NOVELTY/TOYLIKE LIGHTER DEFINITIONS

Under Oregon law a lighter is a handheld device typically used for lighting tobacco products.

Novelty/Toylike Lighters are defined as having a misleading design, audio effects or visual effects, or other features that would be expected to make the lighter appealing to children under the age of ten.

A misleading design means having a shape that resembles an object other than a lighter. Examples include cartoon characters, toys, animals, weaponry, tools, or household products.

Audio effects include music, animal sounds, whistles, buzzers, beepers or other noises not related to the flame-producing function of the lighter.

OVERVIEW OF OREGON LAWS PROHIBITING NOVELTY/TOYLIKE LIGHTERS

The Novelty/Toylike Lighter Program provides citizen safety and industry regulation of novelty/toylike lighters.

Many novelty lighters look like animals, miniature cars, musical instruments and game pieces. Other novelty lighters are look-alike miniatures of adult tools or instruments. For example: cell phones, hammers, paintbrushes, and felt-tip markers.

These novelty lighters are dangerous in the hands of children unable to tell the difference between a toy and a novelty lighter.

These novelty lighters could place children and their families at risk for burn injury, death, and property loss.

Prohibiting their sale protects children from a dangerous instrument that encourages curiosity and invites unintentional misuse.
