

Health Care Market Oversight

DocGo and Hicuity

The Health Care Market Oversight (HCMO) program reviews health care business deals to make sure they support Oregon's goals of health equity, lower costs, increased access, and better care. On October 2, 2026, the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) accepted a complete notice of material change describing plans for Ambulnz Holdings LLC d/b/a DocGo ("DocGo") to acquire Hicuity Health, Inc. ("Hicuity").

Who's involved?

DocGo is a subsidiary of DocGo, Inc., a publicly traded company based in New York. DocGo provides mobile health services, remote and virtual care support, medical transportation, and care coordination services. In Oregon, DocGo offers remote patient monitoring services to physician practices and health systems via its subsidiary, Cardiac RMS LLC. DocGo also provides telehealth-related services and administrative support through SteadyMD, LLC and SteadyMD Physician Group, P.C. ("SteadyMD"). SteadyMD provided over 6,000 episodes of care last year to people in Oregon, and CRMS provides services to an average of over 3,500 Oregon patients monthly.

Hicuity is a provider of acute care telemedicine and remote monitoring services for health systems, hospitals, and post-acute care facilities. In Oregon, Hicuity provides virtual nursing for a health system's Advanced Care at Home program. In 2025, Hicuity cared for over 500 Oregon patients.

About the deal

DocGo will acquire Hicuity under the terms of a merger agreement signed in August 2026. The entities state the transaction is needed to stabilize Hicuity's financial position. DocGo has agreed to assume Hicuity's debt and continue operating Hicuity's business. The entities do not expect any changes to Hicuity's or DocGo's Oregon operations.
