Recommend OHA formalize agreements with DHS to help assess the ongoing needs for intensive mental health treatment services statewide and track performance measures of mental health services for children by foster care status.

Management Response: This audit report appropriately highlights the critical relationships between OHA and DHS in supporting the needs of children in foster care. Oregon's System of Care partners are guided by the vision that children can be at home, in school and in their community because they receive the right services, at the right time and for the right duration.

OHA and DHS are working together on a project that will identify and prioritize cross-system interventions to better serve children in foster care and children and families in Oregon. This project will address access, Medicaid services, eligibility, and capacity-building.

Inequity issues: OHA agrees with the audit report's conclusions that without behavioral health performance measures for children in foster care, we risk perpetuating programs and levels of care that are not culturally and linguistically responsive, may be of low quality and may not meet the needs of the children who receive treatment.*

Additionally, as the audit report highlights, OHA's mechanism for tracking children's intensive service capacity has not worked as intended, and data resulting from it is incomplete. This limits our ability to see inequity in access and identify the barriers children and families are experiencing.

Consumer voice: In collaboration with youth and families, OHA and DHS must together support a system that meets the behavioral health service needs of children in foster care. Too many times, children and their families, especially children being served in foster care, have struggled to access services in a system that is difficult to navigate, non-responsive to their needs, that forces them to endure long waitlists for intensive services, and that too often results in inappropriate placements and emergency room use for behavioral health intervention. OHA and DHS must work with system users to co-create solutions to these and other challenges.*

Work underway: OHA and DHS have a combined Psychiatric Residential Treatment Services (PRTS) Capacity Building Project that will create a needs assessment and develop strategies to build and monitor this intensive level of behavioral health capacity. OHA has drafted a POP for the 2021 Legislative Session requesting funds to expand this capacity. To date OHA has* developed seven new PRTS beds and continues to work with existing and new providers to increase capacity at this level of care.

OHA and DHS have committed to:

- Engage PRTS providers, CCOs and commercial insurance carriers to identify future state options for Oregon recognizing collective resources and knowledge.
- Identify start-up funds needed to help offset one-time costs for developing additional capacity.
- Develop programmatic and policy change recommendations that would encourage and support capacity development and operational sustainability.
- Track provider outcomes and ongoing system capacity needs.
- Review current services with an equity lens and make recommendations to ensure culturally specific service delivery is occurring.
- Explore funding models to ensure capacity is available when needed
- Coordinate with the System of Care Advisory Council with an analysis of the current continuum of care and develop long-term recommendations for the appropriate settings needed in Oregon.

DHS and OHA are developing recommendations by December 31, 2020, for capacity, policy changes and budget to adequately build a service array for children specifically served by the child welfare system.

In addition, OHA, DHS, and the Oregon Youth Authority (OYA) are building a Children's System of Care Data Dashboard that will show the continuums of care in OYA, Child Welfare and Behavioral Health and how they overlap for children. Dashboard elements will include utilization, youth involved with multiple systems, and much more to inform policy and program development moving forward.

OHA and DHS will be working together with the System of Care Advisory Council and national experts to define performance and outcome measures to be tracked to support and monitor the children's continuum of care.

Rates were increased for PRTS and Subacute Service on July 1, 2019. The intent of the rate increases was to support the current provider network and potentially attract new providers to the system.

Challenges: As this audit highlights, OHA and DHS have faced many challenges in getting to this point. Some of the barriers to success include:*

- Crises and lawsuits driving system and policy focus rather than data and outcomes;
- Inadequate staffing and financial resources to support and focus on this work;
- We have not yet identified the specific outcomes to measure;
- As the audit points out, the capacity tracking system has not worked as envisioned;
- Development of inpatient care can be expensive and takes time;
- Need for additional financial investment into the Children's System of Care;
- Lack of funding appropriated to capacity retention and expansion (especially for inpatient levels of care;
- Children's service capacity development has been reactive and happening separately (Behavioral Health, Foster Care, Behavioral Rehabilitation Services);
- CCOs are responsible to ensure the provision of children's behavioral health services. This has led to confusion about which organizations maintain lead responsibility for capacity management and expansion, especially for statewide services such as Psychiatric Residential Treatment Services;
- Minimal demographic data in the MMIS system to support racial equity evaluation.

The children's behavioral health system is decentralized and locally managed through the CCO model. While OARs give some structure to the services, the infrastructure does not support the notion of "no wrong door" for children and families needing to access care. This is especially challenging for children in foster care who are supported by case workers and system partners throughout the state, navigating 15 different continuums of care with different access points.

Agency needs: To successfully and systematically monitor performance measures of mental health services by foster care status, OHA and ODHS would benefit from support from the Oregon Enterprise Data Analytics (OEDA) unit. The 2015 Oregon Legislature created the OEDA unit to conduct inter-agency research. The legislation encouraged the expansion of data-informed decisions throughout state government. The research analysts, economists, and information technology positions work among agencies to translate data into information; that information promotes data-informed decisions and improves outcomes for children and families. OEDA uses advanced analytics with human service organizations, health organizations, public health organizations, corrections, the courts, employment, housing, and education. The current projects include use of predictive analytics for health risk, identifying nongraduates during elementary school, differentiating Self-Sufficiency client groups to better serve the highest risk families, developing staff engagement surveys to recognize staff most likely to leave ODHS, algorithms identifying children at risk for temporary lodging and out-of-state placement, and developing data sharing agreements among agencies.*

OHA staff from the Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit will reach out to OEDA to determine what support may be available to help implement this audit recommendation.

Timeline: Work is underway and will continue through 2021.*

Update: Intra-Agency meetings have been held to review the direction for this formalized agreement, and an agreement has been drafted. It is anticipated that the agreement will be finalized by March 2022.*

- Recommend OHA develop and document shared guidance on the methodology that will be used to track performance measures and communicate that to all stakeholders, including CCOs and providers.

Management response: OHA agrees that clear communications and guidance are critical as we seek to improve transparency about the methods that support our performance measures. We will continue to move forward with the CCO Compliance Project described below and refine our measures in the OHA Performance System.

Inequity issues: Shared understandings about how systems will be evaluated improve transparency and accountability. This frees us to ask probing questions about the meaning of performance results. Understanding and communicating underlying methodologies allows advocates to highlight systemic barriers and racism inherent in those methodologies. Without the option to evaluate those methods, stakeholders and decision makers may have differing interpretations of the results.

Consumer voice: OHA believes that this recommended guidance will provide consumers, children and families with helpful information about how well our measures reveal whether the system is simple, responsive and meaningful. Understanding exactly what is being tracked and why, and knowing that key stakeholders have the same understanding, provides consumers and families with tools needed to ensure transparency and accountability. Also, to the extent the guidance reveals inadequate measures, consumers and families will be in a stronger position to advocate for system improvements.

Work underway: OHA has been working on several initiatives that relate to this audit recommendation. We are working on what we call the CCO Compliance Project, which addresses this recommendation across all CCO requirements. We developed a standard process for submission of CCO deliverables. We have a framework to track each deliverable for each CCO based on a variety of factors, including timely submission, level of completion and an evaluation of quality. We still have work to do to refine and finalize this work, and ultimately work is needed to effectively communicate it with stakeholders.

This audit report also alludes to the OHA Performance System that we have been building for the department. This has been a multi-phase, cross-departmental effort and is described in a previous response. We continue to refine the measures and reporting. For the programs within Health Systems Division, including Medicaid and Behavioral Health, managers meet quarterly to review progress in establishing measures and evaluating performance. We still have work to do to finalize the performance measures and to communicate to stakeholders.

Challenges: To make a meaningful assessment of whether people are receiving services that are timely, meaningful, and responsive performance and outcomes must be measured from various vantage points. Data-sharing across agencies is often useful in helping determine the performance of our system. At the same time, some data, if used incorrectly, can be incriminating. Much of that data is managed by other agencies that are governed by strict data confidentiality rules. Also, there are technical challenges inherent in matching disparate data sets. Some service systems collect data for different purposes than OHA does, so matching information is structurally complicated. Oregon does not have a Master Client Index that allows us to follow the services people and families receive, and there are ethical considerations when evaluating outcomes across systems.

The current decentralized, fragmented system means that there will be multiple areas for which performance measure guidance will need to be developed, documented and shared. OHA is currently responsible to administer multiple performance measure systems. Communicating the underlying methodologies to key stakeholders can be confusing without adequate synthesis and interpretation.

Agency needs: To best implement this recommendation, OHA would need data-sharing agreements with other agencies, plus the underlying technical support from their staffs to extract and share information with us. Additionally, the COMPASS Modernization Project described earlier in this response is key to success with this recommendation. If that project is not funded, OHA will continue to struggle with the most basic data issues. Even if it is funded, OHA and our system partners will have a great deal of work to do to resolve deeply rooted, systemic data challenges.

Timeline: Work has been underway and continues to be refined by OHA staff. Anticipated completion date is December 31, 2021.

Update: HB 2086 (2021) provided direction for a Behavioral Health Metrics Committee, which has been formed with a diverse group of community partners and individuals with lived experience. This group is completing recommendations for appropriate metrics for behavioral health services. While much of this work is aimed at adult services, the CFBH team is coordinating efforts to align efforts across the lifespan.

A team within HSD has been assigned to this body of work, and several staff have been hired to lead the efforts. Performance measures are written into the CCO 2.0 contracts, and accountability for CCO entities includes reporting, grievance monitoring, coordination within HSD to determine CCO compliance with contracted requirements. Health equity is an essential part of this work, and OHA is closely monitoring CCO actions to address health equity in their regions, including equitable distribution of resources, tracking of REAL-D information for members, community input into services, and maintaining a robust system of care.

The CFBH team has developed a roadmap including primary data indicators for both national and state benchmarks and outcomes.

- Recommend OHA clarify expectations for reporting through a robust set of instructions, similar to the technical manual provided by Washington's Health Care Authority.

Management Response*: OHA respects that clear expectations are important. While on its face, this recommendation would seem straightforward, there are differences between how the Oregon Health Plan is structured and how Washington State's Medicaid Program operates. OHA does not believe that this recommendation can be implemented as written. However, OHA does agree that we must continue to improve and clarify our written guidance, contract language, reporting requirements, and data submission instructions throughout the system.*

The Oregon Health Plan Behavioral Health covered benefit is detailed on a prioritized list of conditions paired with effective treatments. Oregon's CCO model requires CCOs to understand the communities they serve and to tailor delivery of the benefit for the community. This model means that the fine details of rates and billing code requirements are not set statewide. Details for the state's Fee-for-Service (FFS) program are in OARs and on the published FFS fee schedule. CCOs are held to account through a capitation model (encounter claims history is factored in) and metrics. The state monitors complaints of all types and follows up. There is also an audit process that monitors patterns in services and can serve as a means of accountability and quality improvement when issues are discovered.

Operationalizing the CCO 2.0 contracts will also help clarify reporting requirements inside the framework of our more flexible system.

Inequity issues: A statewide billing code standard would reinforce the inequitable status quo, which doesn't align with stated goals of our waiver with the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid. The state's current flexible model is necessary to address inequities in services unique to each community across the state. But much more work is needed in this area. The state must maintain sustained focus on identifying and eliminating differences to ensure that services as needed are available across the state. OHA must also make sure CCOs use the flexibility we give them to achieve this essential outcome.*

Consumer voice: Consumers are one step removed from this issue, but they are impacted by it. This issue is about the details of billing between providers and payers (FFS and CCOs). Consumers' interest would not be best served by a statewide billing guide. Consumer interests are best served when the state ensures their voices influence CCO policies including billing details, the policies guiding those services, and the outcomes achieved through the services and policies.*

Work underway: OHA revised the CCO contracts (CCO 2.0) to require much stronger oversight. OHA is building the team and defining the deliverables to operationalize these requirements. This work that will ensure OHP members receive quality well-coordinated behavioral health care. Some of the billing code detail is defined in the metrics. Additional details may be included as each CCO deliverable is defined with an initial focus on access to services across all populations.*

Challenges: Oregon's transformation model works to reduce fragmentation at the community and CCO level. A statewide billing code standard could interfere with this work. OHA needs to continue consolidating and creating a cohesive framework associated with Behavioral Health services. This will create direction for the system and reduce current fragmentation.

Agency needs: OHA needs sustained direction and focused resources to achieve the goals outlined.

Update: OHA does not feel that the Washington system is similar enough to Oregon's system to use the manual as a template for Oregon. However, this work is being addressed through CFAA innovation and revision, and contracted organizations will be provided with clear instructions for reporting.

- Recommend OHA develop and document a process for verifying that data submissions used to track performance measures are timely, complete, and accurate. Once documented, establish a policy for the process to hold stakeholders, including CCOs, accountable fortimely, complete, and accurate data submissions and communicate the policy to all parties.

  Management Response*: OHA agrees with a primary theme of this audit about the importance of high- quality data to support decision-making. This audit recognizes a long-standing challenge within the behavioral health system, which is lack of timely, complete and accurate data. There are legitimate systemic reasons why this is the situation, and OHA continues to work on developing the ability to find cost-effective levers that result in improvements.*

  Inequity issues: As so many of our responses have indicated, lack of timely, complete and accuratedata means we struggle to identify indicators of systemic inequity and, thus, struggle to eliminate these inequities.

  Consumer voice: Similarly, working without reliable data makes it extremely difficult to be adequatelyinformed to co-create trauma-informed system solutions with consumers and families.

Work underway: OHA has several efforts to support behavioral health agencies' ability to collect and share client-level information, which is an important part of data quality and accountability. OHA conducted an in-depth Health Information Technology (HIT) scan focusing on behavioral health needs and convenes a Behavioral Health HIT Workgroup to recommend strategies and oversee OHA's work. In particular, OHA supports adoption of certified electronic health records through federal Promoting Interoperability incentive payments and technical assistance to providers. OHA supports health information exchange efforts that have significantly increased behavioral health providers' ability to coordinate care and access information about their clients' hospitalizations and use of emergency departments. These data are critical for behavioral health providers' ability to meet OHA's expectations for performance, manage their clients proactively, and improve the quality of their care.

OHA also holds CCOs accountable through the CCO quality incentive program to address disparate use of emergency department visits for their members with serious mental illness. OHA supports CCO and behavioral health agencies in this metric by providing a flag for CCO members with serious mental illness. The goal is to let CCOs and behavioral health agencies to know, in real time, when these individuals are in the emergency department, which will help inform care management and coordination efforts. Providing this simple yet critical data enables CCOs and behavioral health agencies to act quickly to address the needs of members with mental illness – and ultimately drives outcomes that positively impact CCO metric performance.

OHA is in the midst of a substantial redesign of the underlying data systems and warehouses that support performance measures. OHA is also currently working with CCOs on the CCO Compliance Project across all CCO deliverables.

Challenges: This issue is driven by the decentralized and fragmented system. Providers regularly struggle with data-reporting requirements. Much of that struggle is the result of conflicts between local electronic systems and OHA's complex information technology requirements. Some of it is driven by needs for various data elements to meet billing requirements versus licensing requirements versus clinical requirements. Some is driven by accounting requirements.

Timeline: OHA has begun this work and will continue to make improvements in data monitoring processes. Improved technology will be an essential in making data collection, analysis and reporting feasible in ways it isn't currently. Anticipated completion of June 20, 2023, but dependent on anticipated technology enhancements.

Update: Efforts to address data submission have been delayed due to the Covid-19 pandemic due to workforce shortages across the sector. Reporting has been paused for most entities to reduce administrative burden for providers. However, OHA remains committed to accountability across the system, and is working to revise and expand data expectations across the system.

A CFAA Revision framework is underway, including discussions with county representatives, community input, and streamlining CCO and County contracting. These revisions will include accountability standards for data submissions and sustainably maintaining data submission requirements over time.

- Recommend OHA collaborate with System of Care stakeholders to perform a systemwide needs assessment for the children and family continuum of care, including: Wraparound, secure inpatient, residential, and intensive support.

  Management Response: A 2017 OHA/DHA Continuum of Care Project explored recommendations to support the child serving systems. The recommendations were supported by extensive stakeholder engagement and feedback. The three selected projects included: State System of Care Infrastructure Implementation, Trauma Informed State Agencies and Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities- Mental Health (IDD/MH) Improvements and Capacity. Many objectives have been completed, including the work through Senate Bill 1 and both OHA and DHS developing Trauma Policies. This work continues.

In March 2019, the Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit developed a vision that will be used to launch the statewide needs assessment recommended here. Staff have reviewed and summarized previous needs assessments, audits and reports and are incorporating that work into the ongoing vision and policy direction.

Inequity issues: Oregon lacks a full spectrum of mental health supports that meet youth and family's needs in a culturally responsive manner across Oregon's Black, Indigenous and People of Color (BIPOC) communities. Many of Oregon's nine federally recognized tribal members remain on Open Card OHP benefit that provides them less access to providers and services, including Wraparound for children and families. This inequity impacts Latinx and immigrant communities getting access to a continuum of care that meets their cultural and linguistic needs. When conducting the needs assessment, it will be essential to engage with individuals from these communities to identify needs and challenges and co- create culturally responsive solutions.

