

SOCIAL MEDIA

DEFENSIBLE SPACE

---POST---

(IMAGE: Clean Gutters)

Welcome to #WildfireAwarenessMonth! This week is all about defensible space and different projects you can do at home to be better protected from wildfire! Today's tip: Keep your roof free and clear of debris.

---POST---

(IMAGE: Give them some space)

Today's tip: Your defensible space can include bushes and trees. The key – make sure to keep bushes trimmed and trees limbed so they are not touching your home or other buildings.

#WildfireAwarenessMonth #WildfireReady

---POST---

(IMAGE: Firescape It)

Defensible space tip: Bark dust or combustible mulch against your house could cause trouble and ignite during a wildfire. Protect your home and create a buffer with bare dirt or gravel.

#WildfireAwarenessMonth #Oregon #WildfireReady

---POST---

(IMAGE: Fire resistant pants)

Did you know that some plants are more resistant to fire than others? If taken care of properly, they can add beauty to your home and help in your defensible space plan. #WildfireAwarenessMonth #Oregon #WildfireReady

---POST---

(IMAGE: Hidden dangers)

Weekend project idea! Look at your deck and make sure it is clear of anything that could catch fire like pine needles and other debris. Clean both above and below. Also, during times of high fire danger, remove patio furniture that could catch fire. #WildfireAwarenessMonth

---POST---

(IMAGE: Don't forget the others)

When creating defensible space on your property, don't forget to include other buildings. Pay close attention to fences as well. Keep bushes trimmed and tree limbs limbed and not touching them.

#WildfireAwarenessMonth #Oregon #WildfireReady

---POST---

(IMAGE: Lean, Clean, Green)

A lawn that is kept mowed, clean of dry debris, and green can give your home added protection during a wildfire. Keep it lean, clean, and green. #WildfireAwarenessMonth #WildfireReady#Oregon