Amendment:

Portland Police Block
209 SW Oak Street
Multnomah County, Portland, Oregon
NR# 85001185

The purpose of this continuation sheet is to reduce the boundary of the Portland Police Block nomination on the northern half and southwestern quarter of the city block on which the building is located, thereby restricting the boundary to the footprint of the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters building. The northern half of the block is occupied by an extensively altered 1955 addition. The southwestern quarter of the block, which was formerly occupied by a 1944 addition to the 1912 building, is now a vacant lot. Neither the altered 1955 addition nor the vacant lot contribute to the historic and architectural significance of the Portland Police Block.

The amendments to the Portland Police Block nomination are summarized below:

SECTIONS 1, 2, 5 and 6
Sections 1, 2, 5 and 6 are resubmitted with updated information.

SECTION 7
Section 7 describes the portions of the block that are being deleted from the nomination.

SECTION 8
Section 8 provides background and justification for excluding both the vacant lot and the altered 1955 addition from the boundary.

SECTION 10
Section 10 provides locational data for the portion of the block being deleted from the boundary, including a narrative description, acreage, longitude/latitude references and boundary justification.

OTHER DOCUMENTATION
Tax lot map, boundary decrease map, photo key map, and current photographs illustrating the boundary decrease are included in this documentation.

Narrative Description
(Describe the historic and current physical appearance and condition of the property. Describe contributing and noncontributing resources if applicable. Begin with a summary paragraph that briefly describes the general characteristics of the property, such as its location, type, style, method of construction, setting, size, and significant features. Indicate whether the property has historic integrity).

Summary Paragraph
The 1985 Portland Police Headquarters National Register nomination boundary included the entire block bordered by SW 2nd Avenue, SW 3rd Avenue, SW Pine Street and SW Oak Street in Portland, Oregon. The boundary decrease removes the portions of the block bordered by SW 2nd Avenue, SW 3rd Avenue, SW Pine Street and SW Oak Street that are outside the footprint of the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters building. These portions include the southwestern quarter of the block (10,000 square feet), which is a vacant lot that was formerly occupied by a 1944 addition to the Portland Police Headquarters, and the northern half of the block (20,000 square feet), which is occupied by a 1955 addition to the 1912 building that has been substantially altered. The 1944 addition was demolished in 2006 and the southwestern quarter of the block is now an unpaved vacant lot surrounded by a metal fence. The 1955 addition was substantially altered in 1998, when it was converted to a parking garage and three stories of apartments added atop the existing structure, leaving portions of the building’s metal window frames as the only original exterior materials that remain visible. As such, neither the vacant lot nor the altered 1955 addition contribute to the historic and architectural significance of the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters.

Southwestern Quarter of Block – Vacant Lot
The vacant lot at the southwestern quarter of the block was formerly occupied by an addition to the Portland Police Headquarters that was designed by architects Jones and Marsh and constructed in 1944.2 The reinforced concrete addition featured unclad concrete walls and metal casement windows. The northern 36 feet of this addition were demolished approximately a decade after it was constructed to make way for the 1955 addition, leaving the 1944 addition with a 100’ x 100’ footprint.3

The 1985 National Register nomination includes several photos depicting the 1944 addition, including:

- Photo 5: view of 1944 addition prior to its partial demolition
- Photo 14: view looking east
- Photo 15: view looking southeast

Based on City of Portland records, this 1944 addition was demolished in 2006. The southwestern quarter of the block is now an unpaved vacant lot surrounded by a metal fence. The lot has been partially excavated, with much of it several feet below grade. (See photos 12, 13 and 14 below.)

Because the 1944 building has been demolished, the southwestern quarter of the block does not contribute to the historic and architectural significance of the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters and is excluded from the revised boundary.

Northern Half of Block – 1955 Addition

The lower two floors and basement of the building that occupies the northern half of the block were constructed in 1955 as an addition to the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters. The steel-frame addition, designed by Portland architects Jacobberger and Stanton, featured unclad concrete walls and steel casement windows. The building was composed of 8 bays on both the east and west elevations, and 14 bays on the north elevation.

The 1985 National Register nomination includes several images depicting the 1955 addition in its original state, including:

- Photo 7: architectural elevations of the 1955 addition
- Photo 8: view looking south of excavation for 1955 addition
- Photo 15: view looking southeast
- Photos 17, 18: views looking west
- Photo 19: view looking south
- Photo 21: view looking north

The 1955 addition was substantially altered in 1998, when it was converted to a parking garage and three stories of apartments added atop the existing structure. These upper stories are clad in stucco and feature window bays and balconies that extend beyond the footprint of the 1955 building. (See photos 2, 5, 8 and 9 below.) In conjunction with the addition of three stories, extensive modifications were made to the bottom two stories, including:

- The concrete walls were covered in brick cladding and a stone base.
- First-story windows at (1) the corner of SW Pine Street and SW 2nd Avenue (four bays), (2) SW Pine Street and SW 3rd Avenue (four bays) and (3) the center of the north elevation (2 bays) were replaced with larger fixed metal windows that extend downward to the top of the stone base. (See photos 6, 7 and 8 below.)
- Glazing and muntins were removed from the remaining first-floor windows and all second-floor windows. Metal fencing has been installed behind the original metal frames at these locations. (See photo 4 below.)
- Metal canopies were added at the corners above the enlarged windows. These canopies extend southward to also cover new wall openings on the east and west elevations. (See photo 6 below.)
- East and west elevations:
  - A metal canopy was installed above the entry at the southernmost bay. (See photos 3 and 9 below.)
  - Counting northward, the fifth and sixth ground-floor windows were removed and replaced with a rectangular wall opening providing car access to the garage. (See photos 2 and 10 below.)
- North elevation:
  - The building’s main entry in the middle two bays was reconfigured with installation of larger windows, paired doors, and transom with a metal canopy above. (See photo 7 below.)