Oregon also struggles to provide a continuum of care in rural, frontier and urban areas of the state. Mental health promotion and prevention efforts have historically been limited statewide. Higher-level care options are mostly in urban areas, while rural and frontier communities do not have access to needed services and supports. A more specific inquiry into how social determinants of health is impacting children's behavioral health supports, and how that can be alleviated, is warranted.

Consumer voice: To adequately and accurately conduct a needs assessment across the continuum of care, it is essential to center the voices and experiences of youth and families. This approach is especially critical when identifying the needs of historically marginalized or underserved communities, including those who are Black, Indigenous, or other people of color, and Oregon's rural and frontier communities. Meaningful consumer participation will be prioritized throughout the needs assessment process.

Work underway: The outcome of the work outlined above will guide the work of the Child and Family Behavioral Health Unit's five-year plan.

In the 2019 session, funds were allocated to support the development of Intensive In-Home Behavioral Health Treatment (IIBHT) services. These critical services help alleviate many of the concerns addressed in this audit, including bridging the gap between emergency room use and the need for intensive services that do not require a psychiatric residential treatment level of care. IIBHT offers support in the home to children/youth and their families. A framework for the implementation of these services has been created: OARs have been filed, stakeholder engagement has been sought, a series of webinars for potential providers have been conducted, funding mechanisms are established.

Much of the related work has been outlined in other responses, and in addition, OHA and DHS are working with the Governor's Children's Cabinet and participating in a subcommittee with members of the Statewide Child Welfare Oversight Board to develop and manage a workplan to ensure the integration of new service development with an efficient and comprehensive system of care for children. Also, OHA is supporting DHS's Family First Prevention Services Act by implementing new requirements for Qualified Residential Treatment Programs (QRTPs) and prevention models.

Challenges: Child-serving systems, service providers, and families and youth recognize that Oregon lacks a fully coordinated, effective network of services to support Oregon's more than 2 million children. More than 20,000 of these children are being served by multiple systems. The Governor and Legislature have established several initiatives to address this system challenge, including the Children and Youth with Specialized Needs Workgroup (2018), the Governor's Behavioral Health Advisory Council (2019–2020) and the statewide System of Care Advisory Council (Senate Bill 1, 2019).*

National best practice for System of Care shows early intervention for children's behavioral health crises is a cornerstone of a strong, effective System of Care. Oregon's current service array does not support early intervention, nor does it adequately serve young people and families when they are in crisis or after they have stabilized. Additionally, there is a lack of cross-system collaboration, flexibility and responsiveness, which results in avoidable crises and inappropriate placements, including for children involved with child welfare. The current system lacks a clear delineation of roles, responsibilities and accountability around emerging and urgent issues for children and families experiencing intensive behavioral health needs and has neither the capacity nor a sustainable funding structure, to keep them in a family setting and in school.

The services and supports for youth that are involved in child-serving systems span a broad range dependent upon CCO and local county capacity. For youth with complex mental health needs involved in child-serving systems, CCOs provide Wraparound and Intensive Care Coordination; however, these coordination models do not provide direct access and coordination to other child-serving systems. Thus, barriers still exist for children and youth with complex needs. This often means that the system is reactive to children and families rather than proactive and responsive.

Oregon lacks sufficient community-based services and placements, and emergency rooms may be boarding youth with mental health issues who do not have access to treatment, or for some, a place to live. Families are navigating a service array that is inconsistently available, with waitlists for psychiatric residential treatment services, medication management and outpatient services. It often does not consistently include respite, peer delivered services, or child-focused mobile crisis response and stabilization. Mobile crisis response is extremely limited in Oregon and could alleviate cross-system barriers by providing timely identification and contributing to co-created solutions in a manner similar to that accomplished by New Jersey.

Agency needs: OHA needs:

- Increased opportunities for meaningful youth and family involvement and consumer co-creation.
- Partnership with the other child-serving agencies to complete a full system wide needs assessment to ensure impact and feedback includes school, juvenile justice, child welfare and intellectual and developmental disabilities.
- Continued national consultation to determine the right questions to ask our communities to get at system level structure and policy changes needed. A targeted look at racial equity across the current mental health continuum of care needs to be conducted and documented.

- Support from CCOs and outpatient providers statewide to ensure that prevention and proactive levels of care are represented.
- Collaboration and support from related advisory councils to participate in a robust needs assessment.
- A significant investment into data systems and development of measures/performance indicators needs to occur led by OHA but developed with extensive stakeholder input and direction.
- Legislative investment for OHA to be responsive to the children's continuum of care.

Timeline: Systemwide Assessment to be completed October 2020-October 2021

Update*: The CFBH Unit met with family and youth community groups, tribal representatives, providers, and other community groups to develop a policy vision paper. This plan was finalized with OHA leadership and approval of the Children's System Advisory Council in 2020. The Unit has developed a five-year plan to implement this vision, including the full continuum of youth and young adult care in Oregon. Final communication of this plan through the CFBH Unit website and presentations is upcoming in early 2022.*

- Recommend OHA utilize stakeholder input to develop and determine the methodology used to assess statewide emergency department boarding, with separate reporting for children and youth boarding and frequency, and pursue measures needed for consistent implementation. The methodology should be documented and maintained by the Behavioral Health Division.

  Management Response: OHA has long been concerned about inappropriate or excessive use of Emergency Departments (ED) for children and adults who need behavioral health services. Additionally, we recognize that it is crucial to engage people into appropriate services upon discharge from EDs. In an agreement with the U.S. Department of Justice, we have prioritized ongoing study, evaluation and improvement of this issue for adults with serious and persistent mental illness. For children, we have made and will continue to increase investments in services to help reduce overall ED utilization. We recognize that we still have work to continue to address this issue.

Inequity issues: National data shows 1 in 5 young people experience diagnosable mental health conditions in any given year. In the last three years on average, 8,250 Oregonians on the Oregon Health Plan ages 0 to 25 with behavioral health diagnoses were treated in EDs. In 2018, there were over 7,600 young people in foster care, and of these young people, 60 percent experienced a disruption in their foster home that led to the need for a new foster home, placement in a shelter or going to an ED. An emergency department's primary role is to address physical and not behavioral health needs, and they are adult oriented. This lack of specialized expertise to respond to and successfully stabilize children and youth experiencing a behavioral health crisis often leads to an extended stay in an ED or discharge without effective safety planning. Children in foster care are overrepresented by our BIPOC communities.

With the increased potential for trauma response in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, all young people are at risk for added stress. Safety and health are a top priority during this unique time of physical distancing, and this need poses significant interruption in daily routines that impact access to support and care. Physical distancing is also disruptive to normal growth and development, particularly for older children and teens who are learning about appropriate relationships and need interpersonal support. Children and teens will be disproportionately impacted for months and years to come, even after a vaccine is found and particularly with the prospect of future outbreaks. This will heighten existing mental health symptoms and create additional symptoms, including post-traumatic stress disorder.

These additional stressors will contribute to increased risk of abuse and neglect as people experience overwhelm and isolation. This has been previously measured and documented in areas experiencing natural disasters. Among the top concerns are Oregon's most vulnerable youth, who are at risk, or already living in a foster home.

Consumer voice: The development and implementation of this methodology will be informed by input from consumers, including youth and families. Consumers can provide guidance on collection and assessment of data. Consumers can also provide insight into any trends in data, give context for the information gathered and advise on actions to be taken based on the data collected.

Oregon's current service array does not support early intervention, noted elsewhere as a national best practice, nor does it adequately serve young people and families when they are in crisis or after they have stabilized. Additionally, there is a lack of cross-system collaboration, flexibility and responsiveness that results in avoidable crises and inappropriate placements, including for children involved with child welfare. The current system lacks a clear delineation of roles, responsibilities and accountability around emerging and urgent issues for children and families experiencing intensive behavioral health needs and has neither the capacity nor a sustainable funding structure, to keep them in a family setting and in school.

Work underway*: OHA's 2021-23 Agency Requested Budget includes a policy option package (POP) to implement Children's Mobile Response and Stabilization Services (MRSS). MRSS is a prevention program specifically designed to support children and their families and/or caregivers before situations turn into a crisis. This trauma-informed program will also provide support to children and their families in their home, their schools and in the communities.*

Evidence from other states shows that MRSS services and supports dramatically increase the stability of youth residing in foster homes. Further evidence shows MRSS can successfully decrease police involvement and emergency room use, while providing treatment to youth and their families in their home and community.

Other programs OHA has implemented and expanded to support ED diversion and accessing appropriate levels of care:

- Crisis and Acute Transition Services (CATS) are designed to provide a community-based alternative to emergency department "boarding" for children, youth and young adults in need of acute psychiatric treatment who are awaiting inpatient psychiatric hospitalization. The program includes and requires brief crisis services, stabilization, and transition to community- based supports and services when individuals from birth through age 18 present to emergency departments or crisis center and are at risk of admission for psychiatric or behavioral crises. Programs must serve all individuals presenting in the settings indicated above, including those with public, private, or no insurance. The CATS program has served over 1,300 youth and their families in nine counties in 2019. Approximately 78 percent of youth are discharged from the emergency department within 24 hours, and 92 percent within 48 hours.

- Fidelity Wraparound is an intensive care coordination model and a fidelity process that supports young people and their families with complex behavioral health needs who are multi- system involved. Wraparound is a voluntary process, guided by youth and their families, that connects them to the supports and services needed to improve health and wellbeing. Wraparound reduces the use of emergency rooms, higher levels of care, reduces episodes of psychiatric hospitalization, improves school attendance, and provides significant support to youth involved in child welfare and juvenile justice. Most counties and all regions have access to Wraparound care coordinators and peer-delivered service providers with specialized training in supporting youth and their families.

- Interdisciplinary Assessment centers (IATs). The 2019 Legislature passed Senate Bill 1 and established a special purpose appropriation for OHA, DHS and OYA to coordinate efforts and establish regional interdisciplinary assessment centers. The teams in the centers would conduct thorough assessments and make treatment recommendations for long-term wellness. As of July 2020, IATs are in statute but the special appropriation is no longer available to finance the initiative.

OHA's 2019-2021 Legislatively Approved Budget did include funding to support the Children's System of Care data dashboard as established in Senate Bill 1. Emergency Department utilization will be incorporated with separate reporting for children and youth boarding and frequency, and the Council will pursue recommended measures needed for consistent implementation.

Challenges: With the current wait list for residential treatment beds, we need more innovative services and resources in Oregon. These waitlists create a gap in services that causes families to wait more than 6 weeks for assessment appointments, resulting in increased likelihood of a crisis emergency department visit and worsening health of the family. Utilizing MRSS, fully implementing the 2019 investments (including IATs) and expanding other current programming (CATS, IIBHT, Wraparound) would provide supports that would prevent disruptions, interactions with emergency departments, law enforcement, foster care and higher levels of mental health care.*

Agency Needs: Oregon's System of Care aims to improve the effectiveness of state agencies serving Oregon's children and improve the continuum of care that provides services to youth, ages 0 to 25 so that mental health care is community based, family driven, effective, and culturally and linguistically responsive. Achieving this will require changes to the current systems and the filling of gaps in the continuum of services available to children and young adults. Filling the early intervention gap with MRSS and the current programming would decrease demand for higher levels of service and preserve foster placements for young people involved with DHS Child Welfare.*

*Coordination of services and network is critical, particularly during the pandemic. Oregon must prepare to meet this need to support children, young people and families and provide resources and support at the right time. Adequate response to COVID-19 issues requires the creation a*nd utilization of early intervention strategies and trauma-informed mobile response and stabilization services, and an increase in the coordination of the service network.

Timeline: The work described above to reduce ED boarding for children and adults will continue over the next several years. The monitoring and reporting of ED boarding through dashboards is expected to be completed by December 31, 2021.*

Update: Staff within the CFBH team worked with HPA analysts and hospital representatives to obtain and study Emergency Department data for children and young adults. This information has been compiled into a report and presented to community groups, CSAC, parent groups, and internal* partners. The information has been communicated through the CFBH website and will be updated and reported quarterly to the CSAC group.

- Recommend OHA develop an intermediate proposal to Legislature for addressing issues with statutory language requiring the call center contract up to discontinuing OHA's portion of the contract.

  Management Response: In 2017, the Governor signed SB 944 into law. The intentions of this bill were to establish a call center to help children get access to the right service at the right time and so that OHA and the community would be able to track the need for different levels of care. The call center focus is on children in emergency departments and inpatient care (Subacute and PRTS). The bill also intended that we would improve our ability to understand and track system capacity in real time.

  OHA and the System of Care have learned valuable lessons, as execution of the bill did not result in the intended outcomes. OHA and the System of Care will need to reevaluate how to improve the effectiveness of the referral system and capacity management tools. While it may help to change the statute, the underlying work that needs to be done is to identify more effective methods to achieve the outcomes envisioned by the legislation.

  As with other responses, the lessons and work that OHA has done through COVID-19 response may allow us to break through some of the stumbling blocks that occurred as we initially attempted to create this capacity management system for this singular level of service. Instead of abandoning the entire concept, consumers will be better served if OHA, providers and funders revisit the mechanics of how to make this work and commit to the goals of SB 944. Once a solution is crafted that works, OHA will review the statutes and rules and update if needed.

  Inequity issues: As the crafters of SB 944 recognized, having a service delivery system dependent on existing knowledge and relationships between providers resulted in a delivery system that would often exclude people from easily accessing needed services. This is one more instance of systemic barriers that are especially difficult for those from nondominant cultures to overcome.

Consumer voice: While this is a very specific recommendation related to one section of the statutes, the underlying work is germane through the entire lifespan for behavioral health services. Having an easy to access, systematized capacity management system for every level and type of behavioral health service will allow consumers, families, and referring providers to identify appropriate and timely service options.

Work underway: On June 5, 2020, the Legislative Emergency Board approved allocation of $6 million to develop an Oregon Behavioral Health Access System. Within this initiative, OHA will be utilizing nationally recognized capacity management tools and techniques to create a one-stop shopping experience for consumers who seek behavioral health services. The system will build from lessons learned in SB 944 implementation, be sophisticated and will also support connections for providers who seek real-time information about capacity so that we can streamline referrals to appropriate levels of care.

As noted in the audit, OHA did work with the PRTS and Subacute providers in 2018-2019 to gather important data, outside of the call center, for a calendar year to specifically look at the capacity need, utilization, wait times and access barriers. OHA recognizes that this is valuable data.

Challenges: The current design of the children's continuum of care mental health provider participation is required to have a call center to assess system needs and access. When capacity is consistently full, the ability to consider capacity management is limited. The children's system is in crisis so there is a focus on getting urgent services to children and families rather than data gathering to make more informed decisions.

Creating a one-stop experience will be complex as providers operate under multiple governance systems and payor structures. For example, the children's behavioral health system is primarily managed through the CCO model in Oregon. CCOs contract for their provider network directly. For the inpatient levels of care there are only five providers, but CCOs are not required to contract with any or all of them. In addition, access to these levels of care can look different depending on the CCO of the member. OHA does not contract with these providers directly so although we oversee them through certification and OARs, access and management are not directly overseen.

Agency Needs: To be successful, OHA will need to determine an effective method for providers to keep capacity reports up-to-date and current.*

Update: HB 2086 (2021) amended statutory language related to the call center contract and allowed for increased flexibility for the collection of access data across the system, and the Lines for Life contract has been amended.*

The CFBH Unit has worked extensively with the System of Care Advisory Council to review system needs, differentiating between data needs for different levels of care. A centralized bed capacity tracker is under development for SUD and mental health residential capacity to provide a robust communication tool for these high levels of care. Following implementation, the Unit will work to determine broader applicability for program access.

- Recommend OHA work with the newly created Senate Bill 1 System of Care Advisory Council and Legislature to better optimize the statute guiding mental health treatment services. Specifically, the collaborative effort should:
    - Expand statutes to consider CCO framework and evaluate disconnected mental health statutes for potential revision.
    - Clarify statutory roles and responsibilities of stakeholders.
    - Develop alternative language for “subject to the availability of funds” in order to establish priority of mental health services.
    - Define the requirement of integrated physical, mental, and oral health.
    - Deliver a report on planned optimizations.

Management Response: OHA appreciates the importance of aligning and optimizing foundational statutes that support the behavioral health system. Because this is needed for the behavioral health statutes covering the lifespan, we would suggest expanding the advisory process through which we accomplish this. In addition to utilizing the System of Care Advisory Council, which focuses primarily on children and families, we would also work through other advisory groups including, potentially, the Governor's Behavioral Health Advisory Council, the Alcohol and Drug Policy Advisory Council, the Alcohol and Drug and Mental Health Planning and Advisory Council, the Oregon Consumer Advisory Council, and many others. We would also need input from a vast array of stakeholder groups. Additionally, we would engage regularly with legislative committees on behavioral health as we proceed, to ensure we are addressing issues that constituents bring forth.

Inequity issues: Conflicts in statutes, as well as optional financing and poorly articulated roles and responsibilities, leave room for service gaps and lack of accountability and perpetuate long-standing systemic barriers to service, particularly for persons of color.

Consumer voice: Consumers, including youth and families, will be leaders in the process and will co-create the recommendations for changes needed to the behavioral health statutory framework. As OHA does the difficult work of clarifying and aligning statutes, consumers will benefit from a system that becomes more simple, responsive, and meaningful.

