Introduction

Oregon's juvenile justice community is committed to providing effective and efficient services to promote public safety, ensuring justice for victims, and preventing youth from repeating criminal behavior. Understanding the recidivism rate for youth referred to the juvenile justice system is one way to measure juvenile crime and the impact of intervention efforts around the state.

Definition of recidivism for this report:

“As a measure of public safety, recidivism is defined as a new criminal referral.

A criminal referral is a law enforcement report to a juvenile department alleging one or more felony or misdemeanor acts (offenses).”

Contents of this report

This report contains statewide and county-specific measures of recidivism for 2017 based on the measurement of criminal activity as a gauge of community safety. The report selects youth who had a criminal referral in 2017 and tracks them for the following 36 months. To track all youth who had a referral in 2017 for a full 36-month period, the report requires 2020 referral data to be complete.

All data for this report comes from Oregon's Juvenile Justice Information System (JJIS). There are no outside data sources used, and includes only criminal referrals from the State of Oregon.

Findings and Limitations

Summary Findings:

- Total youth in the 2017 cohort are 6,889
- The overall 36-month statewide recidivism rate is 37.7%
 - The 36-month statewide chronic recidivism rate (3 or more subsequent referrals) is 11.6%.

Limitations of a 36 Month Tracking Period:

In Oregon, criminal offenses after the age of 18 are processed by the adult system, not by local county juvenile departments. As a result, youth who are age 15, 16, or 17 at the beginning of the tracking period will not have a full 36-months of juvenile referral data available to evaluate.

For example,

- 15-year-olds can be tracked for at least 24 months, but will reach the age of 18 prior to a full 36 months of tracking in JJIS;
- 16-year-olds can be tracked for at least 12 months, but will reach the age of 18 prior to a full 36 months of tracking in JJIS; and
- 17-year-olds will reach the age of 18 during the first year of the tracking period, so will have less than 12 months of tracking in JJIS.

Because of the shortened tracking periods for 15, 16, and 17-year olds described above, the rates reflected in this report underestimate recidivism, perhaps as much as 7.5% based on an analysis conducted by OYA researchers in 2016.

Notes about the information

Counts: Data is grouped by the county where the referral originated. The report counts the total number of youth who had a criminal referral originating in that county in the reporting year. The report sorts the results into two primary groups:

- No Subsequent Referrals – youth who had no subsequent referrals during the following 36 months; and
- Subsequent Referrals – youth who had one or more subsequent referrals during the following 36 months. This group is further divided into two groups:
 - youth with 1-2 Subsequent Referrals
 - youth with 3 or more Subsequent Referrals

Percentages: Percentages are rounded to the nearest whole number and therefore may not add up to 100%.

Race and Ethnicity: The JJIS Steering Committee defined Race/Ethnicity reporting categories based on available data. Race is recorded by the juvenile department based on police reports and youths' self-reporting. These reports categorize youth by the race that is recorded in JJIS unless the recorded ethnicity is Hispanic. When the recorded ethnicity is Hispanic, the youth is categorized as Hispanic, regardless of race.

Gender: The option for reporting gender is currently binary in JJIS, either male or female. There are current state and national discussions about new ways to document gender that are respectful and inclusive of all. The JJIS Steering Committee will continue to engage in those discussions and make updates in this area as available.

The JJIS Steering Committee recognizes that race, ethnicity, and gender reporting in JJIS are not inclusive of all and may not accurately represent everyone, due in part to a need to comply with federal reporting requirements. We respect all individuals, but also acknowledge and regret we cannot capture how individuals may self-identify in these areas.

Limitation: Readers are cautioned against making comparisons between counties. Many factors can influence recidivism rates including the size of the county (small numbers can vary significantly), local laws and practices, and local law enforcement resources.
