

News release

March 19, 2013

Contact: Jonathan Modie, PHD.Communications@state.or.us, 971-246-9139

Talk by ‘Salt Sugar Fat’ author, screening of health care reform documentary to highlight Public Health Week April 1-7
This year’s theme is ‘Public Health is Return on Investment (ROI): Save Lives, Save Money’

WHAT: Oregon Public Health Week 2013, a weeklong series of events organized by the state’s public health partners as part of National Public Health Week to promote continuing health and wellness for all Oregonians.

WHO: Oregon Public Health Week 2013 events are free and open to the public.

WHEN: Monday, April 1, to Friday, April 7.

WHERE: Various locations. Schedule is at www.oregonpublichealth.org/events.

AGENDA:

- April 1: Capitol Visit Day, 9 a.m. to noon, Oregon State Capitol Galleria, Salem: Oregon public health displays.
- April 2: Walk around the Capitol, noon to 12:45 p.m., Oregon State Capitol Steps, Salem: I love ME (Moving & Eating) Marion County Walk highlighting diabetes and obesity prevention.
- April 3: Film screening, 7 p.m., Oregon Health & Science University Auditorium, 3181 S.W. Sam Jackson Park Road, Portland: “Escape Fire: The Fight to Rescue American Healthcare,” a CNN documentary on health care reform. Audience discussion to follow.
- April 4: An evening with Michael Moss, Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and author of “Salt, Sugar, Fat: How the Food Giants Hooked Us,” OHSU Auditorium. Reception and book signing to follow.
- April 5: Oregon Master of Public Health Program poster symposium, 11 a.m.-1 p.m., rooms 1B and 1D, Portland State Office Building, 800 NE Oregon St., Portland.

DETAILS: Some events will be available by webinar and conference call. Visit www.healthoregon.org/phweek for details. For information about Oregon Public Health Week, contact OPHA at info@oregonpublichealth.org or 503-719-5600.

Oregon Public Health Week 2013 is coordinated by the Oregon Public Health and presented by Coalition of Local Health Officials, Oregon Health Authority, Oregon Health & Science University, Oregon Public Health Institute, and American Public Health Association.

###