Challenges: This work will be challenging. The current system is built from the local level. Each county and region has unique operational challenges and needs flexibility to ensure the needs of consumers can be met. Additionally, while CCOs represent a majority of the financial investment in Oregon's behavioral health system, there remains a need for safety net capacity for services that are not covered through the Oregon Health Plan or for people who are not eligible for services. Also, many people access services through private health insurance, and it will be important to factor that into the statutory work. For children and families, intersections with the other child-serving systems will influence how this work moves. For adults, it will be critical to factor intersections with justice systems, law enforcement, housing, disability services, older adults, veterans and other systems.

Agency Needs: OHA will need stakeholder consensus for this to succeed.

Timeline: This work has started and will continue through 2023.

Update: The System of Care Advisory Council has developed a vision and plan and is currently hiring for an Executive Director of the Council. This newly created role will be charged with evaluating statutes for potential revision and clarifying language and requirements for integrated health care. The System of Care Advisory Council is intended to operate as an independent body, and CFBH will continue to provide technical assistance and support for this group during the transition to the Executive Director, when hired.

- Recommend OHA collaborate with system stakeholders, such as providers and other agencies, to develop and document a comprehensive workforce retention and recruitment strategy and communicate it to all stakeholders. Reporting on strategic implementation should be delivered annually to the Oregon Health Policy Board.

  Management response: As referenced in the audit, the Behavioral Health Collaborative made recommendations regarding the behavioral health workforce, namely, to complete an assessment. OHA contracted with the Eugene Farley Health Policy Center to assess the current behavioral health workforce and develop a recruitment and retention plan. This work was completed in 2019 and was presented to the Oregon Health Policy Board. OHA's Behavioral Health Medicaid, Policy and Analytics unit work works closely with OHA's Primary Care Office and OHPB's Health Care Workforce Committee on all behavioral health workforce recommendations, including the Farley Center recommendations.

  Since the publication of the Farley reports, OHA staff has conducted an analysis of Oregon-specific workforce recommendations in the past decade. These were presented to a workgroup of the Governor's Behavioral Health Advisory Council. OHA is incorporating the council's policy recommendations into requests for the 2021 legislative session.

Inequity issues: The behavioral health workforce in Oregon is predominantly white. BIPOC consumers are not able to receive treatment from BIPOC providers. Low wages result in individuals not entering the workforce. Some cultures don't see traditional counseling as acceptable, and this results in many people not seeking behavioral health care or being distrustful of the care they receive. Black communities experience bias from providers, which often results in misdiagnosis and poorer quality of care. This continues the cycle of mistrust and a tendency not to seek behavioral health care. Culturally competent providers have long waitlists and accept limited insurance. Lastly, systemic racism has created deep distrust.

Consumer voice: Consumers, including youth and families, have critical insight into this issue. Oregon must develop and retain a behavioral health workforce that is responsive to the needs of the people who rely on these services. As such, consumers will inform the development of this plan and will guide OHA in determining goals for workforce composition and training. The workforce issues, such as high turnover, results in consumers having to start over with new providers. This is not a trauma-informed system as consumers are required to retell their stories and develop a therapeutic relationship with a new provider. Our most qualified workforce tends to work in lower acuity settings, whereas our least experienced workforce is working with the most acute patients. This is a disservice to consumers as they are not able to receive care from a highly trained and senior workforce. Consumers are not able to receive treatment from providers that share their culture, language, or background. These issues result in consumers not receiving meaningful services and overall poor outcomes.

Challenges: As the audit itself recognizes, Oregon's turnover rates within the children's behavioral health system are within the national averages, indicating that this is not only an Oregon issue, but also a national one. Efforts to integrate behavioral health into the healthcare system are underway, but behavioral health staff is not paid in parity with physical or oral healthcare with parallel education, training, and certification. OHA can raise rates, work with the Transformation Center to convene learning collaboratives, and work with partners, higher education and licensing boards to implement recommendations. But until behavioral health is fully integrated and in parity with physical and oral healthcare, we will continue to face significant workforce turnover and shortages.

The audit asserts that "while OHA is aware of the turnover problem, its efforts to reduce it have been ineffective." OHA does not have staff dedicated to work on this area. OHA has a Primary Care Office that is responsible for workforce, including loan repayment and incentive programs, workforce development issues, and the Oregon Health Policy Board's Health Care Workforce Committee; however, their primary focus is physical health. The former Addictions and Mental Health Division had a behavioral health workforce unit of approximately four FTE; those positions were lost in a reorganization.

Agency Needs: Behavioral Health does not have staff to implement the recommendations. Adding behavioral health staff to the Primary Care Office (which oversees much of the workforce related efforts for OHA and staffs Oregon Health Policy Board's Health Care Workforce Committee) would place the staff in the right place to effectively do this work. Bringing higher education and licensing boards together with OHA and other stakeholders could require a mandate.*

Timeline: This work is underway and was prioritized by the Governor's Behavioral Health Advisory Council. It will continue through 2023.*

Update: While the behavioral health workforce was under strain during the Secretary of State's audit process in 2019, the Covid-19 pandemic has created unprecedented shortages over the past two years across the healthcare system. Extensive funding has been routed to behavioral health providers to support efforts to recruit and retain staff, and HB 2086 (2021) provided funds for a comprehensive workforce study.*

HSD representatives have brought system partners together for ongoing conversations on how best to recruit and build a robust workforce, including student loan forgiveness, mentoring and career ladders, credentialing, supervision, rate increases, and development of educational pipelines particularly to bring staff of color into the behavioral health field. Additional legislation is being considered for further efforts in the upcoming legislative session.

- Recommend OHA develop and deliver a public information campaign for mental health, including challenges faced by individuals in the system, as well as direct care workers, similar to campaigns delivered by the Public Health Division.

  Management response: This audit report highlights how statutory provisions with no reliable source of funding have undermined OHA's ability to focus on mental health prevention and promotion. Also, OHA recognizes the serious challenges faced every day by the direct care staff.

  In response to COVID-19, OHA contracted with Brink Communications to develop the Safe + Strong campaign. OHA received funding from the federal CARES Act to support current work with Brink for a behavioral health specific campaign. A key feature of that campaign will address stigma. Priority populations identified include health care workers, BIPOC, and those with behavioral health concerns.

  Inequity issues: As mentioned in previous responses to the recommendations, the COVID-19 pandemic has had significant impact on and disruptions to OHA operations since early 2020. While that is an important backdrop to some of our responses, it is important to note that during the months of operating under the pandemic, OHA has realized some opportunities for system improvements. We received funding to support a broad-based public information campaign to help people understand mental health and to provide information about resources that can be helpful if they are experiencing mental health service needs.

  Brink Communications conducted research and found high health disparity scores near Salem-Keizer, the Willamette Valley and agricultural counties. BIPOC seek support from personal networks rather than behavioral health care professionals. Income level and refugee of immigration status have a large impact on behavioral health of BIPOC. Reducing stigma in Latinx communities may help normalize help-seeking behavior.

Consumer voice: This work, in progress, will continue to be centered on the needs of behavioral health consumers, including those who are healthcare workers and members of high-risk or underserved populations. The first round of creative from Brink shows a simple campaign that will be transcreated into 11 languages. The campaign aims to be inclusive for gender and BIPOC. Stigma reduction and normalizing help-seeking behavior will help more people access behavioral health care. The campaign is building upon trauma-informed and supportive messages. To provide the foundation of the work, Brink and OHA staff did extensive community engagement work to speak to Community Based Organizations and other community leaders and learn about the needs of BIPOC communities. Messages and materials are being tailored from the insights gathered from that work.

Work underway: OHA has utilized resources from the Federal Mental Health Block Grant and funding from behavioral health investments in 2015 to contract with communities to enhance wellness practices and prevention. Since 2014, OHA has funded local Mental Health Promotion and Prevention projects. Led by community organizations, the projects aim to help everyone improve and sustain their mental health. This means children and adults can:

- Achieve developmentally appropriate tasks,
- Maintain a positive sense of self-esteem, mastery, well-being, and social inclusion, and
- Strengthen their ability to cope with adversity.

The projects promote evidence-based, community-based interventions and activities.

In 2019, OHA funded Mental Health Promotion and Prevention projects in 20 counties, serving more than 25,000 individuals and reaching thousands more through social media, websites, online learning and other outreach activities. Projects included:

- Advocacy, stakeholder engagement and interagency collaboration: Train the Trainer, Honest Open Proud (HOP), youth groups, peer support, parent support groups, life skills, coping skills and self - regulation, harm reduction.

- Onsite and School-Based Services: Professional development for staff, Question Persuade Refer, Curve It Forward, Positive Behavior Interventions, Mental Health Tool Box, Applied Suicide Intervention Skills Training, Culturally Responsive Mental Health First Aid (suicide prevention), STEPS to SUCCESS (bullying prevention), Second Step (social and emotional well-being), MindUp (social-emotional awareness to enhance psychosocial well-being), Collaborative Problem Solving, NETSMARTZ (cyberbullying prevention), CONNECT (creating youth leaders).
- Summer school programs, food security, tutoring, art classes, after-school sports.
- Culturally appropriate refugee and immigrant resources and services.

Related work: Also, during the COVID-19 crisis, OHA has enhanced the availability of tools for direct care workers affected by the crisis to include psychological first aid training and a self-assessment tool called PsyStart.

Challenges: The Brink Communications media campaign is funded for a limited period of time. There will need to be ongoing funding to continue the campaign.

Timeline*: Work has been underway for several years and will continue to be expanded and improved. As a result of the COVID-19 work, a targeted campaign will be completed by December 31, 2020.*

Update: HSD worked with Brink Media and the Public Health Division to implement the Safe and Strong Oregon public health campaign during the Fall of 2020. This program provides information for Covid-19 vaccine resources and safety, as well as mental and emotional health supports and community resources.

Ongoing collaboration between Behavioral Health and Public Health is planned in order to provide resources and public campaigns for integrated health.

- Recommend OHA work with Trauma Informed Oregon to become a trauma-informed agency, finalize the internal trauma-informed policy, and provide related agency wide training starting at the highest leadership levels. The agency should hold contracted organizations accountable for Trauma Informed Practices.

  Management response: OHA is committed to a trauma-informed culture, defined as a culture that is aware of and responsive to the impact of trauma on the lives of individuals. OHA's adoption of a trauma-informed approach offers a significant contribution to the physical, mental, and social well-being of the agency's diverse staff by reducing adversity and promoting resilience. This work is best done using a health equity lens in partnership and alignment with work on the social determinants of health. All levels of the system must commit to a trauma-informed approach, and OHA is committed to lead and sustain this effort.

  Inequity issues: Lack of social determinants of health and lack of trauma awareness by health providers drives the development of responses to trauma. Trauma is inclusive of, and not limited to, the effects of racism, interpersonal abuse, adverse childhood experiences, poverty, historical and systemic oppression, heterosexism, ageism, sexism, and ableism. Inappropriate responses to people who have experienced trauma negates their experience, creates a lack of feeling of safety and trust, and can compound existing trauma response. This leads to access issues, exacerbation of existing behavioral health challenges, and at times, cycling through the system repeatedly as needs do not get adequately addressed.

  Consumer voices: OHA is working to reconfigure its advisory group structure to better elevate and amplify consumer input in decision-making within OHA. For OHA to be successful co-creating solutions with consumers, staff need to be capable of hearing concerns, understanding context, and providing meaningful support from a trauma aware perspective. In addition to being more responsive to consumer needs, implementing a trauma-informed approach within OHA will reduce workplace stress, and increase morale, productivity, and quality of work.

  Work underway: In February 2018, with membership from all divisions, OHA developed a charter and wrote an agencywide policy. The OHA Trauma Informed Approach and Culture Policy

Workgroup, in partnership with Trauma Informed Oregon, is in the final stages of stakeholder feedback, and recommendations will be presented to OHA Leadership August 2020.

OHA is expanding work with Trauma Informed Oregon, and it will include direct consultation and training with OHA Leadership and Oregon's child-serving state agencies to support training and consultation.

OHA recently increased investment in Trauma Informed Oregon to support OHA in assessing progress in becoming a trauma-informed agency, finalize the internal trauma-informed approaches policy, and provide related OHA wide training starting at the highest leadership levels.

Trauma Informed Oregon also worked with DHS to support their trauma policy development and implementation. DHS put the resulting trainings for state agency staff on the shared iLearn system. OHA will develop a plan to implement these trainings agency wide in 2021.

A recommendation within OHA's 2020 Trauma Informed Approach and Culture Policy will be to upgrade the 2014 Trauma Informed Services Policy for Behavioral Health Providers. OHA will co-create revisions to this policy in 2021 with consumers, advocates, CCO's, CMHP's, providers, OHA staff, and staff from other agencies. Trauma Informed Oregon will provide consultation and support for the effort.

Also, OHA will develop accountability strategies and metrics for contracted organizations including implementation of the Trauma Informed Oregon: Roadmap to Trauma Informed Care and Screening Tool to evaluate and support contracted organizations implementing Trauma Informed Practice in accordance with OARs 309-018-0100, 309-022-0100, and 309-019-0100.

Language was inserted into CCO 2.0 requiring CCO's to become trauma informed, starting with training for all levels of their staff. The tiered approach in this contract calls for progressive requirements over each year of the existing contract.

Challenges: Trauma is a difficult topic to discuss and is activating for some individuals. This can add to the complexity of the work.

Because the current systems are so fragmented and services are delivered in such a decentralized fashion, consumers are often further traumatized when their voices get lost or dismissed under the weight of multiple competing interests.

Agency needs: Becoming trauma informed represents culture change. This culture change must be pervasive throughout OHA and will require cooperation from all other partner agencies. For the scale of change required in Oregon, OHA will need to integrate trauma-informed concepts into all activities of the organization and will also need to lead the strategic efforts to ensure it becomes a foundational concept from which all OHA staff and partners approach their work.

Timeline: This work is underway and will be complete by June 30, 2021.

Update*: OHA's leadership team recommended that the policy be reviewed by the agency-wide Equity Advancement Leadership Team (EALT).*

The EALT reviewed the policy and discussed how the policy could best be moved forward in synchronization with OHA's Strategic Plan and Equity Advancement plan (formerly known as the Affirmative Action plan).
The EALT recommended that the Equity and Inclusion Division be responsible for policy oversight and governance, including facilitating a workgroup in the implementation of the policy and associated work, and for any revisions necessary to align with OHA's strategic planning and anti-racism framework.

OHA leadership agreed to the EALT recommendations, and the work has now been passed to the Equity and Inclusion Division.

Workgroup recruitment completed in June 2021 and a new draft is anticipated August 2021.

- Recommend OHA continue to collaborate with Trauma Informed Oregon to deliver training of trauma-informed practices to direct care providers.

  Management response: OHA supports a trauma-informed foundation to all services and supports provided for children and families. As noted in the previous response, OHA currently works extensively with Trauma Informed Oregon to shape our understanding of the impacts that trauma has on how people experience services and the importance of addressing that experience so that people can expect successful outcomes. We will continue to do so.

  Inequity issues: Trauma manifests in several ways. For people who identify as members of communities of color, systemic racism and microaggressions are recurring traumas that compound their experiences. Direct care providers must be educated to understand the subtle and overt ways that their service delivery can be improved and be trauma informed.

  Consumer voice: Consumers, including youth and families and members of communities of color, have consistently expressed the desire for behavioral health providers who are competent in delivering trauma-informed care. Consumers often won't access services because the health care environment feels unsafe. This happens when service providers or the service system is not trauma aware. As a result, existing issues manifest to point of crisis, or illness and symptoms become worse.

  Work underway: OHA recently invested additional funds in the Trauma Informed Oregon contract, to address technical assistance and training needs in the areas of social emotional learning, and culturally responsive practices in strength-based healing centered engagement, Trauma Informed Care (TIC), and Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs). This technical assistance and training will be provided for service providers serving people of color, people with physical and cognitive disabilities, LGBTQIA2S+ individuals, interested consumers, family members, young adults, and individuals across the lifespan with serious mental illness, those in recovery from mental health disorders, substance use disorders, and problem gambling issues; and to support Coordinated Care Organizations (CCOs), Community Mental Health Programs (CMHPs), individual providers of behavioral health services, and health professionals statewide.

Challenges: The decentralization and fragmentation of systems can cause consumers to be retraumatized, via having to repeat their "story" (need for treatment) to various providers because the system is not contiguous and working well together. People drop out of services when this becomes untenable for them.

Agency needs: As with all that OHA does; the successful and ongoing implementation of this recommendation will require sufficient funding to support training contracts and staff focus to implement and schedule.

Timeline: This work is underway and will be ongoing with an initial goal of providing training to all OHA regulated providers of children's services by July 1, 2022.

Update*: OHA's contract with Trauma Informed Oregon has been extended and is managed through the CFBH Unit. Trainings and resources are provided to internal partners across OHA, as well as to CMHP's and provider agencies.*

- Recommend OHA work with the Oregon Health Policy Board, System of Care Advisory Council, and Legislature to update the statutory framework to ensure agencies within the System of Care are fully invested to support the burden costs across the system. A System of Care roadmap should be developed and documented to demonstrate process owners and related costs.

