Inactivate my License

Fields marked with an asterisk * are required.

If your license is inactive, you may not engage in professional real estate activity.

When you inactivate your license, you also end your association with a registered business name and any other licensee. You have 30 days from the date you become inactive to reactivate your license by associating with a registered business name or another licensee at no cost to you. After 30 days, you must apply for reactivation and pay a $75 reactivation fee.

To associate with a registered business name or another licensee, a supervising licensee must authorize the transfer online and pay a $10 fee to transfer your license. Your license does not become active until the transfer is complete.

If your license is inactive for a period of two or more consecutive years and you wish to reactivate your license, you must pass the reactivation examination, pay the examination fee, and pay the $75 reactivation fee.

The screenshot shows a web application interface for reviewing the inactivation of a license. The page is titled "Review" and includes a "Print Review" button in the top right corner. The main content area is divided into sections: "Inactivate my License" with explanatory text, "1. Email Address" with a text input field containing "eLicense.test@state.or.us", and "Inactivate my License Attestation" with fields for "Name" (containing "Margaret Sample User") and "License #". At the bottom, there are "Previous", "Finish", and "Cancel" buttons.

You have 30 days from the date you became inactive to change your license to active at no cost to you. When you change your license to active status, you must associate with a registered business name, associate with another licensee or, if you are a property manager or a principal broker, you may operate under your own license name. If you do not change your license to active status within 30 days, you must apply to reactivate your license and pay a $75 reactivation fee.
