

MLAC 2024 legislative survey results

Did the MLAC legislative guidance document improve the legislative process?

3 Really Improved 2 Improved _____ Not Improved _____ No Change 2

Did the MLAC legislative video improve the legislative process?

3 Really Improved 2 Improved _____ Not Improved _____ No Change 2

Should we make any changes to the MLAC legislative process?

- I have none
- None
- So far, the new MLAC legislative process appears to be working as intended. For now, I would let the process stand and test it during the long session in 2025 and see if additional changes become necessary.
- None
- I think better feedback would come from those who watched the video and were more informed about our process. I liked having more information from the inception of a concept, so that was helpful. As I stated, I think more valuable feedback will come from those who are submitting info.
- It would be helpful to schedule the additional tentative meetings ahead of time so we have them on our calendars. It's always easier to cancel a meeting than getting something on everyone's calendar.
- None

Anything other feedback you would like to include:

- None
- Generally, I would say that the MLAC process works as intended for the "professional lobbying class". However, for anyone outside the professional circuit, the process will be daunting at best. MLAC may find that there are instances where a more flexible approach need to be afforded to folks coming forward with proposals.
- I cannot provide feedback on the survey questions, since I am new to MLAC, appointed in February. I did review the video and guidance document and thought they were both helpful on explaining the legislative process for proposals. Overall, I found the MLAC website to be a good resource, informative and very helpful as a new member.

- I like the idea of going back to scheduling legislative sessions meetings weekly and then canceling if not needed. I am remember how it was done with Theresa, I think. I appreciate the movement of our work documents and the execution of the vastly improved legislative process! Thank you!
- None
- I do not have enough experience to know if the legislative video had the intended impact, but I would be interested in learning what WCD staff thought the impact was.

Thanks, WCD Staff