  Management response: OHA agrees with this recommendation. To reiterate from previous responses, Oregon's System of Care partners are guided by the vision that children can be at home, in school and in their community because they receive the right services, at the right time and for the right duration. OHA agrees that a strong, interconnected statutory framework would provide transparency and clarity in describing, defining, and ensuring financial commitment to the children's System of Care.

Inequity issues: Oregon's statutory direction for the children's System of Care must be fully informed and designed to break the cycle of systemic and historic racism and inequity. To make meaningful inroads in resolving health inequity, all stakeholders must learn to see past "business as usual" thinking and invest in ideas that are trauma informed. As the audit repeatedly mentions, so many of the statutes that support behavioral health services are qualified with "subject to available funds" clauses. A complete System of Care roadmap will identify funding, with proposals for elimination of gaps and barriers to success.

Consumer voice: Youth and family voice will be critical in the development of a System of Care roadmap and in determining policy and funding priorities. Well-written statutory framework and a System of Care roadmap will add cohesion so that individual agencies can more effectively work together toward common goals for children and families. If well written and administered, the needs of the children and families will drive service delivery and outcomes should improve.

Work underway: This body of work was envisioned, and the 2019 Legislature passed SB 1, which established the System of Care Advisory Council. OHA hired staff to lead this effort and the council began meeting in March 2020. OHA will collaborate with the Oregon Health Policy Board, System of Care Advisory Council, consumers and stakeholders to develop the System of Care roadmap and continue developing recommendations to update the statutory framework. This work will also include development of POPs to provide appropriate supporting financial investments and staffing.

Challenges*: How systems are organized affects focus, alignment and effectiveness. Oregon organizes child-serving agencies along service lines with separate governance over each major service, including education, social service, justice, and medical services. Each of those organizations has evolved differently over multiple generations, and all are now uniquely structured to meet the specialized requirements tied to delivering those services. Underlying funder requirements, particularly federal partners such as Medicaid and U.S. Department of Education, also affect organizational structures and program priorities. Those structural* differences are substantial and will be difficult to synthesize and simplify in the roadmap and statutory frameworks without revolutionary adaptations and compromise.

Historically, Oregon's child-serving agencies have struggled with incompatible requirements and service delivery structures that have made it difficult to work across systems. Oregon has a high rate of child welfare referrals, unacceptable suicide rates for youth ages 10-24, challenges with school completion and graduation, especially for communities of color, high numbers of black, indigenous and people of color youth being incarcerated, and high numbers of children and youth needing intensive level of services. Likely, a robust array of culturally appropriate services that is easily accessible by families could have prevented escalation to that level of need.

Agency needs: To implement this recommendation, OHA will need full support from children and families and from all child-serving stakeholders and agencies ranging from the Governor's office to all child serving agencies, including service providers, DHS, OYA and ODE.

Timeline: This work has begun with OHA's convening of the System of Care Advisory Council and some preliminary POPs are being advanced through OHA's Agency Recommended Budget for 2021-2023. Full implementation of this recommendation will cross several biennia.

Update: The System of Care Advisory Council has developed a vision and plan and is currently hiring for an Executive Director of the Council. This newly created role will be charged with evaluating statutes for potential revision and clarifying language and requirements for integrated health care. The System of Care Advisory Council is intended to operate as an independent body, and CFBH will continue to provide technical assistance and support for this group during the transition to the Executive Director, when hired.

A System of Care Roadmap was completed in 2022. OHA worked with the System of Care Advisory Council to help with SB968 to fully fund a system needs assessment which is currently in the 2023 session.

- Recommend OHA develop and document internal policies and procedures for monitoring behavioral health funding to the counties through ORS 430. The agency should seek to establish a process owner for regularly reconciling and reporting on these funds.

  Management response: OHA values partnerships throughout the behavioral health system. An historic partnership is that which establishes the Community Mental Health Programs (CMHPs) through ORS 430. OHA's current formal relationship with the CMHPs is through negotiated County Financial Assistance Agreements (CFAAs). These CFAAs are the contractual mechanisms OHA uses to distribute state funds, federal grants and other funds to CMHPs. CMHPs, in return, operate community mental health programs and provide a locally developed array of behavioral health services. Funding from the CFAAs is combined with other resources including Medicaid billings, CCO contracted funding, private insurance, and other local resources. OHA plans to conduct an internal audit to identify methods for tightened contracts and compliance. This will help inform next steps and realistic options for ongoing reporting.

  Inequity issues: By reviewing each county's financial resources for behavioral services, OHA will be in a better position to understand fiscal incentives that may be perpetuating inequities.

  Consumer voice: To understand financial underpinnings of the behavioral system at the local level, consumers will have information to understand and direct a system that is more responsive and accountable.

  Challenges: Because behavioral health services are delivered in a decentralized system, and because each of the CMHPs (covering 36 counties and Warm Springs tribe) have unique administrative structures, funding sources, and business models, creating meaningful financial reports and appropriately evaluating the reports will be complex. OHA is not currently staffed to do this work well. Additionally, the CMHPs, who don't currently provide these reports to OHA, may not be staffed to produce the reports in the formats that meet a statewide evaluation need.

Agency needs: To implement this recommendation, OHA will need to reach agreement with CMHPs about reporting requirements and CMHPs will need to provide requested information. Additionally, OHA will need staff to review and interpret complex financial information and who can report the results of the reviews back to CMHPs for continued system improvement and feedback.

Timeline*: Internal audit work described above will be completed by March 31, 2021. OHA will continue to negotiate reporting requirements with CMHPs as County Financial Assistance Agreements are being revised. OARS 430 changes will be ongoing with target completion of December 31, 2021.*

Update: OHA has hired a consultant to support efforts to innovate and revise county contracting, including a list of recommendations and findings. An HSD Manager has been assigned to this work and is building a team to monitor county compliance with contractual requirements. County representatives are involved in this process and work has begun to align county contracting with CCO requirements. As mentioned previously, reporting requirements have been paused to help support staff stresses during the Covid-19 pandemic. During this pause, however, ongoing work is underway to build robust system for monitoring and addressing consistency of standards, and funding will be dependent upon compliance with expectations.

New leadership in the Behavioral Health department of OHA has taken on this project and is working to evaluate and streamline the CFAA process by which funds are distributed to counties.

3. OHA: Efforts Have Helped Limit Some Employee Health Care Costs, but PEBB and OEBB Can Do More to Manage Costs and Optimize Benefits, audit #2020-39 (dated November 2020)

- Recommend PEBB and OEBB regularly communicate to members further educational opportunities in addition to open enrollment for members to learn how to better understand the details of their insurance coverage and how to utilize their benefits to make optimal health and cost decisions.

1. PEBB has been collaborating with Rise Partnership (now Uplift Oregon) to roll out training and resources for new State of Oregon employees explaining their robust benefits package.

    - Uplift Oregon is currently offering Uplift Your Benefits, a weekly two-hour training that includes:
        - 90 minutes of content on benefits, and
        - a 30-minute union orientation for positions represented by SEIU or AFSCME.
        - The training was designed with new employees in mind, but any employee is welcome to attend.
    - The goal is to have this as a mandatory training within the first 14 days of hire for AFSCME and SEIU represented positions.
    - 2021 major milestones:
        - June 2021: DAS will send an email to all State of Oregon employees announcing Uplift Oregon and the process for enrolling in the benefits workshop, Uplift Your Benefits
        - July 6, 2021: Uplift will begin sending emails directly to all new employees, inviting them to register and attend the Uplift Your Benefits workshop
        - September 2021: Agency listening session scheduled to adjust and adapt the process for Uplift Your Benefits, and Uplift offers an additional "Benefits Tune-Up" workshop in anticipation of open enrollment, available for any State employee to attend.

2. In partnership with Jellyvision, PEBB has expanded program offerings through "Alex Advanced." Updates include:

    - Promote use of chronic care/wellness programs by incorporating into the Alex tool

- Continue "Smart Tips" to direct people to care resources like telemedicine, etc.
- Coordinate with Uplift Oregon to support new hire training and the benefits' selection process
- Host a new PEBB specific and fully customizable URL that includes:
- On-demand videos related to medical plan basics, using a nurse advice line, talking to a provider using telehealth, etc.
- Links to wellness pages, carriers, or whatever we want
- FAQs

3. We are purchasing "Benefits 101" instructional videos. OEBB and PEBB will post video links prominently in a "member education" section on both websites.

4. OEBB and PEBB monthly newsletters will include benefit tips each month.

5. PEBB is partnering with Mercer to design a dedicated "on demand" resource page for new hires where they can find information on:
   - Benefits training opportunities
   - Educational Videos
   - Enrollment resources

Update: PEBB staff collaborated with Rise Partnership, SEIU, and DAS to develop training and materials for newly hired State employees. Rise Partnership and SEIU began piloting the training with DAS in October 2020. These workshops are now available several days a week. State employees can register to attend a workshop in Workday. In 2019, the PEBB Board directed our consultant, Mercer, to develop a comprehensive communications strategy.

Staff, in partnership with Mercer, have developed and implemented a dedicated new hire section for the PEBB website, with supporting materials. This section is aimed at guiding new employees through the benefits decision-making process and updated regularly.

PEBB and Mercer have designed a monthly newsletter sharing timely benefits and wellbeing information, carrier resources and webinars. Newsletters include a section on how the Board works to ensure cost-effective and quality benefits for members.

PEBB and OEBB, in collaboration with contracted insurance carriers have created educational resources including webinars, targeted videos, downloadable flyers and newsletters. These resources continue to expand now that Mercer supports both PEBB and OEBB.

- Recommend PEBB and OEBB periodically communicate to employers, members, and stakeholders about the board's ongoing administration of benefits, cost containment efforts, and the anticipated effects on affordability and accessibility of health care coverage to stakeholders, including employers and members.

  1. Both programs have restarted PEBB Information Exchange (PIE) and Business Information Exchange (BIE) in 2021. We are expanding the board information and feedback agenda topics as described to ensure stakeholders are fully informed of board actions and have an opportunity to provide feedback if desired.

  2. In collaboration with our consultant, Mercer, PEBB has designed a monthly member newsletter, the first of which will be sent in June. Among other informational benefit-related topics, the newsletter will include a regular "Working for You" section in which we will share the highlights of board discussions, decision making, cost-containment efforts, etc.

3. OEBB is expanding our current Wellness-focused newsletter to include all employee benefit topics. The expanded monthly email will align with PEBB and incorporate board news and highlights.

4. Mercer is currently performing a review of the PEBB website. The Board section is being expanded to provide detailed information of the topics highlighted in the monthly newsletter. We will also expand the board focus on the OEBB website. Implementation date is December 31, 2021.

Update: PEBB Information Exchange and OEBB Business Information Exchange meetings have been scheduled quarterly for the 2022 calendar year. Agenda topics have been updated to include a detailed summary of board discussions and decisions. Staff continue to expand the board presence in monthly newsletters web pages.*

- Recommend PEBB and OEBB consistently collect, analyze, and share results of employers' and members' experiences to better inform board decisions; for example, consistently track customer service calls to the programs, ask about benefit and claim experiences on the annual member survey, and obtain information from carriers on claims calls and appeals.

  PEBB currently performs a customer-service focused survey that does not contain benefit utilization questions. PEBB will seek to align with OEBB over the next year and request the carriers collect the same information.

  Update: Program call tracking solutions: The new OEBB/PEBB benefit system requirements include the ability to track and categorize customer service phone calls. This includes reporting capabilities. This resolution will be complete when the new system is fully implemented estimated in 2024-2025.*

  The current benefit systems contain a note section but are administratively cumbersome. Call volume, especially during open enrollment precludes implementing a manual solution with limited staff capacity. Since we are designing a new system that will fill this gap, we don't plan to expend staff and system resources to address it in the current system.

Carrier data collection: Staff are meeting in May to discuss and develop additional carrier reporting criteria for utilization data and member experience data.

Programs currently collected from carriers:

- claim processing timeliness and accuracy
- appeal processing timeliness
- call abandonment and average speed of answer
- first call resolution
- email response timeliness
- telephone inquiry response timeliness

Staff survey program members and work with carriers to address appeals related to claims and customer service quality issues. Insurance carriers now report annually to the board about service quality results.

- Recommend PEBB and OEBB promptly enhance clarity and oversight of consultant and carrier contracts, which should include:

  a) Ensuring consultant contracts have clearly defined deliverables that are of value and the related costs.

  Consultant Contracts: OEBB and PEBB have monthly account meetings with its consultants. The meetings include OEBB/PEBB team leads as well as the department leadership. These meetings have set agendas, which include reviewing invoices, having consultants present budget tracking information and confirming work priorities/expectations with the consultants.

Other Contracts: We have mapped out the full annual renewal process for these contracts, which include the consultant-led public meetings and discussions, as well as the subsequent contract amendment drafting and future monitoring building in internal touchpoints during the course of this process to ensure we review proposed renewal parameters and address any performance issues we may be experiencing with the carriers. This is a challenge due to claims lag.

Once this process has been vetted and completely approved, the Contracts team will then assign specific contract reports to the team to shore up roles and responsibilities for the touchpoint meetings discussed below.

We reviewed our consultant contracts and worked with staff to develop a more accurate description of the work we need from our consultants. This is critical for the upcoming Consultant RFP. One benefit to this process is that we more specifically defined our communication needs so that our staff will have more flexibility in working with our consultants in the future to develop communications (content and delivery methods).

Current: We expect to have the updated annual renewal process vetted and changes to the process approved soon. Once this occurs, Contracts will determine how specific contract reports will be assigned out or otherwise reviewed and addressed during the touchpoints. Touchpoints will have standing agendas and will be facilitated by the Contracts team. We will review required reporting and other deliverables as well as gather feedback from other area leads on their experiences working with carriers. This information will be shared with leadership and consultants to ensure we not only respond with appropriate contract actions but also consider asking the Board to address the performance in its renewal discussions and decisions.

Future: Program and Contracts staff are currently working with leadership and the Innovation Workgroup (IWG) to establish a comprehensive strategy for assessing contract performance that includes new performance and outcome measures with associated financial risk. This is expected to take a few years to implement, which is why staff initially focused on mapping and improving the annual renewal process. Currently, staff is working to finalize the performance measures for measurement year 2022. Staff will work on creating a standardized reporting guide for carriers to fill out and send back to staff. Dates have not been set nor has frequency of reporting been established at this time.

b) Identifying deliverables in current contracts and monitoring and enforcing deliverables be contract compliant.

c) Verifying invoices for mathematical accuracy and contract compliance by staff who have the pertinent training and knowledge of contract terms.

We have brought invoice review/approval into our monthly consultant account meetings. In addition, invoices are required deliverables under the contracts so we will work with our Finance team to improve internal processes as needed.

d) Having a comprehensive program for identifying improper claim payments that is reflected in contracted services.

We built potential audit work into our respective 2021 consultant budgets to ensure the work would be within scope and accounted for if we have the resources to move an audit forward soon. We have built this work into the upcoming Consultant RFP and will be interested in seeing how different proposers feel they can support this work.

Update: The processes have been implemented and PEBB will continue to monitor and improve these processes during upcoming contract renewals.

- Recommend PEBB develop a formal strategic plan that includes elements such as the appropriate amount to be maintained in reserve and steps to take when the reserve reaches higher or lower levels than targeted.

The PEBB board maintains the Stabilization Fund (also known as "the reserve") in the state treasury. The board works with its consultant actuary each year to project an amount in the Stabilization Fund sufficient to meet both anticipated and unanticipated fluctuations in claims costs. The Board has used the fund to stabilize premiums, subsidize the employee premium share, and fund programs designed to reduce premium increases, but the board has no formal policy for how to manage funds in the event that reserves exceed the fully funded target level.

When the PEBB Reserve exceeds the targeted fully funded reserve level, the legislature has in recent years legislated a "fund sweep" of those excess reserves that have resulted in an OMB

Circular A87 Federal payback for an unallowable transfer. Over the next 12 months the PEBB board will consider developing a "Formal" reserve policy that includes direction for handling of excess funds in the reserve when they exceed the target. One item to note is that PEBB's legislatively adopted biennial budget is developed using a 3.4% annual increase. For the board to "buy-down" a higher than anticipated annual contract renewal beyond the 3.4%, it would likely need to secure additional budget limitation from the legislature in an Emergency Board rebalance request, or full legislative session. A formal reserve policy may inhibit future fund sweeps.

Update: The due date is being pushed out to accommodate the limited availability of the OEBB/PEBB OHA Director.*

4. ODHS and OHA: Statewide Single Audit Including Selected Financial Accounts and Federal Award for the Year Ended June 30, 2020, audit #2021-13 (dated April 2021)

- Recommend management ensure transaction review is adequate and includes examination of proper and complete coding, accounting periods, and supporting documentation.

  OFS has reviewed and updated all year-end procedures and is engaged with staff for more accurate accrual data.

- Recommend management strengthen year-end review procedures to ensure necessary system processing has occurred, and account balances are reasonable and properly classified.

  Year-end methodologies have been reviewed and we continue to engage closely with the staff providing year-end transaction details to educate on the importance of accurate estimates.

