Message:

DMAP will mail the following postcard to all enrolled providers. It tells them that MMIS implementation is now scheduled for September 2008, which means training will not start in April, as announced in the November 2007 issue of the MMIS Insider. Instead, training will begin in June 2008. A detailed provider training schedule will be available by the end of April.

For the most current information about the progress of the replacement MMIS, go to the MMIS Project Current Topics page.

MMIS Insider update

Revised MMIS implementation and training dates

To ensure that the replacement MMIS is ready for operations, implementation is now scheduled for September 2008. This means that provider training will not start in April, as announced in our last publication. Instead, training will start in June 2008.

DHS is currently working on a revised training schedule, which we will publish in the next issue of the MMIS Insider and post to the MMIS Provider Resources Web site at www.oregon.gov/DHS/mmis.
