

Health Care Market Oversight

Hanger and Numotion

The Health Care Market Oversight (HCMO) program reviews health care business deals to make sure they support Oregon's goals of health equity, lower costs, increased access, and better care. On October 19, 2026, the Oregon Health Authority (OHA) accepted a complete notice of material change describing plans for Hanger, Inc. ("Hanger") to acquire United Seating and Mobility L.L.C., doing business as Numotion ("Numotion").

Who's involved?

Hanger provides orthotic and prosthetic ("O&P") patient care. Its services help people who need artificial limbs, braces, and other devices to support mobility and physical function. Hanger also manufactures, fabricates, and distributes O&P devices and components and provides rehabilitation and therapeutic services. The company operates in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and the U.S. Virgin Islands; it has 8 locations in Oregon. Hanger is owned by affiliates of Patient Square Capital, L.P.

Numotion provides durable medical equipment (DME), with a primary focus on complex rehabilitation technology (CRT). Numotion provides mobility equipment, repairs, speech solutions, medical supplies, and retail mobility products. The company also coordinates care between customers, doctors, therapists, manufacturers, insurance companies, and other service providers. Numotion has five Oregon locations in Central Point, Redmond, Salem, Springfield, and Tualatin.

About the deal

Hanger plans to acquire Numotion. Following the transaction, Numotion will become a wholly owned indirect subsidiary of Hanger. The two businesses will continue to operate as they do today, with no changes to Numotion's day-to-day management or the services provided by either company.

What's next?

OHA is reviewing this deal to understand how it could affect access to care for communities in Oregon. During the review, OHA will use health care data, news and media reports, information from the entities, and public input to decide whether the deal should be approved. After completing a review, OHA will issue a decision about whether the deal may proceed as planned.
