

BEACONS-NBS

WEBINAR FOR HEALTHCARE PROVIDERS

An introduction to BEACONS-NBS, an NIH funded study exploring the feasibility of integrating genomic newborn screening into public health programs

What you'll learn

- The goals of BEACONS-NBS
- What results providers may see (rare, early onset, actionable)
- Workflow for follow-up and referrals
- How to access clinical resources and support
- Q&A to follow presentation

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

Pediatricians • Primary care providers • OB/GYN/MFM providers • Neonatal providers • Geneticists and genetic counselors • Medical specialists • Midwives and doulas • Public Health Professionals • Other interested healthcare providers

Speakers:

Ingrid Holm, MD, MPH

Prof of Pediatrics,
Harvard Medical School

Melissa Wasserstein, MD

Prof of Pediatrics & Genetics,
Albert Einstein College of Medicine

TWO DATES

Mon, May 18

3-3:30pm PT /
6-6:30pm ET

Wed, June 3

5-5:30pm PT /
8-8:30pm ET

Scan to register

Recording will be available on BEACONSnbs.org

www.BEACONSnbs.org

info@beaconsnbs.org

This webinar is intended for healthcare professionals.

Please share with colleagues in your network.

Webinar hosted by Association of Public Health Laboratories (APHL), a BEACONS-NBS partner.