- Recommend department and authority management strengthen controls to perform timely eligibility redeterminations and provide periodic training to caseworkers to reduce the risk of administrative errors. We also recommend management implement corrections in the ONE system to address the weaknesses identified in verifying income. Management should also review the entire duration of the claim identified to determine if there are additional questioned costs from previous years. Additionally, management should reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

The Department is committed to providing timely benefits to only those individuals who are appropriately determined eligible. The Department has taken positive steps since 2016 to continuously improve and automate reporting capabilities for tracking and remediating untimely Medicaid redeterminations, including the successful implementation of the new Integrated Eligibility (IE) system, named "ONE" in February 2021. This new system provides improved client eligibility controls specifically related to timeliness of determinations, correct enrollment, automated notification of redeterminations and subsequently, actions to close eligibility if necessary, along with electronic retention of eligibility data elements such as signed applications. With implementation of ONE and as we move the rest of the cases into ONE over the next year of redeterminations., we expect the errors associated with these areas to be reduced.

The Department has collaborated across OHA and ODHS programs to develop a combined eligibility manual that incorporates all relevant policy and process for determining eligibility for the medical benefits contained in the IE system. This allows our eligibility workers and case managers in the local offices an upgraded tool and a singular resource that allows us to work collaboratively in our efforts to better serve and be good stewards to Oregonians. We anticipate releasing this in July 2021.

In addition, new program and system training has been developed and deployed collaboratively across OHA and ODHS programs to ensure new and existing eligibility staff are trained sufficiently in the ONE system and all programs contained therein.

The department and authority are committed to providing training and guidance to staff to ensure information related to an eligibility determination, that is not captured by the ONE system, will be include in the individual's case record. The department will review and update any existing training material as needed and send a communication to staff highlighting the importance of recording any information related to the eligibility decision, that is not already captured by ONE.

The authority has submitted a change request to update the logic used by the ONE system to determine whether income information received by the Federal Data Services Hub is reasonably compatible with information contained within a case record. Additionally, the authority will review the identified individual's case and reimburse the federal agency for any questioned costs for the duration of the claim.

Update: Staff materials have been updated, communications have been sent, training and guidance have been provided:*

- The combined eligibility manual that was updated can be found on the DHS forms: https://sharedsystems.dhsoha.state.or.us/DHSForms/Served/de2818.pdf
- Information about verifying and documenting income sent May 3, 2021, in a staff Weekly Update
- Attached All staff transmittal sent in March 2021
- Income related trainings provided in the months listed below; recordings of these are still available online for staff: July 2021 and December 2021

- Recommend authority management strengthen controls to ensure documentation supporting a provider's eligibility determination and revalidation is retained. Additionally, we recommend management review the automated processes to ensure databases are checked timely.

  As of June 30, 2021, the state had addressed all bullet points noted in the finding and obtained the missing managing employee information, new disclosure statements or new enrollment agreements for all providers in the sample with one provider being inactivated who failed to respond. New enrollment agreements and provider disclosure documents for revalidating providers are now required.

  Since April 2019, the State has been running monthly missed validation reports for newly enrolled or revalidated providers to ensure missed validations are completed.

- Recommend authority management continue to implement procedures to monitor potential unauthorized changes to the application, as well as continue to verify the effectiveness and completeness of the claim's edits and audits function.

  HSD has taken the following corrective action for 2020-2021:

  1. Rewrote the deliverable from Gainwell, the MMIS contractor, so that testing results are easier to read and understand.
  2. OHA conducts monthly meetings involving managers from Provider Services, Claims, EDI, and BSU to review any claims/EDI issues, including new edits being proposed or developed. This meeting is a checkpoint to be sure that all units impacted by claims edit and audit changes are aware of proposed & pending changes, and to create accountability before implementing a new edit or audit in MMIS. (meeting once a month since January 2021)
  3. Regular auditing reports reviewed on the four analyst positions who can update edits and audits in the MMIS. These reports allow HSD Leadership & Management to monitor activity by the analyst in MMIS to determine if any incorrect actions have occurred. (reports are being developed weekly)
  4. The MMIS Business Support Unit has explored ways that the monitoring of edits can be automated. However, HSD has found this is not a viable solution to date and that manual oversight and control processes implemented before July 1, 2021, will continue.

  BSU continues to monitor selected claims edits and audits each quarter, and Gainwell continues testing throughout the year on the top 20% of edits with significant financial impact.

  Monthly meetings are schedule with the EDI Manager and lead worker, Provider Services Manager and lead worker, and also includes from the MMIS BSU the Claims and Reference subsystem analysts. Among the many agenda items is a check in regarding any new edits or audits that have been implemented into the MMIS over the previous 30 days.

Additionally, a monthly usage audit is conducted for the 4 individuals in MMIS BSU who can update edits and audits in the MMIS.

- Recommend authority management strengthen controls over review to ensure transactions are adequately supported and the federal financial participation rate is correctly applied. Additionally, we recommend the authority reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

  The agencies immediately corrected the questioned costs by charging the transaction to the correct period federal participation rate and reimbursing the federal agency. The questioned costs of $124,851 was corrected with document BTCL8375 on March 4, 2021. The questioned federal costs of $213,575 was corrected with document number BTCL8382 on March 18, 2021. The refund was reported on the Title XXI FFY 2021 Q2 report to CMS.

  To ensure the appropriate program coding is used, OFS will send the Public Health program staff the appropriate program coding for inclusion on the CHIP Vaccine Value Report that is submitted quarterly to the Office of Financial Services (OFS). Adding the coding elements to the report (used as entry documentation) will help ensure the correct program codes are used on the approved request and entry.

  To ensure the correct FFP rate is used on the CHIP vaccine draw entry, OFS will update the internal process document to show the methodology change to claiming funds based on the date vaccines are administered rather than based on the date the vaccines are purchased.

  Remaining questioned costs in the amount of $77,214 were refunded using document BTCL8588 with a May 13, 2022, effective date. The refund is being reported to CMS on the FFY2022 Q3 CMS-21.

- Recommend authority management strengthen controls by providing periodic training to eligibility staff to reduce the risk of administrative errors. This training should ensure eligibility staff know how to verify and document income support. In addition, management should review benefits and program eligibility related to cases identified with questioned costs to ensure proper funding within CHIP and other applicable federal programs and should reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

The ODHS and OHA are committed to providing training and guidance to ensure staff know how to verify and document income support. The ODHS and OHA will review and update any existing training material and eligibility manuals and send communications to staff with this information. Additionally, the authority will work with the federal agency to reimburse for the unallowable costs.

OHA requested technical guidance from the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) on March 23, 2021. As 42 CFR 435.956(e), Oregon Administrative Rule, and Oregon's State Verification Plan all indicate that the state will accept self-attestation for this eligibility criteria, and not require proof, either pre- or post-eligibility, unless questionable, OHA is seeking CMS' position on whether this should be an audit finding of non-compliance resulting in the return of FMAP. At the time that the individual attested that she was pregnant, it was not questionable, staff followed procedure, and appropriate regulations, rules, and the State Verification Plan were followed. If CMS deems it a valid finding, OHA will work with the CMS to reimburse for the unallowable costs.

The Center for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) responded that per 42 C.F.R. § 435.945(a), states are permitted to accept self-attestation of information needed to determine the eligibility of an individual for Medicaid, except where law requires other procedures (e.g. citizenship or immigration status). States have flexibility to accept self-attestation of eligibility criteria, such as age or date of birth, income, state residency, and household composition. Consistent with 42 C.F.R. § 435.956(e), states must accept self-attestation of pregnancy, unless the state has information that is not reasonably compatible with the attestation. Additionally, states must describe these policies in their Verification Plan, per 42 C.F.R. § 435.945(j). In instances where an attestation is later determined to be incorrect, the state is not held liable for such an eligibility determination if the state followed its documented policies and procedures and all applicable federal rules.

- Recommend authority management strengthen controls over provider eligibility determinations and revalidations to ensure maintenance of updated agreements and disclosure statements in accordance with federal regulations and ensure all databases are checked timely.

  For the first item noted in this finding the validation box was missed due to staff error and as of February 2021, OHA obtained an updated disclosure statement and verified the death master file for the managing employee. The ongoing corrective action plan is already in place but was implemented after this provider was enrolled. To ensure current and future required validations are completed accurately and timely, the State pulls the missed validation report monthly seeking validations which were missed by enrollment staff. Validations which were missed are remediated. The missed validation reports have been pulled and worked monthly since April 2019 and will continue.

  For the second item noted in this finding OHA contacted both providers to obtain the missing documentation. As of March 1, 2021, OHA obtained a completed disclosure statement with required managing employee details from one of these providers. The second provider must complete the revalidation process by submitting a managing employee. This provider requested and was granted an extension. The Provider Enrollment Unit anticipates receiving information and completing revalidation by April 30, 2021. Should the provider fail to revalidate by the deadline, they will be inactivated as a Medicaid provider.

  For the third item noted in this finding OHA obtained a signed provider enrollment agreement and completed disclosure statement from one of these providers as of March 1, 2021. While the second provider failed to comply and is in the process of having their Medicaid participation inactivated.

  For the fourth item noted in this finding OHA obtained a completed disclosure statement for this provider as of March 1, 2021. The provider submitted the information prior to the close of the audit and prior to the March 31, 2021, revalidation deadline.

For the fifth item noted in this finding OHA obtained signed provider enrollment agreements and disclosure statements from five of the six providers as of March 1, 2021. The remaining provider failed to comply and is in the process of having their Medicaid participation inactivated. These providers are also currently going through the revalidation process and will all be required to provide updated enrollment agreement and disclosure forms.

The State is in the process of revalidating these providers but has been delayed due to the federal COVID-19 Disaster Relief 1135 waiver. The waiver allows revalidation to be delayed for providers that were due during the public health emergency. Federal guidelines state these revalidations must be completed within six months after the end of the public health emergency for compliance. To meet these requirements, OHA has begun revalidations and is on track to complete this work by August 31, 2021. The ongoing corrective action plan is already in place. Since 2019, the provider revalidation process mirrored the provider enrollment process by requiring the submission of an enrollment agreement and disclosure statements. Providers will not be enrolled or revalidated without the managing employee information, signed provider enrollment agreements or disclosure statements. All missing provider documents were received and one provider was end dated because they failed to respond by August 31, 2021.

As of August 31, 2021, the State had addressed all bullet points and obtained the missing managing employee information, new disclosure statements or new Enrollment Agreements for all providers in the sample. One provider was inactivated who failed to respond. Since 2019, the State has required new Enrollment Agreements and provider Disclosure documents for revalidating providers. Providers will not be revalidated without these documents and any provider failing to revalidate will have their Medicaid participation ended.

Regarding missed provider validations there is ongoing corrective action in place due to previous findings. Since April 2019, the State has been running monthly missed validation reports for newly enrolled or revalidated providers to ensure missed validations are completed. This process eliminates or reduces the risk of payments to providers who do not have evidence of complete validations.

5. OHA: Timely Notification of Inpatient Hospital Stays Could Help Reduce Improper Medicaid Payments, audit #2021-37 (dated December 2021)

- Reimburse the federal government for the federal portion of the identified improper payment amount.

  OHA is reviewing the NEMT claims and will pursue the appropriate actions to reimburse the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) for any improper payments. Additionally, technical assistance will be provided to the NEMT brokerages and providers found to be inappropriately billing. If intentional fraud, waste, or abuse is identified through this research and outreach OHA will pursue the appropriate legal remediations. OHA is collaborating with ODHS on the In-home service and private duty nursing for children that involves cross agency funding. ODHS has committed to researching the individual claims identified through the audit to determine necessary actions including repaying the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services for any inappropriate billing.

  Update: NEMT program (mostly within HSD), PDN and in-home services (mostly within APD/ODHS) are reviewing these claims. The current plan is to pull a quarterly report (2023 Q1) to look back one year on any payments that could be considered improper when an individual is inpatient. A list of codes is being collected to apply to this query.

- Develop and implement cost-effective controls that would prevent or detect improper payments for unallowable services while a Medicaid client is inpatient. Consider ways timely notification of hospital admissions could be integrated efficiently into claims processing.

  OHA is collaborating across program areas to identify cost-effective automation and process improvements.

  OHA is assessing the feasibility of expanding its current software analytical tools to perform pre and post-payment reviews. This could facilitate the automated review of payments to providers.

Until OHA can accomplish a cost-effective automation, OHA will conduct a quarterly data pull to include In-Patient claims where there is an additional claim type for the same dates of service as the In-Patient stay. The data elements of that report will include the following: Member Information, From Date of Service to Date of Service, and Claim Type. This quarterly report will be sent to the Medicaid Policy Unit in the Health Systems Division for assessment, analysis, and determination regarding any further action on those claims. If the Medicaid Policy Unit determines there is some potential solution that can be administered, they will work collaboratively with the MMIS team to determine the best course of action, or if any action can be taken in the current system environment. The inpatient claims data will also be shared with ODHS for review and remediation of claims outside of MMIS. During the Public Health Emergency related to COVID-19, beginning in 2020, OHA and ODHS collaborated on an emergency waiver to Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) to stabilize the system and offer additional supports to Medicaid eligible individuals. Specifically, one part of the waiver allowed OHA and ODHS to provide personal care supports while an individual was hospitalized. OHA and ODHS have found that the waiver has provided a necessary benefit to the members we serve. Jointly, we have included this flexibility as a new, ongoing service as part of the state's 1915(k) and 1915(i) state plan amendments to be a permanent component of HCBS to eligible individuals. Approvals for HCBS providers to serve individuals in hospitals are made by the case management entities or the central policy teams. Additionally, ODHS is currently researching further controls the agency can put in place to prevent future inappropriate billing from occurring and will be included in OHA discussions regarding potential automation of reviews. As the single state Medicaid agency for Oregon, OHA holds the ultimate responsibility for the administration, compliance, and accuracy of Oregon's Medicaid program and will establish quarterly meetings with ODHS to ensure mechanisms are in place to identify and implement cross systems risks and mitigation.

Update: The Medicaid policy team is partnering with the claims teams to understand all the codes that could potentially be inappropriate while a member is inpatient. After this partnership is established, quarterly data pulls will begin, the first being planned for 2023 Q1. Any improper payments will be sent to the appropriate financial partners to recoup/remedy. There could still be a long-term solution involving statewide real-time inpatient hospital data, but there is currently not a system available to gather this level of information.

6. ODHS and OHA: Statewide Single Audit Including Selected Financial Accounts and Federal Awards for the Year Ended June 30, 2021, audit #2022-18 (dated July 2022)

- We recommend department and authority management strengthen review controls to ensure only allowable expenditures are charged to the Medicaid program. Additionally, we recommend the authority reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

  The Office of Financial Services will continue to consult with and advise program on the need for accurate coding and review of vendor payments to ensure proper funding is used for the services provided. Questioned costs were corrected with documents BTCL4471 and BTCL4473 and the appropriate amount was refunded to the federal agency.

- We recommend department and authority management strengthen controls to ensure documentation supporting a provider's eligibility determination and revalidation is retained and is complete.

  ODHS – Aging and People with Disabilities (APD) Response:

  The department's expectation to have a correctly completed and retained I-9 for homecare workers was reinforced by the department with APD and Area Agency on Aging (AAA) program managers, district managers, supervisors, and support staff responsible for completing I-9s in APD and AAA offices meetings held on 4/13/22, 5/10/22, 5/11/22, and 5/26/22. The Local office staff were reminded of the legal requirement to correctly complete and retain the form and have it readily available for inspection. Local office staff were reminded of the resources available to assist with completing and retaining I-9s, particularly referencing the information memorandum issued in 2019 on how to correctly fill out an I-9 for homecare workers (APD-IM-19-062), the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services' Handbook for Employers (M-274) and referenced the information available on the case management tools webpage for APD/AAA staff. Additionally, in August 2021, we implemented the process of uploading HCW provider applications, supporting documentation and renewals into EDMS as noted in APD-AR-21-039, which were previously maintained in paper files at the local office. This will assist with the finding and retention of records.

ODHS - Intellectual/Developmental Disabilities Response:

For a short-term solution, we are implementing a random sampling Quality Assurance by the Provider Enrollment team. Currently, there is a QA staff who is monitoring agency enrollments, but we are having them also include Personal Support Worker items as well. Our current Fiscal Intermediary, Public Partnerships, are processing the I-9s currently and we will go into their system to check for any missing items.

- We recommend authority management strengthen internal controls to ensure each MLR report contains all required information.

  OHA has increased the staff assigned to the medical loss ratio report review for CY2020 and based on feedback through the audit, has already improved review to ensure the allocations are filled out by all CCOs for CY2020 (current filing period under review). The three managed care entities missing this information in CY2019 completed the information for the updated filing. OHA will continue to review and follow-up with filings from managed care plans to ensure they are complete for this filing and future filings.

  OHA completed the 2020 review and ensured the allocations are filled out by CCOs in the evaluation phase.

- We recommend department management develop and implement procedures to help ensure the accuracy of amounts reported in the monthly financial reports. Additionally, we recommend department management work with the CDC to revise and resubmit the inaccurate reports.

