

Dear Members of the OHA Community Board,

I am writing to ask that you use your power to ensure that the merger between Oregon Health & Science University and Legacy Health move forward only if OHSU agrees to close its notorious primate experimentation facility, the Oregon National Primate Research Center.

The Research Center is a huge financial liability, and impending federal funding cuts will drain resources needed for patient care.

I am also concerned about OHSU's disturbing track record of animal welfare violations. Between 2014 and 2022, OHSU's primate facility violated the federal Animal Welfare Act more than 30 times—more than any of the other National Primate Research Centers.

OHSU has also conducted cruel and unnecessary studies. Infant monkeys have been torn away from their mothers and used in experiments designed to make them afraid. Pregnant monkeys have been injected with nicotine to damage their unborn babies.

In 2015, Harvard University closed its New England Primate Research Center due to circumstances identical to those of OHSU. The facility was repeatedly violating the federal Animal Welfare Act, and university leaders cited "limited resources" when they announced the closure.

There are more reasons now than ever to move away from costly, unproductive primate experiments and instead focus on human-relevant methods. Clinical research, human tissues, cell cultures, and other methods are producing results for patients.

Please make the OHSU-Legacy Health merger contingent on the closure of the Oregon National Primate Research Center.

Thank you for your work on behalf of the people of Oregon.
