

“I am a farmworker and have questions about COVID-19. What resources are available?”

If you are working on a farm in Oregon and have questions or symptoms of COVID-19, please see the free resources below. Scan the QR codes with your phone, visit the websites, and/or use the phone numbers provided.

Community Navigator

Reach out to a Community Navigator as soon as possible at 888-274-7292 or visit the website at <https://workerrelief.org/quarantine-fund-faq>.

The Quarantine Fund provides temporary financial assistance to Oregon agricultural workers who are 18 years or older, recovering from COVID-19, seeking healthcare regardless of immigration status, and practicing quarantine and isolation. Navigators can help find out if you qualify for immediate assistance, and answer questions to help you find a place to stay.

Housing

The non-profit Oregon Human Development Corporation helps farmworkers impacted by COVID-19. Call 855-215-6158 to speak with someone about finding a place to stay or visit their website at www.ohdc.org/safe-sheltering-of-farmworker.html.

Emergency Services and Information

For information about emergency housing, COVID-19 testing and local conditions, you can contact the Local Public Health Authority for your county at www.oregon.gov/oha/PH/DiseasesConditions/CommunicableDisease/ReportingCommunicableDisease/Documents/reportdisease.pdf. For general information on COVID-19 in Oregon, call 211 or visit 211.info. Your employer can access these same resources.

This information provided in support of the Food Security and Farmworker Safety program, helping agricultural employers respond to COVID-19 throughout the 2020 harvest season. For more information, see www.oregon.gov/oweb/fsfs/Pages/index.aspx.