  Our corrective action plan to improve financial reporting accuracy is as follows:

- All ELC monthly financial reporting will be assigned to our current ELC Fiscal Analyst.
- ELC Fiscal Analyst will submit monthly financial reports and the query used to generate the reports to the Office of Financial Services (OFS) for review and approval.
- ELC Fiscal Analyst will then revise monthly financial reports based on OFS feedback.
- Following OFS approval, monthly financial reports will be entered into REDCap by ELC administrative staff. A second staff member will verify that data entry is accurate.
- ELC Fiscal Analyst will reach out to CDC to develop a plan to revise and resubmit inaccurate reports.

- We recommend the authority return the questioned costs to the Department of Health and Human Services.

  The Oregon Health Authority has processed the refund with a May 13, 2022, effective date using document BTCL8588.

- We recommend management strengthen internal controls to ensure appropriate subrecipient monitoring is performed. Specifically, monitoring procedures should be performed timely and should be designed to ensure subrecipients use program monies for allowable purposes. We also recommend management seek reimbursement of program monies that were not spent by subrecipients or were used for indirect costs and reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

  Health Systems Division (HSD) is developing a more robust grant compliance monitoring process and we are researching and procuring grant management software. As of April 2023, all counties (subrecipients) have refunded their unspent funds. All counties receiving funds have submitted their required expenditure reports.

- We recommend management strengthen internal controls to ensure subaward information is accurately communicated to all subrecipients. We also recommend management ensure a risk assessment is completed for each subrecipient.

  Finding: Inaccurate/incomplete subaward information communicated

  HSD – Behavioral Health Response:

  - Corrected the link to subaward information website; created an internal tracking sheet for subrecipients of federal funds and to verify that all required subaward information has been accurately posted.

  Public Health Division Response:

  - The Public Health Division will ensure that subrecipient designations are reviewed and validated as a part of the contract amendment process. Should funds that operate like CRF come to the Public Health Division in the future, necessary grant documentation such as Project Officer name will be collected from DAS in the grant set-up process.

  Health Equity Response:

  - Future awards related for these purposes that have federal funds will provide all appropriate subaward information in communication.

  Health Equity Response:

  - Future awards for these purposes that have federal funds will assure that risk assessments are completed as required.

7. OHA: The Challenging Implementation of Measure 110 Has Increased Risks, but the Effectiveness of the Program Has yet to Be Determined, audit #2023-03 (dated January 2023)

- We recommend the agency publish a plan by September 2023 for how the M110 program integrates into the overall behavioral health system in Oregon.

  OHA agrees that the behavioral health system in Oregon needs a comprehensive strategic plan that incorporates Measure 110. As new leaders join the agency, OHA will develop a strategic behavioral health action plan, which the agency will evolve and regularly adjust over time based on community engagement, ongoing data collection and funding available to address program priorities. OHA will issue the first iteration of this strategic priority framework (which will include M110) by September 30, 2023.

- We recommend the agency identify and document gaps that prevent detailed metrics from being implemented that would track the overall effectiveness and impact of M110.

  - Develop and communicate a plan for addressing the gaps to appropriate stakeholders. Emphasis should be placed on developing metrics that allow policy makers and the public to effectively assess the impact and effectiveness of the M110 program.

  OHA acknowledges that continued data collection is necessary to accurately measure the effectiveness of M110. Since the inception of M110, there have been barriers to adequate data collection due to changes to the behavioral health reporting system (MOTS) and challenges at the Partner level (e.g. experience level, capacity) that have hindered ideal data collection efforts.

  In 2023, a state-level health records system, coined Resilience Outcomes Analysis and Data Submission (or ROADS), is expected to replace MOTS and allow all Providers to report client-level data on M110-related services. ROADS will have the capacity to store requirements specific to those outlined in SB755; BHRN Partners will be able to submit the client-level data necessary to evaluate the outcomes of M110. In addition to the creation of ROADS, OHA is nearing completion of a Behavioral Health Data Warehouse (BHDW) that will allow analysts to connect client-level information across reporting systems. This will ultimately create a system that connects information on Class E Violations and dismissals, access to treatment services, demographics, and outcomes at the client-level. Client level data on M110 services will allow OHA analysts to better determine metrics such as rates of screening waivers and subsequent treatment plan initiation and completion across different geographic and demographic categories.

OHA acknowledges that many BHRN Partners are new to health care and reporting systems. To avoid over-burdening the Partners, and in accordance with the suggested removal of unnecessary burdens on behavioral health providers as described in HB5202, OHA and the OAC approved a Phased Data Work Plan for 2022-2023. The Work Plan requires aggregated data submission from all BHRN Partners, regardless of some organizations' capability to submit additional data. This will allow OHA to view trends and outcomes on an aggregate level and allows the BHRNs to submit data requirements at the same frequency.

In addition to the Work Plan, OHA is currently monitoring M110-related data in other statewide reporting systems. This includes drug-related death and hospitalization data from the Center of Health Statistics, Medicaid claims data on SUD diagnoses and treatment services, and poison control data. Because these systems have historical data prior to M110 implementation, they can provide baseline information for evaluating the effect of M110 statewide.

While the ultimate responsibility to ensure this happens falls to the M110 program, the actions needed will require a cross-agency collaboration between the Health Systems Division and Health Policy & Analytics to ensure effective implementation.

- We recommend the agency document policies and procedures for the M110 program, including:
    - Clear expectations, roles, and responsibilities; and,

- Trainings for grant applicants and evaluators, grants management, stipends, and conflicts of interest.

a) The M110 program has documented policies and procedures for program interaction with the Oversight and Accountability Council, BHRN Grant administration processes, chapter 944 rulemaking/changing process in collaboration with the OAC. These policies and procedures include the roles and responsibilities for the involved parties. Currently the policies and procedures are up to date and will continue to be reviewed annually and revised as needed.

b) Trainings:

- Grant applicant and evaluator: Once the OAC determines the next BHRN funding model, The M110 Program will create a webinar training for grant applicants and a training for grant evaluators.
- Grant administration: The M110 program currently utilizes the DAS contract administration training as well as M110 contract administrator orientation focused on all foundational aspects of M110. The program will continue to utilize these avenues of training grant administrators. Once the OAC determines the process for the next funding cycle, OHA will assist the OAC by making recommendations for the next evaluation process. Due to the current grant expirations, this should be completed by December 31, 2024 for the next grant cycle.
- Stipends: Currently, OAC members are trained on claiming stipends on an individual, as needed basis. The M110 program is currently developing a training to be delivered to the entire council once a year. We expect to have this training developed and available for the council to add to their agenda by June 2023. The OAC will then determine if and when to complete the training.
- Conflicts of Interest: The M110 program has and will continue to provide the Oregon Government Ethics Training by the office of the Oregon Government Ethics Commission (OGEC). M110 will also continue to collect conflict of interest declarations from council members in writing and before council votes on funding decisions. OHA does not have the authority to limit the involvement of OAC members based on their declared or perceived conflicts of interest.

- OHA should recommend to the OAC to expand collaboration with:
    - The Department of Corrections to address substance use disorders of adults in custody;
    - Housing stakeholders such as Oregon Housing and Community Services and the Oregon Interagency Council on Homelessness to leverage expertise specifically on the intersection of housing and substance use disorder;
    - Opioid Settlement Prevention, Treatment and Recovery.

OHA will offer contacts within these various organizations to the OAC. If the OAC chooses to collaborate with any of the entities, OHA will offer to further assist in facilitating those discussions. Thank you for the opportunity to collaborate. We are excited about the value the M110 Program has and will continue to add to the lives of those living in Oregon. An offer to increase collaboration with the outside agencies listed in the recommendation was presented to the tri-chairs. The offer was taken under advisement.

8. ODHS and OHA: Statewide Single Audit Including Selected Financial Accounts and Federal Awards for the Year Ended June 30, 2022, audit #2023-21 (dated July 2023)

- We recommend management strengthen internal controls to ensure leased asset, lease liability, and accumulated amortization is appropriately valued and ensure all leases meeting the criteria of GASB 87 are recorded. We also recommend management strengthen internal controls to ensure expenditures and offsetting other financing sources related to leases are recorded to the appropriate governmental funds.

The Office of Financial Services (OFS) has reviewed and corrected all initial lease entries within the GASB87 software as per the audit findings. OFS has also created a new D23 fund per guidance to record entries in the appropriate financing source. OFS will create detailed GASB87 procedures to follow to ensure accurate reporting in the future years.

- We recommend management ensure accounting entries are complete, accurate, and made in accordance with accounting standards. Additionally, management should develop and implement a process to modify year-end entries if expected adjustments do not occur within expected timeframes.

  The Office of Financial Services Statewide Financial Reporting (SFR) Unit will engage more closely with staff providing year-end system transaction details to ensure all elements of the data are accounted for are still anticipated to be completed by September 30. Specific to this finding, SFR has also adjusted the year end process for the cash accrual to avoid missing transactions affecting cash. Additionally, written processes are being updated with greater details.

- We recommend department management ensure controls are properly designed and implemented to record only allowable expenditures to the appropriate federal programs.

  The identified expenditures were initially charged to the MHBG in error, and when the error was found by OHA staff, the funding source was corrected to SAPT for the authorized $8.1 million prior to the SOS audit beginning. There was still $2.3 million remaining coded to MHBG which after extensive review and leadership decision, has now been re-coded appropriately. OHA's existing internal controls identified this issue initially, no additional corrective action is needed.

- We recommend department management ensure controls are properly designed and implemented to record only allowable expenditures to the MHBG. We further recommend department management seek SAMHSA approval for minor alterations and renovations.

  OHA intended to have an interagency agreement with ODHS to co-fund an improvement to a much-needed treatment facility for children. OHA submitted the payment per our agreement with the vendor with the expectation that ODHS would fund the non-SAMHSA allowable expenses. The vendor used the funds for minor safety related renovations as one would expect them to prioritize before programmatic costs. But unfortunately, the ODHS payment was never made to OHA which prevented any additional funds from being sent to the vendor. Then, pandemic constraints along with a lack of funding prevented the vendor from being able to finalize their plan in the initial time frame. OHA sought a legal review, and the recommendation was made to cleave the contract from ODHS and allow the vendor additional time to finish their work. Upon cleaving the contract, the elements that OHA knows to be unallowable for SAMHSA funding were left in the contract because the contractor had already performed the work. OHA is awaiting a final review of expenditure reports and will request SAMHSA approval if warranted or adjust funding codes as needed to align with SAMHSA allowable charges.

- We recommend department management ensure recipients of federal funds are appropriately identified as subrecipients or contractors and the corresponding disbursement of federal funds are appropriately reported as direct or pass-through expenditures. We further recommend department management comply with subrecipient monitoring requirements, develop and implement internal controls to ensure risk assessments are performed and documented for each subrecipient, and monitoring activities are completed and documented according to risk assessment results.

  HSD Contracts team has already implemented additional checklists to ensure subrecipients and vendors are identified and coded properly. We will be making the checklist automated through our grant management process and fully implemented by this fall.

- We recommend department management implement controls to ensure applicable expenditures are adequately tracked and calculations applicable to the maintenance of effort requirements are consistently performed across fiscal years. We further recommend department management work with the federal awarding agency to submit corrected maintenance effort totals to ensure appropriateness of future maintenance of effort determinations.

  There were inconsistencies in how Maintenance of Effort (MOE) has been calculated. The applicable expenditures were not consistently or accurately calculated in each state fiscal year. The use of Marijuana paid expenses were not consistently used for both Mental Health and Substance Abuse Block Grant. We have met with SAMHSA MHBG State Project Office (SPO) for clarification on how Marijuana funds can be utilized in the calculation for the MOE. We have received guidance and clarification. We have recalculated MOE for the Block grants for SFY2022, SFY2021, and SFY2020 and are still doing data checks on these recalculations. With any changes to be made to previous years' MOE calculations, we must resubmit the request and reasons behind the changes to the SAMHSA project officers. HSD Budget is working on a written desk procedures to ensure applicable expenditures are adequately tracked and calculated to the maintenance of effort requirements and are consistently performed.

- We recommend department management resume FFATA reporting as soon as feasible and ensure all necessary subawards are reported. We further recommend department management implement controls to ensure all subawards are appropriately tracked and reported.

  On April 4, 2022, the federal government made a switch in the identifying information required for a subrecipient, changing from the previously used DUNS to a newly assigned Unique Entity Identifier (UEI). ODHS/OHA was not made aware of the upcoming federal switch until late March 2022. OHA's Office of Contracts & Procurement (OC&P) is working directly with Program Contract Administrator's to request the missing UEIs. As the data comes in from Program it is being validated for accuracy and updated in the appropriate systems, so when all missing UEIs from a given FAIN's report month are collected, all NTE changes can be made immediately. OC&P is confident all FFATA reporting related to this audit will be submitted by August 31, 2023.

- We recommend management ensure controls over the draw process are designed and implemented to review and identify calculation errors.

  This was a criteria filter error in the accountant's data query as developed in the transition from one query tool to another. This criteria filter has been corrected and the data query is now operating correctly. The referenced grant is currently in balance, revenue is balanced to expenditures. The reconciliation, which would have identified this anomaly, was delayed for this quarter. In the future, a full reconciliation to the general ledger system of record will occur quarterly to ensure this is not repeated.

- We recommend department management comply with subrecipient monitoring requirements by implementing and documenting a procedure that evaluates each subrecipient's risk of noncompliance for the purpose of determining and performing the appropriate monitoring for each subrecipient. We also recommend department management implement procedures to ensure federal subrecipient versus contractor determinations result in accurate reporting on the SEFA.

  To comply with subrecipient monitoring requirements, the authority will implement our documented procedures. We will evaluate subrecipient's risk of noncompliance for the purpose of determining and performing the appropriate monitoring for each subrecipient. We will ensure each subrecipient completes the grantee self-risk assessment survey we've created; once completed and submitted this survey will generate a monitoring guidance document based on if the grantee was determined low, moderate, or high risk. This risk assessment survey and guidance document will help inform appropriate subrecipient monitoring. The auto-generated word document is emailed to the identified OHA staff, stored in the software's report, and can be accessed by staff on an OHA intranet page (OWL site).

  Additionally, the authority will ensure accurate federal subrecipient versus contractor determinations. We will evaluate and improve current determination procedures, develop a comprehensive checklist or guidance document based on improvement recommendations, determine who has the primary responsibility for subrecipient determinations, and provide training as needed.

- We recommend department management implement internal controls to ensure performance progress reports are complete and accurate prior to report submission.

  To ensure performance progress reports are complete and accurate prior to report submission, the department will review current internal controls and plans to implement revised or new controls. The current process steps we are reviewing include:

  - Sending the completed report via email to the program manager requesting they review the report for completeness and accuracy.

- Documenting approval via email confirmation that the report is complete and accurate prior to submission to federal funders.

There is a need to revisit the internal control of having only managers designated to review the federal performance progress reports; we plan to discuss having the following individuals designated to conduct this review: principal investigator, grant coordinator, active partner, or manager.

- We recommend department management correct the entries and reimburse excess cash drawn to the federal agency for unallowable costs. We also recommend department management revise the review procedures to verify that the same expenditure transactions are not duplicated in multiple batches.

  Corrective action plan:
  - The agency has reviewed the questioned costs and has corrected the entries with BTCL7084 and reimbursed the federal programs.
  - The department has regular processes to review for duplicate adjusting entries. However, this process was missed for this entry.
  - Department management will work with department staff to reinforce their understanding of the need to follow these processes to ensure transactions are not adjusted more than once.

- We recommend management implement procedures to ensure that all employee payroll submissions are properly reviewed, and payroll is appropriately charged to the correct cost center or program.

  The Oregon Immunization Program (OIP) section manager immediately notified all supervisory managers and administrative support staff of the finding on June 5th. Finding: "As part of our testing of program expenditures, we found that 3 of 134 timesheets were not reviewed by a manager prior to release into the payroll system." Supervisory managers were reminded that it is an expectation of their position to ensure that payroll time entries are thoroughly reviewed, and discrepancies resolved, and final entries approve according to agency requirements – on time, every month.

On June 5th, program administrative staff and the section manager began development of an internal standard operating procedure (SOP) that will thoroughly document the steps the program requires of supervisory managers to assure that all employee payroll submissions are properly reviewed, and payroll is appropriately charged to the correct cost center or program. The final SOP will be signed by each supervisory manager in the program, and included in a quarterly Performance, Accountability and Feedback (PAF) session between each supervisory manager and the section manager.

The final SOP will be delivered to the offices of the Secretary of State Audit Division, and DAS once approved by the Division management, and signed by each OIP supervisory manager.

This finding and the resolution will be shared as well with our funder, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, as required by our cooperative agreement.

- We recommend management correct the accounting error and ensure the expenditures are charged to the correct programs. We also recommend the department determine if there are additional questioned costs relating to the advanced cash draw as the federal programs have different timing for federal reimbursements.

  Corrective action plan:

  - Adjust the two identified payments charged to the grant in error
  - Adjust the erroneous charges to the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) grant
  - Complete internal audit of expenditures and adjust any non-grant compliant expenditures out of this grant prior to federal financial reporting and close-out.

- We recommend management ensure wireless device charges are properly reviewed, and expenditures are charged to the correct cost center or program. We also recommend management implement procedures to ensure all employee payroll submissions are reviewed and approved by program management.

