

NOFA Scoring Preference for Federally Declared Disaster Areas

2020 Oregon Wildfire Adopted Preference for NOFAs in 2021 – 2023

Summary

There were 8 counties with a varying degree of housing impact due to the 2020 Oregon Wildfires. At the Housing Stability Council direction we have adopted a structure for preferencing development and preservation within these areas that places emphasis on those communities with the most direct impact along with more modest scoring priority for those areas surrounding impacted housing.

In order to implement this preference, OHCS focused on data identifying the number of housing units impacted within each of the counties impacted by the 2020 Oregon Wildfires.

Given the wide variance in housing impacts by county, counties were attributed to three tiers which would determine the overall points that areas within the county would be eligible for. As identified in the three colors in the graph above, the following are the assigned tiers:

- Highest Impacted Tier eligibility:
 - o Jackson County
- Middle Impacted Tier eligibility:
 - o Marion County
 - o Lane County
 - o Lincoln County
 - o Douglas County
 - o Linn County

- Bottom Impacted Tier eligibility:
 - o Clackamas County
 - o Klamath County

For Notices of Funding Availability (NOFAs); identified areas within the Highest Tier would be eligible for up to five points, within Middle Tier up to three points, and within the Bottom Tier up to one point.

In order to identify the specific geographies within these counties to target with incentive points within funding applications, we identified the following:

- Max points in the tier would go to the cities within each county with the most housing impacted (or Census Tracts if the housing was exclusively outside of cities),
- Mid points in the tier (if applicable) would go to lesser impacted cities and all Census Tracts with a direct housing impact,
- Low points in the tier (if applicable) would go to all other cities within 10 miles of the impacted housing in the county.
