Camp Florence employee honored for excellence

An employee of the Oregon Youth Authority's (OYA) Camp Florence has been recognized for excellence in supporting the state juvenile justice agency's mission.

Rosemary "Rose" Moso received an OYA coin award, a silver dollar-sized medal bearing the state seal, as part of the observance of National Correctional Officers and Employees Week in Oregon, May 5-11.

Moso, a cook who prepares food for the camp's youth, was commended for her "upbeat attitude and strong work ethic have been infectious and the youth admire you and appreciate your hard work — and great food! You are willing to work any shift, adjusting your schedule, and working extra hours in support of the program."

Dan Robertson, OYA chief of operations for Facility Services, and camp Director Clint McClellan presented the certificate at the facility Tuesday. They praised Moso as a role model for others and "providing positive development to each other and the youth we serve."

In his proclamation of National Correctional Officers and Employees Week, Oregon Governor John Kitzhaber commended adult and juvenile correctional workers for "holding offenders accountable for their actions and reducing the risk of future criminal behavior and future victimization."
