JJIS Data and Evaluation Subcommittee

The JJIS Data and Evaluation Subcommittee is a standing committee of the JJIS Steering Committee, contributing to local and statewide research initiatives, program and system evaluations, and policy recommendations regarding the use of data. The subcommittee supports the juvenile justice system by ensuring consistency, accuracy and appropriateness of the data, guiding the development of routine and annual reports and statistics, and interpreting relevant data analyses

Introduction

Oregon's juvenile justice community is committed to providing effective and efficient services to promote public safety, ensure justice for victims, and prevent youth from repeating criminal behavior.

Restitution supports youth accountability through payment to victims for damages or harm caused by their actions. Participation in making payments to victims is one of several strategies designed not only to help victims but to change youth behavior. Reporting annual restitution completion data provides a basis to evaluate the effectiveness and efficiency of this juvenile justice practice over time.

Contents of this report

This document contains statewide and county specific data regarding the number and status of restitution conditions closed during the reporting year. Both formal restitution conditions ordered by the court as well as restitution conditions directed by the juvenile department are included. Conditions are closed throughout a youth's supervision with a juvenile justice agency. These data represent condition closures rather than case closures. The total number of youth with restitution conditions along with amounts of restitution collected at the time the conditions are closed are also reported. The report contains several measures:

Amounts of Restitution at Closing

The total amount of restitution assigned; the total amount of restitution paid at the time the conditions were closed; and the total percentage of the assigned amount that was paid at the time the conditions were closed.

Number of Youth

The total number of youth who had court ordered and juvenile department directed restitution conditions closed during the year.

Number of Conditions Closed

The total number of court ordered and juvenile department directed restitution conditions that were closed during the year, and the total number and percentage that were Completed or Accepted as Complete at the time the condition was closed.

Notes about the information

Overall Criteria: Conditions closed during the year are counted. These conditions may have been ordered in a prior reporting year. Reporting on closed conditions provides a more complete picture than reporting on conditions that may still be in progress.

Statewide Totals: Statewide totals include data for 29 of 36 counties and OYA. Columbia, Crook, Gilliam, Jackson, and Sherman counties do not record restitution in JJIS.

Rounding: Totals are rounded to the nearest whole number and therefore may not add up to 100%.

Number of Youth: The unduplicated number of youth who had restitution conditions closed during the year. Youth may be counted in more than one county, but will be counted only once in the statewide total.

Total Number of Conditions: The total number of restitution conditions closed during the year. Youth may have more than one closed condition during the year.

Agency at Condition Closure: Refers to the agency associated with the Primary Worker assigned at the time the condition was closed.

Cautions regarding restitution data

Ability to Track Restitution Data between Juvenile Departments and Court

Restitution is often paid directly to the Court, not to the Juvenile Department. As a result, readers should be aware that not all restitution paid may have been captured in JJIS and, therefore, not reflected in this report.

Number and Percent of Conditions Closed Complete versus Amount Completed

It is very important to consider the percentage of conditions that have been closed complete in addition to the total amounts collected. This number provides a more accurate picture of the degree to which youth are meeting their court-ordered and agency-directed accountability conditions while under juvenile justice supervision; and can provide the basis for subsequent meaningful analysis about these types of interventions.

Joint and Several

A youth may be ordered to pay restitution - joint and several with other parties, including adults. This means that each party is individually and collectively responsible for the entire restitution order. Once the order is paid, the obligation is satisfied for all parties, regardless of who paid what amounts. Joint and Several orders are recorded in JJIS by recording the entire ordered amount as a condition for each youth.

If each youth satisfactorily pays their share, the youth's actual payment is recorded, and the condition is closed and Accepted as Complete. For example, if 10 youth are part of a Joint and Several Order to pay $1,000, the entire Amount Ordered is recorded on all 10 youth. If each of the 10 youth pay $100, the victim has been compensated for the entire $1,000 and each condition is closed and Accepted as Complete.

The report will accurately indicate that 10 conditions were closed and Accepted as Complete, and will compute the amount owed to be $100 for each youth or $1,000. However, if any of the youth have a continuing Money Judgment when the condition is closed, the original ordered amount will be used to compute the amount ordered.

Amount Paid at Closure

The amount paid at closure does not always represent the youths' fulfillment of obligations to make payments to their victims or the victim's receipt of compensation for damages.

Oregon law requires that judges order restitution based on the amount of loss to the victim and that restitution orders also be recorded like judgments in a civil action.

Commonly called Money Judgments, these orders extend obligations to make reparations to victims beyond juvenile justice supervision. Any unpaid restitution at the close of supervision may be reflected with a closing status of Money Judgment at the time the condition is closed. This procedure acknowledges a youth's ability to pay and make satisfactory progress while under supervision plus continue as a court ordered obligation once supervision ends. The amount of money subsequently collected pursuant to the money judgment is not tracked in JJIS and will not be reported.

Youth can satisfy restitution obligations to victims in several ways, sometimes determined through mediation. If the youth performs community service or satisfies other alternative negotiated conditions in lieu of restitution, the restitution order can be vacated by the court or otherwise considered Accepted as Complete. When the condition is closed or Accepted as Complete, the amount owed is computed to reflect the amount paid.

Victims are often compensated by their insurance for damages caused by youth. When this happens, the youth is held accountable by paying restitution to the insurance company instead of the victim.

Single conditions with an unusually large amount of Restitution Ordered

In 2024, seven youth across the state were each ordered to pay more than $10,000 in restitution. These youth have been pulled out of the statewide data and listed separately to provide a more accurate understanding of most of the restitution conditions.

This group represented 1.4% of the youth ordered to pay restitution, but 29.9% of the amounts owed.