When constructed, the 1955 addition connected to the 1912 building at the basement, first and second floors. The aboveground interior connections are no longer present, with access between the two buildings now limited to a single door at the basement level. (See figure 3 below.)

Due to these changes, the 1955 addition does not retain historic integrity, as summarized below.

- Location: The 1955 addition retains integrity of location because it has not been moved.

- Setting: The 1955 addition possesses reduced integrity of setting. While the addition continues to be surrounded primarily by far older buildings, including 319 SW Pine Street (1911), 221 SW Pine Street (1898), 133 SW 2nd Avenue (1893), 133 SW Pine Street (1886), and of course the Portland Police Headquarters (1912) itself, integrity of setting has been reduced through demolition of the formerly adjoining 1944 addition as well as construction of the 1997 building directly west at 310-316 SW Pine Street.

- Design: The 1955 addition does not retain integrity of design. The building’s form and style were fundamentally altered by the 1998 addition of three stories that obscure the scale, extent and design of the original building. In addition, the 1955 building’s concrete walls were reclad in brick, all windows (except the metal frames) removed, and all entries modified.

- Workmanship: The 1955 addition does not retain integrity of workmanship. When constructed, the 1955 addition was a “plain and simple” building featuring unadorned concrete walls and steel casement windows. In 1998, these walls were completely covered by brick cladding and a new stone base, the windows removed, and several window openings modified. No aspect of the building’s original construction remains visible today.

- Materials: The 1955 addition does not retain integrity of materials. As part of its conversion to a parking garage/apartment building in 1998, the building was reclad in brick, all window glazing and muntins removed, several window openings enlarged, all entries replaced, and new entries inserted in place of former windows. As a result, the only exterior materials from the original 1955 addition that are visible are the metal window frames, which have been modified through removal of all associated glazing and muntins.

- Feeling: The 1955 addition does not retain integrity of feeling. In addition to the loss of historic materials described in the preceding paragraph, the 1998 conversion included addition of three stories that obscured the original scale, extent and design of the original building. As a result, the building no longer remains legible as an addition to the Portland Police Headquarters or, for that matter, as a structure dating from the 1950s.

- Association: The 1955 addition does not retain integrity of association. The building was constructed to accommodate expanded administrative functions at Downtown Portland’s Police Headquarters. This association ended in 1984, when the Portland Police Bureau vacated the 1912 building, along with the 1944 and 1955 additions, to occupy the newly constructed Justice Center at 1120 SW 3rd Avenue. In addition, the 1955 addition no longer connects to the 1912 building interior, apart from a single door at the basement level, further obscuring its connection to the 1912 building.

Because it has lost integrity of design, workmanship, materials, feeling and association, the 1955 addition does not retain sufficient integrity to contribute to the historic or architectural significance of the Portland Police Headquarters and is excluded from the revised boundary.

Criteria Considerations (explanation, if necessary) N/A
The 1985 National Register nomination found the Portland Police Block to be significant under Criterion A “for its association with the development of the Police Bureau in the City of Portland” and under Criterion C for its association with master architect Emil Schacht, who designed the 1912 building. The nomination concluded that only the 1912 building was historically significant and the 1944 and 1955 additions were non-contributing:

“The Portland Police Block is a complex of three interconnected, functionally-related buildings occupying an entire city block in Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon. Of the three, only one is historic….the 1944 and 1955 additions are non-contributing.”

Southwestern Quarter of Block – Vacant Lot
The 1944 addition that formerly occupied the southwestern quarter of the block was demolished in 2006. This quarter of the block is now a vacant lot and as such, does not contribute to the historic or architectural significance of the Portland Police Headquarters.

Northern Half of Block – 1955 Addition
Due to the extensive alterations made to the 1955 addition in association with its 1998 conversion to a parking garage/apartment building, the addition does not retain sufficient integrity to contribute to the historic or architectural significance of the 1912 Portland Police Headquarters. The alteration of three stories obscured the original scale, extent and design of the addition. In addition, the building was re-clad in brick, all window glazing and muntins removed, several window openings enlarged, all entries replaced, and new entries inserted in place of former windows. As a result, the only exterior materials from the original 1955 addition that are visible are the metal window frames, which have been modified through removal of all associated glazing and muntins. On the interior, the 1955 addition no longer connects to the 1912 building, apart from a single door at the basement level, obscuring the 1955 building’s raison d’être as an addition to the 1912 building. Because of these alterations, the 1955 addition lacks integrity of materials, design, workmanship, feeling and association. It no longer remains legible as an addition to the Portland Police Headquarters or, for that matter, as a structure dating from the 1950s.

Verbal Boundary Description (Describe the boundaries of the property.)

The portion being deleted from the nomination consists of the southwestern quarter (10,000 square feet) and northern half (20,000 square feet) of the block bordered by SW 2nd Avenue, SW 3rd Avenue, SW Pine Street and SW Oak Street. The southwestern quarter comprises Lots 5 and 6 of Block 30, Portland Addition to the City of Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon. The northern half of the block comprises Lots 1, 2, 7 and 8 of Block 30.

Boundary Justification (Explain why the boundaries were selected.)

The portions being deleted from the 1985 National Register nomination include (1) a vacant lot that was formerly occupied by a 1944 addition to the Portland Police Headquarters that has been demolished, and (2) a 1955 addition to the Portland Police Headquarters that was extensively modified in 1998 and no longer retains integrity. As such, neither the vacant lot nor the 1955 addition contributes to the historic significance of the Portland Police Headquarters.