The questioned costs related to cell phone charges appear to have resulted from a lack of formal process in the Coronavirus Response and Recovery Unit. This unit has closed, and departments have returned to standardized formal processes.

Corrective action plan:

- Prior to "COVID-19" processes and procedures will be followed
- Administrative staff will parse cell phone charges and code invoices according to employee payroll
- Approving manager will review coding for accuracy prior to approval

- We recommend department management maintain the necessary internal controls to ensure the monthly financial reports are accurate and agree to the accounting records.

  As noted in your audit letter, our financial reporting accuracy had been remedied for all historical and current reports by March 2023. Unfortunately, these improvements were not in place by June 30, 2022, and, for that reason, a finding was noted.

  Corrective action plan:

  - All monthly financial reporting has been assigned to our Fiscal Analyst
  - The Fiscal Analyst submits monthly financial reports and the query used to generate the reports to the Office of Financial Services (OFS) for review and approval
  - The Fiscal Analyst revises monthly financial reports based on OFS feedback
  - Following OFS approval, monthly financial reports are entered into CAMP by an ELC administrative staff member and verified by a second team member

- We recommend department and authority management strengthen controls over the OR-PTC system to ensure transactions are adequately supported and reviewed.

The department is engaged in ongoing efforts to mitigate this risk through continued communications with local offices and their leadership around the importance of correct data entry and reviewing changes to our KPI's that we report quarterly to CMS.

Regional Readiness Coordinators (RRCs) provide training, reinforce best practices, review business processes, and provide feedback on issues we are seeing to reduce incidences of human error. The department will also continue to review and research authorizations for Mileage and Time entries that do not align with existing claims to determine where additional RRC support is needed.

Several system enhancements and changes slated for June 2023 are intended to help providers claim time accurately and reduce local office workload associated with reviewing pending entries. This will not fully resolve the issues noted by SOS, however, implementation of phase 2A of the Provider Time Capture System, which is scheduled to go into production July 12, 2024, will eliminate the need for local offices to manually enter mileage or hours into the mainframe payment systems and will automatically flag discrepancies between OR PTC DCI and the Mainframe.

The department has corrected all identified issues discovered through the audit process.

- We recommend department and authority management strengthen controls over review to ensure transactions are adequately supported and reviewed. Additionally, we recommend the authority reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

  ODHS Facilities Management Response for Finding #1: The Office of Facilities Management (OFM) is committed to providing accurate coding for payments. Communications have been made with staff responsible for coding invoices and the need to conduct thorough reviews to ensure coding is accurate and charged to the appropriate funding source for the goods or services the agency is being invoiced for. OFM will be communicating with the programs that provide coding to confirm that the information provided appropriately aligns with the intended use of the funds. The department will review current processes and forms to ensure there is sufficient detail to verify accuracy. Questioned costs of $1,361 in Federal Funds (and $2,722 in Total Funds) paid with invoice number VP815455, was corrected on 4/26/2023 with document BTCL1412.

ODHS, Aging and People with Disabilities (APD) Response for Finding #2: The department is committed to storing and retaining supporting documentation for all authorized payments. The processes and procedures on contract bidding and approval associated with payment authorization for 1915k services and support are being reviewed and improvements such as central repositories are being explored. Once analysis and improvements are complete, they will be documented and communicated to staff within the department and to the Office of Financial Services for awareness. Additionally, as part of succession plan development, the department will create intentional opportunities for knowledge transfer, shared document storage, and increased transparency amongst work teams, which will assist with document location in the context of unexpected personnel changes.

The department will reimburse the federal agency for any unallowable costs.

- We recommend authority management reimburse the federal agency for unallowable costs.

  As indicated in the report and as of January 1, 2020, authority management updated the MMIS data tables to ensure all future provider payments were made at the correct rate. Additionally, authority management updated control procedures to ensure MMIS data tables are updated timely and accurately. The recoupment of funds paid for incorrect rates will be completed through the FFS cost settlement process. We expect to have this completed on or before June 30, 2024. We will evaluate the use of alternate recoupment processes in the event of future corrections.

- We recommend department management strengthen controls to ensure documentation supporting a provider's eligibility determination and revalidation is complete.

  ODDS Response: The department is committed to having completed I-9 forms on file for all Personal Support Workers through our Fiscal Intermediary. The Provider Enrollment Unit now has a quality assurance staff who will conduct spot checks of the FI work. This is in process now and reviews will continue. ODDS has also just implemented in our fiscal intermediary's contract to now perform a stricter I9 processing. They will now be implementing tighter controls and stricter criteria for the corresponding documents that are required when accepting new I9.

APD Response: The department is committed to having completed I-9 forms on file for all employees and homecare workers. This expectation, as it relates to homecare workers, was reinforced by the department at the Client Employment Program Annual Summit held on 3/28/23 and 3/29/23. This Summit was attended by approximately 160 local office staff. Local office staff were instructed on how to properly fill out the I-9 form and retention requirements. Staff were also reminded of resources available to answer questions, including central office points of contact.

The department is also exploring short- and long-term solutions to mitigate this risk, including creating a peer review process on business procedures across the state intended to assist in not only accuracy, but knowledge transfer, developmental growth, and mentoring opportunities. The department may also explore system changes that would automatically validate the completion of tasks related to provider enrollment and renewals, including the presence of required documentation. We are exploring the option of using e-Verify for validation of I9s, for both central office and at the local office level.

9. OHA: Poor Accountability and Transparency Harm Medicaid Patients and Independent Pharmacies, audit #2023-25 (dated August 2023)

- Expand contract provisions to more proactively monitor and enforce contract compliance and further develop monitoring processes that will give OHA reasonable assurance CCOs and PBMs are in compliance. Consider the following:
    - Require CCOs to obtain a yearly independent audit of their PBM for high-risk areas. An independent audit could help give OHA reasonable assurance that CCOs and their PBMs are in compliance. Note that a yearly audit should not replace a CCO's responsibility for on-going monitoring.
    - Incorporate monitoring results into the contracting process to improve oversight and program outcomes.

- Update the CCO contract to apply the review requirement to all CCO-PBM amendments.
- Require PBM contracts to be pass-through.

OHA conducts an annual CCO contract restatement process. These recommended considerations can be included in the 2025 restatement, which will begin in February 2024. The specific considerations identified are partially represented in the existing CCO contract.

- Yearly independent audit – Currently a subcontractor performance audit is required for all high-risk subcontractors, which would include PBMs. The audits are conducted by CCOs. In addition, an annual PBM market check is conducted by a third party on behalf of the CCOs, for those not using OPDP. The contract could be changed to include an independent audit for PBMs; this would incur additional costs for all CCOs.
- Incorporate monitoring results into contracting process – The addition of Quality Assurance staff with the background and experience to enable contract oversight without the appearance of conflict of interest.
- Update CCO contract to apply review requirements to all CCO-PBM amendments or contract renewals. Currently, this requirement only applies to pay-for-performance PBM subcontracts. This could be changed as part of the next contract restatement process to apply to all CCO-PBM amendments and contract renewals.

OHA's CCO PBM readiness review includes a market check requirement, which could be expanded to include an audit of the PBM annually. The third-party nature of this market check requirement along with an annual audit would indeed give more assurances to OHA and better position CCOs to oversee their PBMs' behavior. As noted in the report, CCOs are permitted to utilize OPDP/ArrayRx as their PBM; only one CCO currently elected to utilize this option. It is important to note that OPDP/ArrayRx do perform a third-party review and market check for all programs participating in interstate cooperative agreement. Additionally, OPDP/ArrayRx conducts quarterly sample audits to ensure claim submission and payment accuracy for a diverse subset of claims processed for our participating programs. Annually, ArrayRx completes an audit representing in excess of 50% of its total claims. This audit assesses the accuracy of 100% of claims that are processed by our PBM for these programs (as opposed to audits that are conducted in quarterly PBM audits). The most recent audit results showed that OPDP/ArrayRx PBM had a 99.99% accuracy rate.

We agree that all subsequent contract amendments between PBMs and CCOs should be subject to OHA review and approval. This can be in place for the 2025 contract. OHA also agrees that PBM contracts should be pure pass-through contracts moving forward and will change the PBM readiness review process to reflect this. To successfully address the additional analytics and oversight necessary, it would be helpful to find a path to effectively resource OHA. A recent legal settlement between Oregon and a PBM highlights the need to have a dedicated resource that can assist with audits, oversight, and review of PBM activities performed to best serve our Medicaid members. It would benefit all parts of OHA and other agencies to have a centralized pharmacy purchasing resource that can manage multiple pharmacy claims databases and ensure all Oregon agencies stay ahead of market changes that happen quickly and covertly within the pharmacy space.

- Assign staff without a conflict of interest to monitor CCO and PBM compliance.

  OHA agrees with this recommendation; however, staffing challenges have led to leveraging staff who have knowledge and expertise in the PBM contracting and pharmacy space. It was noted by OHA staff and confirmed by DOJ that a potential conflict of interest existed if OPDP/ArrayRx staff—who currently have this expertise—were to review CCOs' PBM materials. After the first CCO PBM readiness review, OHA did take steps to mitigate the conflict of interest by removing OHA's Director of Pharmacy Policy, Programs and Purchasing from all subsequent reviews. However, the remaining staff member—the OPDP/ArrayRx Operations Manager—still has a conflict of interest. It should be noted that other divisions within OHA and other Oregon agencies struggle to identify independent pharmacy analytic, policy, and purchasing resources, which suggests these resources are needed statewide. OHA intends to pursue adding resources to ensure availability of staff without a conflict of interest.

Oregon Health Authority
Gender Equity Report

The Oregon Health Authority (OHA) Gender Equity Report provides progress and plans in achieving equal access to appropriate services for individuals under 18 years of age who are either female or male.[1] This report is required by ORS 417.270 (House Bill 3576 Equal Access to Appropriate Services for Girls and Boys).

Due to the scope of OHA's activities, the information in this report is organized programmatically as opposed to agency wide. This report includes information from OHA's Public Health Division (PHD) and the ODHS-OHA (Shared Services or "SS") Office of Contracts & Procurement (OC&P). This report covers updates on program activities, plans and data between July 1, 2020 through June 30, 2021.

Public Health Division

The Public Health Division (PHD) has several initiatives addressing youth services.

Center for Prevention & Health Promotion: Adolescent, Genetic and Reproductive Health Section

The Reproductive Health (RH) Program works with 150 clinics throughout Oregon to offer free or low-cost reproductive health services and birth control for adults and teens who need them. The program seeks to promote reproductive autonomy by ensuring people in Oregon have access to high-quality reproductive and sexual health services, knowledge, and resources through partnerships with clinics,

[1] OHA recognizes that considering services in terms of only binary gender is not representative of the people in Oregon. This report includes data related to the statute's requirements and includes a recommendation that the Legislature revisit and revise this statute to be gender-affirming and inclusive.

community organizations, and policy makers. In Fiscal Year (FY) 2021, a total of 31,609 clients accessed services at RH Program clinics statewide. Of these, 2,668 (8.4%) were under the age of 18. Males under the age of 18 represented less than 1% of the total clients served while females under the age of 18 represented 7.9% of the total clients served. The RH Program clinic network, in particular School Based Health Centers, had limited services during the acute phase of the COVID-19 pandemic resulting in a significant drop in youth clients accessing services during this time.

Limited contraceptive methods for males means fewer services are available for male clients. National standards for preventive services include more reproductive health screenings for females than for males.

The RH Program also supports clinics throughout the state in best practices and quality care through training, technical assistance, and resource development and distribution.

FY 2021 activities included:

- In spring and summer 2020, we supported our clinic network in adapting to providing telehealth services in a client centered manner;
- Between July 2020-February 2021, we hosted a webinar series for our clinic network on improving care for LGBTQ+ clients; and
- In January 2021, we hosted a webinar for community-based organizations on Working with Youth.

The Adolescent & School Health program supports school health services through its School-Based Health Center (SBHC) Program and School Nurse Consultant position and health education through the Youth Sexual Health program.

The SBHC Program certifies and supports SBHCs throughout Oregon. SBHCs are a unique health care model for comprehensive physical, mental and preventive health services provided to youth and adolescents either within a school or on school property. Easy access to health care in a school setting reduces barriers such as cost, transportation, and concerns surrounding confidentiality that often keep children and youth from seeking health services they need. SBHCs provide a full range of physical, mental, reproductive, and preventative health services to students regardless of their ability to pay. Each SBHC is staffed by a primary care professional (who may be a doctor, nurse practitioner, or physician's assistant), other medical or mental health professionals, and support staff, such as a receptionist. During fiscal year 2021, SBHCs in 25 counties served 17,370 youth ages 0 to 17 representing 61% of all SBHC clients. Of those clients, 55% were female, 45% were male and fewer than 1% were identified as transgender. However, it should be noted that this data comes through electronic health record systems which may not be fully equipped to capture gender outside of traditional binary options and it is highly likely that the number of transgender clients is undercounted.

The State School Nurse Consultant provides technical assistance and professional development to nurses working in Oregon schools. The State School Nurse Consultant works to achieve gender equity by supporting school nurse services that are easily accessible to all students, and which address the needs of all genders. Notable activities in FY 2021 includes:

- Revisions to the Oregon School Nurse Manual expanded focus areas related to gender equity and gender-responsive care, with increased emphasis on social wellbeing and mental, behavioral, and sexual health in Oregon. In collaboration with the School Nurse Advisory Group, the State School Nurse Consultant revises and updates the Oregon School Nurse Manual, which is provided to nurses during School Nurse Orientations.

- In collaboration with the Oregon School Nurses' Association (OSNA), the State School Nurse Consultant supports professional development opportunities for school nurses, including spring and fall Conferences. School nurse conferences in FY 2019 reached almost 200 registered nurses, who collectively serve schools with approximately 300,000 of Oregon's students. Professional development increases knowledge and skill in care provision, and can increase retention, ensuring nurses are well-prepared and available to serve all students. OHA is funding OSNA to develop professional tools designed to aid school nurses and school nurse teams as they plan and respond to COVID-19 and other communicable disease outbreaks. The tools, designed by school nurses from across the state, will also help improve school nurse practice and build more robust school health infrastructure in support of school and student recovery.

The Youth Sexual Health Program works to achieve gender equity by:

- Supporting K-12 comprehensive sexuality education inclusive of gender and sexual orientation as a solution to multiple public health issues, including child sexual abuse prevention, suicide prevention, and sexual violence prevention. This work also supports school districts' implementation of Erin's Law, the Healthy Teens Relationship Act, and Human Sexuality Education laws.
- In April of 2021, Oregon Health Authority and OHSU's University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD) presented at the Oregon Statewide Transition Conference about the Friendships and Dating project. In this presentation, preliminary results from the student and teacher surveys were shared.
- In the Fall of 2020, the PHD's Maternal and Child Health Program took over the interactive mapping tool connecting youth sexual health data and comprehensive sexuality education policy implementation in local school districts from the Injury and Violence Prevention Program. The map will relaunch in 2022/2023.
- Oregon Department of Education and OHA collaborated with researchers Eva Goldfarb, PhD and Lisa Lieberman, PhD to present their findings Three Decades of Research: The Case for Comprehensive Sexuality Education via webinar.

Oregon is one of the first states in the nation to adopt a comprehensive and inclusive measure of gender identity in its youth survey, the Oregon Student Health Survey (formerly Oregon Healthy Teens Survey), to ensure every youth has their identity counted. In response to youth comments regarding health-related topics the survey should address, the Oregon Healthy Teens (OHT) Advisory Committee in 2016 explored the feasibility of including a more expansive gender identity question in the OHT Survey. Since then, OHA has continued to refine the question with additional feedback from community partners, academics, and youth. In the 2020 Student Health Survey, multiple response options for gender identity were provided, including transgender female, transgender male, gender nonconforming, something else fits better (specify), and unsure of my gender identity. Further refinement of this question based on evolving language preferences and qualitative responses is planned.

The majority of 8th and 11th grade students identified as either exclusively female or male. About 8% of 8th and 11th grade students identified as transgender, gender nonconforming, some other gender identity, not sure of their gender, or indicated multiple gender identities.

The Student Health Survey affirms the knowledge that female and gender diverse youth face systematic oppression and disproportionate impacts of health inequities throughout Oregon, such as:

- Food insecurity
- Missing school because they felt unsafe
- Not feeling connected to a supportive teacher or adult at school
- Being bullied
- Having unmet mental or emotional health needs
- Contemplating suicide in the last 12 months

The Adolescent and School Health Program also analyzes Student Health Survey (SHS) data on positive youth development, a framework for measuring students' resilience and social connectedness. This analysis looks at SHS data to identify trends and disparities in positive youth development (PYD) by gender identity and sexual orientation. To meet the PYD benchmark, youth must answer five out of the six items positively (excellent, very good or good, or very much true, pretty much true). Based on 2020 SHS survey data, among 11th graders:

- Significantly higher rates of male students met the PYD Benchmark (57%) compared to females 47%). Even fewer transgender and gender diverse students (18-33%) met the benchmark compared to their cisgender peers.
- There are significant differences on achieving the PYD Benchmark by sexual orientation. 57% of 11th graders who identify as straight achieved the benchmark, compared to 31% of youth who identify as gay or lesbian and 30% of youth who identify as bisexual.

Center for Prevention & Health Promotion: Health Promotion and Chronic Disease Prevention

The OHA-PHD Health Promotion and Chronic Disease Prevention (HPCDP) section supports primary prevention, system, and policy initiatives in the areas of tobacco, alcohol, asthma, nutrition, diabetes, arthritis, heart disease, physical activity, stroke, and cancer prevention. HPCDP uses an integrated approach to reducing chronic diseases and premature death by focusing on the common risk factors of commercial tobacco use, excessive drinking, physical inactivity, and poor nutrition across all Oregon communities.

Recent efforts to address equitable program and service access related to gender and youth include:

Alcohol and Tobacco prevention work focusing on youth. HPCDP administers a comprehensive Alcohol, Tobacco and other Drug Prevention and Education Program (ADPEP and TPEP), providing administration, data and evaluation, health communications, and funding directly to communities to plan and implement strategies that prevent alcohol, tobacco, and other drug use. HPCDP collaborates with Oregon's 36 counties, culturally specific organizations, nine federally recognized Native American Tribes, six Regional Health Equity Coalitions (RHECs), and 72 culturally specific Community Based Organizations.

This system addresses the needs of youth of all gender identities through information and data collection; coalition building; multi-media campaigns such as “Stay True to You;” awareness and social norm campaigns; youth development to promote protective factors and reduce risk factors; partnerships with retailers and regulatory groups to reduce youth access to alcohol and tobacco; multi-session prevention education programs; alcohol and tobacco policy approaches; reduction of exposure to advertising; and ongoing collaboration with community partners and stakeholders.

New CBO Collaborative Grant Program. In 2021-22, HPCDP participated in a multi-program new OHA-PHD grant program which included funding to address the root causes of commercial tobacco use inequities in Oregon. OHA-PHD awarded $20 million in funding to 72 CBOs for the 2021-2023 biennium. Among these, 27 are advancing projects focused on youth engagement. Examples include:

- The Portland Black Community Development Consortium is launching a Youth Optimal Health Program, an intergenerational, culturally specific approach to fostering positive outcomes for African American and other underserved youth and their families.
- According to His Word Outreach will be hosting a smokefree day walk along with education and outreach and implementing policy changes to reduce tobacco use for people of color and youth.
- An additional three CBOs serving LGBTQ2SIA+ communities will support those who identify as transgender and gender nonconforming to quit using tobacco through culturally relevant quit supports and community building activities.

Healthy Food Access. Under the State Partnerships to Improve Nutrition and Equity (SPINE) grant, HPCDP works with Oregon Community Food Systems Network (OCFSN) to address the policy, systems, and environmental changes that support nutrition security for Oregon families and individuals across the lifespan. HPCDP partners with Upstream Public Health to convene the Healthy Active Oregon Coalition, which focuses on industry influences on health, especially among youth. The coalition is advocating for a sugary beverage tax policy and healthy kids’ default meal policy in Multnomah County.

Center for Prevention and Health Promotion: Maternal and Child Health Section

The PHD Maternal and Child Health (MCH) Section works to address health issues across the lifespan of individuals and families. MCH's work arises from the perspective that preconception, pregnancy, and early childhood experiences create and influence a path for lifelong wellness. The MCH Section represents many public health disciplines and has multiple funding streams. Funds are distributed through partnerships with local health departments, tribes, and public and private agencies for a wide variety of clinical and supportive, community-based health services.

Highlights of the MCH Section's gender equity work related to children and youth include the following:

- Implemented promising practices to promote healthy relationships with on-going funds from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) for Rape Prevention and Education (RPE). While rape affects all genders, girls, young women, and trans people are at highest risk for victimization and that risk may be heightened based on race, ethnicity, and other factors. Program funds support the work of the Oregon Sexual Assault Task Force and four to six local sites to promote positive social norms among youth and support healthy relationships using proven prevention strategies. Additional funds from CDC are used to address policy and community level approaches to prevent violence. Because sexual violence is commonly used to exert power and control over people, the RPE program uses an anti-oppression framework in the planning and implementation of these prevention strategies.

- Collected data on gender-based violence including Intimate Partner Violence, harassment, and rape using the Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS), Student Health Survey (SHS), and Pregnancy Risk Assessment Monitoring System (PRAMS) surveys to track prevalence and identify risk factors. Public Health also maintains the violent death reporting system.

- Implemented Public Health Nurse Home Visiting programs including Babies First!, Family Connects Oregon, and Nurse Family Partnership. These programs offer services to pregnant and parenting people (including those under 18 years of age) with identified needs, especially women experiencing social, emotional, environmental, and health challenges. Program focus areas include healthy relationships, mental health, and reproductive health. Other home visiting programs also serve pregnant and parenting women under 18 years of age through the Maternal, Infant, and Early Childhood Home Visiting (MIECHV) program, including Early Head Start and Health Families Oregon.

- Implemented Oregon Mother's Care, a program whose goal is to improve access to prenatal services for all people in Oregon, including women under the age of 18. The program connects pregnant individuals to pregnancy and prenatal information, help, and services. OMC services are provided at Access Sites, typically local clinics or public health agencies. OMC Access Sites help connect pregnant people to the services they need for a healthy pregnancy including pregnancy testing, prenatal care, home visiting, WIC, and other services as needed. OMC sites provide these services to all clients free of charge.

Center for Public Health Practice: HIV/STD and TB Section

Chlamydia is the second most common reportable disease in Oregon with 14.9% of cases occurring in those 18 and under. Gonorrhea is the third most common reportable disease with 4.6% of cases occurring in those 18 and under during the same period. Females represented the majority of infections in those 18 and under (80.0% for chlamydia and 71.3% for gonorrhea). Left undiagnosed and untreated both infections can cause serious short- and long-term health consequences including pelvic inflammatory disease, infertility, ectopic pregnancy, and an increased risk for acquisition of HIV infection. The Oregon STD Prevention Program subsidizes gonorrhea and chlamydia screening for adolescents and young adults under 24 at safety net clinics (e.g., local county health departments, juvenile detention facilities, school-based health centers, Planned Parenthood, etc.). Individuals who are uninsured or underinsured are eligible to receive subsidized screening. During this reporting period, 27% of the 4,049 safety net tests were for individuals 18 and under. Of these, approximately two-thirds were in women and one-third were in men. STI testing dramatically decreased during this reporting period compared with testing prior to the onset of the COVID-19 public health emergency.

Both the HIV and STD Prevention Programs also distribute large quantities of condoms and lubricants to each local county health department for dissemination within their communities. In several counties, these condoms are distributed to clinics and organizations serving youth, including school-based health centers, youth services programs, and community health clinics. Lastly, the One at Home program allows Oregon residents to receive a free envelope of sexual wellness supplies delivered discreetly to their door, up to twice per 30 days.

Center for Public Health Practice: Immunizations Section

Immunization Services contains population-based services including public education, enforcement of school immunization requirements, and technical assistance for healthcare providers who provide vaccines to their client populations; as well as vaccine administration to populations of people who are most at risk for poor outcomes, with an emphasis on ensuring access and equity in service delivery. The Immunization Program provides vaccines to close to 700 clinics providing routine immunizations and an additional approximately 1200 COVID vaccine clinics, pharmacies, and community-based organizations across Oregon, including all School-Based Health Centers, Community Health Centers, Federally Qualified Health Centers, Local Public Health Authorities and Rural Health Clinics in Oregon, Oregon Youth Authority facilities, the Department of Corrections, and ITU (Indian, Tribal and Urban Indian) clinics.

The Immunization Program manages the ALERT Immunization Information System (IIS). Using data from ALERT, the program measures immunization rates among the entire population in Oregon, including measuring adolescent HPV immunization rates by gender, facilitating interventions at the local or clinic level. The IQIP (Immunization Quality Improvement for Providers) program offers providers assessments of immunization rates for two-year-olds and for adolescents, helping practices strategize simple interventions to increase their rates. It is anticipated that ALERT IIS will be set up to capture non-binary gender data in the next biennium.

Office of Contracts and Procurement

The Office of Contracts and Procurement (OC&P) is a shared service between OHA and the Oregon Department of Human Services (ODHS). The office addresses gender equity within OHA Contracts, including OHA requests for proposals (RFPs) through the following processes and mechanisms:

- Program staff can request contracts or RFPs to include services to clients with specific guidance surrounding gender specific expectations. RFP template language includes:
    - The State of Oregon promotes equal opportunity for all individuals without regard to age, color, disability, marital status, national origin, race, religion or creed, sex or gender, sexual orientation, or veteran status.
    - In the Pay Equity Compliance paragraph: If selected for award and the Contract/Price Agreement value exceeds $500,000 and Proposer employs 50 or more full-time workers, Proposer shall submit to Agency a true and correct copy of an unexpired Pay Equity Compliance Certificate, issued to the Proposer by the Oregon Department of Administrative Services. For instructions on how to obtain the Certificate, visit https://www.oregon.gov/das/Procurement/Pages/PayEquity.aspx.

      ORS 279B.110(2)(f) requires that Proposer provide this prior to execution of the Contract/Price Agreement.
    - In the Nondiscrimination in Employment paragraph: As a condition of receiving the award of a Contract/Price Agreement under this RFP, Proposer must certify by its Signature on Attachment

C - Proposer Information and Certification Sheet, in accordance with ORS 279A.112, that it has in place a policy and practice of preventing sexual harassment, sexual assault, and discrimination against employees who are members of a protected class. The policy and practice must include giving employees a written notice of a policy that both prohibits, and prescribes disciplinary measures for, conduct that constitutes sexual harassment, sexual assault, or unlawful discrimination.

Contract template language includes:

- Equal Access to Services.
    - Contractor shall provide equal access to covered services for both males and females under 18 years of age, including access to appropriate facilities, services, and treatment, to achieve the policy in ORS 417.270.
- Nondiscrimination.
    - a. The Contractor must provide services to OHA clients without regard to race, religion, national origin, sex, age, marital status, sexual orientation, or disability (as defined under the Americans with Disabilities Act). Contracted services must reasonably accommodate the cultural, language, and other special needs of clients.
- Training to new and existing OC&P staff is provided regarding contracts and solicitations. Information regarding Gender Specific Services provisions has been incorporated.

Limitations Regarding Data

Current mechanisms used do not always track data to capture specific percentages of funds allocated to and expended for males compared to females who are under the age of 18. Additionally, the absence of standard data collection methods around gender identity presents a barrier to OHA consistently reporting on programs and services for youth who do not identify with binary gender categories, including youth who are transgender, non-binary and Two Spirit.

The OHA Equity and Inclusion Division will continue to work with OHA programs serving populations referenced in the status to refine data collection and tracking to identify and report potential inequities in the allocation of services and funds.

Recommendations

It is recommended that ORS 417.270 be revised with a gender expansive framework, to ensure services and programs provided or funded by the State of Oregon promote equal access to all youth — including individuals who are transgender, non-binary, Two Spirit, and other identities that are outside of the gender binary.

PROPOSED SUPERVISORY SPAN OF CONTROL REPORT

In accordance with the requirements of ORS 291.227, the Oregon Health Authority presents this report to the Joint Ways and Means Committee regarding the agency's Proposed Maximum Supervisory Ratio for the 2021-2023 biennium.

Supervisory Ratio for the effective January 1, 2023

The Agency actual supervisory ratio is calculated using the following calculation:

1. Total # of Agency Employees = 4794
2. Total # of Agency Employees not assigned a representation = 9
3. Total supervisors (i.e., vacant and filled supervisory positions) minus the Agency head position = 430
4. Total non-supervisors (i.e., vacant and filled non-supervisory positions) = 4355

The Oregon Health Authority has a current actual supervisory ratio of:

1:11.15	=	4794	/	430
(Actual span of control)		(Total non - Supervisors)		(Total Supervisors)

When determining an agency maximum supervisory ratio all agencies shall begin of a baseline supervisory ratio of 1:11, and based upon some or all of the following factors may adjust the ratio up or down to fit the needs of the agency.

← Narrow Span		Wide Span →
High	RISK TO PUBLIC/EMPLOYEE SAFETY	Low
Dispersed	GEOGRAPHIC LOCATION(s) OF SUBORDINATES	Assembled
Complex	COMPLEXITY OF DUTIES/MISSION	Not complex
Low	BEST PRACTICES/INDUSTRY STANDARDS	High
Small	AGENCY SIZE/HOURS OF OPERATION	Large
Many	NON AGENCY STAFF/TEMPORARY EMPLOYEES	Few
High	FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY	Low
← More Supervisors		Fewer Supervisors →

Ratio Adjustment Factors

Is safety of the public or of State employees a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The safety and health of Oregonians is a major governmental priority and the reason the Oregon Health Authority was established. OHA's activities are indicative of these priorities, and include:

- Delivering integrated physical, behavioral, and oral health care services.
- Monitoring and addressing water quality.
- Strengthening the coordinated care model.
- Improving health outcomes health policy, and clinical improvement services.
- Administering health plans, group insurance policies and flexible spending accounts for state employees and their dependents.
- Administering medical, dental, vision and other benefits for Oregon's school districts community colleges, and education service districts.
- Addressing behavioral and social drivers of health by working to ensure that physical and social environments promote health.
- Reducing the need for costly health care services.
- Ensuring compliance with regulatory and health-based standards.
- Protecting Oregonians from environmental health hazards.
- Preventing chronic disease, child developmental delays, and physical and behavioral problems.
- Ensuring emergency public health services in natural and human caused disasters.
- Helping people recover from their mental illness and return to life in their communities.

All of these Agency functions contribute to the safety, health, and the overall quality of life of all Oregonians and requires a narrow span of control to administer and provide oversight to this major governmental priority.

Is geographical location of the agency's employees a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The nature of the Agency's work has statewide impact and touches all Oregonians, spanning the four corners of the state. The Agency has presence in forty-five distinct facilities and in 18 cities, including rural and major metropolitan areas, ranging from St. Helens to Ontario; and from La Grande to Medford. Such broad dispersion requires a narrow span of control for effective oversight.

Is the complexity of the agency's duties a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The public's health is a major indicator of quality of life. OHA's mandate is a primary driver affecting quality of life of all Oregonians. To ensure that the Agency's mandate is met requires a complex framework of activities and a narrow span of control in order to provide the appropriate oversight to staff. The complexity of the Agency's duties is further reflected through the knowledge, skills, and abilities that required by most Agency positions in order to perform their deliverables. To determine Agency complexity, the Agency has made a thoughtful exposition of the complexity of its programs and provided an objective framework to determine the complexity of individual Agency positions in addressing this complexity factor.

Are there industry best practices and standards that should be a factor when determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☐ No ☒

OHA, as an organization, is sui generis. The various components (e.g., OSH, HSD, PEBB, OEBB, etc.), which the State of Oregon has brought together under one umbrella, are discrete governmental functions-yet interrelated. However, in most states, these various functions are performed by distinct organizational entities. Given the multi-program nature of the Agency, and its multiple objective, it is not possible to obtain a span of control ratio, or schema that would reflect an industry best practice or standard, in relation to such a broad and varied mandate. Neither federal, nor state governmental entities that OHA is aware of, survey for span of control data on an industry-wide basis that would be an analogue to the varied functions OHA performs. There are private sector organizations that provide span of control research and other related benchmarking data, but they are limited to unrelated private sector industries (e.g. finance, insurance, technology, utilities, etc.). Furthermore, the data is restricted to a few companies and only provided these data to their members. Although some of these members may include public sector entities, the data does not have "industry wide" breadth, to establish relevant benchmarks for OHA's organizational needs, or establish a best practice.

Is size and hours of operation of the agency a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The Oregon State Hospital provides services 24/7. Agency FTE's allocated to the OSH program constitute a majority of OHA positions. In addition, the emergency support function (ESF-8), provided by the Agency, and requires the associated staff to be prepared, at a moment's notice, in the event an emergency situation arises.

Are there unique personnel needs of the agency, including the agency's use of volunteers or seasonal or temporary employees, or exercise of supervisory authority by agency supervisory employees over personnel who are not agency employees a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The Agency has classes of workers that are neither permanent nor limited duration. These workers include temporary workers (including GALT temporary workers), contractors, interns, student workers, and volunteers that in many instances work under the control of Agency supervisory positions. The duties performed by these workers range from audiologists to trauma managers. These classes of workers not only need to be on-boarded through the ad hoc personnel processes that have been established (e.g., background checks, system password issuance, computers, desks, etc.), but in some instance may require supervisory oversight to ensure the State's and Agency's codes of conduct are adhered to, and performance standards are met. These activities add to the managerial burden. Hence, these workers are within the span of control relationship of the organization.

Is the financial scope and responsibility of the agency a factor to be considered in determining the agency maximum supervisory ratio? Yes ☒ No ☐

The Oregon Health Authority seeks to protect and promote the health and safety of all Oregonians; and, reinforces the State's commitment to making the public's health a foundational pillar of the State's goal to enhance the quality of life of all Oregonians. Funding for OHA's mandate reflects the importance that both the Legislature and the Governor has placed on this priority. To provide for this mandate the legislature allocates the largest portion of the State's funds towards the goal of achieving the Agency's mission

Based on the foregoing factors DAS CHRO has authorized an "Agency Maximum Supervisory" ratio of 1:8.6
